VOLUME 113 — ONE HUNDRED FOURTEENTH YEAR — NO. 13 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JANUARY 2, 1964 | 8 PAGES—TEN CENTS A COPY

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

It's just too cold this week to write a very long column.

What with the news that bounces about these days, 1964 shapes up as a banner year.

Apparently the chemical industry is going to locate in the area — and could there be any better announcements?

Several interesting Herald stories are in the works for next week, all of which should make fascinating reading.

For now, one yarn is top secret.

Another will be a concise report on jobs in Tecumseh and payroll here during 1963 by industry and major employers. The figures stagger.

We'll also have "year in review" pieces for Tecumseh and Britton.

So, until then, "Happy New Year.

Three Die Despite Resuscitator

The fire department emergency crew was called three times during the past two weeks.

James Jones, 901 Murray Dr., was visiting the residence of Homer Humphries, 610 Blanchard St., Dec. 29 when he suffered heart failure. The crew was unable to revive him.

A five-month baby girl, Dawn Janene Hufnagel, died suddenly of pneumonia Dec. 30 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hufnagel, 9383 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd., despite efforts of firemen.

Adult Ag Class Meets January 6

The session will be held in the high school agriculture room at 8 p.m.

Mr. Henning, who travels in southeastern Michigan, will show a movie on livestock feeding and discuss the feeding of hogs and steers.

Management, efficiency factors and antibiotics in relation to feeds and diseases will also be covered.

Mr. Henning is a graduate of Ohio State University.

AND AWAY WE GO!!! Youngsters in the above area have a wonderful time slipping and sliding down the hill at the athletic field near Tecumseh High School. Clever concoctions for the trip down the slippery slope include sleds, skis, saucers, cardboard boxes, pants, and in the case of this upside-downer, sweatshirts! Cold weather, lots of snow and bright sunshine make topnotch conditions for winter sports.

'80 to 90% Sure' Chemical Layout Going on Sutton

It now is "80 to 90% certain" that the new $5 million Stauffer Chemical plant will be built on Sutton Rd., three miles south of Tecumseh.

A. R. Anderson of Adrian told this to The Herald Tuesday morning.

He heads up Stauffer's Anderson Division, which will occupy the new facility.

A 16" or 18" well will go in this week, somewhere in the vicinity of the No. 3, 4 and 5 wells, all of which have hit strata of water.

A four-inch pipe was attached to the No. 5 well on the Jesse Stretch farm Monday afternoon and allowed to run all night and through Tuesday. Its capacity was not disclosed, but the entire area was soon flooded as the water rushed from the pipe.

The big well is hoped to produce upwards of 2,000 gallons per minute.

Whether it goes on the Stretch property or that owned by Richard Machan, to the east, will not be known immediately. Both pieces of property, totaling 222 acres in size, are under option by Stauffer.

Approximately 200 people would be hired when the plant opens, with employment expected eventually to reach about 700.

Based on the $5 million plant and equipment valuation, approximately $60,000 in tax money would go to the Tecumseh School District each year if the industry goes up on Sutton Rd.

Water pours from four-inch spout attached to No. 5 well on Jesse Stretch property on Sutton Rd., possible site of new chemical plant.

Tecumseh Girl May Win 14-Day Caribbean Vacation

Marilyn Mumaw, a Tecumseh High School senior, will be in Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 20 to compete for a 14-day Caribbean vacation, grand prize in the national "Make It Yourself with Wool" contest.

Marilyn, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Mumaw, was named state winner at the Michigan contest held on the Michigan State University campus in December.

Winning clothing contests is nothing new for Marilyn. In August, she was named second in the state in 4-H clothing competition.

SECOND PLACE in the Michigan contest went to Janice Harwood, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Webb Harwood, of rural Ann Arbor. Her award was a Singer Scholastic Typewriter.

Janice, 21, is a senior at MSU and is majoring in home economics education. She wore a two-piece suit.

More than 200 girls in Michigan entered the contest and competed in 11 district contests preceding the state finals. Nationally, the contest is sponsored by the sheep raisers themselves through the American Sheep Producers Council.

In Michigan, it was conducted by the Michigan Sheep Breeders Association with Mrs. Lawrence Boettner of Bridgewater, serving as state contest director.

All garments entered in the contest had to be made from 100% wool loomed in America.

Unemployment Claims Tumble

During the year 1963 the Adrian office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission had fewer claims for unemployment insurance than during any year since 1955.

In 1963, Lenawee County unemployment workers filed 3,747 new claims and received $940,000 for a total of 31,000 weeks of idleness.

Throughout the year the number of claims averaged 590 a week.

During the preceding year, total claims averaged 800 per week and payments amounted to $1,271,682.00.

☆

THE ADRIAN OFFICE paid benefits amounting to $17½ million to Lenawee County unemployed individuals during the past 10 years.

Unemployment benefits paid to individuals in 1955 amounted to $764,871. This was the only year that benefits were lower than the 1963 benefits of $940,000 during this 10 year period.

The employment service of the Adrian Branch of the Michigan Employment Security Commission received 920 job orders for 1,158 workers from 278 different employers during the year. The local office was successful in filling 941 of the job openings.

During the year, earlier local employers listed 1,211 job openings of which 892 were filled by the Adrian Branch Office.

An ad in The Herald for Schneider Chevrolet-Buick drew praise in a Chevrolet publication. "The Big Wheel Reporter," which is devoted to promoting Chevy trucks. The ad featured a large picture of the local showroom with two Chevy school buses dominating the foreground. The Reporter notes that Schneider "used a low-key indirect approach to reassure prospects that Chevrolet trucks are the best buys for many reasons. Such attributes as dependability, easy maintenance and economical operation are brought out in the ad copy." The ad was custom written for Louis Schneider by co-Publisher Jim Lincoln.

Recent donations to the Herrick Memorial Hospital Landscaping Fund are

►Silver Maple from the Tecumseh Garden Club.

► A donation from Mr. and Mrs. William K. Brown in memory of Bert Ousterhout.

These frigid mornings when car batteries curl up their toes and die from endless turning of cold motors, many little tricks are resorted to, like hanging a light bulb over the carburetor overnight, or tenderly tucking heavy blankets over the hood. The latter doesn't work with small rear-engine models, one woman was chagrinned to discover, after carefully piling a blanket and coat over the hood. But one of the most unusual is that of an Ogden farmer, who drives his model A atop the manure pile. "Never fails", he claims.

The Flat Rock Guardian had a tremendous Christmas idea, photographing what appears to be a page from the Bible with "The Greatest Story in the World" reproduced.

Readers were quick to help on television channel and time for "Temple Houston," a series that will feature Tecumseh's Julie Parrish Thursday, Jan. 2. It's on channels 5, 8 and 10 Thursday evenings at 7:30. Mrs. Earl Scott called and so did Mrs. Richard Peterson, the former Margaret Champanois, now of Jackson.

After Wednesday, about 2,000 Tecumseh Santas were really pooped.

What's Dyke Helms beaming about these days?

The line of kids waiting to see Santa at the Community Center was so long that children at the end couldn't even see him. Lee Nelson asked his Mommy if he could stand in it and wiggled in at the end. After standing patiently for 15 minutes Lee, motioning to her, asked "Mommy, why are we standing in line?"

Brooks Morton (Mr. T of Toledo's WTOL-TV) dropped to a new low in popularity with nearly 1,000 children here last week. He "couldn't find Tecumseh" and keep his date for the annual Christmas program at the Community Center.

The engagement of Marjorie Van Valkenburg to Ron Johnson is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Van Valkenburg, 108 South Van Buren St. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Johnson of rural Tecumseh. The bride-elect is a senior at Bronson Hospital School of Nursing in Kalamazoo. Mr. Johnson is a graduate of Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. A summer wedding is planned.

Peace Corps Test Being Given in Adrian Jan. 11

Next Peace Corps placement test is scheduled to be given nationwide on Saturday, Jan. 11 at 8:30 a.m.

The non-competitive aptitude tests will be administered at 825 post offices and other federal buildings in major cities throughout the United States.

All applicants for Peace Corps service are required to take the placement test as well as submit a Peace Corps questionnaire.

The placement test itself is composed of a 30-minute general aptitude test (made up of verbal, mathematical and spatial problems) and a 30-minute modern language aptitude test.

There are no passing or failing marks on the placement test. The scores are used, along with other criteria, to aid in the selection process. They help the Peace Corps to place prospective Volunteers in the most appropriate overseas assignments.

Training will begin this summer to help fill requests for more than 6,000 Volunteers to serve in 46 countries around the globe — in Africa, Asia and Latin America.

Hundreds of different skills are needed in the major fields of education, agriculture, health, construction, engineering and community development.

To take the placement test applicants must be American citizens at least 18 years of age. There is no upper age limit. Married couples may apply if they have no dependents under 18. A college education is not a requirement if an applicant can offer a certain skill or experience.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Like a blanket of newly fallen snow covering a winter wheat field, the fresh new year of 1964 is open to each individual to use as he pleases.

Isn't it nice to contemplate, before it gets all tracked up with the smirches and blotches of humanity?

As for me, it seems far better to make goals or some might say dream of the future than worry about things of the past.

For things I have done and more things I have left undone, I'm truly sorry but this isn't going to stop me from doing my level best to make my tracks across that new snow sharp and clear.

Tecumseh Defeats Blissfield, Adrian for ABHT Crown

Tecumseh captured the ABHT basketball tournament over the weekend with successive victories over the Blissfield Royals and Adrian at Blissfield.

In the title game Saturday night, Tecumseh proved too superior, particularly on the boards, and bounced the Maples, 67-63, for the Indians fourth straight victory of the season.

Letdown in both tourney games nearly proved fatal for Tecumseh. After enjoying a 13-point lead at halftime over Blissfield, the Indians tallied only six in the third quarter in a rash of turnovers and eventually lost the lead in the fourth period before rallying and pulling away.

AGAINST ADRIAN, Tecumseh squandered away a 17-point lead in the second quarter, dropped some more points in another third period jinx, lost the lead briefly in the final stanza, and then dominated the game in the final minutes for the win.

If Tecumseh had not incurred such a rash of errors in the Blissfield tilt, the Indians would have won in a walk.

Despite a poor third quarter against Adrian, Tecumseh was much smoother in the finale and with a couple of breaks could have won by a far bigger margin.

The two outstanding players in the four-team tourney easily were Gregg Allen and Jerry Hebb.

Allen hit for 19 points against the Royals and 23 against the Maples. Hebb, who is playing the type of ball expected from him since he was a sophomore, tallied 17 Friday night and 24 against Adrian.

Both Hebb and Allen stretch 6'4" and used their heighth to good advantage, pulling down most of the rebounds off both offensive and defensive boards, and flipping in short buckets.

Allen scored nine baskets, all within a few feet of the hoop, while Hebb connected many times on jumpers from 10 to 12 feet.

Except for late in the second quarter and most of the third period, Tecumseh looked very good, an indication that the Indians could be one of the best in this area regardless of class.

☆

CLARK NICHOLS sagged in scoring during the tournament but still tallied 27 points, 15 against Blissfield and 12 against Adrian, both short of his 20-plus per game average.

Dave Tilton started both games at guard and appears to have nabbed a starting berth. Jim Lawson and John Oberlin shared starting guard roles with Lawson opening against the Royals.

Jeff Osburn was paired with Tilton at guard during the late stages of both games and twice hit for critical points.

His two-pointer against the Royals boosted Tecumseh to a commanding five-point lead in the final minute, and he slipped in a goal in the fourth quarter to break a 51-51 tie with Adrian to give the Indians a lead they never relinquished.

Milan '5' Here Friday

Tecumseh, 4-1 overall and 3-1 in the league, can not afford to lose and drop further behind Dundee.

Milan holds a victory over Blissfield, a team the Indians were able to whip by only three points.

80 Attend Surprise Gathering

More than 80 people were on hand to wish a surprise 40th wedding anniversary to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stuwe of Clinton at the Boy Scout Building Sunday afternoon in Dundee.

Invitations were sent by their son, Jack Stuwe, and their daughters, Mrs. Ed Niswender, Mrs. Donald Gurney, and Mrs. Lothair Hardesty.

A ruby-and-white theme was used on the buffet table with poinsettias, lighted tapers, and a two-tiered wedding cake topped with bells and roses.

Attending were friends from Muncie, Ind.; relatives from Detroit and Monroe.

Loretta Leiberman and Frank Stuwe were married December 24, 1923 in Marshall. All 16 of their grandchildren were there and all but one of their 11 great grandchildren.

Mr. Stuwe was retired from the Monroe Steel Castings before moving to Clinton.

Takes Off Carrier in Jet

PENSACOLA, Fla. — Navy Ensign Richard L. Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood J. Palmer of rural Britton has successfully completed the Basic Jet Training Course with Training Squadron Four at the Naval Air Station here.

The culmination of his basic flight training was made when he successfully completed four arrested carrier landings and four catapult take-offs from the deck of the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Lexington, while the ship was operating in the Gulf of Mexico.

A graduate of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, Ens. Palmer entered the service in February 1963.

Don Work Wins 12-Day Vacation

Donald Work of Camp McDill, Fla. was awarded a 12-day Christmas leave, all expenses paid by Eastern Airlines.

Names of all personnel on the base were tossed into a barrell and Don's drawn in a promotion by Eastern.

SOME IMPROVEMENT IN HOG PRICES is expected during early 1964. But gains will be modest and rather short-lived. While bulk of the larger spring crop has been moved, slaughter will continue larger than a year ago. Even though some of the pressure will be taken off markets, gains will be limited to 75c to $1. With some reduction in farrowings last summer and early fall look for spring markets to hold up better than a year ago, though. Spring prices will probably average 75c higher this year.

UREA as a source of protein for beef cows can be practical when priced more favorably than other protein sources. The protein equivalent of urea is about 250%. One pound of urea equals 2.5 pounds of other protein. Rule of thumb for safe use is that urea can make up to ⅓ of the protein in the ration. But Iowa tests show that a winter ration can be 10% urea by weight.

HAY PRICE GONE UP? Use grain to replace roughage if it has. Whether good or poor quality, a dairy cow needs 8 to 10 pounds of roughage daily for maintenance. Above that, a half pound of grain will replace 1 pound poor quality hay. Two-thirds pound of grain will replace a pound of excellent hay on a net energy basis. Extra protein and vitamin A may also be needed. For dairy cows on a high grain ration it may be advantageous to mix the hay and grain — don't grind the hay too fine, though.

WHEN PERMANENT ELECTRIC MOTORS are added to a farm's electrical system, chances are your present service will need to be upsized. For example, a voltage on the line less than the rating of a motor results in failure to start, accelerate or attain rated speed. Plan any installation carefully for safety and efficiency.

250 Rods, Customs, Dragsters, Motorcycles, Go-Karts on Display

DETROIT — The 12th annual Autorama, world's greatest hot rod and custom car show, will be presented in Detroit's huge Cobo Hall this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Thousands of auto buffs, will examine 250 exhibits and entries in 1964's first auto show.

Autorama is "show of the year" on the International Championship Auto Show circuit. This means that double points will be awarded to cars in competition for trophies and other prizes.

Rods, customs, hand-builts, antiques, dragsters, competition cars, motorcycles, go-karts, drag boats and model cars are among the exhibits.

Autorama is not a meaningless display of off-beat automobiles, motorcycles and experimental cars. In order to compete here, each entry must have competed successfully in at least four other shows.

There will, however, be many fabulous show cars on display. These, however, will not be in competition for prizes.

Included in the "dream car" group is the new "Forcasta," a fabulous ultra-modern creation valued at $35,000.

Also, the new "Mysterion," a yellow chrome, bubble-domed sports roadster, the Car Craft "Dream Rod," called the world's most beautiful, yet practical, rod.

The show, sponsored by the Michigan Hot Rod Association, will be open from 5 p.m. until 11 p.m. on Friday; 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturday and from noon until 11 p.m. on Sunday.

Admission is $1.75 for adults, 75 cents for children under 12.

S4/C Gary Hanna arrived home Dec. 22 from Frankfurt, Germany to spend the holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hanna. He will return to Frankfurt Jan. 6.

SOLUTION FOR OVERCROWDED HIGH SCHOOL OFFERED

$500,000 Gift Provides for Large Addition

By JIM LINCOLN

One of the finest and most generous proposals ever offered the Tecumseh schools — a $500,000 gift for building and equipping a large addition this year at the high school and constructing an addition at the junior high next year — was tentatively accepted at a special school board meeting last Thursday night.

The half-million dollar gift is contingent on school district voters renewing four mills for two years at a special election on Feb. 17.

If the millage is renewed — at no increase in present taxes — the schools will receive new facilities for a 1,200-student high school free of taxpayers' expense.

With school enrollments rapidly expanding, taxpayers will now be relieved of the problem of financing a new high school, or an addition. They will be saved the probability of financing a bond issue, which would incur higher taxes.

Breakdown of the gift is up to $400,000 for the high school and up to $100,000 for the junior high.

Plans for the high school addition amount to 22,500 square feet, about one-third the size of the present building. Construction would begin this year with hopes for completion by next fall.

The plans for expanding the junior high have not been finalized. Construction there would not start until next year.

Of all the schools' problems, the crowded situation at the high school has been considered for the past few years, one that could be the most difficult to relieve and one that would be costly to the taxpayers.

☆

THE FIRST FLOOR of the proposed high school addition, about 17,000 square feet, would include:

A study hall-library combination room with a seating capacity for 200 students.

- ► Physics laboratory.
- ► Band-choral room.
- ► Shop and drawing rooms for mechanics, electronics and refrigeration.
- ► One classroom.
- ► Girls' restroom.

THE SECOND FLOOR, approximately 5,500 square feet, would have:

- ► Three classrooms.
- ► Biology laboratory.
- ► Boys' restroom.

Some remodeling work is also planned for the present high school building, including additional locker space for intramural and varsity athletics.

Officials had the building plans in Lansing Wednesday for state approval. Afterward, they will be given to a contractor to determine the exact cost.

THE FOUR MILLS, if renewed, would allow the school board to raise the base salary of teachers from $4,500 to $4,700 and gradually increase the annual increment from the $120 to $200.

Proposed salary and increment are comparable to other Class A and B schools. The $120 increment is one of the lowest in the state.

The electorate is being asked to renew the four mills, approved in 1962, for the salary adjustments and for operation. The building addition is free, if the millage is renewed.

When the four mills were originally passed, voters were told the schools' $160,000 debt would be paid off.

Final payment on the debt will be made this spring, making it the first time in several years that the Tecumseh schools have been free of debt.

LAVISH WITH CHROME — This was one of the most startling custom jobs seen at last weekend's "Motorama" at Cobo Hall. (See Long and Short.) Boasting twin Ford engines, the Mars-like creation offers 1,000 horsepower, was fashioned by Ed Roth of Maywood, Calif. This is Mr. Roth's third design and 1/25th scale model kits of his cars have hit 1½ million in sales to rod and custom enthusiasts. Besides his antics with things on wheels, Mr. Roth runs the Roth Weirdo Shirt Co.

City's '63 Payroll Hits $24 Million

One executive stated, "This is the healthiest town (jobs and payroll) of its size in the United States."

The figures verify this opinion.

Unemployment was less than 1% of the total work force employed throughout the city, according to Clifford Rice, manager of the Lenawee County office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

County unemployment, lowest in eight years, stands at 3.9%. The state figure is 4.4%.

MR. RICE'S records show that there are 1,600 places of employment in the county, 262 of these have eight or more working. Thirty-one of the latter are located in Tecumseh.

Unemployment claims from the community's work force of more than 4,300 totaled 48 during 1963. Total claims for the county were 490.

It is interesting to note that Adrian's industrial payroll for '63 reached $28,614,466, the combined figures of 28 firms with 4,612 employees. This is nearly $6 million more than 1962.

By way of comparison, taking this city's 10 strictly industrial plants, the Tecumseh payroll here was $21,827,074 in 1963 for 3,806 jobs.

BUT THE money earned in Tecumseh during the past 12 months is not the only story. The arrival of 1964 is being greeted with optimism.

At Rumpf Truck Line, owner W. J. Rumpf reports that his firm is getting delivery on three new tractors and seven 40-foot trailers this month — at a total cost of $82,000 — for anticipated increases in business.

Two of the city's medium-size plants expect to do from 25% to 30% more sales during '64.

Industrial building has been active.

H. W. Tuttle & Co. had the size of its warehouse on Russell Rd. doubled and added 2,500-square-feet to its plant.

SPARKLING NOTES — Ona Lee Cote and Lou Hardesty practice a number for the Tecumseh Players' upcoming musical "Pajama Game". Ona Lee, making her first appearance with the Players, is a freshman at Tecumseh High School. She loves to sing and dance. Lou had a small role in "Born Yesterday" and is now, "a confirmed ham." LONG & SHORT

Giant Halls A and B of Cobo Hall (seems that your writer lived there the last few days) were jammed with the weirdest assortment of wheeled vehicles ever assembled.

But, no fooling, the show was fabulous. Put a note in your little black book to attend next year.

Can you imagine a '61 Chevy Corvair so dolled up it is now worth $35,000? That's the "Forecaster," fashioned by Frank Koss of Trenton.

An Air Force Sergeant, Tom Holden of Selfridge Field, displayed his '59 Chevy El Camino, now valued at $25,000 and as exotic as a night in the South Seas.

One job had mink seat belts that cost $225.

But dearest to this 42-year-old heart was the '22 Packard open touring car, returned to its original beauty by Vito Ranks of Harper Woods. Here was a car as the old timers remembered them — proud beauties that left gasps of devotion in their wakes.

Usually a news story doesn't start with such phrases as "one of the finest and most generous proposals," but in our over-the-flag story this week, it's not editorializing.

These are facts.

A reader can be quite overwhelmed in the magnitude of this gift. Nothing like this has ever happened to the Tecumseh School District before.

Truly, this is "the finest and most generous."

Political time tables — including that of George Romney — ended up like a jig saw puzzle accidentally scattered on the floor by three rifle shots in Dallas.

It had seemed logical that Mr. Romney would go for re-election as governor this year, then be primed and ready for the Big One in 1968.

The Democrats are well pleased with Lyndon Johnson and will have him running for the big prize come November. He may make it, too.

But, then, there are some straws in the wind. It's probably because of these that George Romney has speeded up his efforts and will go for the GOP crown this summer in San Francisco.

Mr. Romney's quest for the nomination was brought up at the Economics Club session in Detroit's Cobo Hall Monday evening. It was my good fortune to be a guest of Perry Satterthwaite, who is a member for this session.

On the program were nine NBC world-wide correspondents,

March of Dimes Canisters Are Placed by Teens

Six members of the Tecumseh Teen Club distributed March of Dimes canisters to most of the local business places last week.

Distributing them were Janis Reed, Dick Fielder, Brenda Golat, Pam Bryan, Steve Laskey, and Jim Cook.

The canisters will remain in the businesses throughout January and be picked up after the first of February.

Cub Pack 73 Seeking Pop Bottles Saturday

A pop bottle drive will be staged Saturday by Cub Scout Pack 73 from 1 p.m. to 3:30. Thomas Kampmueller has asked for two fathers from each den to drive.

They will meet at the Scout Cabin.

All the dens made Christmas ornaments and placed them on the tree. They also brought canned goods for a Christmas box for a needy family.

Each Den made gifts for their mothers for Christmas and all the children were given small boxes of Christmas treats.

Mrs. Ralph Blake was awarded a den mother's pin and Mrs. Russell Southwell received a one-year pin.

Next meeting is Jan. 21.

Watershed Hearing Set for Friday

Everyone interested in the River Raisin Watershed project is urged by project chairman Harold Easton to attend the public hearing Friday, Jan. 10 at 1:30 p.m. in the Tecumseh Community Center.

One of the primary purposes of the hearing is for state officials to determine a continuing public interest which shows that local units of government are genuinely interested in seeing the project through to a successful conclusion.

Depending on the outcome of the hearing, the application for federal assistance will come up for approval or disapproval by the Michigan Soil Conservation Committee Feb. 11. If approved, it will be forwarded to Washington at that time.

Since a successful hearing is dependent upon representation from all areas of the watershed, Mr. Easton says it is imperative that all sponsoring organizations plan to attend to support and explain their sponsorship.

Dear Santa,

I am going to thank you for all the toys you give me. Thank you for all the toys Santa. I appreciate the toys.

The blue spruce donated for the Herrick Memorial Hospital Landscaping Fund was presented by all of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ivan, Sr., in their memory.

When Gov. George Romney learned that Emerson Electric was building a $54,000 warehouse, he dropped a note to W. R. Persons, president of Emerson, noting, "Decision of the Emerson Electric Manufacturing Co. to make a sizable investment in the expansion of its facilities at Tecumseh is important to Michigan's program of economic expansion. This is an indication of your confidence in our industrial future and your belief that Michigan is a good place for industry."

Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Britton Feb. 19, in Tecumseh on March 3 and Sept. 1. It is scheduled for Clinton May 28. OK, all you healthy people, start rolling up your sleeves.

From all indications so far, 1964 will be a real zippy. Merchants, man your cash registers.

In 1963, as in '62, '61, ad infinum, Garno's Barber Shop was still tops as the place to be insulted and pay $1.50 for the privilege.

How about forming a town hockey team and getting into some sort of indoor league at Toledo Arena?

Adrian's basketball squad, with four starters back from the state Class A runner-up squad of last winter, is floundering badly this season. Ah, fame, your price is sometimes high.

"Junior", a black short haired terrier who happens to be the Rev. Father Thomas Collins' favorite pet, turned up this week after disappearing Dec. 28. The pup probably would have been found sooner if school had been in session — 260 eyes of students at St. Elizabeth School would have joined the search. Father Collins couldn't understand why "Junior" would leave his little house when it was insulated. Being a little worse for wear after his escapade, the dog is now taking a rest at Tecumseh Veterinary Clinic.

Talk about enthusiasm! 100% of the people contacted by Mrs. Paul Rowlands in Britton to help with the Mothers March and solicit blood donors agreed to help. That's a true sign of civic-mindedness.

Frank Arnold came into The Herald office Tuesday morning and let it slip that he was celebrating his 81st birthday. A rousing "Happy Birthday" was sung by the staff. Frank, left, returned a few minutes later with a birthday present in reverse, gave us a box of chocolates. No one could give this thoughtful gent a greater gift than he already possesses.

who put on a tremendous show. But it was the brief comment by Merrill Mueller on President Johnson's changes next fall which fascinated.

The reply was poignant.

"If the election was held today, he'd be unbeatable."

Then he added, by summer, the odds would not be so incomfortable and by autumn there could well be a race.

"Red" Mueller is one of the top newsmen at NBC and, obviously has access to much behind-the-scenes information. Of course, he can be just as wrong as the next fellow — but chances are he will be on the beam many more times.

All of which brings us to Mr. Romney's chances. Can he step into the Big Leagues and bang the first pitch out of the park? How highly regarded is he nationally?

When Mr. Mueller was asked of the Michigan governor's hopes as a presidential candidate, he replied, "I don't think his legislature did him any good."

That is so true — especially the Republican members who should have been backing instead of hacking.

However a person feels about Mr. Romney, it's going to be fascinating to watch him operate up to and through the national convention.

Occidental Water Line Idea Tabled

Monday night's public hearing concerning a special assessment plan for water line installations on Occidental and Willow St. was postponed indefinitely by Council.

Several residents from the area explained their positions and discussed the costs for the installations.

City Manager Cal Zorn was requested to investigate the assessment plan further and determine the exact cost per property owner.

Solid Improvements During '63

Michigan in 1963 showed a year of solid improvement.

Paced by a record-breaking automobile industry, Michigan's economy has moved upward in most of its major segments.

Continuing the uptrend which began in September, 1962, its economy and its labor market remained in high gear throughout 1963.

During the year employment varied between a low of 2,610,900 in February and a high of 2,742,500 in December, passing the 2,700,000 mark in October and remaining above that figure for the entire fourth quarter.

Experts have long said that two good automobile years "back to back" could not occur. Occur it did, in 1963.

Production of 939,733 passenger cars and trucks in October topped the all-time record of 894,377 set in March of 1955.

Almost lost in the reports of booming passenger car sales, production and sales of trucks have also had one of the best years in history.

Among the major segments of Michigan's labor market, over-the-year improvement was greatest in manufacturing, where employment went up 24,200 or 2.6%.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission, whose staff is reduced when the state's economy is thriving, lost 300 employees in this 12 months.

Car Getting Gas Moves, Starts Fire

Quick action by the fire department Sunday stopped what could have been a dangerous and costly fire.

TEEN TALK

By JANICE WHELAN

Annual pinata fiesta of the Spanish Club was held Dec. 19. Diane Almaquer, a student in the Youth for Understanding Program, was their guest for the evening.

She was presented with a corsage of white carnations by the club. A short business meeting was held and then Diana talked to the members about the Christmas and New Year customs of Mexico.

After her talk, Diana was given the first chance to break the pinata. She missed and Barry Bradish, after a courageous try, was the one to break it.

The city sponsored a dance for all Tecumseh teens Dec. 27. There was a band, free refreshments and free admittance.

Seniors sponsored a Christmas Dance at the high school Dec. 21, called the Snowflake Swirl.

Decorations consisted of red-and-white crepe paper, making up the false ceiling, covering the walls, and forming the entrance way.

The four-piece band was acquired from the Bud Moor Agency in Ann Arbor. At 11 p.m. refreshments, consisting of gay Christmas cookies and orange punch, were served.

This dance went quite smoothly in comparison to another high school dance held that same evening in Plainwell. A friend of mine, who lives there, reported that their band never showed up, so they listened to old, cracked, 78 rpm records until the VFW in town burned down. The band playing at the VFW graciously moved to the high school gym and played for the remainder of the evening.

A Christmas assembly was put on for the entertainment of the student body Dec. 20. Participating in the assembly were the Cadet Band under the direction of Miles Cowdrey, the Senior Band under the direction of Don Johnson and the Chorus under the direction of Frances Moran.

The program consisted of many favorite popular and standard Christmas carols and music. At the conclusion the student body joined with Miss Moran, the Chorus, and bands in singing "Silent Night" and "O, Come All Ye Faithful."

Earl F. Kotts, formerly of Tecumseh, has been named assistant patent counsel for the Astronautics division of General Dynamics Corp. President of the San Diego Patent Law Association, Mr. Kotts and his family moved to California more than a year ago.

LOCAL BUSINESS

In the United States, more than $60 per person is spent on advertising each year. In 1940, the figure was approximately $16 per person.

Advertising expenditures then, have increased three times faster than the population growth. Paradoxically, the increase actually represents a saving for the individual consumer and increased profit for merchants who have consistently increased their advertising.

Advertising is an investment in automation. Advertising reduces selling costs, storage costs, and waste. It speeds demand for new and better things, and increases the volume of sales, which leads to lower prices.

Probably, there is no objective method to compute the return which the $60 per person investment in advertising brings to the average American annually. Various writers have estimated the gain per individual from $500 to $3000.

It could be more than even the higher estimates, since advertising is at least a major factor in the differential between the American standard of living and sub-existence economy in countries which have not employed advertising as a tool to stimulate production and distribution of goods.

To a printer, an automatic press may more than pay for itself in a year. To a manufacturer, automatic assembly machines, however expensive the investment, may pay for themselves ten times over.

To the retailer, newspaper advertising is the same kind of investment. To the consumer, advertising is a vehicle which greatly reduces final costs and provides a constantly more enriched life.

Young Mothers Welcome Three

Fruit Cake Sale Nets $447

The Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary thanks the community for the wonderful cooperation and support of the annual fruit cake sale.

Mrs. Neville Hart, chairman of the project, has reported a net profit of $447.50 from the sale of 650 fruit cakes. This is more than twice as many cakes as sold in the past.

The increased sales is largely due to the effort of business people downtown and the offices of local industry.

"We add a special thanks to these people for their cooperation at a time when they are so busy with their own sales," said Mrs. Hart.

The entire profit from this project will go toward the landscaping of the new Herrick Nursing Home.

Some trees were planted in the fall. Planting will be resumed in the spring.

Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM

Born January 26, 1946, in Herrick Memorial Hospital, a daughter, Leola Ann Gove. Eighteen years ago this was a big event in our lives. Just a little over five years ago, Oct. 8, 1958, a soul, lent to this little girl, used and lived for Jesus' sake, is back to the giver, as a child of the resurrection. "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away". Do not be disturbed about saving your soul, it will be saved IF you make it worth saving! "Angels from the realms of Glory: Conduct departed souls, Luke 16-22. Engaged in Honoring Christ: Phil. 2-9-11: Heb. 1-6. Immunerable: Heb. 12-22. Establishing the Gospel: Luke 2-9. MOTHER. J. 9c

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. Frank Arnold who passed away Jan. 10, 1960.
The home we shared together
Before you were called away,
Is not a home anymore.
It's just a place to stay.
Some may think the heartache over,
Others think the wound has healed,
But they little know the sadness
That lies in our heart concealed.
Sadly missed by husband and children.

Hebb, Lawson Pace 77-64 Milan Rout; Ypsi Here Friday

Tecumseh smothered a visiting Milan five here last Friday night in the first three quarters for an easy 77-64 victory.

The win boosted Tecumseh's season mark to 5-1, and 4-1 in the Huron League.

Jerry Hebb, netting the Indian's first seven points and a total of 12 in the first quarter, sparked his teammates to a 48-33 halftime lead.

The 6'4" forward dropped in 21 points in the first half, then added seven in the final two quarters for a 28-point evening.

Tecumseh should continue to win this Friday against visiting Ypsilanti-Lincoln. The Railsplitters were dropped by Dundee last week and have a 3-3 mark for the season.

The next two games — Grosse Ile there on Jan. 17 — should give the Indians an opportunity to work out some of the bugs that have been plaguing them. The Indians have yet to put four real solid quarters of basketball together in one game.

In the third period, Jim Lawson pushed Tecumseh to an even bigger lead, hitting for 11 points in the quarter as the Indians routed the Big Reds, 22-13, for a 70-46 lead at the end of three periods.

Lawson, playing less than three quarters of the game and not in the starting five, collected 18 points, second only to Hebb in the game's scoring.

In the final period the Indians collapsed — as they have for one quarter in the last several games — and scored only seven points.

Milan tallied 18 in the final stanza to close the margin to 13 points. Twice the Indians led by 25 points and usually by 20 or more.

Goodman, Alcock Hit 15 Apiece

The young Indians trailed by four points at the half, then went ahead for good in the third period when they outscored their opponents 16 to 10.

Poor foul shooting prevented Tecumseh from rolling up a bigger score. The Jayvees connected on only 13 out of 33 attempts. Milan shot nearly 80% from the free throw line but only had nine attempts with seven good.

CLINTON WOOLEN CHATTER

By EL and FRIENDS

SALE — SALE — SALE ! ! !

Everybody is having a sale.

We once read an article about a certain city store going out of business. They had advertised a huge clearance sale, and on the first day a crowd of 50,000 people showed up and only 12,000 could possibly get in the store. It took 40 cops to police the situation, women fainted, kids screamed, pickpockets picked pockets and confusion reigned supreme. Nearby stores reaped a harvest from the spill-over of customers.

We have dreamed many times of having a shop full of people clamoring to buy but never in our wildest imagination have we thought of fifty thousand at once! We aren't even asking for half that many, but we would like to have a record crowd attending our January clearance sale.

SALE we are having starting TODAY. Everything (almost everything) in the store will be on sale. We have some plans for the future and in order to put them into being we must clear out a great part of our inventory .

Here is your chance to save money on coats, jackets, skirts, slacks, material, findings, blouses shirts, and many other items.

The SALE will continue for several weeks but do not be disappointed by waiting come NOW to Clinton Woolen . . . take full advantage of this opportunity to buy QUALITY merchandise at low-low prices.

The great highway performer

'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan and (background) Impala Convertible

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer?

If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only. A highway.

You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you—on the car exactly as you pick it off the showroom floor.

There's a choice of seven engines—all the way up to a twin-carb high-compression 425-hp V8*—and four transmissions, including a finely honed 4-speed stick shift.*

And underlying it all—a bump-skimming Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

Nobody has to doctor or coax or soup up these Chevrolets to get the best out of them. They were built to be driven by you—on the kinds of roads you drive on.

And that's really the test of a great highway performer: Just about anyone can get a kick out of driving one, just as it comes out of the showroom.

Which, after all, is the kind of performance you'd expect from Chevrolet. The greater satisfaction and enjoyment built into these cars is borne out, year after year, by the higher resale they bring over other makes in their field.

Next time you're out your dealer's way, allow a few extra minutes to sample one of these highway performers on your own. A few are really all you'll need. That's enough time to do a lot of driving in a Chevrolet.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

GOODBYE '63, HELLO '64 — Part 2

Well, here we go again with a resume of the things we saw through our window last year. A week ago we whizzed through the first five months and found that they had been full of good looking.

Shall we continue on and check into what the remaining months offered?

June on our bird calendar is shockingly bare. Bad wind and rain storms on June 9, 10 and 15 are the only notations.

There is a good reason for all the blanks, however — June was vacation month. We had three glorious weeks, Colorado was our destination and we loved it.

There is just something about the Rocky Mountains. They were beautiful in June and now we are wondering how they would look in the fall. But that is day dreaming, Marda, you have other things to do right now.

JULY LOOKS more like it, lots of red scribblings. A stranger, one which at first we enjoyed, but who later became a nuisance, appeared on July 8 — a woodchuck. He was cute, but realizing what this little earth-mover could do to our creek bank — —well, we were glad when he left.

This was also a month of great baby bird activity. Young blue jays on the feeder, baby titmice all over and Junior flicker learning about ants in the yard. Hummingbirds, brown thrashers, kingfishers were common. A blue-winged yellow warbler kept us busy July 20 and the last of the month found us watching quail.

August did not offer much out of the ordinary. I suppose even the birds were enjoying the lazy summer days. On Aug. 10 we did see a pair of wood thrush and maybe, just maybe, a yellow-billed coo coo came our way on Aug. 21. The bird was brought to the house, but dad opened the box and it flew away before he realized what was happening. As it flew by the window though and from the sound it made, I am sure it was a coo coo.

SEPTEMBER was a bit busier, but still nothing to brag about. After spending their summer vacation in the woods, our downy woodpeckers returned to their fall and winter haunts early in the month. My but they all looked nice, so clean and soft.

The down's big cousin, Hairy, made a short visit on Sept. 24. He objected to sharing the feeder with three blue jays so left almost as soon as he arrived.

The chick-a-dees' early arrival made us think about fall and winter, but the baby cardinal, who spent most of Sept. 29 setting on the feeder and screaming to be fed, turned our thoughts back to summer.

More than just our thoughts turned toward summer in October — boy it was hot. And dry, too. The creek dried up not completely, but as much as we had ever seen it.

Birdwise we were confused by the many, many fall warblers — separating one from another was almost impossible. October was the biggest cedar waxwing month we ever had and most exciting of all, were the evening grosbeaks Ida saw on Oct. 28 and 30.

☆

NOVEMBER IS the end of one season and start of another — a few stray grackles and robins were still around, but juncos and chick-a-dees moved in en masse. Evening grosbeaks continued to thrill us and as the weather grew colder, business at the feeder increased.

December was much the same, but quite frankly, holiday preparations were so feverish that we did little calendar writing. One bird highlight occurred on Dec. 15 when Clara called to report having two red-breasted nuthatches. Wow.

So it is that 1963 turned out to be a satisfyingly good bird year — our hopes are high for the same kind of excitement in '64.

Post Office Receipts Jumped $30,000 in '63

Post office receipts in Tecumseh jumped $30,000 during 1963, reports Jack Metcalf, postmaster.

For the past two years the figures were:

1963 — $142,313.41

The increase was a reflection of higher mailing costs, but also from greater postal activities at Tecumseh Products Co., Gray Mfg. Co., and H. W. Tuttle & Co., according to Mr. Metcalf.

He stated that there has been a steady growth of receipts over the last 11 years.

In 1952, when Mr. Metcalf was appointed to his position, the yearly business was $47,671.42.

For the 1963 period of Dec. 7 to 31, receipts hit $15,360. For that month in '62 of Dec. 8 to 31, it was $13,316.86.

Wheat Income Will Tumble, Expert Reports

Prices on the 1964 wheat crop will be well below prices received on the 1963 crop, according to estimates made by Dr. John Ferris, Michigan State University extension agricultural economist.

"The future market indicates that the trade is anticipating farm prices of $1.50 to $1.60 at harvest time next July," says Ferris. "This apparently reflects some expectation of new wheat legislation which at this time appears to have less than a 50-50 chance."

Mr. Ferris points out that wheat sales dollar volume may be as much as 25% less during 1964 than last year due to reduced prices and the probability of slightly lower production.

Good Teen Resolution — I Will Not Smoke

"Resolved — if I am not smoking now, I won't start. If I am smoking now, I'll quit."

This was the New Year's Resolution proposed primarily for teenagers — but not omitting anybody older, particularly fathers and mothers.

It is offered by Dr. Park W. Willis, president - elect of the Michigan Heart Association and a cardiologist at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

"And mean it when you resolve not to start," said Dr. Willis.

"The price you pay in good health is just not worth it. At least twice as many cigarette smokers as non-smokers die of heart attack, a disease which is the leading cause of death in America today. And far more cigarette smokers get lung cancer or difficult, chronic lung disease.

"ONE OF the better ways to stop or avoid starting is to keep in mind all the disagreeable things," Dr. Willis added.

"List the stained teeth and fingers, bad breath and odors, and holes burned in clothing and rugs. Consider the money gone, the loss of your good wind and flavors of food and a tyranny that can take you out in the snow at 2 a.m. because you are out of cigarettes."

Dr. Willis, who cited a recent decision of Board of Directors of the American Heart Association to discourage smoking, urged parents to quit as an example to their children.

"Twice as many students smoke when both parents smoke," he said. Strongly expressed parental disapproval of smoking will also help."

Production expenses on the average Michigan farm jumped $200 in 1963 and that upward trend is expected to continue in 1964.

"Michigan farmers spent about $622 million dollars for production expenses — an increase of $11 million over 1962," reports William A. Tinsley, Michigan State University agricultural economics extension specialist. "We expect a similar increase in 1964.

"These aggregate expenses have been increasing about $8 to $9 million a year over the past decade — an increase of about 1½%. But, because the number of Michigan farms has been declining, production costs per farm have been increasing by about 5%."

Kathleen Forsyth and her brother, Sidney, returned to Upland, Ind., where they attend Taylor University.

Alien Address Report Program Now Under Way

The annual Alien Address Report Program is again under way.

More than 130,000 aliens reported their addresses last year in Michigan. The number this year is expected to be slightly smaller.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service points out that the address reports are required by law and willful failure to comply with these requirements may lead to serious consequences.

Forms with which to make the reports are available at all post offices. It is an easy matter to fill out one of the cards and return it to the same office.

The Little Garden Club's new officers were installed by Mrs. Neil Pearson at its annual Christmas social on Dec. 17.

For All We Hold Sacred . . . Attend Church

NOTHING IS IMPOSSIBLE

Never has the future seemed more exciting . . . or more disturbing! Today we dream of flights to far stars; about intelligent life on other planets. We look at our own earth with clear eyes, and discuss the possibility of world brotherhood, world government, world peace.

Are these things going to happen? We don't know. But we do know that nothing is impossible.

In fact, Jesus tells us that all things are possible with God. He wants us to understand that God is infinite power, as well as infinite love. The foolishness of men cannot affect God's plans for the universe, or His love for each one of us.

Faith is what we need . . . faith in the certainties upon which the Christian Church is founded. When we put our lives in God's hands, there is no need to view the future with doubt or dread. All will be well.

Four-County Area Wants Raisin Watershed Program

Meeting on Feb. 11 Tells Tale

By TOM RIORDAN

Green lights seemed to be flashing all over the Community Center as the two-hour public hearing drew to a conclusion Friday afternoon.

Little doubt was left that the River Raisin Watershed project would probably get full endorsement of the state Soil Conservation Commission — and eventual Federal assistance.

Person after person, representing all four counties in Michigan and the one in Ohio which are included in the watershed, testified in favor of the proposed program.

Time and time again the phrases "soil erosion, flooding of farm lands, silt, pollution, rapid run-off of rain" were mentioned. With each, the speaker would end by adding an endorsement to the corrective plan.

Some said action had to be taken immediately.

People from Jackson County spoke, so did residents of Lenawee, Hillsdale and Washtenaw. A gentleman from Fulton County, Ohio, which is barely nipped by the 678,720-acre watershed, added his favorable opinion.

☆

TWO PERSONS of the 400 present voiced concern. Otto Hagens, who owns approximately 350 acres of farm land in Macon Township wondered where the money would come from to pay for the vast operation.

An unidentified lady said she wouldn't be in favor if it "violated her rights."

Panel members George McIntyre, chairman of the State Soil Conservation group, and Stan Quackenbush, state drain commissioner, answered these queries.

The money would emanate from many sources, but primarily, through Public Law 566, from the Federal government which furnishes up to 80%. The balance would be paid by local areas which benefit from the program — townships, cities and villages.

Whose "rights" would be touched is unknown at this time.

PUBLIC HEARING COMMENTS, 2nd SECTION, PAGE 1

LONG & SHORT

BY TOM RIORDAN

Another volume by Allan Seager is being issued the first week of February.

Titled, "A Frieze of Girls," it's not a novel, but a collection of short stories, which have been published previously in a variety of magazines — Esquire, New Yorker, Sports Illustrated and Atlantic.

Bill Wright, the friendly druggist and a long-time Seager fan, has an order in with McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc., publishers of this offering, for half a dozen copies to have available at his store.

It's interesting to have a bona fide author living in town and a wonderful conversation piece when someone from the outside visits.

"That's where the novelist Allan Seager lives," is a usual comment as the Cook's Tour proceeds along W. Chicago Blvd., past the huge old brick Seager residence.

In my first meeting with Allan, I nicely managed to stick my brogan into my mouth.

Upon arrival in Tecumseh, my temporary home for six weeks was a room at the Veva Conner place, next door to Seager's. The Conner front room was a gathering place for television viewing by Mrs. Seager and daughter, Laura (the Seagers still don't have a set).

Some evenings, this weary plodder would join the lineup for a look at an assortment of equally tired TV shows.

Mrs. Seager casually mentioned one evening that an article by her husband had just been published in Saturday Evening Post.

"How nice," was the rejoinder. Never having read any of Allan's books or the nearly 100 articles he had fashioned for top magazines, I vastly underrated the fellow's immense background.

At that point, to me, this was the full Seager production — a quick, more or less lucky shot in Post.

But wanting to let Tecumseh Herald readers in on this success, it seemed appropriate that an interview should be arranged. This was easy, seeing as how the gentleman was only next door.

One of the cardinal sins of chatting with a person, about whom you want to do a story, is not to check his background before stepping into his presence.

This was my boner.

Going in cold, I tried to bluff my way along. Naturally, this became a stumbling, bungling sort of question session.

After a short pause, Allan noted something about a novel he had done. A little light flashed in my mind and the next query seemed perfect.

"Oh, did you have it published?"

"I don't write them unless they're to be published."

For all intents and purposes, this closed the interview and in a few moments, one weekly editor was stumbling out into the night.

Since then, we've become good friends and I've come abreast of his past and present literary successes.

Incidentally, "Frieze of Girls" is almost pure autobiographical, covering portions of Allan's high school, college and stint as a Rhodes Scholar in Oxford.

CITIZEN SEAGER — In a quiet way, Allan Seager has assumed civic responsibilities in his hometown, especially in things pertaining to the library. At the dedication of the new structure, he talked about books.

SS Hope Story Told by Doctor

By JUDY FIELDER

A staff member of the famed American hospital ship SS Hope spoke to 112 members of the city's service clubs, doctors, nurses and wives at the Exchange Club Ladies' Night held at the Baptist Church Monday night.

John Saling introduceed Dr. John C. Rawling of Flint, who told of his experiences during his volunteered service without pay for a month in Viet Nam and two and one-half months in Peru.

The entire skilled personnel aboard the ship were volunteers who worked side-by-side with their Peruvian counterparts to train them in the most modern medical skills and techniques.

A film on the ship's one-year stay in Peru depicted the plight of people in underprivileged countries where illness and deformities, which usually are easily corrected in the USA.

☆

THE SHIP was greeted by a few curious bystanders on its arrival near the 60,000-population city of Trujillo, Peru.

Sixteen clinics were set up in nearby slums, where patients received immunization shots and checkups.

Serious or unusual cases were referred to the 125-bed hospital ship, where treatment was administered by American and Peruvian professionals.

Nearly a year later, over 40,000 turned out to bid the ship goodbye. The quay and beach were filled with people waving, smiling and crying as the SS Hope pulled away.

"The ship's yearly cost of operation is $3½ million," said Dr. Rawling, "about the same price as a jet fighter or missile."

☆

EXCERPTS from his speech brought to light:

► Cost is not underwritten by the government, with the exception of powdered milk donated by the Department of Agriculture which is reconstituted and packaged by a machine nicknamed "Iron Cow."

☆

HE STATED the founders of the SS Hope are making plans for establishing a second hospital ship with the only drawback being money for operation.

Exchange Club President Forrest Abner presented Dr. Rawling with a check for the SS Hope and several members of the audience gave donations.

Wallace Whiting led the group in songs.

THS 5 Ranks 2nd in State

Tecumseh Indians are now ranked second in Michigan among Class B basketball teams by the Detroit Free Press.

Britton-Macon is third in Class D.

Coach Vic Lawson's team dropped its opener and has since won six straight games, including a victory over Adrian, runnerup in Class A state tournament last March, and a team that has four of its five starters back for the current season.

River Rouge, which nearly always ranks first and has won a string of Class B tourney honors, is rated first in the state.

Big Well Is Started on Sutton

Drilling started for the 16-inch well on Stauffer Chemical's Anderson division site on Sutton Rd. Wednesday morning.

"We will not know the outcome until the big well is down and has been tested for at least a week," stated A. R. Anderson, head of the division.

The company is checking utilities necessary for the plant. Study will not be completed until February.

Although the key item is water, other necessary steps include gas, power, rail siding, telephone, teletype and soil tests, industrial zoning, and waste disposal.

Two chaps stepped into the lobby of Tecumseh Products Co. and stood looking about. Ken Goldmann, advertising manager, happened to be there and asked if he could help. Inquired one, "Could you tell where the unemployment office is?"

The eyes is the opposite of nays.

You're "in" if you are trying to stop smoking, but it can present problems. Marsh Coulter decided to attempt the lemon-drop-substitute method. It worked OK until he got busy, flipped one into his mouth, then pulled out his lighter and just stopped short of putting flame to the candy.

Accidentally by-passed in our Britton year in review was one of the biggest events during April — Dr. Wilber T. Claxton was honored for his 35 years of caring for area people with a banquet attended by 400.

The mail slot in The Herald's front door is back for all newshounds who find it difficult to bring in news during office hours. Stop by anytime day or night and slip in your news item.

It would be easier to quit smoking if everybody else did too. There's nothing worse than a gloater as he blows smoke in your face. Did you ever inhale somebody else's smoke? Mmmmmmmmm, better than none at all!

Office non-smokers — Ugh!

It's getting that time again — will Elmer Porter run again for the State Senate?

Many months of study and investigation would be needed to determine what can be done — if the project gets favorable approval on state and national levels — with a variety of public hearings on each step.

Mr. McIntyre emphasized that the "people are not committed in any way at this time."

The Raisin application will get approval or rejection Feb. 11 when the State Soil Commission gathers in East Lansing, with its report going first to Gov. Romney.

In the past five years, 56 requests have been considered by the commission with 23 approved so far. Three are already complete and the biggest to date is the south branch of the Cass River, which covers portions of Cass and Sanilac Counties. This project would be dwarfed by the Raisin.

☆

OTHERS ON THE panel for the hearing were:

► H. J. Haines of Lansing, Department of Conservation.

Menopause Need Not Be Difficult

Dr. Patricia Wentz, of Adrian, spoke to members of the Child Study Club Monday evening.

Dr. Wentz, talking on "Stress and Menopause," said that barring stress factors such as a sick child, poor health or any unnatural strain, menopause is quite a natural thing and should not cause much difficulty.

She also mentioned that the period of time usually involved is a year, not more than two.

In the case of stress, Dr. Wentz said that there are tranquilizers and harmones that help, but one should cultivate new interests so that minor discomforts do not become out of proportion.

Mrs. Orrie Gilbert, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

ROLL CALL was answered by members telling how large her childhood family was and where the members are at present.

Seed Dealer To Pack Soy Beans for Jordan

A railroad car of 1,500 bushels of soybeans for shipment to Jordan is being sought by Lenawee County CROP committee with Carl Ringkvist, chairman.

The campaign was started in November. According to Willis Moore, treasurer, contributions now total $1,639.16. Cost of a carload of soybeans is estimated at $4,000, slightly less than $3 per bushel.

Soybean seed dealers Myron and Ron Jacob of Blissfield have agreed to package the soys gratis for shipment.

Mr. Ringkvist emphasized the importance of this shipment of beans being made early in February.

The Lenawee County Farm Bureau and the Grange have pledged their help in securing the beans.

Big Week for Farmers Opens Feb. 3

Farmers' Week at Michigan State University, Feb. 3-7, is slated to be filled with programs and exhibits for all types of farmers, homemakers, young people and those interested in new developments in agriculture and agribusiness.

Kresge Art Center will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day for art enthusiasts. Exhibits of paintings from the Newark Museum will be on display. A demonstration on the use of pottery wheels is scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday mornings.

A rural defense exhibit showing first aid practices, ways for medical self-help and emergency food supply in case of emergency will be set up in the Union Building.

SPARTAN STADIUM will be the site for most of the Farmers' Week exhibits. Some of the feature exhibits show the new methods of free stall dairy housing, improved egg grading equipment, cattle grading and marketing, new swine feeding equipment and farm machinery.

TelFarm, a new educational program in farm management, is the theme of an exhibit by the Department of Agricultural Economics. Data supplied by farmers who wish to find out how their farming practices stack up with those of other farmers will be analyzed by the 1620 computer. This will be in the new engineering building.

The agricultural engineers have prepared exhibits showing the latest in building plans, liquid manure handling, rural civil defense developments, waste disposal and solar heating and drying.

Other exhibits include controlled heating units, new harvesting and threshing equipment, tillage and planting equipment, power transmissions for tractors, student careers and other implications for the future.

☆

FOR THE LADIES, the Home Engineering Laboratory has a modern up-to-date kitchen with all the conveniences and the latest in home laundry facilities.

For high school students, there is an exhibit and information describing opportunities in the fields of agriculture.

The animal husbandry department has several displays showing meat grading. The MSU Meats Laboratory will be open to visitors and the university's swine, beef, horse, sheep and diary herds can also be seen.

The dairy department will be exhibiting its loose housing barns and milking parlor. The Brown Swiss and Jersey herds housed there are used primarily for breeding purposes and is one of the most intensively inbred herds of cattle in the United States.

MSU'S new Abrams Planetarium will be a featured attraction. The circular auditorium (seats 260 persons, and a Farmers' Week special will be 30 minute "trips" to the moon" on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Many other departments will have exhibits on display, including the Army ROTC, biochemistry, botany and plant pathology, entomology, forest products, fisheries and wildlife and horticulture, to name a few.

Besides the exhibits, each of the departments has its own program for those who have a special interest in one of these areas.

Farmers' Week programs, available from county extension offices, give more details on exhibits.

Who Have Moved to Tecumseh

Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Spence returned to Michigan after two years in Dallas, Texas where he was an accountant.

They were formerly from Jackson.

He is now an accountant with Gray Faraday and enjoys golfing and hunting.

"In fact," said his wife Josephine, "That's one of the main reasons we came back to Michigan. He loves the country and the change of seasons. Trees, so common here, are cherished in Dallas. They don't move trees to build the sidewalks — they build the walks around them."

"Also the girls didn't like the bugs," she added.

"The girls" are Kathy, 8, and Trudy, 7, both attending Tecumseh Acres school. The Spence's one son, 4¼-month-old Donald Chester, is nicknamed "Chet."

ELECTED — Mrs. Madeline K. Tuttle, chairman of the board of H. W. Tuttle Co., was elected treasurer of the Electrical Women's Round Table, Inc., at its eleventh annual meeting in Chicago Jan. 8.

Its membership is comprised of women employed by organizations within the electrical industry and allied fields.

Bible Group Members Are 'Early Birds'

The banquet planning committee of the Inter-Church Laymen's Association will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Episcopal Church.

All area churches are invited to send laymen representatives to this meeting when final plans will be made for the annual banquet, set for Feb. 20.

The Bible Study Group sponsored by Inter-Church Laymen, will study the Book of Acts beginning Saturday.

The group meets each Saturday at 6:30 a.m. in the Methodist Church kitchen and all area men interested in group Bible study are invited to take part.

Per Pupil Rate $293 in City

Tecumseh Public Schools spent $293.12 per pupil during school year 1962-63 in comparsion to the national average of $345 per pupil.

This year both are expected to go up — the national average to $352. Tecumseh's to $303.55 per pupil.

The budget increased because the junior high school was returned to a full-time schedule and other services, such as music in the grade schools, were renewed.

Although the figure does not include public library, transportation service, capital outlay or debt retirement, it does tack on expenditures for Sutton's special education school maintained by Tecumseh district for the county where expenses per pupil are higher than average.

☆

"THIS IS the year the schools are supposed to be out of debt" said Norval Bovee, assist. supt., "And we will be."

"The general operating fund will be in the black as the school board promised two years ago," he added.

There is a $78,000 reserve to finish the debt, leaving a $14,800 surplus.

Only three years have shown "in the black" balances since 1951. They were in 1953, 1956 and 1957.

Farmers Consider New Crop

Some Michigan farmers are turning to a different type of "crop," one which is short in supply and very much in demand.

This new crop is recreation.

Woodlots are being converted into overnight camping areas. Entire farms are being changed into ski areas and commercial hunting and fishing or recreation sites.

With this in mind, Michigan State University's Department of Resource Development, in cooperation with the Department of Fisheries and Wildlife, has planned a one-day program devoted to farm recreation.

This program will be given on Thursday, Feb. 6, during Farmers' Week on the MSU campus.

Farmers who are currently involved in recreation projects, will be on hand to tell of their experiences and problems in starting and operating recreation sites, and to discuss the "pros and cons" of farm recreation.

Specialists from MSU will contribute with some of their findings about the demand for and the type of recreation desired.

Bonners See Niels Hansen, Former Exchange Student, on Junket to Europe

Mrs. Robert Bonner spoke of her recent trip to England when the Monday Club meeting was held Jan. 6.

The Bonners were met in England by Niels Hansen, exchange student who was their house-guest in 1961 and '62.

He traveled with them about England and his native land, Germany.

Mrs. Bonner showed slides of his home and the surrounding country.

The theme, "Our Foreign Friends" was furthered by the presence of Mrs. Lee Norcross, a native of Okinawa, who was introduced by President Mrs. Truman Rentschler.

☆

SHE ALSO presented several members of the club, Mrs. Louis Bauman formerly of Germany, Mrs. Thomas Hamilton of Ireland and Mrs. C. B. Brock, who was born in Canada.

Edith Ingersoll reminisced and told of meeting her first foreign born friend 60 years ago.

Mrs. Beulah Caldwell gave a reading about Italian spaghetti.

Mrs. Thomas Hamilton and committee served cake and coffee from a lace-covered table with appropriate appointments.

Mrs. Andrew Woodward and Mrs. Veva Conners poured beverages.

Number of Silos Doubles

Additional use of silage and highly-mechanized feed handling systems have resulted in a two-fold increase in the number of silos on Michigan farms since 1955.

"Improved equipment, larger livestock operations, added know-how and reduced profits have contributed to the increased use of silease," according to Ray Hoglund, Michigan State University agricultural economics researcher.

He says that "increased use of silage is most economical on medium to large size dairy farms using loose housing equipped facilities for outdoor storage feeding."

Net income can be increased in most 25-cow doiry herds by investing only in hay conditioning equipment and feeding silage at low levels.

With a 40-cow herd, it would be most profitable to invest in a hay conditioner, more silage storage and unloaders while shifting to a medium level of silage feeding.

"For the 65-cow herd, it would pay to invest in conditioning equipment as well as additional silage storage and handling equipment to feed silage at a high level," says the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station authority. "Haylage could substitute for most or all of the hay which would reduce costs through elimination of the haying equipment."

Hoglund points out that yield relations can affect the most profitable combinations of crops to grow and feed. The substitution of haylage for most of the winter-fed hay in a 65-cow herd with less productive soils would result in a $644 gain in net income.

The best combination on highly productive soils calls for feeding corn silage throughout the year. This would return $1,102 of extra net income.

The agricultural economist cautions that increased production and feeding of silage — even on farms large enough to make efficient use of silage — doesn't necessarily assure a high net farm income.

Tecumseh Rallies To Swamp Ypsi, 66-48; Share First Place with Dundee, Airport

A 21 to two-point splurge in the fourth quarter by Tecumseh prevented what would have been the upset of the season here last Friday night when the Indians finally downed Ypsilanti-Lincoln, 66-48.

For about two and a half periods, the Indians played their poorest ball of the year and seemed sure to be defeated. In the third quarter, they fell 10 points behind.

This Friday night, Tecumseh plays at Flat Rock. The Indians, although champs, bowed twice to the Rams last season. They should avenge one of the two losses this week.

Coach Vic Lawson's victory over Ypsi coupled with Blissfield's unset of Dundee gives Tecumseh a share of the Huron League lead with the Vikings and Airport.

The Jets just managed to edge Milan, 69-68, or Tecumseh and Dundee would have had first place to themselves, probably until Jan. 24 when the two clubs meet at Dundee.

☆

OVER-CONFIDENCE is one fallacy the Indians cannot afford, and it was pretty evident against Ypsi. One more loss at this stage — and just one in the tournament — could be the end of any title hopes.

Tecumseh tallied only 15 points in the first quarter — well below the team's average — and just six points in the second stanza.

Gregg Allen, who scored 16 points for the evening, couldn't buy a bucket in the first quarter, hit for two free throws early in the second period, and then two field goals with less than a minute to play for all of Tecumseh's second period scoring.

Trailing by 10 in the third period, Jerry Hebb spanked his teammates and poured in nine of his total 25 points to give the Indians a 39-39 tie at the end of the period.

The fourth period was all Tecumseh as the Indians racked up 17 straight points at one stretch, and 21 points before Ypsi scored more than two points.

Hebb, the league's top scorer, netted eight more points in the final period before being pulled from the game with about two minutes remaining.

Coach Lawson yanked the entire starting five with two minutes to go, or Tecumseh undoubtedly would have gone over the 70-point mark with a winning margin of over 20 points.

Brightest point of the fray was Tecumseh's free throw shooting, hitting 22 of 31 for 71%. Ypsi hit 12 of 20, or 60%.

Tecumseh Ladies on Board of Irish Hills Council

Mrs. Marvin Ery, Mrs. Hubert Lavender and Mrs. Maurice Tuckey were delegates to the Irish Hills Girl Scout Delegate Council meeting Jan. 8.

A potluck dinner was served to 200 delegates, leaders, and guests.

Mrs. Calvin Pawson of Onsted, chairman, presented the board of directors including two members from Tecumseh, Mrs. Stanley Kruse, chairman of the field committee, and Mrs. Donald C. Creger, chairman of the program committee.

Mrs. G. L. Murphy presided at the meeting.

A treasurer's summary, personnel study group, camping, training, membership analysis, and structure study reports were given to the council members.

The National Council meeting, held in Miami Beach, Fla. in October was attended by six delegates from the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council, who reported on the national event.

A new song, "Look Wider Still", from the convention, was sung by Troop 254, led by Mrs. Robert Kempf, who also closed the meeting with the singing of taps.

International Seminar Set for Saturday

Rotary District International Seminar will be held at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Building Saturday from 9:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Several from Tecumseh, Blissfield, Adrian and Clinton are planning to attend. All Rotarians are invited.

The luncheon speaker will be Senator Philip A. Hart from Washington, D. C. His subject will be "A New Look at Foreign Aid."

Jazz Class for Adults

A class in modern jazz for teens and adults will begin at the Community Center Saturday from 11:45 a.m. to 12:30. The 12-week session will cost $16.

Several adults, both men and women, are signed up for the course, which is good for learning to use the body correctly with rhythm and excellent exercise.

All jazz students are to wear loose or stretchy clothing and tennis shoes.

Thirty-six people are now in classes held each Saturday at the Community Center.

60 Members of Friends On Hand

Over 60 from Tecumseh Friends Church attended the annual Missionary event Jan. 9 at the Madison School sponsored by the Men's Missionary Organization of the Quarterly Meeting.

The Rev. Russell Zinn, missionary from Formosa, was the speaker and the Rev. Charles Mutti and his wife, Elsie, of Beloit, O., retired missionaries, were guests.

Mrs. Paul Brantingham accompanied the soloist, the Rev. Byron Teague, Jackson.

Walter Wiemer of the local congregation spoke briefly before the 250 attending. He told of the project the men sponsored of raising funds for Christian literature in India.

Jayvees Beat Lincoln for 7th Straight Win

A big 20-point first quarter paced a Tecumseh Jayvee's 60-42 rout of the Ypsilanti-Lincoln Jayvee's last Friday night for the seventh straight THS victory.

Phil Barber and Terry Alcock led the Tecumseh attack in the initial period with Barber tallying three goals for six points and Alcock, three goals and a free throw, for seven points.

Coach Jim Hoffman cleared the bench in the final quarter with his team leading by 20 points. The margin would have been greater except for missed free throws.

The Jayvees hit 10 of 22 attempts against Ypsi, a poor number at the line but better than some past games when they managed to hit less than 30%.

COMMENTS MADE AT WATERSHED PUBLIC HEARING

Residents from Four Counties Voice Approval

George Hurrell, of Jackson Planning Commission — We are taking steps to see that waters going through our area are managed well, that they go downstream pure. I heartily recommend this and we'll do our job and assume our responsibilities.

Bob Bonner, Tecumseh councilman — There is a need for controlling flooding and removal of debris. Bonus things would be raising of water level in ground and recreation.

Jackson T. Bennett, mayor of Saline — City government has taken over the river and dam, planning to clean it up. There is two to six feet of silt in the lake. We already are developing 80 acres along river for recreation. One mile south of the city there used to be a dam and large pond. Restoring it would help.

John Chaska, of Lake Erie Clean-Up Committee — Our primary concern is with pollution. We are co-sponsor, heartily in favor, also for recreational purposes. Fresh water supply is sorely needed in this area. Present situation (industrial wastes dumped into streams) is deplorable.

Don Doty, Raisinville Township in Monroe County — Three main tributaries (in this township) cause several hundred acres of good farm land to be flooded several times a year. Silting conditions are bad. I urge that plans be developed.

John Giles, Adrian recreation director — I can't express strongly enough my support of this project. In a study of vast projects similar to this in southwest USA, retail trade and per capita income grew as a result. This is a wonderful opportunity and will increase recreational space tenfold. Adrian now is 200 acres below national standards for recreation space.

Art Small, of Palmyra Township and Lenawee County Conservation Club—This plan would promote wildlife conservation. All the frogs, pollywogs and crabs below Adrian die by summer (as result of Raisin pollution). Clean up the streams to preserve (game and fish) for future generations.

Representative of Blissfield Kiwanis — Our club is in favor of it. I took a group of Toledo Scouts in two boats with one motor and a chain saw for a trip up the Raisin. We spent all day cutting timber. There is bad pollution.

Representative of Lenawee County Farm Bureau — Of 1,500 farmers, there was only slight opposition because it meant asking the federal government for help, and they want to row their boat alone, but in this case we are glad to ask for help.

Gentleman from Fulton County, Ohio — I've been looking at pictures of Chief Tecumseh and thinking, he and his people never did anything for the river. And we haven't either. We're for it. (Watershed includes small portion of Ohio).

Supervisor of Deerfield Township — There has been flooding on lowlands. Some roads that were built a few years ago, well back from river, are now next to the banks.

Member of River Raisin Sportsman Club. I built a home northeast of Blissfield 11 years ago. Water used to go down a little in the summer, now it gets so low you can see islands. You could walk across without getting your shoes wet. The stench is terrific. It's unfit for wildlife.

Supervisor of Palmyra Township — In the last few years there has been a shortage of water (in the Raisin). We should do something to control the water. This will be a critical situation in 10 years.

Art Eaton, supervisor of Tecumseh Township — The steering committee did a terrific job, the press and radio, too. There are areas in Raisin Township which offer ideal sites for impoundment, deep gorges. Water can be kept, released downstream when people need it. Some people have wondered about the new chemical plant and what wastes it might dump. I talked to an official of the company and he assured me that they would have a system of settling beds and that water going back to the river would be absolutely pure.

Supervisor of Blissfield Township — Rich farm land along banks has always been under flooding conditions, not only in spring but also during heavy rainfalls. Sometimes no crops are harvested.

Resident of Palmyra — There are some areas near Palmyra where you can walk across the river on the trees in it.

John Truesdale, Clinton councilman — Knowing the difficulty (facing) people, we want to go on record favoring the program.

Representative of Washtenaw County AFL-CIO — We want a stable river.

Dave Wagonack, of Summerfield Township — If the river bed was straightened out, this could end silt and pollution.

Amos Sanders of Greater Brooklyn Association — If it's not done fairly soon it will become more expensive. There would be more land usage for homes and industrial development.

Representative of Monroe County Farm Bureau — We're mainly interested in flood control. We'd very much like to see this application approved.

John Harmon, of Hillsdale — We are setting up a program, if this goes through, for soil management along the banks and to plant trees. We have sympathy for people (downstream).

Resident on Wolf Creek, north and west of Adrian — Lots of homes will be built in the next few years in that area. We need your help.

Otto Hagens, of Macon Township — Who is going to pay for it? (This question was answered by Stan Quackenbush, Dept. of State Drain Commissioner) — Some would be paid by local areas, which get benefits — townships, villages and cities, according to existing statutory regulations to determine shares. At this time no one can tell (whom or how much.)

Master of Lenawee County Grange — Something has to be done now. Later it would cost us more.

Ray Nash, of Adrian and Southeastern Michigan Rural Electric Co-op — At present we do not foresee any financial benefits accruing directly to our co-op as a result of the project or the river. We do see a great deal of good for the community as a whole. We know that what is good for the whole community is good for the co-op. This is the reason for our sponsorship.

Unidentified lady — I'd be opposed if it robbed me of my rights. George McIntyre replied she would have "an opportunity to know after plans were announced."

Russ Hill, executive secretary of State Soil Conservation Commission — To correct the problems you have to attack them on a watershed basis. I'm pleased by comments from people of upper end (of river). This project is off to an excellent start. It will only succeed if people are willing to work together.

REMEMBER THE GRAND DUCHESS? Everyone who saw "You Can't Take It With You" will certainly recall the job done by Mrs. Alton Snyder in this side-splitting role. SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

QUESTION: I'm in business for myself. How do I get social security credit for my earnings?

ANSWER: You report your earnings for social security purposes on your regular income tax return and send it to the Internal Revenue Service. Be sure that your name, nature of business, social security number, and net profit are shown on the social security part (Schedule SE) of your tax return.

QUESTION: After I check my social security account once, how soon can I check it again.

ANSWER: You can check your account as often as once a year if you like. There is no charge for this service. We encourage everyone to check his social security record at least once every three years. This is especially important if you work for more than one employer.

QUESTION: When I retired this year and applied for social security benefits, I had already made $1700. My boss has asked me to return to work on a part-time basis earning no more than $100 a month. Do I have to notify you that I have returned to work?

ANSWER: Yes. Even though you will be earning less than $100 in a month when you return to work, you will have increased your total earnings for the year, thereby affecting benefit payments for the entire year.

Do you have a question about Social Security? If so, write to your Social Security Representative for Lenawee and Jackson Counties, James C. Hushion, 536 N. Jackson, Jackson, Mich. All letters are confidential and you will receive an immediate reply.

QUESTION: I have been married for fourteen years. I have a social security number under my maiden name, but I never got around to changing my name on your social security records. I have worked on and off in the last few years. Will my not having changed my name cause me to lose credit for this work?

ANSWER: Chances are that your employer has been asked about the different name on his report. Regardless of this, you should obtain a card Form OAAN-7003 from your social security office. Return the completed form, and you will be issued a social security card with your married name. The number will remain the same as it was on your old card.

QUESTION: I recently sent to Baltimore to check on my social security record, using the special card social secity has for this purpose. When I received a statement of my earnings, I found that there was an error for the year 1962. Why is this, and how do I go about getting it corrected for that year?

ANSWER: It could be wrong for any one of several reasons. The employer may have failed to file a report, or your name or number may have been entered incorrectly on his record. In any event, you should gather up any information you may have about your 1962 wages (payroll slips, withholding statements, etc.) and bring it to the social security office. The people there will do what they can to help you straighten out your account.

Everyone is invited to attend the showings.

History of the Raisin

(Editor's note — Mrs. Reginald Angus recently prepared a complete history of the River Raisin for publication in the Brooklyn Exponent. This is the third in the series, being reprinted in The Herald through courtesy of The Exponent.)

By MRS. REGINALD ANGUS

Saddest of all memories of the Raisin is the story of the bitterest days of the War of 1812 when Monroe (then called Frenchtown saw its Raisin River run red with blood of massacred American militia who had surrendered to the British, but were at the mercy of the English allies, the Indians.

The river runs peacefully now, but markers along its path tell the entire story.

At that time the British resorted to a scorched earth policy to punish the citizens of this area for their aid to the American cause.

The English government was hopeful that the French of Monroe would easily transfer their allegiance to them since so many of them had relatives in Montreal and Quebec.

A letter of Judge Woodward's says of these times: "It is a literal fact that the inhabitants of the River Raisin have been obliged to resort to chopped hay boiled for their substance."

☆

FOLLOWING THE war, our government provided $1,500 worth of seed grain to these burned out farmers.

A record from the old Catholic parish of St. Anthony's in Monroe records these words of thanks for Federal aid:

"This day, the seventh of December, A.D., 1815, in a general meeting, presided over by the Rector and the undersigned, and Frances La Salle having been duly elected secretary of the said meeting, it has been unanimously resolved by the inhabitants of Riviere aux Raisins that they feel themselves deeply affected with a due sentiment of gratitude towards the government of the United States for the generous assistance it has given them after the misfortune of the late war . . ." This resolution was signed by the rector, Father Gabriele Richard (1764-1832), afterwards a delegate to Congress.

SUCH ARE the memories invoked by a historical marker, erected in tribute to this pioneer Catholic parish, which one may read if he takes the old Custer Road into the city of Monroe.

Just three-quarters of a mile off Telegraph Rd., the old parish church of St. Antoinnes was located. The marker tells us that this was the site of the second church in the North West Territory, founded in 1788 just a few years after Michigan became American territory.

Old chronicles relate how a Catholic Bishop traveled from Montreal to the River Raisin in a small canoe in order to be present for the dedication of the chapel.

In addition to the famous Father Richard, this parish was also served by Father Badin, the first Roman Catholic priest ordained in the United States.

Some years later this parish was replaced by St. Mary's parish in Monroe.

Homemakers Invited To Learn About Watersheds

Water is of such vital importance to all of us, people should know as much about its use and management as possible.

To inform homemakers of how present water problems and their solution can affect families and land, a program on water and watersheds has been prepared for presentation on Thursday, Jan. 23 from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. in Walsh Hall at Siena Heights College in Adrian.

There is no charge and every interested homemaker is welcome.

Monday Club To Sponsor Smorgasbord Luncheon

An International smorgasbord luncheon will be given Monday, Jan. 20, in the Pythia Hall at 12:30 p.m., sponsored by the Monday Club.

The event grew out of a tasting party, which the club members were most enthusiastic about last year.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Clifford Knudson, arrangements were made for members to furnish dishes for the smorgasbord buffet fashioned from recipes of other countries. These are especially being sought by the committee.

Mrs. Roland Mohr has arranged a program entitled "Pattern for Dining."

Lovely China and silverware will be on display from Oneida Silversmith Co. with a door prize to be awarded.

Mrs. Knudson asks that all members attend and bring guests for this once-a-year event, which will feature German sauerkraut, meat balls and New England baked beans.

Mrs. Murray in Lansing for Session

Lenawee County Republicans attended a leadership training meeting sponsored by the GOP State Central organization in Lansing Saturday.

Attending were Prosser M. Watts of Adrian, county Republican chairman; Mrs. Robert Murray, Tecumseh area vice-chairman; William Reid, State Central representative from Lenawee County, Dr. E. W. Royer and Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Patmos of Adrian.

Accompanying the group was Professor Kenneth Hoffman, head of the political science department at Adrian College, and 13 students, who attended Young Republican meetings and educational seminars as guests of the Lenawee Republicans.

Highlight of the meeting was an informal address by Gov. George Romney, who reviewed the progress of the state government in the past year and reassured Republican leaders that he would not be an active candidate for president in 1964.

Bennetts Now Live in Ohio

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bennett, former Tecumseh residents, will be interested in bits of their newsy Christmas letter this year.

The former Tecumseh choral director and his wife, Lee, and three kiddies, Leslie Ann, Laura Lee and Jeff moved to Waterville, O., last August. Les is employed as director of vocal music in a new high school in Toledo.

Les is also the soloist at the Toledo Unitarian Church. He wound up his master's degree program in August by submitting a study of the use of contemporary music in the high school.

Lee teaches 32 five-year-olds in Maumee and sings in the church choir, besides her regular housekeeping duties and caring for the three little Bennetts.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

OUR CREEK

Usually we call it "our creek" but actually, of course, the correct name is Evans Creek. It spills out of the southeast corner of Evans Lake then meanders a turning and twisting path through the countryside until finally, it bubbles through our window-picture.

Quite a journey and how thankful we are that it comes our way.

It is exciting living by a creek. There is always something happening. In the early spring there are ice-floes and jams, then the rains come and our little creek swells into flood-stage.

A long, hot dry summer shrinks our little stream, but oh how cool and peaceful it looks bubbling along in the shade of the many trees which line its banks.

In the fall these same trees drop their leaves into the dancing waters and as the yellow and gold drift by the window, we note autumn's progress.

☆

LATE FALL usually brings a a freeze-up and even this is interesting. Last December's sudden plunge into the deep-freeze caught the creek unusually shallow — it was up a little from October's near record low, but there was still shockingly little water in it, when the freeze-up came.

Several years ago, during Christmas vacation, there was excellent ice-skating on our creek, but the low water plus the snow made this a poor skating holiday.

The kids tried, of course, but I fear there were few spots which had much good ice. In our line of view there were certainly none.

We missed seeing the skaters, they are always fun to watch. Whether graceful experts or tumbling novices, they always seem to have such a good time.

☆

ANOTHER good-looking treat, which I fear the low water has gypped us out of, is the muskrat. When the water is high enough and freezes slow enough, there are a few open spots and these attract the muskrats.

In the past we have so enjoyed their antics, watching as they would dive in and out of the chilly water and then crawl up on the ice to bask in the bright winter sunshine.

In the proper light their coats can be unbelievably rich and luxurious. The one unsightly thing about a muskrat is that long skinny tail, but if a light skim of snow covered the ice, even that tail can be amusing.

As the muskrat pops in and out of the hole and goes around and around, the tracings its tail leaves are quite amazing. But so much for the fun we are not going to have with muskrats this year.

THE SLIGHT rise in temperature the first few days of this month caused a bit of thawing and a few puddles appeared on our snowy frozen-over creek.

Oh, boy, the birds had fun. Such characters! — it was a little warmer, but I would hardly call 38 degrees or 39 degrees outdoor bathing weather. Fortunately for us, many of the birds did.

Ordinarily we do not have a good thing to say about starlings, but I must be frank and admit that Thursday they were star performers. It is hard to imagine so much splashing and thrashing about in just a tiny bit of water.

So it is that briefly I have listed a few of the reasons why we Duncans love "our creek."

Products To Take Part in Japanese Trade Fair

Five Michigan firms — including Tecumseh Products Co. — and 32 other U. S. manufacturers of refrigeration and cooling equipment will launch a sales campaign in Japan when they exhibit their products at the Osaka International Trade Fair next April.

Other Michigan manufacturers include Chrysler Corp. of Detroit; RCA Whirlpool Corp. of Benton Harbor, Revco, Inc., of Deerfield and Tyler Refrigeration Corp. of Niles.

The five Michigan firms will show their goods in the U. S. exhibit to be staged by the Bureau of International Commerce.

The Osaka fair is one of 15 international trade fairs in which the Bureau will mount special exhibits to promote the export of "Made in U.S.A." products during 1964.

IN 1963, THE Bureau staged U. S. export promotion exhibits at eight international trade fairs, which generated more than $27 million in cash and future sales for participating U. S. firms.

At the U. S. exhibit at the Osaka fair, participating firms will display their newest lines of consumer and industrial refrigeration equipment, including room and automobile air conditioners, dairy and beverage dispensers, and ice cubers and ice cream makers.

Market surveys sponsored by the Bureau of International Commerce revealed Japan as an excellent market for various types of U. S.-made refrigeration and cooling equipment.

In 1961 Japan imported about $2.3 million worth of air conditioning and refrigeration equipment. The U. S. share of this market amounted to $1.5 million or 65 percent.

☆

THE CONVENTION will get under way at 6:45 p.m. Friday evening. J. W. Filson, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses, will address the gathering on the subject "Feed My Little Sheep."

The highlight of the entire program will be Sunday at 3 p.m. when Mr. Filson will address the convention on the subject, "The Bible Triumphs in a Scientific World."

Commenting on the purpose of the meet, Mr. Kierczak said, "To improve our ministry and to more pleasingly serve our God we need practical Bible instruction.

"God has given us this wonderful guide and it is the way of practical wisdom to seek the counsel provided in it. It brings happiness and peace with the end result of everlasting life as a gift from Jehovah. This assembly is arranged to provide this instruction."

"All sessions are arranged so they will be appealing to people of all walks of life. The public is cordially invited to attend all of the sessions," the leader concluded.

Water Program Applications Due

Farmers who have been considering soil and water conservation practices to be established on their farm with Agricultural Conservation Program cooperation next spring and summer should file their requests for program assistance as soon as possible.

WSCS Begins Celebration of 25 Years as Society

A special candlelight service at the close of the WSCS program in the Methodist Church Jan. 8 launched the 25th anniversary period of the society — January 1964 through June of 1966.

The worship center was beautified with articles from India for the service led by Mrs. Edward Beal. They included a tapestry, brass candle holders and bowl and a hand carving.

The society was organized in 1940 when three bodies of Methodists united to form the WSCS. The world membership has nearly doubled since that time.

Mrs. Paul Hadsell, Mrs. Robert Cheers, Mrs. Jim Murphy, Mrs. Don Rodehaver and Mrs. Vaynard Close told of the three major goals for the anniversary observance.

► Growth and understanding of Christian committments and spiritual power.
► Sharing through witness and services in the outreach of the church.

An invitation from the Rollin Society was read during the brief business session preceding the program. The Rollin group will hold a tasting party at their church Jan. 30.

The program on "South Asia and the Maturing Church" was presented by Mrs. Carroll Sprague and her committee, Mrs. Maynard Lucas, Mrs. Carl Hale and Mrs. Andrew Woodward.

Mrs. Woodward presented devotions in keeping with the missionary theme.

Mrs. Sprague gave a talk on the four countries involved — India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Nepal.

SHE EMPHASIZED the ancient civilization of over 500 years. She mentioned the exploding birth rate, poverty, industry, religion, exports, customs and beliefs and stressed the danger of the invasion of communistic red China through Tibet.

Mrs. Sprague stated that the old caste system is the greatest hindrance to Christianity. Even though the system has been outlawed it still persists.

Mrs. Hale gave a report on the 500,000 villages and on the conditions in them.

She described the community development plan underway to raise living standards and told of the help extended by United States Agriculture Department.

Mrs. Lucas told how a Pakistanian woman spends her day.

THIS PROGRAM was the forerunner for a study class which will start Thursday, Jan. 16, and run for four weeks.

"Christian Issues of Southern Asia" is the name of the study to be held Thursdays from 7:30 until 9 p.m. in the Educational Building, under the leadership of Mrs. Sprague.

Greeters for the evening were Mrs. Robert Younglove and Mrs. Warren Duckworth.

Mrs. Erwin Buss, Mrs. Don Long and Mrs. John Hartley served refreshments to nearly 40 attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Domingo Travino of Britton were Sunday evening guests of Mrs. Maria Lopez.

LUMBER

AND BUILDING MATERIALS

Taxpayers Saved Half Million

Many wonderful things have happened to the citizens of our community during the last few years.

An unique charitable fund was established in 1960. Through the efforts of many, the fund annually was able to collect donations and at the same time permit the build-up of a brick-and-mortar fund.

In a scant 36 months, the city was able to have a spacious and attractive library, which replaced the outmoded one erected at the turn of the century for a population only a third the size of present Tecumseh.

When the Talon zipper assembly operations were moved from the old grist mill on Globe Pond, the quaint structure was purchased by a local citizen, who completely refurbished it, then gave the building to the city for a community center.

This has proved to be one of our greatest recreational assets, for young and old alike. Undoubtedly, its popularity and use will continue to grow over the coming years.

As if these milestones were not enough, the community got still another gift — a fabulous 25-bed nursing home, attached to our hospital.

Now, hard on this, comes the announcement that our schools will be given a half-million-dollar donation for additions, with emphasis on the senior high.

Built originally for 600, the 12-year-old high school is currently crammed with 888 youngsters and the future has long looked grim. Teachers and students can't be expected to do their best under such crowded conditions.

Taxpayers in the district are being asked to lend their help on this project — and who wouldn't willingly?

Additional operational money to help run the schools and permit a needed adjustment in teacher salaries will be obtained by passage of a four-mill proposal next month — at no increase in present school taxes.

If this seems impossible, believe us, it isn't.

In 1962 voters agreed — by a scant margin of four clicks of the machines — to pay four mills for two years to help eradicate the district's $160,000 deficit.

That levy has ended and so the new millage would simply pick up where that one left off.

The whole thing means a tremendous savings to the people in the district. If the $500,000 gift hadn't been offered, we surely would have had to bond ourselves for this amount or close to it.

Space has become so critical in the senior high and need for renovation in the junior high ($100,000 of the donation would go for that latter project) so dire, that the voters would have had to shoulder these themselves — plus additional operational funds.

The $500,000 gift is certainly a great boon to Tecumseh and its residents.

Public Hearing Overwhelms

If there's another public hearing that can top the one held in Tecumseh Friday on the River Raisin Watershed project, we'd like to hear about it.

Sheer weight of number — more than 400 attending — is one impressive fact in itself.

But this wasn't just a mass of people. Those present were well informed, knowledgeable folks, eager to add their opinions. A lot of people were overwhelmed by the hearing, including your editors.

Another, we're sure, was George McIntyre, who heads up the Michigan Department of Agriculture and the State Soil Conservation Commission.

Before the two-hour session was concluded, Mr. McIntyre — who kept saying the decision would not be made until Feb. 11 — sounded very much as if he realized the gathering would simply be a matter of formality.

We couldn't begin to congratulate all the people who have played vital roles in bringing the project to this first plateau of accomplishment. But we'll name some of the local men who have contributed so greatly to the idea.

Going back a year, there were Ron Pocklington of Britton and Royal Welch of Tecumseh, who helped get the Raisin project before the public. Earl Baldwin pitched in as a speaker. Harold Easton became a main cog when he was elected chairman of the steering committee. Harold deserves special recognition in many areas and the organization of the public hearing rates high on the list.

We're certain the Raisin restoration will get an OK next month and by spring the preliminary surveys will be underway.

Could You Have Guessed

Realizing that Tecumseh has a really solid payroll, would you have guessed — be honest now — that it hit nearly $25 million during 1963?

Would you have surmised that this community's larger employers offered work for 4,385?

In compiling these statistics for last week's edition, we were happily jolted by facts, not all from the big fellows, but by some of the tiny industries, which quietly live in the shadows.

Take G & J Woodworking — 27 jobs with a $91,249 annual payroll and Rumpf Truck Line, $497,270 for 140 people. (This includes Rumpf terminals in Ann Arbor and Toledo since all are administered from Tecumseh.)

Tecumseh Corrugated Box, our newest industry, made its first shipment in March, now has 47 employees and is pouring about $22,000 into the local economy every month.

Gray Mfg., which combined with Faraday last summer, has grown from 150 people to 310 during 1963 and the payroll at the S. Maumee St. layout topped the $1 million mark last year.

The object would be to find how much of the nearly quarter of a billion dollars in payroll is being spent in Tecumseh.

STAMPS INTERRUPT ROMANCE — When "Pajama Game" romantic interests Marty Bagdon and Bruce King (right) try to get together, stamps come between the pair. They're part of the collection of Dale Bowen, who plays the role of her dad and insists on showing the young suitor his rare finds. Mrs. Bagdon will be remembered as the beautiful-voiced lead in last year's "Girl Crazy" musical. Bruce was also in that show, singing and dancing. For Mr. Bowen, it's his first on-stage appearance, following two seasons as a Tecumseh Players' behind-the-scenes assistant. The show opens Feb. 6 and plays seven nights over two weekends.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

One of the Christmas gifts which all Michigan citizens received this year was a share in the savings which has resulted from a concerted drive for economy in state government.

The Task Force on Expenditure Management which I appointed before taking office has compiled a report on its activities which should encourage the most economy-minded citizen.

Our program to bring further efficiency and economy to state government is gathering momentum. We have made substantial savings already and have placed machinery in motion to insure further savings.

Considered individually, the savings resulting from each of the cost-cutting projects do not appear large. But when the task force's recommendations are fully implemented, the savings will be measured in millions.

DURING THE past year, the purchasing department has made several changes which resulted in savings of $319,000.

For example, we found that by shipping rock salt used in snow removal by boat we could cut $90,000 from the price of salt purchased by the state.

Our printing buyer was able to convince authorities at one state university that the type of paper used in printing 20,000 college catalogs could be changed. The result: $1,980 saved for the taxpayers.

In October, State Controller Glenn Allen issued an order that pamphlets, reports and brochures published by state agencies for office use should be limited to one color. Savings: $50,000 per year.

If this restriction can be applied to state publications issued to the public, an additional $200,000 in savings could be realized every year.

The Task Force also inaugurated a review of jobs performed by state employes. Under this program, two-man teams from leading accounting firms were employed to systematically study certain state agencies.

THE RESULTS of these studies have been most gratifying. In the first three units of government studies, a 10 per cent reduction in the number of jobs was recommended.

This study will be applied to the some 1,500 to 2,000 positions which are measurable, and the savings could be considerable.

The important fact about this reduction of personnel is that it is being carried out with the full cooperation of the employes themselves, and that it is being done without hardship to affected personnel.

As vacancies occur in other job positions through retirement or normal turnover, the employe involved in the reduction program will be given the first opportunity to fill the vacated position.

☆

THE FACT that the cost of government rises inevitably because of the growth in population makes it doubly important that we find ways to increase efficiency and bring about economies.

The many ideas which are being submitted through the work of the task force and individual citizens should result in even greater economies in state government during the year ahead.

This will mean a happier new year for everyone who believes that the old-fashioned virtue of thrift can be applied to governments as well as to individuals.

Safe Driving Tips Given

Tecumseh motorists are urged to follow six driving tips this winter.

These six tips for holiday (and year-around) driving are:

ALLOW ENOUGH TIME — Whether going downtown or on a trip, allow time to avoid feeling rushed. On long trips make frequent stops. Arrive relaxed.

HAVE YOUR CAR CHECKED — Drive with good tires and properly- adjusted brakes. Make sure lights, turn signals and windshield wipers function properly.

USE SEAT BELTS — They help save lives, prevent injuries. Seconds will buckle a belt. A flick of the wrist will release it. Use them whenever and wherever you drive or ride.

BE ALERT TO HAZARDS — Adjust your driving to road, traffic and weather conditions. Give yourself and others an extra margin of safety.

USE COURTESY ABUNDANTLY — Everywhere — at intersections, while passing or being passed, at night when your headlights are on high beam — "Make Courtesy Your Code Of The Road." It pays!

FOLLOW THE RULES OF THE ROAD — Signs, signals and road markings are your guides to a safe, enjoyable drive around town or on a trip.

While many motorists feel it's especially important to be conscientious while driving on long trips, it's just as important to be safety-minded during a trip around town.

Studies show three of four traffic deaths take place within 25 miles of home and one-half of serious accidents happen at speeds of 40 miles an hour or less.

Business Spots Up

The business population of Lenawee County is up 9.8% over January, 1963, announces Thomas G. Johnson, district manager of the Toledo, Ohio, office of Dun & Bradstreet.

He states that figures obtained by a physical count of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book for January, 1964, totaled 1,092 manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in the city, as compared with 1,070 in January, 1963.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Lester Rogers to Leland G. and Roma L. Fogelsong, Tecumseh, land in Tecumseh.

Hayden Fuel and Supply Company to Gordon N. and Alice M. Burgess and Paul and Arnetta Maves, Adrian, a lot in Tecumseh.

NEWS of BRITTON

Mastie Finds Shooting Range

As the Tories racked up wins over Deerfield and Sand Creek last week, Ron popped through a total of 56 points.

Britton stopped Deerfield, 85-61, on the Tecumseh hardwood and then sunk Sand Creek, 70-44, before a Mom's Night crowd at Britton.

This gives the Tories a 5-0 record in River Raisin League play. On Friday, Britton goes to Boysville.

Mastie, the littlest Tory, counted his career high when he racked up 30 tallies against Sand Creek.

Pepper Griewahn had 21, Verl Sanch 15.

Uncle Bill and Aunt Marian Spread Gospel in Unusual Way

Uncle Bill and Aunt Marian will demonstrate this in their unusual programs at the Britton Bethel Baptist Church, 159 Osborne St. in Britton, each evening at 7:30 Sunday through Friday.

With the help of Susy and Sidney, their talking dolls, Uncle Bill and Aunt Marian, who actually are Mr. and Mrs. William Rexford of Kent City, present inspiring messages for the audience.

Susy and Sidney, a brother and sister team and engage in humorous antics as they tell stories about biblical heroes and sing religious songs.

☆

BESIDES the ventriloquism act, the Rexfords perform sacred music on Swiss cow bells, corded cluster bells, coral concert glasses, a vibraharp and piano.

They also do magic tricks, show film strips and teach choruses.

All these things serve one purpose — to get the gospel message across to as many people as possible and to help children and adults find personal satisfaction in seeking a Christ centered life.

In 47 weeks in 1962, the Rexfords attended more than 400 meetings throughout the United States, presenting their unusual program at each one.

☆

ASKED HOW many persons may have been converted to Christianity as a result of their programs, Mrs. Rexford replied thoughtfully, "I have no idea, although there were times when we got decisions from as many as 50 persons in one week. To keep a count of the number might mean we would get our sight off the main purpose of our meetings."

The Rev. Duane McNeil, pastor, and members of the church cordially invite residents to attend these meetings.

MR. AND MRS. W. REXFORD

INCOME TAX: For the first time this year when you sell used machinery, you may not be able to consider all the gain as capital gain. You have to consider depreciation taken in 1962 and 1963 which in most cases will eliminate any capital gain when you file your 1963 return. In essence, all depreciation taken since December 31, 1961, is compared with the gain on the sale. Only gain in excess of the depreciation will be allowed as capital gain.

THREE CUTTINGS OF ALFALFA per year yielded a ton more than the usual two in Michigan studies. Three cuttings over a three-year period yielded over 3.3 tons per acre. Scientists explain that a farmer can profitably apply 300 to 400 pounds of a fertilizer such as 0-10-30 to maintain high production. Dairy farmers should get 4 or 5 tons per acre to maintain a competitive relationship with corn.

WEANING DAIRY CALVES EARLY may cut feed costs in half during the first 70 days. Calves have been fed as little as 16 pounds of whole milk and weaned as early as 21 days from milk replacer. These weaning systems must stimulate early rumen development. Start weaning from milk replacer when the calf is eating from 1 to 1 pounds of starter daily. Hay is important. Some calves must be fed coarse, ground hay in the starter.

FEEDING STALLS help cut brood sow feed costs. Feed can more closely be tailored to individual sow requirements compared with self-feeding. Feed wastage is practically eliminated, too. System contributes to both more uniform intake of feed and reproductive performance.

"We are just $1,579.00 shy of meeting the 1962 campaign total for the county and I am sure there are residents who had planned to send in contributions but have delayed doing so," Dr. Howard R. Eddy, advisor.

Handel's 'Messiah' Has Interesting History

Of all the music associated with Christmas, perhaps no composition so well embodies the spirit of the holiday as Handel's "Messiah."

It has been said to have brought more money for charity than any other single piece of music.

George Friderick Handel was virtually a has-been in 1741. London had grown tired of his Italian operas and of him.

☆

MORE THAN once he had barely missed being thrown into debtors' prison, and his health was beginning to fail.

Then came a commission from the lord lieutenant of Ireland and the governors of three charitable institutions for Handel to conduct a series of charity concerts.

He began to compose a new piece for the tour.

Handel was not an especially religious man, but something seemed to possess him as he worked.

For some 23 days he kept to his study, refusing to see any visitors, leaving his food untouched and working through the night.

☆

NOW HE played the harpsichord, now he sang, then back to the writing. His servants thought he was going mad. Often they found him in tears.

When he finished the "Hallelujah Chorus," he declared, "I did think I did see all Heaven before me, and the great God himself."

On April 13, 1742, over 700 people crowded into a Dublin music hall for the premiere of "Messiah." It was a resounding success.

At the first English performance a year later, King George II was so overwhelmed by the "Hallelujah Chorus" that he rose from his seat and stood throughout the section.

The audience, of course, followed the example of their king, and so began a custom which survives to our day.

☆

DESPITE the king's appreciation, however, London was not ready to accept Handel and the concert failed.

It was not until Handel began directing annual benefit performances of "Messiah" at the London Foundling Hospital in the 1750's that his adopted countrymen came to recognize it as a masterpiece, and once again gave him their acclaim.

Toledo's Museum Establishes New All-Time Record

Attendance in 1963 at the Toledo Museum of Art soared to a new all-time record high. A record total of 454,249 persons visited the Museum in 1963, marking the first time that attendance has surpassed the 400,000 level in the Museum's 62-year history.

The new record eclipsed by more than 84,000 the previous attendance record of 370,105 established in 1961.

'Ag Engineering Day' Is Farmers' Week Feature

Tuesday, Feb. 4, will be "Agricultural Engineering Day" during the 49th annual Farmers' Week at the Michigan State University campus, East Lansing, Feb. 3-7.

The day is so designated because of the many contributions engineering and mechanization have made to agriculture in the past few years.

Some of these new developments will be shown in displays. Exhibits of newly-developed turbine engines, and the latest thing in farm tractors, tillage and harvesting equipment will be on display.

Sprinkling equipment for irrigation and frost prevention, and clay and concrete products for agricultural drainage also will be exhibited.

☆

THE MSU agricultural engineers have devoted all day Wednesday to talks on problems of agricultural waste disposal. Lagoons, holding tanks, liquid and dry handling will be discussed in terms of health and aesthetics, including a discussion of water problems in wells, streams and rivers caused by agricultural wastes.

Thursday will be devoted to new machinery developments. New sources of farm power, transistorized ignition systems and diesel fuel power will be subjects for talks.

New developments for slow-moving vehicles on the highway will be a subject for an MSU safety engineer. Hay wafering, with its implications for hay transportation and cattle feeding, will be the subject for another.

New findings for row spacing on corn yields and narrow row harvesting equipment will complete the program.

Mrs. Joseph Rice was the guest speaker, presenting colored slides of her trip to India with her husband, for members of the Wesleyan Service Guild and guests and the WSCS of the Adrian First Methodist Church last week.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS GIZZ KIDS SCRAP FOR BALL IN WHEELCHAIR PRACTICE SESSION

PLAY IN TECUMSEH JAN. 30

Wheelchair Basketball

How can a young man in a wheel-chair play basketball?

The famous "Gizz Kids" from the University of Illinois do, and they have been known to spot an opposing team 40 points—and beat them!

The Gizz Kids are students at Urbana-Champaign who have lower limbs affected by polio, by muscular dystrophy, by spinal cord injuries in an accident, or by any one of a number of other causes.

They come from towns all over the Middle West — and from as far away as California and Vermont. Their first goal is an education, despite a physical handicap.

BUT IT'S not all an up-hill struggle for these students, because every classroom building and dormitory on campus has level or ramped entrances.

And when young men and women came to Illinois — handicapped only in their ability to get around with cane, crutches, or a set of wheels — they found encouragement for self-help and "go-it-alone" tactics from Tim Nugent, director of the Student Rehabilitation Center, and his staff of therapists and consultants.

That means no paraplegic or quadriplegic student on campus has an attendant to help him get dressed or help him in any way.

He must first attend a functional training institute to prove he or she has both the willingness and capability to help himself. The staff stands by to assist in emergencies.

This independent spirit carries over into other physical activities, including sports. And out of the wheel-chair crowd at Illinois — there are about 180 — have developed some fine athletes.

BILL DELOACH OF BLISSFIELD SCHEDULED GAME HERE

These athletes competing in wheel-chair games, square dances, basketball, fencing, glory in the opportunity at each semester "break", the last week in January, to go on tour and show folks at home how they have conquered a handicap.

This 1964 tour of the Illinois Gizz Kids takes them first to Fort Wayne, Ind., then to Lenawee County, for three successive one-night stands in Adrian, Blissfield, and Tecumseh.

THAT'S HOW it happens that the famous Illinois "Gizz Kids" — a company of 30 including girl cheer-leaders and folk singers — will be coming to the Tecumseh High School gym Thursday, Jan. 30 to meet the Rotary Wheelers, presently being organized by Coach Bob Kurle.

Advance ticket sale has been started by Rotary Club members, who are sponsoring the Tecumseh game. Adult tickets are $1, students 75c and children 12 and under, when accompanied by a parent, admitted free.

In its own way the Gizz Kids tour also is a subtle plug for "Employ the Handicapped", for after seeing them in action, you believe its possible for them to do anything they set out to do.

And with them are some capable lecturers to talk to service organizations, to put on assembly programs in senior and junior high schools . . . in other words, to "sell" themselves.

The troupe will conduct an assembly at Tecumseh High School the afternoon of the game and several of the Gizz Kids will present the Rotary program that week.

Bill DeLoach of Blissfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane DeLoach who own the local weekly, is a student at the University of Illinois, working on his master's degree in English.

He is not a member of the Gizz Kids, but he in an active member of Delta Sigma Omicron, their social fraternity, which is a booster organization for these wheel chair athletes.

While he was home for Christmas vacation he was busy on the phone arranging the dates and other details of the Gizz Kids appearances here.

The Gizz Kids will be quartered in Blissfield during their three-day stay in the county, some in private homes, some in the Legion hall, and others in A. B. O'Mara's "guest house" on the edge of Ellis Playground.

Oat Support Rates Are Same

All 1964-crop oats county support rates will be the same as for 1963, which is .68 cents per bushel in Lenawee County.

The rates are based on the 1964 national average support price of 65 cents per bushel for Grade No. 3 oats.

Burn Library Mortgage Saturday

But that's the case with Tecumseh's $230,000 library, which now is completely paid off — 24 months after being built.

Mortgage burning ceremonies will be held in front of the library at 2 p.m. Saturday. The public is invited.

Final construction loan check of $25,333.25 has gone to the United Savings Bank. The money was provided by the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, Inc., which furnished all the needed financing.

Opened October, 1962, the library was the initial brick-and-mortar project of the Fund Foundation, believed to be the first of its kind in the United States.

Its prime job is to handle community charitable obligations — this now touches $31,000 annually — with all cash over and above the budget going into a building fund.

Annual meeting of the Fund was held Jan. 15 with Vern Manwaring re-elected president and also named for another three-year term on the board.

Bob French was re-elected vice-president.

Doug Dunn, named to a three-year board action, was selected as treasurer. He replaced Merlyn Downing, who remains on the board. Mrs. Truman Rentschler was reappointed secretary.

New board members chosen were Mrs. John Hamilton and Mrs. Oscar Bryan, who will fill the unexpired term of Ken Conway, who resigned.

The Fund's annual statement of condition showed that assets as of Dec. 31 total $87,331.14 — reflecting cash on hand of $22,672.44, pledges receivable of $44,633.70 and a $25 check to be payable directly to agencies.

Long and Short

BY TOM RIORDAN

Politicians dash about, pleading that young men should turn their backs on business or professional careers and get into public life.

They sound real sincere — as politicans usually do — when they bemoan the fact that not enough of our bright, youthful citizens will join the fray.

Finally, one does and the old pros let out screeches as if they had been attacked by a pack of mau-mau.

John Glenn allowed as how he'd like to go for a seat in the United States Senate, warming up for the big race by taking on feisty old Steve Young in the Ohio Democratic primary.

"Yes, we'd love Glenn to run for office," to paraphrase the thinking of the ancients, "But he shouldn't shoot for the top spot right off the bat. Let him belt around as dog catcher awhile, then maybe assistant something or other a few more years.

"The guy must serve his apprenticeship," they muse among themselves.

As it is turning out — thank goodness — the old pros are getting their lumps and John Glenn will go for the nomination.

The Ohio party is backing down on its locked-in policy of backing one candidate for each office in the primary, thus, giving the voters a chance to decide.

This writer hopes that Mr. Glenn tops Senator Young, a peppery guy at 74, and eventually gets that Senate seat.

This may sound like treason, coming from a Republican, but when a fellow as capable as John Glenn is willing to serve, he should get the job.

This nation needs a few less politicians in Washington and a few more people capable of growing into statesmen.

Bank's Profit Up $37,726

Earnings of the United Savings Bank took another big jump during 1963, shareholders were told at the annual meeting Tuesday afternoon in Tecumseh Country Club.

Net operating earnings after taxes hit $216,856, which is $37,726 over 1962.

This figures $867 per share of stock.

Stockholders, as expected, unanimously approved a $125,000 stock dividend of 6,250 shares on a one-for-four split.

This increases shares to 31,250 at a par value of $20. Market value has been $80 and bids of $70-per-share have already been made on the new issue.

☆

BOARD CHAIRMAN Robert H. Moore, conducting the meeting, pointed out a comparison between per-share earnings of United Savings and other financial institutions.

The bank of America, largest in the nation, had $3.18 as compared to United Saving's $8.67.

Others were:

Chase Manhattan — $5.55

National Bank of Detroit — $5.02

Manufacturers National—$5.28

Bank of Lenawee — $3.51

Commercial of Adrian — $6.21

☆

He asked that shareholders do all they could to help in passage of the Tecumseh School District's four-mill vote Feb. 17, by actively supporting it within organizations to which they belong.

All board members were re-elected by shareholders.

The board, in turn, renamed all officers, adding one, Mrs. Robert Bowers to assistant cashier. She has been head teller.

Installation of Rebekahs, Odd Fellows

Plans were completed for the joint public installation of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs at the meeting of the Rebekahs Jan. 16.

The event will be held Friday, Jan. 24.

Card party plans for Feb. 1 were also completed.

Mrs. Roger Pawson and Mrs. R. C. Stauffer served refreshments.

$5 Registration Fee for Electricians OKed by Council

A $5 annual registration fee for all out-of-town electricians working in Tecumseh was approved by Council Monday night.

Local electrical contractors are required to pay a $10 yearly fee.

Until the new arrangement started, outside electricians were charged $1, with no time limit, some paying this amount with each job done here.

IN RAISIN

Fire Calls May Stop February 1

Raisin Township residents won't be able to call on the Tecumseh Fire Department for help after Feb. 1, unless its Township Board agrees to a new contract with the city.

Of five area townships which the Tecumseh fire fighters serve, Raisin is the only one not going along.

Jim Mitchell, Raisin boardman, told City Manager Cal Zorn that no action has so far been taken because the city made its agreement retroactive to July 1, 1963.

Council agreed with Mr. Zorn that the Raisin official should be notified that without an agreement service will be ended in two weeks.

The new plan levies a charge of $300 per fire, with an annual guarantee of $600 per township, for Tecumseh, Franklin and Macon.

Adrian Township, being further away, has agreed to pay $400 per call with an $800 yearly guarantee.

☆

WHEN THESE four townships sign the plan, payments were made to bring each up to date. These included:

Adrian Township — $800

Franklin Township — $600

Tecumseh Township — $2,000

Macon Township — $600

Raisin has been billed for nine fires since mid-summer and still owes $2,400, based on terms of the retroactive agreement.

THS 5 Faces Crucial Battle with Dundee

By JIM LINCOLN

The top basketball attraction in southern Michigan this week involves our own Tecumseh Indians and the Dundee Vikings.

Dundee, 82-80 victors here in Tecumseh's opening game of the 1963-64 season, again will be slight favorites, perhaps only because of the home floor advantage.

Both teams primed for the clash last week with fairly easy wins. Dundee won with ease over Airport, 97-80, and the Indians had little competition in downing Grosse Ile, 73-55.

A victory for either team will give the winner undisputed position of first place in the Huron League and a giant step toward the league title.

A Tecumseh triumph also would break up what has been a Dundee monopoly in the league this year, the last for the Vikings who claim they're not big enough to compete with Tecumseh and a couple of the other big Class B schools.

Dundee walked off with the football crown and only the Indians stand between the Vikings and the basketball title, although Dundee was upset by Blissfield for its lone loss.

Another loss to Blissfield is very unlikely, and any defeat by another league team besides Tecumseh is also unlikely.

The Indians last week were shabby in their win over Grosse Ile. Although a winner by 18 points and a margin which could have been doubled, Tecumseh played poorly in the first half and led by only two points at half time.

☆

HUSTLE paid off in the third stanza when the Indians broke the game wide open with a 21 to 5 margin in scoring. The big quarter gave Tecumseh a 52-35 lead going into the final period.

The Indians proceeded to run away from GI and eventually built up a 26-point margin with over half of the last quarter remaining.

Coach Vic Lawson pulled his starters, including high scoring Jerry Hebb with over four minutes remaining. Hebb, who scored 28 points, left with over six minutes to play.

With the exception of Hebb, the Indians simply were not able to hit in the opening two quarters.

Hebb netted 21 of his 28-point total in the first and second periods, and guard Jim Lawson was the only other player to tally a field goal.

Lawson finished with 15 points, second to Hebb. Clark Nichols, scoreless in the first half, collected 10 points.

Game time at Dundee Friday night follows the Jayvee tilt, which starts at 6:30. A large crowd is expected and fans hoping to get in will probably have to leave earlier than usual.

Nicotine-Stained World Keeps Sense of Humor

By JUDY FIELDER

When a nicotine-stained world was told that "cigaret smoking is related to lung cancer," a rash of jokes broke out.

Example: "My friend quit smoking without a bit of trouble. Whenever he wants a cigaret he takes a drink. He's having a ball!"

John Long, used car dealer — "Didn't bother me a bit. I smoke two packs a day. I don't put any faith in the report because there are too many other controversial reports. As far as I'm concerned there are a lot of other things in this country that are as bad or worse that they don't have the skull and crossbones on."

Elmer Eberhardt, insurance, "Doesn't bother me because I only smoke two or three a day anyhow. The pipe sales have really increased I bet."

Anonymous gent as he bummed a cigarette, "I haven't quit smoking cigarettes, I've just quit buying them!"

Richard Blue, carpet store manager — "I felt all along that these reports sooner or later were going to be made. I didn't know and I still don't know exactly how much harm they will do. I believe I'm either going to have to quit or fully realize that I'm endangering my life span by continuing to smoke at my present pace. I do believe smoking should be outlawed."

PUFFING WEED CONTINUES — FULL SMOKE AHEAD

Frank Sandhoff, sales representative — "If it causes cancer, then it should be abolished. It shouldn't be taken off the market because if people are fool enough to smoke they will, but the cigarettes should be labeled as such. I've quit smoking twice and plan to quit again."

Carl Lamb, druggist — "I think it's a good thing. In fact, all our professional journals show that some of the stores in the east have quit selling cigarettes. I'm debating whether to put them under the counter or not. One thing I will do is see that the children do not get them. I think the real problem is with vending machines."

Keith Bailey, auto dealer — "Nothing can take the place of not smoking. If you don't die of lung cancer you'll die of something else." (He added that he quit smoking for a week after the report came out, but now indulges lightly.)

In conclusion, a restaurant sign, "If you smoke, you're going to die. If you don't smoke, you're going to die. So light up and puff your life away."

Lenawee's Sheriff Department will shortly receive delivery on new deluxe emergency vehicle, all of which makes Tecumseh Equipment's Al Merz happy. He is handling the deal.

Take 5 lbs. of fervent devotion, 4 qts. of heartfelt satisfaction, 1 lb. of wisdom and good nature, 6 scruples each of confidence and mature deliberation, 1 lb. each of gentleness, patience, industry and economy, 9 oz. each of goodwill and good judgement.

Add to this 1 gallon milk of human kindness, 100 grains of common sense. Mix thoroughly and bake in the oven of blessedness, heated with the fire of true faith.

Aching back department: Mrs. Tim Neill, with two small bones on spine fractured from tumble off horse. Margaret Bayless, bruises and pulled ligaments, following three-point landing on icy spot near THS, where she's a senior.

Theresa Pickens, gals phys ed teacher, is planning basketball game between GAA and ladies of faculty in March. Probably will take her from now until then to convince fellow teachers to pull on non-skids and do battle.

Terry Mackin stopped at The Herald to pick up his Kuhlman Concrete letterheads that were done on our new offset press. He raved about the beautiful job and said we ought to let people know the excellent quality achieved. "Don't you know the value of advertising?" he asked.

Well, Jesse Sluyter is back in the egg business again. From last week's Herald ad, she has taken three pages of orders for Marguerite Pritchard's adorable, ceramic, Easter eggs. Some new patterns have been added this year.

Sitting side-by-side at the directors' table during the United Savings Bank's Annual shareholders' meeting were the oldest boardman, Lester Rogers (86) and the youngest, J. J. Walper (26.

LOCAL BUSINESS

The function of the retail store has undergone drastic changes since World War II.

The nature of the change has been described by advertising executive Arthur Fatt:

"Once retailers controlled their markets. Stores were buyer centered . . . today's store function, whether it's a department store, chain store, or independent speciality store is primarily to satisfy demand."

Mr. Fatt indicated that advertising techniques had been greatly affected by changing marketing methods.

Increasingly, consumers are sold on the idea of buying certain brands or certain types of products through national advertising. Consequently, today "the main retail function is to convey pre-sold merchandise from the assembly line to the hands of the consumers," he said.

"The purpose of all advertising is to make sales, both for the manufacturer and the retailer."

The pre-selling done by manufacturers, is only a first step. Final sales are made in a particular store as the result of local advertising, especially newspaper advertising.

"Store preference" is a passing phase of retailing.

The present-day consumer may desire a particular brand or a certain kind of product, but does not go to a special store looking for it.

The sales is likely to be made at the store, which through local advertising, has informed the consumer that a desired product is available.

Back Stage People Keep Show Rolling for 'Pajama Game'

By EVE BOWEN

While sitting out front enjoying a stage production, one seldom thinks of the long arduous hours put in by the people back stage.

Without them there would be no show.

The technical director plays as important a role as the theatrical director and the recruitment of workers is comparable to the casting of a play.

The "tech" director is responsible for construction of the set, decorating and furnishing it, the placement of the lighting equipment and the accumulation of the necessary props.

Then come the long hours of sawing, hammering, painting, pasting, climbing up and down ladders, sewing, ransacking attics and junk stores.

☆

THE SET for "Pajama Game," which opens Feb. 6 at the Community Center, is a new experience for the Players. For the first time they will use a rolling platform.

There will be only one set constructed on it, but through clever prop changes, it will be used for five different locations.

There will be 20 scenes in this musical and half of them will be played on the platform and the remainder either in front of a curtain or before a painted back drop. This method makes rapid scene changes possible.

☆

MRS. FRANK DALTON, who is technical director, has for her set chief Fred Ward, assisted by Duane Steele and Ed Mengerink.

Mrs. James Vanzo and Carol Pacioni are on props.

Mrs. Tom Corkery is in charge of make-up and Mrs. Duane Steele and Marilyn Mengerink will work back stage on curtains.

I'LL NEVER BE JEALOUS AGAIN — Local physician Richard Hammel, well known to Tecumseh playgoers will play the efficiency expert in "Pajama Game." He's madly in love with flirtatious Florine Purkey, who made her first appearance with the Players as Frisco Kafe in "Girl Crazy." He is also insanely jealous of her and Gladys does nothing to assuage his fears. "Pajama Game" plays at the Community Center Feb. 6, 7, 8, 12, 13, 14 and 15.

Club Hunts Information on Civil War Veterans

Information concerning Civil War veterans buried in Brookside Cemetery is being sought by members of the Tri-Town Extension Study Group.

Mrs. Richard Whelan and Mrs. Thomas Kampmueller gave an interesting report on their study so far as chairman of the project at the meeting Jan. 20, at the home of Mrs. Larry Kanous.

The information has been requested from the club from the Michigan Civil War Centennial Observance Commission through the extension office.

The Commission is trying to locate the burial places of all Civil War vets throughout the country.

The project chairman would be pleased to have any data available from area residents such as company the veteran enlisted in, state regiment he was a member of, birth and death dates, etc.

They have found the library, American Legion and cemetery reports most helpful.

Mrs. Don Maves and Mrs. Richard Linn were guests along with 12 members served the smorgasbord table dessert following the meeting.

Dishes brought by members from recipes they had not tried before proved to be entertaining as well as delicious.

Plans were discussed for a field trip in the spring.

Mrs. Whelan gave an inspiring lesson on "Working Color" using carpet, drapery and wall covering samples.

Psychiatry Recording Is Played

Young Mothers Club met at the home of Mrs. Russell Johnson.

Mrs. Edward O'Neill, teacher at West Branch School, entertained the group with a recording on psychiatry by Dr. Murray Banks.

A short business meeting was held and refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Raymond Seitz.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Harold Iffland.

Floods shouldn't engulf the Shady Lane and Murray Dr. area this spring.

A "dry well" — an underground drainage system — has been installed on Murray Dr. and another is being completed at the intersection of Shady and Murray this week.

The dry well is a giant pipe, 20-feet long and 8-feet wide, high enough for a man to walk through. Laid about six feet below ground, it is connected at one end to the surface by a catch basin.

Surplus water goes into the catch basin and along the huge pipe, the bottom of which is below the frost line, thus allowing the earth to absorb the excess liquid.

Until now, these streets have annually been inundated each spring because there were no storm sewers and the ground frost wouldn't permit drainage.

WHY...

do so many folks depend on Hodges Drug Store? We've often asked ourselves this question, and somehow with a bit of pride, perhaps, feel that it's a combination of several factors – prompt and friendly service, reliability of professional pharmacists, availability, free delivery of your prescription, and other services not ordinarily a part of a drug store operation. This is why we like to call ourselves a Professional Drug Store – one which you can depend upon to have the necessary items demanded by you and your doctor – not occasionally – but seven days a week.

Police Withhold News

A big source of news for any newspaper, in a small community or a large city, is City Hall.

This is true in Tecumseh where we look to City Hall for news and information every week. With one exception, The Herald has received complete cooperation.

Sometimes, and it has happened before, the local police department withholds information which is a privilege of newspapers.

Legally, the police can not act as a censor, which in this case it is doing. Censoring news certainly is not of their duties — except in a dictatorial state.

If there is to be censoring or withholding of news, it is the privilege of the medium. Through legal channels, The Herald can obtain information

We have no intention of doing this, but do hope that in the future when a Herald employee seeks information at the police department, such information is made available, and not withheld.

Education Will Help Negros Reach Goals

Mrs. Buford Johnson, Girl's Training School teacher, told the Baptist women Monday evening about the race problem and answered many questions about Negro people and her work.

She said that she is proud of her race and is teaching the Negro girls at the school also to be proud.

The teacher said that getting the confidence of the young women is the biggest problem.

She spoke of the many humiliations that any Negro must face such as being denied the opportunity to eat in some restaurants.

It is the same with job hunting, education and almost everything that occurs in daily living.

☆

MRS. JOHNSON said that the girls are given an exam to determine just what level of education they have reached before they begin classes.

Usually they are placed in foster homes by the time they are 17 years old. None are more than 19 at the school.

Mrs. Johnson said that the Negro race is not in favor of intermarriage any more than the whites.

She believes Negroes are becoming stronger in the fight for their rights. Through education they will reach their goal, she added.

Mrs. Johnson is a resident of Adrian and has five children of her own. She received her education at Adrian College.

Mrs. L. N. Sisson, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Johnson.

☆

A love gift of $20 was dedicated by Mrs. Vern Manwaring.

Mrs. Orville Bishop presided at the meeting when a donation of $50 was given to the migrant fund and also one to the Maple Lane Manor for their Easter Monday party.

Angel food cake with lemon Jello was served by Mrs. Garland Gove, Mrs. George Burkhard, Mrs. Roy Dahlke, Mary and Ellen Snedcor and Mrs. Edwin Gove.

Mrs. Roscoe Hewlett and Mrs. Clifford Curran presided at the lace-covered table.

City Accepts Land To Pay for Curb, Sidewalk Projects

In lieu of collecting $6,000 from Dearborn builder Brooks Barron, the city will accept eight acres of land in his Tecumseh Acres subdivision.

The money has been assessed against Mr. Barron for construction of sidewalks and curb and gutter along Shady Lane.

Council Monday OKed the swap, which involved 18 building lots between Shady Lane and Murray Dr.

The city has no immediate plans for the property, but discussed the possibilities of using it for recreational purposes and placing another city well there.

The city will install sidewalks and curb along Shady Lane next summer, at a cost of approximately $5,500, Mr. Zorn estimates. This job was Mr. Barron's responsibility.

Four houses have been constructed on Shady Lane in the past few years. Two owners paid for curb and sidewalk and $640 is now in escrow for these. This money would probable be returned to the builder.

No payment was charged owners in the other two homes and they will be assessed for the improvements by the city when they are made.

City Manager Cal Zorn reported full statistics:

Gallons pumped — 854,141,300

High day 6/26—3,446,900
Low day 2/10—1,318,800
Daily average—2,340,00

Mr. Zorn explained that Well No. 5, located on N. Union St., next to Tonneberger Estates, needs about $2,000 of repair work to column, shaft and bowls, all with holes eaten into them.

Dunbar Drilling Co. removed the pumps recently and discovered the trouble when the well wasn't producing properly.

The city manager recommended instead of making repairs now, that he would rather see the money put into the completion of Well No. 8, which is located on the north side of Patterson St., west of the DT&I in the Tecumseh Acres school area.

Parking for Buses

The question of parking facilities for church buses and transient trucks in residential areas is still being considered by the City Planning Commission.

It was referred back to the zoning committee, but according to the Commission report to Council Monday, the general feeling is that existing commercial and industrial parking lots should be used.

Government Should Get Out of Business, Jolly Farmers Say

Members of the Jolly Farmers Farm Bureau came to the conclusion that it would be best for the country if government would slowly get out of business instead of further into it.

They also decided that the government should do for the people only what is absolutely necessary.

It can establish programs, but then should let the people take over.

The meeting was held Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Williams.

SEVERAL FACTS were stated about the topic, "You Pay For Every Subsidy Hand-out," before the discussion began.

Taken from The Farm Bureau News they were:

► The federal government is already spending one dollar out of every five earned by the people each year.

► In addition, it would take three-fifths of the earnings of every person in the nation for one year to pay off the national debt. And the end is not yet.

► One dollar out of every $4.50 of personal income in the US comes from a federal hand-out.

☆

RAYNOR VAN VALKENBURG was the discussion leader.

Mrs. Carl Rieve gave a report of the meeting held in Madison Center.

Sandwiches, cake and Jello were served to 18 at the conclusion of the meeting.

New Zoning Designation for West End

A change in zoning of M-50 in the west end business district is nearly a fact.

All that remains is a public hearing, which has been set by Council for March 2 at 8 p.m.

Council held its third reading of a proposed ordinance to institute a "Highway Business District" section for the west end, replacing the current Business A designation.

Under the present Master Plan, most places of business there are non-conforming.

One minor change in the proposed ordinance was made, Councilmen asking that steam cleaning and undercoating of cars be allowed as minor vehicle repairs, instead of major.

If no objects arise at the public hearing, the change will go into effect.

CLINTON WOOLEN CHATTER

By EL and FRIENDS

Somebody sent us some "daffy" definitions, and we would like to pass along a few of them . . .

"Cold cash . . . so called because few of us can keep it long enough to warm it up. (So right!)

"Poverty: That condition we try desperately to conceal at the time, and then brag about it in our memoirs.

"Ev-o-lu'tion: Dress, $9.95; Frock, $19.95; Gown, $65.00; Creation, $225.00.

"A fool and his money are soon parted, or so they say . . . but how do you suppose the fool and his money ever got together in the first place?"

There are more of these, but something tells us we had better start chatting about something else . . . like our Sale for instance.

It has been going great guns and we still have a good selection in most everything. During a Clinton Woolen sale you can rest assured you are buying only our regular merchandise at rock bottom prices. NO Special Sale Merchandise, everything right from our stock.

Our Bargain Rack is that . . . in every sense of the word. Items are priced from $1.99 to $19.99 and include a wide range of ladies and junior miss casual wear. Just about every day we add something different to this Bargain Rack.

Whatever happened to the man size 40? We have a few coats and jackets left in several styles in size 40 only and they have been priced s[illegible] low prices. So if you are or know of a man size 40 send him over.

The store wide clearance sale will end Sunday, January 26th. So hurry to Clinton Woolen.

GRIMACING JIM LAWSON TRIES FOR A BUNNY SHOT.

Fouls End THS Jayvee Win Streak

A wild fourth quarter, which saw a Grosse Ile Jayvee team take 16 tosses from the free throw line, snapped the Tecumseh Jayvee string of victories, 53-40.

The Indians had won seven in a row before the loss.

Coach Jim Hoffman's team trailed by only two points entering the final stanza, but a rash of fouls called by the officials ended any hopes for a winning rally.

Officials rolled up nine fouls in the final period — to only two against GI — and 24 for the entire game.

JEFF OSBURN TAKES CAREFUL AIM IN THE GROSSE ILE-TECUMSEH TILT FRIDAY NIGHT.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

Some misunderstanding has arisen about my attitude toward the Republican nomination for the Presidency.

This misunderstanding revolves around the answers which I gave to a two-part question submitted to me when I spoke recently to the National Press Club in Washington.

Because of the importance of clarifying my position and eliminating any confusion about it, I want to report here the transcript of the question and answers as they were tape recorded in Washington:

Question: "This is a two-part question: One, are you now an active candidate seeking the Republican presidential nomination? Two, if not, supposing then that a substantial genuine sentiment for you is manifest before or at the convention, would you respond and be a candidate?

Answer: "As to the first point, I realize that I'm being discussed by others as a candidate. Many people have talked to me, and have urged me to become a candidate. This is inevitable, it seems to me, in the current situation and considering the fact that I'm governor of the great industrial state of Michigan.

"I have no way of knowing whether such a demand will develop, and it would be presumptuous to assume that it will develop.

"However, if it should, like any concerned American, I'd of course have to accept. To do anything else would be sheer effrontery and refusal to accept duty.

"I happen to believe profoundly that, when we are in the service of our fellow man, we are in the service of our creator."

☆

AS I HAVE said on many occasions, I consider the likelihood of a draft at the Republican National Convention in July to be extremely remote.

My position in regard to the presidential nomination has not changed in the slightest. I do not intend actively to seek it or to encourage it.

But there is no disputing the fact that others have regarded me as a possibility for the nomination, and that this development has turned the spotlight of national attention on Michigan.

One result of this increased attention should be to aid in improving Michigan's national image. And the improvement of our national image is the key to the growth of our industry and the creation of the additional jobs which our state badly needs. It causes the nation to have greater interest in what we do and say.

☆

BEYOND MY desire to see Michigan reap the benefits of this national attention on Michigan lies my conviction that every citizen has a moral obligation to speak out on the issues of the day.

The proper functioning of democracy requires the fullest possible debate on those issues which effect the course of government.

My purpose is to stimulate this discussion by accepting a limited number of out-of-state speaking engagements during the coming months. Some will be made in conjunction with trips on state business.

This will be done without neglecting my duties as governor of Michigan.

I am confident, too, that by raising my voice on these problems I can help assure that the coming presidential campaign will be one of issues instead of personalities.

Council Voices No Opposition to Radio Plan

City Council voiced no objection to a request from Horne-Vinson Funeral Home to begin broadcasting at 155.280 megacycles on the emergency service band.

The Federal Communications Commission required the funeral home to contact all users of the emergency band within a 75-mile radius to see if there was any objections to its plan.

Products Bowlers Open Record Tourney

Prizes totaling $800 and trophies for first place winners are in readiness for the 15th annual Tecumseh Products Co. and Union Bowling Tournament scheduled for this weekend at Airport Bowl.

A bowling ball will go to the man with the high single game with handicap. It has been donated by the Tecumseh Airport Bowl.

Arthur Baaske, secretary and treasurer of the league, said Tuesday that this will be the largest tournament to be held by the company in the last five years.

Officers of the league made arrangements for the event with action for doubles beginning at noon Saturday. Team events will begin at 1 p.m. Sunday.

School Board Handles Routine Chores Monday

Routine business handled at the school board meeting Monday night included discussions and reports about:

► Organizational plans for board members to attend meetings regarding next month's renewal of four mills.

The board decided the four mill operating levy would be for a five-year period instead of a two-year period.

Wheelchairs Are Uniform of the Night

By MARDA GENE DUNCAN

(Editor's Note: Marda Gene Duncan, a regular staff writer for The Herald with her column, is doing a complete news coverage on the famed wheelchair basketballers "Gizz Kids". Seriously injured in an automobile accident nearly 15 years ago, she has been paralyzed since. Weather permitting, she plans to attend the wheelchair basketball game next Thursday and report on it to readers.)

WHEELCHAIR BASKETBALL

Tecumseh area residents are in for a treat. The Gizz Kids are coming! They will be in the High School Gymnasium at 7:30 p.m., January 30 challenging local Rotarians at a game of wheelchair basketball. It should be an evening of fun and inspiration.

The Gizz Kids are from the University of Illinois — they are also all in wheelchairs. Their physical disabilities range from post-polio to traumatic paraplegia but their athletic abilities will amaze.

They have the reputation of sinking about 40% of their field goal attempts and, as all basketball fans know, that is a much to be envied percentage.

WHEELCHAIR basketball is a fast, free-wheeling game featuring passing, dribbling and, of course, basket shooting.

Tecumseh's team will be composed of members of the Rotary Club, the sponsoring organization, and they will be put in wheelchairs to 'even things up'. (I have seen some expert wheelers move about — their speed and agility are nothing short of fantastic. I laughingly question this 'evening up' bit.)

The game rules will be easy to follow for anyone even vaguely familiar with basketball.

But this will be an evening of more than just basketball. It is a person's ability, not disability, which counts — these are not mere words for the Illinois group, they are living examples of it.

☆

IN ADDITION to the basketball team, there is a cheer-leading squad and a set of square dancers.

ALL IN WHEELCHAIRS!

The square dancers will be 'doe-ce-doeing' at half time. Their performance should be intricate and exciting to watch — isn't all square dancing?

Are you surprised at wheelchairers being so active?

They also compete in bowling, archery, ping-pong, football, baseball and all sorts of track and field events.

But, since the Gizz Kids are spending Thursday in Tecumseh, basketball is our prime concern today.

Wheelchair basketball was developed during the Second World War in the V.A. Hospitals. It became popular immediately.

The famed group from Illinois was founded in 1948-49, they were leaders in the organization of the National Wheelchair Basketball Association, and sponsored the first NWBA Tournament.

They have played in fourteen of the fifteen National Tournaments and were champs in 1953. Quite a team!

Tecumseh can feel fortunate that our Rotary Club undertook the sponsorship of this most worthwhile exhibition game.

REMEMBER—Thursday night, January 30th, 7:30 p.m. at the High School Gymnasium. I hope I see you all at the Wheelchair Basketball Game.

Jesus' words, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free," will be the theme at Christian Science church services this Sunday.

ICE SKATING DOG — Susie Bishop and other skaters on the Wes Haeussler rink at the corner of Brook and Brown streets this week enjoyed the antics of a cocker spaniel. The little dog was having as much fun as anyone romping on the ice. The Herald photographer was unable to get the happy canine to reveal his name.

St. Elizabeth Jottings

By CAROL RIORDAN

Sister Carmen Joseph's fourth graders are learning Spanish. During this week they are learning a song called, "Dor y Dos Son Cuatro."

All St. Elizabeth classes are now taking Spanish lessons.

St. Elizabeth school children will participate in the Tecumseh Science Fair. The Science Classes have been talking about different ideas in preparation for the projects.

The Cubs played at Hudson recently. We were defeated.

Our library has just been reopened with a new assortment of books. There are over 200 new ones about science, history and fiction.

The fifth graders of Mrs.) Charles Trickey are learning Spanish in arithmetic. They have learned how to add, subtract, multiply and divide in Spanish.

Chevelle's middle-of-the-line series, the Malibu, retains many features found in the two Super Sport models. Like all Chevelles, it's a good foot shorter than big cars, making it easy to park and handle. Yet inside it's surprisingly spacious and comfortable.

COULD BE TOUGH TEST

Tories Face Irish

BRITTON — It could be rough.

The Irish are going to invade the Tory lair Friday night.

Tied by high-scoring Dave Dziachan, who canned 31 points — including 14 in a row — against Whiteford Friday night, the Irish want to avenge an early-season loss to the state champs.

CC fell 56-45 in that December tilt.

Britton, also moving sharply, bagged two wins over the weekend.

The Tories battered Boysville, 74-45, with Phil Benedict pumping through 34 points and controlling both backboards.

In an accidental head-bumping, Phil ran into the Redskins' Hugh Miller and both lads had to leave the contest. Hugh spent the rest of the night in Herrick Memorial Hospital for observation.

☆

TOTAL Britton scoring in the Boysville and Clinton games totaled:

Pepper Griewahn, 21
Veryl Sanch, 26
Benedict, 48
Mastie, 26
Roger Bortel, 4
Dave Prill, 4

Walt Korican, 10

Happily for Coach Sam Hamilton, the junior varsity came to life and won both its matches, besting Boysville, 37-24, and Clinton, 35-27.

These were the first JV victories in two seasons.

WINS AWARD — Doug Grady, Jr., the fellow who helped name Britton athletic teams the Tories, recently won laurels as a service manager for Underwood Chevrolet-Pontiac in Clinton, being named second best in a zone of dealerships which covers parts of three states. While in Britton-Macon High, Doug initiated a petition to change the school's nickname from "Big Reds" to "Tories" in 1950. He played basketball and baseball. Doug is married to the former Sally Prielipp and they have one daughter, Cyrisse Marie, four months old. The Gradys live just west of Britton on M-50.

Members Welcomed to Bureau

BRITTON — Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wagenschultz and Mr. and Mrs. Terry Faust were welcomed as new members at the January meeting of the Fertile Acres Farm Bureau which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bruce.

The topic "You Pay for Every Subsidy Handout" was discussed by the group led by discussion leader, Mrs. Donald Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Spohr showed colored slides of the American Farm Bureau Confederation Convention in Chicago.

The February meeting is to be held in the Lee Spohr home.

A Valentine Gift: Life-Giving Blood

BRITTON — Here is a thought for Valentine's Day this year, one that will not cost you a cent, just a few minutes of your time.

Make it a belated gift — A Pint of Blood — Your Blood.

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Britton, Wednesday, Feb. 19 at the Congregational Christian Church from noon until 5 p.m.

Several volunteer solicitors will be calling from house to house throughout the community sometime in the next two weeks for donors to sign the pledge cards.

Residents are asked to think twice before refusing to sign the pledge cards, think what this blood, your blood might do for humanity's sake.

If you have any qualms about your health and feel that it will be a determent to you to give blood, ask your doctor. In many such cases the patient is advised that he will benefit.

Attendance Is Tops

BRITTON—Sunday School attendance at Britton Bethel Baptist church exceeded all past attendance records Jan. 19.

More than 150 attended each service held that day when Mr. and Mrs. William Rexford were guest speakers.

Uncle Bill and Aunt Marian, as they are known, presented a gospel program using a ventriloquism act with two talking dolls, "Susy and Sidney."

They also used Swiss cow bells, corded cluster bells, coral concert glasses, a vibra harp and piano.

The talented couple do magic tricks, show film strips and teach vocal choruses.

Attendance for Sunday school was 156, breaking the previous record of 140 set Dec. 22.

The last of the series of programs will be presented Friday, Jan. 24, at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the church are extending a special invitation to the public to attend the services at the church at 159 Osborne St.

LADIES' MAN — Gene Earling, head of the factory union, who is somewhat of a Don Juan, although a married man, says of his wife, "her and me don't hardly talk to each other any more." Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

Often we forget that it is newspaper coverage and feature stories that create and arouse public interest concerning projects of public good such as the Raisin River Project.

All newspapers in the projected area cooperated. The Tecumseh Herald, Adrian Telegram, and Blissfield Advance did an outstanding job of informing the public.

This project is off to a good start, however many more thousands of man hours of efforts will be required to carry it to completion.

While we are waiting for official action, it seems to me, is a good time to consider ways to clean up the river and other waters.

Michigan produced just over 100 million bushels of corn for feed in 1963, the second highest on record. This is due, to some extent, to new shorter-term corn varieties produced by Michigan State University research allowing replanting of June-frost killed corn.

TO THE EDITORS:

I just finished reading the Dec. 19 Herald. I read an article about the new cross for St. Peter's coming from Oberammergau, Germany.

To most of your readers this is just a city in Germany. To us it is a beautiful historic little village in the Bavarian Alps. My wife and I visited this little village in October.

The city is the site for the Passion Play every 10 years. The cast for the play comes from the population of the city, it consists of 1400 people. They are all wood carvers.

There are no professional actors. They use no artificial makeup. The play runs from May to September every 10 years. The play is about 7 hours long and runs despite the weather.

The whole city is nothing but wood carvers' shops. They have been wood carvers since they were old enough to hold a piece of wood.

We enjoy reading The Herald even though it comes a month late. It is a tie with old friends and my home-town happenings.

Cadillac

THERE IT GOES WINNING MORE HEARTS AGAIN!

Every time a Cadillac goes by, it seems someone falls in love with it.

Last year, for instance, more people moved up to Cadillac than ever before in history. And the way 1964 is starting off, Cadillac is going to attract more owners than even its beguiling predecessor. Why? We think the answer is easy.

Each year Cadillac simply lengthens its margin of product leadership—by introducing advancements and improvements that are entirely its own.

In 1964, for example, we've combined the heater and air conditioner in a single unit—with a single control. You set the thermostat at your favorite temperature just like you do at home—and the interior of the car holds it winter and summer. We call it Comfort Control*.

*An extra-cost option.

Then there's Cadillac's new Twilight Sentinel*. When it's time to turn on the lights, they switch on automatically . . . and then turn off when sufficient daylight returns. And in the evening, the headlights can be set to light your path from car to doorway and then turn off automatically after you have entered the house.

There's a lot more about the 1964 Cadillac just as new and just as exciting. Take performance, for example.

There's the exciting new 340 h.p. engine—the most powerful in Cadillac history—combined with the smoothness of an improved Hydra-Matic or the completely new Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission.

Give in to your heart and get behind the wheel. Let your authorized Cadillac dealer introduce you to America's most desired motor car.

Biggest Little Town on Earth

S. W. Kelly, 418 Adrian St., brought an interesting booklet to The Herald recently.

Entitled "The Biggest Little Town on Earth," it is a handbook published probably in the early 1920's by the Hayden Flour Mill.

Included are many pictures of interest in the community both of the Hayden Mill at various times and of the business section, churches of the town and their ministers.

Mrs. Perry Hayden said that she thought her husband took the idea for the little handbook from those printed especially for college students in Ann Arbor.

Clinton Man Fined $75

WASHINGTON — Internal Revenue Service has announced completion of a "National Identity File" consisting of a nationwide listing of taxpayers for the first time in history.

Internal Revenue said individual tax returns filed in 1964 will be checked against this listing.

The "National Identity File" is the first nationwide application of Internal Revenue's new automatic data processing, ADP system, which is centered around the National Computer Center at Martinsburg, W. Va., and is being installed by stages.

The nationwide listing, Internal Revenue said, provides an effective basis for identifying and locating taxpayers regardless of whether they move from one area to another.

It will help in the detection of failures to file returns, duplicate filings or erroneous social security numbers.

Mary Seager Named Member of Mademoiselle College Board

Mary Vincent Seager, Tecumseh, a senior at Radcliffe College in Cambridge, Mass., has been chosen to be a member of Mademoiselle magazine's 1964 national College Board.

It is made up of students from the United States, Canada and abroad. The annual College Board Competition is designed for young women with talent in art, writing, fashion, merchandising, promotion or advertising.

Each board member was selected on the basis of an entry that showed her ability in one of these fields.

As a College Board member, she will report news from her college to Mademoiselle, and she is eligible to compete for one of the 20 Guest Editorships that will be awarded by the magazine in May.

MARY SEAGER

THE 20 COLLEGE BOARD members who win Guest Editorships will be brought to New York City for the month of June to help write, illustrate, and edit Mademoiselle's 1964 August College issue.

They will share offices with the magazine's editors, advise the staff on campus trends, interview well-known artists and writers and represent the magazine on visits to publishing houses, stores and advertising agencies.

They will also be photographed for the college issue, and will be considered for future staff positions with Mademoiselle and other Conde Nast publications.

As a special bonus, the 1963 Guest Editors were flown to Switzerland, where they spent six days being photographed in the mountains, and touring Zurich, Bern, and Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferguson, 725 N. Union St. will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday with open house in their home from 2 until 4 p.m. Friends and relatives are invited. The couple ask that gifts be omitted. Mr. Ferguson and Ruth Osburn were married in Angola, Ind. Jan. 24, 1939. They are the parents of one son, Michael, of Delphos, O.

Jehovah's Witnesses Assemble

Jehovah's Witnesses from 16 southern Michican communities convened for their semi-annual Circuit Assembly last weekend at Tecumseh High School gymnasium.

The meet was sponsored by the Watchtower Bible Society of Brooklyn, N. Y., and brought together witnesses from Circuit No. 8.

More than 1,000 attended each of the three days' activities.

The Friday evening program was opened by J. W. Filson, district minister, and featured speaker for the event, when he set the theme, "Feed my Little Sheep."

In this he showed the Christian's responsibility in sharing with others his knowledge of the Creator's purposes.

This was followed by a ministry school typical of those presented weekly in Jehovah's Witnesses' Kingdom Halls around the world.

Students from Plymouth, Ypsilanti, Dundee, Tecumseh and Monroe presented sermons and were counseled by Rev. Filson on their organization of material, presentation and teaching quality.

☆

CIRCUIT MINISTER, D. F. Bowman, program director, concluded the evening with a symposium of talks using speakers from Ypsilanti, Milan, and Plymouth.

The highlight of the Saturday session was a water baptism of 25 newly-dedicated witnesses, following a talk on the meaning of baptism by Rev. Filson.

Saturday's activity also included the visiting of Tecumseh homes by delegates inviting local citizens to attend the sessions, particularly the Sunday lecture by Rev. Filson, "The Bible Triumphs in a Scientific World."

Rev. Filson used scientific fact to demonstrate the accuracy of the Bible. He asserted that the Bible does not clash with science and presented statistics to support his argument.

Over 1,200 attended the lecture.

TECUMSEH HERALD

LENAWEE COUNTY'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

SERVING TECUMSEH, BRITTON, RIDGEWAY, MACON AND TIPTON

Long and Short

BY TOM RIORDAN

Showing color slides of last summer's trip to Egypt took me to Britton Monday and a meeting of the Lenawee County School Lunch association.

As part of the evening's program, 13-year-old David Bush offered several numbers on his flute, while being accompanied at the piano by his mother, Mrs. Elwood Bush.

In this beautifully tranquil setting, a thought of violence suddenly rushed into my mind. It prompted me to begin my spiel with:

"After reading about the antics of school kids around Detroit, it's nice to see a boy carrying a flute instead of a switch-blade knife."

Nothing can make a person sick to the stomach faster than scanning those blood-chilling stories about extortion and intimidation in the corridors and classrooms of Detroit public schools.

Some families, obviously, have no respect for themselves or anyone else. It shows in the kids. Hate, greed, downright cussedness is the norm with them.

Now, let's turn to sports in this same Detroit school system.

For many years, the administration of public education in the Motor City has displayed a resounding lack of enthusiasm for athletics.

One of its silliest moves came during World War II. Latching onto the gasoline shortage as a bogus excuse, certain officials saw their chance and stepped in to piously curtail varsity competition in the interests of national security.

Replacing the normal program with a fuddy-duddy, half-intramural arrangement, they ended up with egg on their collective faces.

The good old DSR kept right on running. There was absolutely nothing to keep teams and fans from travelling everyplace within the city, as they always had.

The Catholic League, with a vast sports program, eyed the situation and then continued as always. Nobody complained.

Michiganders are long familiar with the utterly ridiculous thinking, that raged unabated for years in the ivory tower of Detroit public education, in which state championship meets were verbotten to Detroit athletes.

This thinking was always so unreasonable, it lodged like a chicken bone in one's throat.

After years of painful efforts by a right-thinking Detroiter, a breakthrough was made two seasons back. Motor City teams were reluctantly allowed to enter state competition — and everyone seemed happy.

Except, of course, the old diehards who sit in high places. This must have pained them deeply.

Coming back to switch-blade knives and other assorted hooligan weapons, which have helped open a new career in school halls for Detroit's junior chapter of Cosa Nostra.

No good citizen hesitates to admit this to be a deeply deploring situation — even if there are only a few reported cases. Like spying a rat dashing across the garage floor, it's often the case that there must be several more lurking where they can't be seen.

You ask, are sports the answer?

No, not entirely.

But they can be a real factor, if used properly.

My advice this week to Supt.

Drive To Insure Four-Mill Passage Featuring Pins, Stickers and Ads

An intensive campaign to make certain that the coming four-mill school operating vote goes over the top has been started in the Tecumseh School District.

A barrage of pins, stickers and ads will flood the area from now until the vote on Feb. 17.

Hanging in the balance is a $500,000 gift to the schools, which would provide for additions to both the senior and junior high buildings.

The half-million-dollar donation is to be made only if the electorate approves the four mills for five years, which by an odd circumstance will not mean an increase now in taxation, but simply a continuation of a four-mill operating levy approved for two years in 1962.

In the current campaign, 500 attractive red-and-white lapel buttons are being distributed to local citizens and 500 large stickers, to be placed on front doors and store windows.

A series of display ads for The Herald is planned, with all phases of the four-mill vote explained fully. In addition to this, many merchants are supporting the project as part of their regular promotional programs.

All registered voters are eligible to cast ballots.

Parents Invited

A meeting especially for Junior and High School parents will be held Monday, Feb. 3, at 8 p.m. in the High School.

Neville Hart, principal, asks parents to attend the session, when discussion will be held on the millage issue and also the proposed addition to the high school.

Member of the Board of Education will be in attendance.

Raisin Folk Without Aid for Flames

Raisin Township residents will be without the aid of Tecumseh fire department starting Saturday.

Jim Mitchell, Raisin boardman, told The Herald Wednesday morning that the board does not plan to meet until Monday night — two days after the deadline for agreement set by City Council.

Mr. Mitchell felt the main disagreement was the retroactive action on the $300 charge per fire, going back to July, 1963.

Raisin has been billed for nine fires and still owes $2,400.

Raisin Township is directly south of Tecumseh city limits. Its boundaries are the south side of Russell Rd., north side of Academy Rd., east side of N. Adrian Hwy and west side of Hendershot Hwy. and Wellsville Hwy.

Morenci Youths Promote Town

To help sell Morenci as an industrial site, a group of Morenci Area High School students plan to promote a campaign publicizing Morenci's assets.

Interest in the school has been stimulated by a group of journalism students under the direction of Mrs. Oliver Stahl.

The group includes David Shultz, Martha Koppitsch and Cheryl Deming.

World's Fair Display Booths Go Fast

A large portion of display areas have been sold for Tecumseh World's Fair to be staged by the Kiwanis Club April 3, 4 and 5 at the Community Center.

The show will feature television personalities, industrial and merchant displays and Armed Forces exhibits.

The average cost of display areas ranges from $70 to $85 with half the rental paid in advance and the balance March 1. Interested persons may contact Dr. George Burkhard, 113 W. Chicago Blvd.

Farm Bureau Fighting 'Warmed-Over' Program

"Farmers do not want a warmed-over version of the same program they turned down in last May's wheat referendum," according to Michigan Farm Bureau leaders.

Meeting in Lansing, the board of directors of the Michigan Farm Bureau have further declared that so-called "voluntary" programs, such as that offered in the McGovern Bill, now before the House Agricultural Committee, is only "another sugar-coated attempt to force agriculture into a government management control program," they said.

"Why should the United States adopt the approach that has failed miserably in Russia? — a plan that has forced Khrushchev to the humiliating position of buying food produced by the very economy he set out to bury.

"This program provides a 'voluntary' choice, but with a penalty so severe that there virtually is no choice," the farm leaders said.

THEY CALLED on Congress to cease tinkering with programs offering high support prices with strict controls on production; "which lead to high consumer costs and to low net farm income and to a 'police state' of government controllers."

The Farm Bureau board said the time has come to get on with the job of providing an opportunity for agriculture to adjust its production to market demands and reduce costs to taxpayers and consumers.

Seventeen Senators and nineteen Congressmen have introduced the "Wheat and Feed Grain Act of 1963" which would provide for a return to a market economy. Farm Bureau supports this plan.

Farm Bureau opposes the McGovern bill which would move, instead, in the direction of high production costs and inefficiency.

HERALD IS CITED — The 1963 award for "outstanding contributions in the field of journalism" by the Northwestern Ohio professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi was presented last week to The Herald in the form of this plaque. Accepting at a meeting in the Norwood Inn were Co-Publisher Jim Lincoln and Tom Riordan. The Herald's entry recounted its editorial battle to help insure the move of Faraday, Inc., to Tecumseh and the resulting successes of the new firm, which has become a substantial industrial citizen in the community.

Motion Picture at Grace Bible

"Something To Die For", dramatic sound motion picture, produced in Singapore, will be shown Sunday, Feb. 2 at 7:30 p.m. at Grace Bible Church.

"Something To Die For" tells the story of two Chinese high school students, and their desperate search for truth. When they find it through an Indian boy who introduces them to a Christian club in their high school, both willingly accept expulsion from home in preference to recanting their convictions.

Zany Musical 'Pajama Game' Opens Feb. 6

By EVE BOWEN

A little theatre reading group, formed in 1960, became the nucleous of the Tecumseh Players, now incorporated as a non-profit organization with hopes of building its own playhouse.

Right from the beginning, the Players' sole aim has been to bring stage entertainment to the residents of Tecumseh and the surrounding areas.

It is their dream to one day have their own theatre and at the last meeting of the board of directors it was voted to allocate $1,000 to a building fund, which has already received one local donation.

The Players have established a format of three productions a year, with the middle one a musical comedy.

☆

THIS YEAR'S effort is "Pajama Game", which opens Thursday, Feb. 6, and plays a total of seven performances over two weekends.

Sid Sorokin is the new superintendent at the Sleep-Tite pajama factory. He and Hinezie, an efficiency expert, have been hired by the owner, Mr. Hasler, to speed up production.

They are opposed in this effort by Prez, the union boss, and Babe, head of the grievance committee, who want to call a strike or at least cause a slowdown if they do not get a 7½c raise they are demanding.

Sid falls in love with Babe, which creates complications. Hinezie is enamoured of Gladys, Mr. Hasler's secretary, and when she rejects him, makes a confidant of Mabel who runs Sid's office.

Prez is apt to be caught chasing Mae or in fact any of the girls.

☆

IN THE cast are:

Hinezie — Dr. Richard Hammell

Prez — Gene Earling

☆

The orchestra includes Jeanette Mannino, Ronald Clark, Robert Van Vleet, Leland Green, Michael Hannah, Tim Dickinson and Charles Trickey.

Mrs. Ted Pihl, who got her start in show business in Hollywood as one of the kids in the "Our Gang" comedies, is the choreographer.

"Pajama Game" will be the ninth production for the Tecumseh Players with five of them peresented at the Strand Theatre and the other four at the Community Center.

Ticket sales are going well and Mrs. Gene Earling, chairman, reports that closing night is already sold out.

VOICE OF THE HERALD

Police Chief Balks

"I will determine what information leaves this department," Police Chief Murell Clark told The Herald Wednesday morning.

This dictatorial stand is censorship of news and an outright violation of the rights of the press and other news media.

Such an action is the last thing any public department should condone and one we feel that City Council should take immediate steps to correct.

Monday night, The Herald was assured by Council at a special meeting, that cooperation between the Tecumseh Police Department and this newspaper would be attained. This assurance was given after the newspaper's position was stated.

We're sorry, but the cooperation and explanations since leaves us in an entirely different position. We will not accept censorship.

Citizens of Tecumseh are entitled to a free press and one that is able to report fairly and accurately the newsworthy events of the community.

It is our responsibility to select the news which is to be published and not the Tecumseh Police Dept.

We are not seeking favors — only the information to which we are entitled. We sincerely hope that the method of releasing police news and information will be changed immediately.

They Sing, Swing

In full swing for "Pajama Game", cast members rehearse nightly, often until midnight. Lines, singing and dancing directors encouraging, costumes being adjusted, makeup discussed, all add to confusion amid the hammering and set-up of properties. It's hard work, but with great enjoyment and rewards. Just wait until opening night.

MARTY BAGDON AND BRUCE KING

WE WANT IT! The "Pajama Game" chorus, which includes these five lovely ladies, belts out the zany song, "Seven and One-half Cents", which spells out their demands for an hourly rate hike in the Sleep-Tite factory. In front are Bea Martinez and Christine Wilhelm. Back row from left are Mrs. Margaret Frownfelder, Mrs. Pat Mull and Debra Earling. When the chorus sings, they sport these strike placards.

Carbon Monoxide Snuffs Out 38 Lives

Carbon monoxide has been responsible for at least 38 deaths in Michigan so far this winter.

State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis has repeated a warning to the public to be alert to the danger of the odorless gas.

Automobile exhaust has been responsible for 10 of the accidental deaths in 15 incidents involving a total of 25 persons.

Faulty heating systems have been responsible for 11 deaths—including an entire family of four — in 11 separate incidents involving a total of 42 persons.

The other known carbon monoxide deaths resulted when an indigent couple built a fire in a pail for warmth in their unheated tenement, and a trucker was overcome by carbon monoxide from a charcoal heater used to keep his load of fruits and vegetables from freezing.

☆

THE COMMISSIONER noted one encouraging aspect — the relatively low number of incidents involving couples sitting in parked cars with the motor running, a practice which he has specifically warned against in the past.

So far this winter, there have been only five such incidents. In three cases, the couples survived because they were found in time. Two of the couples died.

"I certainly hope that the decreased number of deaths among young people who do their courting in automobiles is due to increased awareness about the danger of carbon monoxide," Dr. Heustis said.

Outdoor Editor of Toledo Blade Speaks at Club

Lew Klewer, outdoor editor of the Toledo Blade, spoke to members of the Exchange Club Jan. 27 following a ham dinner served by the Eagles Auxiliary.

Highlights included many of 1400 varieties of birds, a delicacy — iguana eating — a lizard which, when cooked, tastes like chicken.

Mr. Klewer said Jaquar hunting is very popular for the cats are not only marauders, but their pelts are in demand for fur trade.

He pointed out the contrast of life where a modern city was on one side of a river and the other side was occupied by people living primitively, as they had thousands of years previous.

Dinner Honors Granddaughter

Dinner guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McKnight and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert McKnight, Janice Hardy and Mrs. Choyce Willnow.

Attend 4-Day Seminar in Washington

Ralph Comfort and the Rev. Paul Brantingham attended a four-day seminar on the Christian's role in government held in Washington, D.C. Nearly 100 clergymen and laymen from all sections of the country enrolled for this intensive look at all facets of governmental life in the nation's capital.

The seminar was sponsored by the National Association of Evangelicals, an interdenominational Protestant organization with two million members.

In addition to visiting both houses of Congress and some of the Committee hearings, special sightseeing tours covered most of the points of interest in the capital.

Special briefing sessions were held at the White House, State Department and the FBI.

Behind Page One

Have you heard the old farmers prediction that it will frost six months from the first thunder and lightening storm? Hmmm! that would bring it about July 24.

Ernie J. thought he had it made when he took his giant-size cup to the Quick Lunch restaurant for a fill-up — at 10c. Non-plussed by the effrontery of the young man, the manager simply filled the cup and said "Twenty-one cents, please."

Hats off to Bob Seitz, Jr. He is the young man who puts up the flag at the American Legion Home each morning before classes and takes it down at sundown each evening.

Mrs. Herman Schantz dropped by the office Friday to inquire about our "Bygone Years" column. We're working on it and expect to come up with something new real soon.

The telephone at The Herald office jingled constantly Thursday and some on Friday with persons identifying the picture on the front page. Over 200 calls were received.

Once those power snow plows get going they can't be stopped — or else running them is lots of fun. Residents of the business district were pleased when Harold Easton and Tom Smith, using a Cub cadet, tiny four-wheeled plow, cleared snow from the walks Sunday.

Last Thursday showed a sure sign of Spring — the kids were playing marbles in the mud.

Didn't anybody notice our "ADDRESS CORECT?" at the top of classified page last week? We were hoping to attract attention with our misspelled word and didn't get a single call about our "mistake". Keep alert everybody.

Those little classifieds bring results. Mrs. LeRoy Betzoldt advertised a missing gold vinyl key case last week. Her mother, Mrs. Donald Nixon, noticed the ad and called Flora to tell her she had sent the case to sister Donna in California. After Donna's holiday visit, Mrs. Nixon found two sets of strange keys, surmised they were Donna's and mailed them to her. Needless to say, Donna kept her set and is mailing the extra one back.

Mrs. Goller Appointed to Board

Mrs. Edwin Goller, 805 River Acres Dr. and an employee of Adrian Federal Savings and Loan, was appointed to the Board of Review by Council Monday night.

While Council filled one seat, Mayor Harold Easton informed other members that Aden Mead was resigning from the board.

His vacancy will probably be filled at a February meeting.

Leaves Hospital

MACON — Mrs. Jennie Youngblove was released Monday from Herrick Memorial Hospital, after convalescense from a light stroke she suffered Jan. 18. She will return to her own home on Ridge Hwy.

Long and Short

Samuel Brownell and his school board is to begin active promotion of athletics in Detroit schools, from at least the junior high level up, go sled length on a giant scale.

And forget that nonsense, please. "But it will cost so much money."

A dollar used for clean competition today saves $100 in law enforcement tabs next week. Check this with city police.

For the less skilled, make intramural games mean something. Buy the teams uniforms, have competent instructors and officials.

America's finest methods of literally pulling a boy out of the slums is to develop his talents for a game, put him in a regular team uniform, show him that he is worth something after all.

In sports, a youth learns fair play, respect for his teammates and opponents.

But most of all, Mr. Brownell, he learns respect for himself.

We note the political year of 1964 has got under way with a bang. There are many things in this world we do not understand and near the top of the list is politics.

The theoretical difference between political parties is understandable. At times we believe this difference is very slight. But what we do not understand is why elected representatives let these really petty party dogmas stand in the way of action that will benefit all the people.

In our little business we have the opportunity to talk with people from throughout the United States. We find many that have a very poor opinion of the political and economic status of Michigan. It makes us bristle though much they think is true.

Would it not be wonderful if all the different factions . . . political, sectional, farm, urban, labor, capital and race for just one year would concentrate on doing the best for all. The rest of the country, yes even the world would look to Michigan for guidance.

We had better get back to something we at least understand in a small way.

The January Sale was quite a success. Certain items will remain on sale for a while. In fact we are planning a number of good events and the like during February.

Spring and summer cottons have been coming in by the truck loads. We hope to have many of these on display by the time you read this. Our collection will have many top names as Peter Pan, Abbot, Shirley, Stevens, Rosewood to name a few.

As always we are stressing quality at reasonable prices. If you like to do comparative shopping, we welcome it.

Come to Clinton Woolen during February to see Spring bursting out all over the store.

DICK BILBY

Dick Bilby Rates 'Farmer of January'

Tecumseh's Future Farmer for January is Richard Bilby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dow Bilby, 8464 North Adrian Hwy.

Dick has been a spark to the local FFA activities since his initiation as a Green Hand a year ago.

At the present time he holds the Chapter Farmer degree. Dick has been on the state and national activities committee and at the present time he is on the cooperative activities committee.

In addition to committee work, Dick raised the last batch of broilers which the chapter dressed for their Parent and Son banquet.

Dick had a death loss of only 2.6%.

For his productive projects he had one acre of corn and one of oats.

Dick enjoys helping his father on his 63-acre crop farm.

Dr. Carlos Knisely Wins '63 'Young Man of Year'

Dr. Carlos Knisely was named winner of the annual Jaycee Young Man of the Year award for 1963.

He was presented with a plaque during the Bosses Night banquet by Mayor Harold Easton Wednesday at Tecumseh Country Club.

On hand were two other OYM finalists, Gene Tuckey and Earl Nesbitt.

Selecting the winner were judges John Surratt, Police Chief Murell Clark and the mayor.

Main speaker of the evening, Marion Benton of Owosso said that with every community there is "so much more that can be done."

☆

HE URGED JCs to work together with older folks.

"The grass is greener (in your town) only when young and old work together and want a town to be great," he emphasized.

Mr. Benton, a past JC state president, told his audience, "Keep up the good work. Put emphasis on that survey (he referred to a recent opinion questionnaire JCs made within the city.) Find out what you need, then get out and do something about it."

He abhorred the philosophy of many young men who seek out security as a prime factor in a job. It's never "what he'll do to earn security."

"Too many young men are apathetic and complacent," he warned.

☆

YOUTH AND age working together can have a vitality, with an obligation to get out and fight for things that would improve their town and bring better schools, the guest stated.

Mr. Benton told the Tecumseh young men they should become interested in politics — no matter what party.

"One-tenth of one percent of the people run the state," he explained, because the rest of the people aren't interested.

Toastmaster was Tom Riordan.

Why I'm Voting 'Yes' on Four Mills

BY KEEPING 4 GET ROOM FOR MORE

Mrs. Bill Holmes, 706 Seneca St. — I think it would be ridiculous not to. I wouldn't dream of not voting for it. It's not as if we were increasing the millage, we're just maintaining it.

Fred Dickinson, 215 N. Maiden Lane — We wouldn't be paying any more than we are now. It's just a continuation of what we're paying.

Mrs. P. G. Colgrove, 716 W. Pottawatamie — I feel we need the extra room in the high school badly and rejuvenation in the junior high. If the town is going to have schools to be proud of, the millage should go through.

Mrs. Don Smith, 9361 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. — I feel it's very necessary to maintain the school system at a high level. It's important to the community to have a good school system.

High Winds Blow Class to Adrian

Thirty-two members and guests of the Power Class of the Friends Church let the winds blow them to the Adrian City Friends Church, where they watched the film presentation of the "Tony Fontane Story."

Returning to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacDonald, 901 Sunset St., the group conducted the business portion of their evening.

Masonic Lodge Lauds Members

Three members of the local chapter of the Masonic Lodge were honored at a recent meeting.

They were Fred C. Dickinson, Howard Wilson, Sr. and Lester Rogers.

Mr. Dickinson was appointed secretary by the late Don Wright at a regular meeting held in April, 1928.

"Mr. Mason" as Mr. Dickinson is sometimes known will have undertaken the duties of secretary for 36 consecutive years with the coming of April 1964.

He replaced his father, William Dickinson, who had held the office for a number of years.

Mr. Rogers has been a member of the lodge for over 50 years. He joined in April of 1911. He has held all of the offices except secretary.

At present, he is president of the Builders Association and the Benefit Association of the local chapter.

☆

"In the name of the brethren and officers of Tecumseh Lodge 69 F & AM, I proclaim the name of Fred C. Dickinson, past master and secretary of this lodge be placed in dedication on the Pilar of Strength."

"Brother Dickinson has long been the trowel with which masters of this lodge have held us together as one sacred band and a council to all masons in need."

☆

THE NAME of Lester L. Rogers, Past Master, is also placed on the Pilar of Strength.

The tribute to him read:

"Brother Rogers is a never ending source of strength to those who are in the dawn of their masonic light."

The tribute to Mr. Wilson was printed in last week's Herald.

Blissfield Teacher To Face Senator Porter

VIRGIL EISENMANN

A Blissfield High School mathematics teacher hopes to bump Elmer Porter as Republican candidate for Senator representing Monroe and Lenawee Counties

He received a bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University and his mastor's degree from Michigan State University.

He resides on a farm east of Palmyra with his wife and four children, ranging in ages from 12 to 18.

Virgil E. Eisenmann, nine years a teacher at Blissfield and a life insurance agent, is stepping into the political ring.

He was formerly a rural teacher in Monroe and Lenawee counties for over nine years, a parts and salesman for an implement dealer for seven years.

Mr. Eisenmann is assistant lay leader and Sunday school teacher at the Blissfield Evangelical United Brethren Church. He is active in youth work.

3 School Officials Explain Financial Condition of School

The club was told that the high school, originally built for 600, now accommodates 888 students with a probable increase to 1,000 next year.

Within two years, the Junior High School will also be overcrowded.

If the proposed continuation of the present four mills for five years is passed, the high school would have an addition of approximately 22,000 sq. ft.

This addition would cost considerably less than a new building, which would be approximately $2 million dollars, according to board members.

The proposed millage would be a continuation of the present four mills for five years. If the taxpayers had to pay for this addition, it would cost approximately three and one-half mills for five years for the addition, plus the four mills for operating expenses.

If the millage passes, the Junior High School, with its 1965 addition, would be sufficient in size for approximately 10 years.

Kiwanis is supporting a "Get Out and Vote Campaign" for the millage issue since members feel that this is important for the future education of the children.

Homemakers Begin Work on Projects

Members were assigned to project leaders at the meeting of the Holloway Homemakers 4-H Club Jan. 9 in the home of Marilyn Mumaw.

Junior leaders assist the project leaders and members are assigned according to age.

Members have been asked by the leaders to bring their material to the next meeting, Jan. 30 at 7 p.m. in the home of Donna Forsyth.

American Indians Called Our Raisin 'River of Sturgeon'

(Editor's note — This is another story in the history of the River Raisin as prepared by Mrs. Reginald Angus of Brooklyn. The series originally appeared in The Brooklyn Exponent.)

By MRS. REGINALD ANGUS

"River of the Sturgeon", the American Indians call it. If the river is restored to its original beauty by the planned watershed project, it may well become that once more. Its present name of Raisin came into being from the early French, who renamed it because of the wealth of wild grapes along the banks.

If the early settlers were to return to this area, much of the present river would be unrecognizable to them.

Sediment from erosion has caused the Raisin to change its course in many places. Piles of rusty metal cans can be seen here and there.

Trees, felled by erosion, have become the basis of silt islands.

And the crist and saw mills of the early River Raisin, so necessary in the life of the pioneer, have vanished into antiquity like the buffalo and the Indian.

Once the life of the river was centered around them. Every town and hamlet from Brooklyn to Monroe possessed such mills.

☆

GONE ARE the mills in Brooklyn and Jefferson in Jackson County. The Ford Motor plant of Brooklyn is now on the site of the first saw mill of the area (January, 1833).

A new body of water, Lake Columbia, is now at the site of the Jefferson mill race and the old Goose Creek branch of the Raisin is the feeding stream of the new lake.

During World War I this mill ran day and night producing rye flour. The old beams in this structure, tradition says, were hand-hewn from oak and black walnut.

DOWNSTREAM, there are memories of other mills built by such men as Edwin Smith in Clinton in 1836; or Musgrove Evans and General Joseph Brown and a Mr. Wing of Monroe in 1824, and a grist mill by them in 1826 in the area outside of Tecumseh, known as Brownville.

The story of the hardships encountered in making the Tecumseh mill are told in the records of the Pioneer Society, Volume I:

"The dam raised and the frame of the mill up, it remained to supply the stones. How this was to be done was not a problem easy of solution.

"To procure and transport a pair of French burr mill stones from the east and through the forest from Monroe or Detroit to Tecumseh in the condition the roads were in at that time would be a heavy expense and a work of no small difficulty . . .

"A large stone, a rock of granite, was found lying on the ground a mile or two from the mill, broken into two unequal pieces by the falling of a tree upon it.

"By the aid of a practical miller, Sylvester Blackmar, this stone was made to answer the desired purpose, the smaller fragment serving as the upper stone, and the larger, the lower."

TECUMSEH ALSO has other memories of bygone mills.

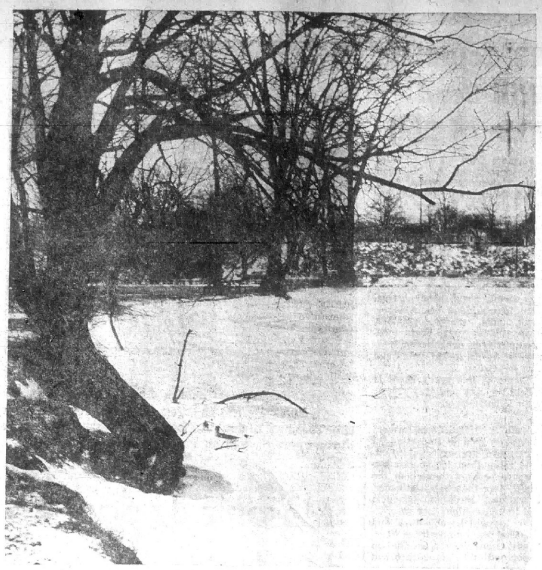
In 1838 Samuel Satterthwaite and Tildon Curtis harnessed the Raisin and built a saw mill.

In 1847 Mr. Satterthwaite went into partnership with Aaron Comfort. Both the saw and grist mills were purchased in 1869 by Wolston Comfort.

The pond that reflected both mills was known as "Quaker pond" because the members were members of the Society of Friends. (This is one of the ponds that may be revived by the Raisin project.)

Other mills near Tecumseh were the Newbury, the Red Pond, the Globe, and Abner Spofford's mill on Blood Rd.

(To Be Continued)



WINTER ON THE GLOBE — Beautiful Globe po nd provides fascinating views in winter as well as summer. How fortunate the city's residents are to have so many pleasant water sites to enjoy and now with the River Raisin project in progress, the possibilities are that there will be several more in the area.

Visitor Returns Home to Mexico with Students

She was a houseguest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mensing and family for the past eight weeks under the Youth for Understanding program.

Indians Blow 6-Point Lead in Final Seconds Lose Thriller to Dundee in Overtime, 81-80

Two fantastic shots in the waning seconds plus a wild toss — which merely meant two points at the time — dealt Tecumseh a heart-breaking defeat Friday night at Dundee.

These three shots plus some erratic play, which the Indians were guilty of, resulted in Tecumseh "blowing" an 81-80 decision to the Huron League leaders.

Only fans present will believe the wild finish where Tecumseh had the game all wrapped up — only to have Dundee tie the game in regulation time then rally to nip the Indians in overtime.

The meaningless bucket — at the time — was scored when Dundee's Bob Edelbrock threw the ball at the basket as the horn sounded to end the half. The ball went in and closed Dundee's half time deficit from nine to seven points.

In the final 27 seconds of the game, Dundee's Bill Tumblison hit two 25 or 30 footers, the last to tie the game at 74-74 and send the tilt into overtime.

With Jerry Hebb dominating the Indian attack — he totaled 33 for the evening — Tecumseh twice went ahead of Dundee in the final three-minute period.

With the score 78-77 — Hebb had hit a bucket and two fouls — reserve Bob Kroeger banged the ball from the hands of Hebb, who had rebounded Kroeger's second free throw, and then flipped in a two pointer.

Then a wild toss to midcourt was intercepted by Dundee and immediately resulted in an easy goal.

The game was over despite guard Dave Tilton's long shot to narrow the margin to one point.

The Indians never got another shot.

Hebb, although guilty of a lapse in the overtime, was easily the game's outstanding player, made 30 of 37 while Dundee rehe did everything except win for the Indians with his hot shooting and rebounding.

After two games, Dundee still leads the Indians by three points, the total point difference in the two Tecumseh losses. The two teams could conceiveably meet again when tournament season begins.

Local fans — still not convinced and probably justifiably — would welcome a third opportunity and undoubtedly enter the third fray with confidence. The Vikings, an excellent team and one of the best in league play for several seasons, were overshadowed by Tecumseh in the 81-80 loss until the very end.

This Friday night, the Indians stay at home and meet Flat Rock. The Rams should afford little competition but may give Coach Vic Lawson a chance to experiment.

FR rests at the bottom of the league and is apt to stay there.

While Hebb paced his teammates in the loss at Dundee, a likely newcomer in guiding the Indians is Tilton. The young guard connected for 13 points, seven coming in the late stages of the final quarter.

Fouls hurt both teams. Gregg Allen, 6'4" center, picked up four fouls late in the second period, and then fouled out midway in the third stanza.

Clark Nichols fouled out in the final quarter. Nichols scored 11 points in the first half, second to Hebb who had 12. In the third and fourth periods, he seemingly quit shooting except for a steal when he went in for a lay-up.

For the game, Tecumseh outshot its opponents percentagewise, but failed to take nearly as many shots. The Indians hit for 53% from the floor to Dundee's 46%.

From the foul line, Tecumseh corded 17 of 32. Officials called 28 infractions against the Indians, 27 against Dundee.

LOSE 6'4" CENTER — Gregg Allen, mighty important cog in Tecumseh's basketball team, collected four fouls in the first half and then fouled out of the Dundee game early in the third period. Allen, although tallying only eight points, easily could have meant the difference by controlling the boards, as shown here. His importance was illustrated when the Vikings called time and then purposely set up a screen plan in the third stanza to oust him from the game.

The addition (below in dark outline) will provide a large library-study hall combination room off the east end of what is now the north wing of the present high school building. Two laboratories for chemistry and physics, two math classrooms and rooms for vocational education courses also are situated on the first floor. The second floor of the addition (top, left) will provide three classrooms, plus classrooms for biology and general science. A new locker room for high school boys also is included, just north of the gym.

QUESTIONS — ANSWERS

REGARDING INFORMATION PERTAINING TO THE TECUMSEH SCHOOLS, RENEWAL OF MILLAGE, $500,000 GIFT.

BY KEEPING 4 GET ROOM FOR MORE

Q. DO THE TECUMSEH SCHOOLS NEED ADDITIONAL JUNIOR AND SENIOR HIGH FACILITIES?

A. Yes, definitely. Our present high school is supposed to accommodate just 600 students. The official enrollment for the current term is 888, and next fall, the enrollment is expected to reach 950. In the junior high, some classes are now approaching peak loads. Enrollment here is 422 for a building which can handle up to 500 students; however, the building must soon be able to accommodate 600. In 1950, there were 430 in grades seven through twelve. There are now 1,310, over three times as many.

BY KEEPING 4 GET ROOM FOR MORE

Q. CAN THESE ADDITIONAL FACILITIES BE SOLVED AT NO ADDITIONAL COST TO THE TAXPAYER?

A. Yes. A gift of $500,000 has been offered the schools to expand present buildings, the high school this year and the junior high in 1965. Not only does the gift cover construction costs but also pays for the equipment which will be needed for new laboratories and classrooms. This gift, the finest thing ever offered the schools or the community, in turn could save taxpayers the burden of financing these new facilities in the future. Renewing four mills on Feb. 17 will assure the schools and students of benefiting from the gift.

BY KEEPING 4 GET ROOM FOR MORE

Q. ARE FOUR MILLS FOR THE SCHOOLS ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY FOR THEIR OPERATION?

A. Renewing four mills will merely allow the schools to operate as at the present, plus giving teachers an increase in their annual increment and raising the base salary. When the voters approved four mills two years ago, the board made several promises and all have been kept: return the first grade to full time, establish additional kindergarten section, open Macon and West Branch schools, plus some other services, and retire a $160,000 debt. Some services still are not in effect. Teachers, except for the annual increments, have not had a salary increase since 1958.

BY KEEPING 4 GET ROOM FOR MORE

Q. BY RENEWING FOUR MILLS ON FEB. 17, WILL I PAY MORE IN SCHOOL TAXES NEXT YEAR?

A. Your school tax will remain the same. Voters are being asked to renew the 4 mills they approved in 1962. Taxpayers will have never received so much for their money as this time, when a gift of $500,000 will be the schools just for renewing the millage. The gift actually amounts to 14 mills for one year, but 14 mills, as taxpayers, we will never have to burden ourselves with — if we renew the four mills for five years as asked by the board of education. The gift will take care of crowded conditions for some time with greater facilities and without increasing taxes.

If No Gift Were Offered, The Schools Would Still Need A Renewal Of Four Mills. Voters, By Renewing 4 Mills, Will Give The Schools Adequate Financing (at no tax increase) & Benefits From A $500,000 Gift

NEWS of BRITTON

It's 37th League Win for Tories

BRITTON—Posting their 11th win of the year, the Tories of Britton-Macon, defending Class D state champs, stopped Adrian Catholic Central, 73-63, here Friday.

Next stop: Ida this Friday.

Phil Benedict, probably celebrating his high scholastic ranking (see "Top Scholars Named" in adjoining columns), cut the strings for 30 points.

☆

THIS IS Mr. Kennelly's opinion and the year's balance of six game and tournament action will tell the true tale. No team can go on winning with a single player carrying the entire load.

Britton stepped out to a fast lead over the Irish and never were behind.

Ron Mastie dunked 15, Pepper Griewahn collected 10 points, Walt Korican had nine, Verl Sanch seven and Roger Bortel two.

Don Dziachan contributed 21 for the losers.

The CC win was Britton's 37th straight River Raisin League triumph and put the Tories on top of the loop standings by three games.

TEEN TALK

By JANICE WHELAN

The National Honors Society is making plans for the coming initiation in March.

Seniors will be able to order new membership cards for five cents.

Speaker for the Jan. 14 session was Gene Bosche from Dundee Manufacturing.

He talked to the members about engineering, management, and the company's plastic product, Teflon.

Student Council is planning to sell Tecumseh High Book Covers at the beginning of the second semester. These will be sold at noon and before school starts in the morning for about two weeks and then they will be made available for purchase in the study hall.

The Council is still in need of a home for a foreign exchange student in order to sponsor one next year.

Anyone interested, please contact Don Baird or this writer.

An assembly is being planned for the week of Feb. 10. It will feature The Castro Brothers, a singing group from Uruguay, visiting the United States with a group of foreign exchange students who are part of The National Council of Churches Youth Exchange program. They are in Michigan principally to perform at concerts and assemblies.

The Council decided that the best day for the Huron League Student Exchange Day would be Feb. 28, if this is agreeable with the rest of the league schools.

The bus trip to Grosse Ile, because of the distance, was a rather expensive one, so in order to lessen the expense the Sophomore Class footed half the cost of the student tickets.

This is most likely why a bus of cheering students made it to the game that Friday night.

The Varsity Club has also been in charge of the program selling for the home basketball games.

STILL DANCING — Mary Bowers has the role of Mable, secretary of the Sleep-Tite Co. in "Pajama Game," being staged by the Tecumseh Players Feb. 6, 7, 8, 12, 13, 14 and 15 at the Community Center. Her boss is the hated Mr. Hasler, portrayed by genial Charlie Parker of Clinton. For Mrs. Bowers, it signals a return to her "dancing career." She does a cute soft-shoe step with Dr. Richard Hammel. In her last Play yers' role, Mrs. Bowers was the aspiring ballet dancer, Essie, in "You Can't Take It With You."

Newspapers Folks Gather at MSU

EAST LANSING — A noted cartoonist, an automotive official, an advertising agency executive and a young scientist will speak to Michigan newspapermen this weekend.

Over 700 editors and their wives, representing the state's more than 350 daily and weekly newspapers, are expected at MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education for the 96th annual meeting of the Michigan Press Association.

☆

WHIT HOBBS, senior vice-president and member of the board of directors of Benton & Bowles, Inc., New York, will concentrate on ways to make newspaper advertising more effective.

Dr. Leroy G. Augenstein, chairman of the MSU Department of Biophysics, will discuss science, ethics and public decisions.

Other highlights include a discussion of trade problems, displays of the latest printing and newspaper equipment and results of the MPA newspaper contest.

Tecumseh Herald Co-Publishers Jim Lincoln and Tom Riordan will be attending the two-day convention.

Attends Session at St. Paul's

Mrs. Arthur Geisenhaver, vice-president of the Southwest Convocation of Episcopal Church Women, attended the Diocesan Episcopal Church Women board meeting Friday, Jan. 17 at St. Paul's Cathedral in Detroit.

Seek 'Product of Year'

Search is beginning for Michigan's "Product of the Year", its "Agricultural Development of the Year" and the state's "Outstanding Community Economic Achievement."

All three honors to be awarded during the 11th annual Michigan Week May 17-23.

The search is being directed by Milton G. Kendrick of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., Detroit, chairman of the awards committee of the Michigan Week Business and Products Board.

It will progress through county and regional contests to the state finals in mid-spring.

Mr. Kendrick announces that:

County judging is to be completed by March 15.

Regional judging is to be completed by April 15.

Entries from the 16 regions must reach the state committee by April 24.

☆

IN THE Product-of-the-Year competition, an entry "should be something that is significant and successful, either new or recent . . . should have sales and employment potential . . . must be a consumer product, distributed through normal channels and should have national distribution . . . can be in any field that is making an outstanding contribution to the economic welfare of the community."

The award goes to a company, not to an individual.

To compete for honor as the Agricultural Development of the Year, an entry can be a product or a process or, as in the case of the state winner last year, a marketing or growing program significant to Michigan agriculture or to an area of the state.

☆

THE STATE award for Community Economic Achievement of the Year will go to an organization for outstanding accomplishment that has brought or will bring economic expansion to its community or area. The award is not to be made to an individual.

The organization might be a Chamber of Commerce or similar group but it could be a government organization, for example, a village council or county board of supervisors.

More information can be obtained by contacting Mr. Kendrick at Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. in Detroit.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

SOMETHING DIFFERENT

Is there anything more dreary than the January letdown? I suppose it is only natural that after reaching such a high peak during the holidays, things go into a slump this time of year when all the excitement is over.

Nothing, just nothing seems to be happening — at least, at the feeding stations there is not much going on. It is just the same old thing.

Oh, the regulars droo in for their usual snacks but it is just lunching, no festive dining.

A few blue jays scream, "Hello," from the nearby wren-tree. Papa and Mama Cardinal seem to enjoy the shelter of the barberry bushes by the driveway and a round.

Three fat and sassy fox squirrels do try to liven things up a bit by either monopolizing the feeder or tearing through the trees at top speed. But poor Little Red has felt the January slump, so lackadaisical is he that we have not seen him chase the big squirrels in ever so long.

WELL, SUCH a dull state of affairs cannot be tolerated for long. A good book will help liven things up inside. From past experiences, we have found that a simple little trick does wonders on the bird feeder.

Something different works miracles — a new food or a different way of feeding can cause much excitement in the bird world.

This year we have just the thing. At Christmas time, Eddie brought our birds a present a holiday treat of suet and scratch feed molded in the form of a bell.

Things were lively enough then and we expected this let-down so we just held the suet bell in reserve. A few days ago Dad hung it at the corner of the awning which shades our west-facing window. It worked, it really did — things are dull no more.

The first, and as it is turning out, the best customers were the upside-down nuthatches. There are three of them and the new gizmo is much to their liking.

Occasionally two have snacked together but this is really most uncommon. Sharing is just something birds don't do, at least not this time of year.

The nuthatches live up to my nick-name for them and when one comes by for a snack, he most often hangs upside down on the bottom of the suet bell.

IT IS QUITE a sight — a rather short, squat bird, with a little square tail at one end and a long sword-like bill at the other end, clinging to the underside of a big hunk of suet.

The feet which hold the bird in this rather ridiculous position are large. After all, nuthatches scramble over tree-trunks with an agility equalling the best woodpecker and naturally, their feet have the strength and size necessary for such acrobatics.

But the truly fascinating thing about a nuthatch is, of course, that long, long bill.

It sticks out so and looks awkward, ungaily, unweildly and everything else. The bird, however, finds it a useful tool. Even when upside down he hangs away at the suet, chipping off bite after bite.

So it is that our sure-fire formula for breaking up January doldrums is to try something different.

5 from Tecumseh Will Take Exams for MSU Scholarship

(Editor's Note—This article was prepared for The Herald by a 19-year-old journalism student at Michigan State University who comes from El Salvador, Central America.)

By BOB SCHOENING

High school seniors from all over the country will be at Michigan State University for testing during the first weeks in February.

These students will take Alumni Distinguished Scholarship exams, given by the university every year to outstanding youths seeking academic scholarships.

On the weekend of Feb. 7 and 8, mostly out-of-state students will be on campus. Michigan residents will come Feb. 14 and 15.

A pre-planned schedule will be followed by these students when they arrive on campus, according to Charles Curry, assistant director of Admissions and Scholarships at MSU.

☆

STUDENTS will arrive on Friday, be housed in University residence halls together with MSU students. In this way, they will be able to meet young men and women already enrolled at MSU and learn more about the university.

On the day of their arrival, the guests will meet with professors in their field of interest in order to get acquainted with the programs offered.

On Friday night, there will be a banquet at Wonders Hall, one of the new dorms on campus. After the banquet students will be allowed to attend a lecture in either natural science, social science or humanities.

The three-hour test will be on Saturday morning with students leaving campus in the afternoon.

☆

APPROXIMATELY 800 will visit MSU each of the two weekends. They are expected to come from every state and most sections of Michigan.

Last fall, 195 Merit Scholars enrolled in MSU.

From Tecumseh High School, five students will be taking the exams, according to Neville Hart.

Civil Defense Chief Talks to Pack 73

His talk was especially aimed toward methods of protection against man-made nuclear destruction and also against some of nature's destructive elements.

Cubmaster Tom Kampmueller was in charge of the meeting with the theme, "Family Alert." Activities included:

Den 10 — Mrs. Harold Iffland, den mother, displayed a miniature bomb shelter and radio they made.

Den 1 — Mrs. Russell Southard, den mother, displayed a sample supply of necessary food explaining needs and amounts.

Den 8 — Mrs. Francis Packard, den mother, demonstrated various methods of making stretchers from available materials.

☆

THE RECENT Cub Scout pop bottle drive was a success and thanks were extended to the boys, the drivers, the A&P Store and all the cooperative citizens of the community.

John Bolden, treasurer of the Pack, gave a report and explained various uses of Pack money, such as registrations, pins, awards, treats for Christmas and materials for sub programs.

Den 3 received "Cubby" for largest percentage of Cubs and parents in attendance.

☆

OTHER AWARDS presented were:

Duane Carpenter—Lion badge

Mike Boldon — Wolf badge, gold arrow, one-year pin

Dave Southwell—Gold and silver arrows under wolf one-year pin

Richard Packard — two-year pin

John Mull — Gold and silver arrows under wolf

Mrs. Iffland — den mother's pin

Mrs. Packard — one-year pin

The Blue and Gold banquet of the Pack will be held Feb. 18.

The Cub Scout Living Circle and pledge were used to close the meeting.

73 Families Are Helped at Christmas

Mrs. Arthur Geisenhaver was hostess for the annual meeting of the Service Club Jan. 22 at her home.

Mrs. Jessie Sluyter, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate for election.

Mrs. Arthur Geisenhaver and Mrs. Earldean Roe — co-chairmen

Mrs. Frederick Dickinson — Secretary

Mrs. Philip Colgrove — Treasurer

They were unanimously elected.

Seventy-three families, including 176 children, were assisted at Christmas with food, clothing, new and used toys.

Service Club members express their thanks to the Jaycees for helping with the deliveries and the many other organizations and individuals for donations of money, canned goods, toys and time.

MRS. GEISENHAVER remarked that Service Club members received excellent cooperation, especially from the young ladies of the Jaycee Auxiliary and their husbands.

"Wrapping, packing and tagging is but one of the tremendous tasks done each year by a comparitively small number of persons and the Service Club people were most grateful for assistance from the Jayeees and their wives who have for some years now provided beautifully dressed dolls," she said.

Mrs. Geisenhaver stated that ah far as could be determined, each needy child in the Tecumseh School District was given at least one new garment and a new toy at Christmas time.

Much time is spent in investigation, as to eligibility, sizes, circumstances (such as a long walk to school) and other pertinent information.

The Service Club receives $1,200 each year from the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation to offer emergency help through the year and extras at holiday time.

The Young Mothers Club also contributed many stuffed toys and canned goods. The repair service of Stanley Packard is always appreciated, Mrs. Geisenhaver points out.

The Scout troop and Cub packs are generous with donations of canned goods and toys.

Gifts for teenagers, marked boy or girl were especially useful, too.

Poem Honors Granddaughter

Perhaps even more surprising is the fact that it was written by her grandmother-in-law, Mrs. Allen Abner, 408 E. Logan St.

Nancy

The sort of girl I know you are
Is rather hard to find.
You do possess a pleasing voice
And intellectual mind.
You are simple and sincere and never pout or rage,
Are clean in thought and word,
and courteous to age.

You do possess a smile,
And sympathetic heart,
And in the circle of your home
Do willingly your part.

The sort of girl I know you are
Is rather hard to find
But with the help of God and good parents
That is the kind I know you are.

Ball Earns $300 Profit

Plans for a card party to be held before the Lenten season were announced at a recent meeting of the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Ned Kubitz, Mrs. Harvey Carpenter and Mrs. Arthur Kunkle were welcomed to the membership.

PAMELA MUSCH

Pamela Musch's Engagement Told by Her Parents

The engagement of Pamela Anne Musch to Richard J. Niedermier is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Musch, Jr., 4372 Blood Rd.

Mr. Niedermier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Niedermier, 2654 Munger Rd.

Miss Musch is a 1961 graduate of Tecumseh High School and a graduate of the American Floral Art College of Chicago.

Her fiance, a 1957 graduate of Tecumseh High School, has recently completed a two-year tour of duty with the Army.

Both young people are employed at Tecumseh Greenhouses. They are planning an early September wedding.

Sally Borden and David Lott are Engaged

The engagement of Sally Gustaf Borden to David Beck Lott is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Gustaf of Traverse City.

The bride-elect is a resident of Birmingham, a graduate of Traverse City High School and Michigan State College.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Lott, Green Hwy., a graduate of Tecumseh High School and Adrian College.

March 7 has been selected as their wedding date.

LOCAL BUSINESS

The 1964 advertising plan of a major manufacturer of radio and television makes print media the only outlet for national advertising.

Philco Corporation has announced an increase in its advertising budget of 50 percent this year.

An estimated $5,000,000 or 67 percent of the budget, will go to newspaper advertising. In contrast, network television received 56 percent of the company's advertising last year. The firm has dropped this type of advertising.

An executive of the company explains the change:

"Our surveys in individual markets show good consumer acceptance of the brand name and a need to increase dramatically local advertisements that show what and where to buy. . . "

This manufacturer of electronic equipment has joined others in rediscovering that "all business is local," and that no amount of strictly "brand name" advertising on the national level will guide the consumers to a local dealer.

But perhaps more significant, the surveys of the Philco Co. reaffirm that the local newspaper is justified in claiming to be the most effective consumer shopping guide.

GET MORE FROM AVAILABLE SOIL MOISTURE this season. Plow cover crops as early as possible to prevent them from using available moisture. Plan an effective weed control program to reduce competition for soil moisture too. Another thing, use fertilizer according to soil test recommendations. Adequately fertilized crops need less water per bushel than poorly fertilized ones — means higher yields even when moisture may be short.

CATTLE NEED VITAMIN A SUPPLEMENT under most feedlot conditions. Research shows that beef cattle are poor converters of carotene to vitamin A. Except during times of stress a level of 20,000 I.U. of vitamin A per day during winter should be fed. With newly shipped cattle, however, 70,000 to 100,000 I. U. per head per day for the first two weeks after arrival is often needed. Vitamin A helps cattle adjust to shipping stresses.

CORN ROOTWORM

CONTROL RESISTANT ROOT WORMS by using one of the organo-phosphorus compounds now available. Materials with label approval include diazinon, phorate (Thimet), stabilized parathion (Niran,) and and 4072 (Shell). Iowa State University is recommending one of these this season on fields where aldrin or heptachlor failed to prevent damage last season and which are to be planted to corn again this year.

LOWER DAIRY PRODUCTION COSTS by grouping cows according to production. Then feed them accordingly. Also, if you're not production testing now, better get on a program as soon as you can. DHIA cows average 4,136 pounds more milk per year than non-DHIA cows.

Policyholders Get $56,900,000 in Dividends

Mutual of New York life insurance policyholders in Michigan will share in a record-high total of dividends to be distributed in 1964 by the 121-year-old company.

James C. Howard, Jr., assistant manager for MONY in southern Michigan, announced that Jan. 16 that the company this year will pay its policyholders an estimated $56,900,000 in dividends and interest.

This is in excess of guaranteed amounts on supplementary contracts and other funds left on deposit. This compares with a 1963 allocation of $53,100,000.

The increase is due partly to a higher dividend scale and partly to an increase in the amount and duration of life insurance in force.

St. Elizabeth JOTTINGS

By CAROL RIORDAN

The eighth grade class enjoyed two interesting broadcasts from University of Michigan radio station WUOM, which correlated reading and science classes.

The other was a science survey which featured the cause and the recording of earthquakes in various parts of the world by means of the Seismograph. The Seismograph is an instrument for measuring earthquake waves.

A lively discussion followed the second broadcast in which students contributed information they had read on this subject.

√

Third graders are studying all the parts of the Mass. They are learning the different vestments and colors worn by the priest and their meanings.

√

Flash cards are aiding fourth graders learn Spanish. Sister Carmen Joseph, who came to the United States from Spain three years ago, reads Spanish stories and the children try to translate the various phrases and words.

In Geography the class is learning more about the United States by making maps and pinpointing different cities and rivers.

√

St. Elizabeth Basketball Cubs, under the direction of their coach, Gordon Crocker, have played one game so far this year.

√

There were screams of joy and groans of pain around the halls of St. Elizabeth Monday.

Report cards were handed out.

In the eighth grade, Marguerite Zimmerman got all A's.

Cards were handed out in alphabetical order. Said Fr. Noel Peculis, who is filling in for vacationing Fr. Thomas Collins, "We saved the best until last."

Warbler Should Be State Bird

MIDLAND — The Kirtland's warbler — not the robin — should be the state bird of Michigan.

That's the opinion of officials of the Michigan Audubon Society, and they have asked the State Legislature to consider such a change.

The robin, the MAS noted, was made the official state bird by legislators in 1931. This familiar red-brea sted thrush had been the winner in a state-wide contest conducted by the society, in which nearly 200,000 votes were cast.

But the Michigan Audubon president of that era, the late Mrs. Edith C. Munger of Hart, predicted then that the robin's reign would some day end. A state bird, she said, should be characteristic, not just well known.

A change, she forecast, would come when nature study became a much more popular patsime and people became more familiar with Michigan's wildlife.

The Kirtland's warbler was little known 33 years ago. But this now famous songster, according to the current Michigan Audubon president, is "certainly deserving of official honors today."

Says Eugene E. Kenaga of Midland: "This colorful little jackpine inhabitant nests only in Michigan, and nowhere else in the world. Each year thousands of persons visit this state to see and hear and photograph the Kirtland's warbler. The world's only monument to a songbird now stands on the Oscoda County courthouse lawn at Mio.

"Several states have adopted the robin, Connecticut and Wisconsin included. But only Michigan can claim the Kirtland's warbler. There are just 1,000 of these birds in existence, and they have become a symbol of conservation in America."

Make Slogan Come True

A little ditty—"By Keeping 4, Get Room For More"—is a catchy slogan adopted by the Tecumseh School Board in hopes that voters will repeat it over and over again when thinking about the forthcoming millage election.

So far, and we hope that this is the extent of it, there has been very little vocal opposition to renewing four mills on Feb. 17.

The big prize, of course, is a $500,000 gift for expanding the present high school this year and enlarging facilities at the junior high in 1965.

The gift is tremendous, the finest and largest ever given the schools or community.

The benefits are so great and so widespread that it's inconceiveable that any taxpayer would question renewing four mills for five years.

The students will benefit most through greater facilities.

The taxpayer will be relieved of the responsibilities of providing additional educational facilities at the expense of taxes.

In view of school operation expenses, the gift is incidental, as the schools need the four mills for operation anyway.

"By Keeping 4, Get Room For More" should get 100% backing from every voter in the school district—now and on Feb. 17.

Mackie Will Be Tough

He expects to be nice and loose within a few weeks, ready to cast his chapeau into the ring as a candidate for governor or Congress.

Whichever way John moves, it's going to mean trouble, "with a capital T" for the Republican party in Michigan. The GOP better set itself for a real battle.

One of the Democrats' top vote-getters, Mr. Mackie has an impressive record in public office. His years as highway commissioner have been extremely fruitful. Under his direction, Michigan has seen sprung up over meadow and dale one of the finest networks of roads in America.

It's hard to talk down such success.

If you would have asked anyone in Michigan after World War II if this state could, by 1964, have such a top-flight highway system, the answer would probably be a scoff. But it happened and the job helps give Mr. Mackie an attractive springboard from which to take off on a new political career.

So, Republicans, start your plans. John Mackie is going to be a tough man to beat.

A Golden Years Club

We've noted happily that retirees of Tecumseh Products Co. and their wives have been guests at several card parties staged by the United Products Workers Union.

This lends itself to an idea, which could be of great benefit to all our community's senior citizens.

We'd like to see the city recreation program come up with something on a regular basis for all the older folks of the area at the Community Center.

Maybe each Thursday afternoon, for example, the Glass Room would be set up with tables and chairs and the elder people could enjoy bridge, euchre, rummy or bingo. Until the city gets a recreation director, there would have to be volunteer session leaders.

You'd be surprised how little these senior citizens require in the way of entertainment and how much they relish each little kindness.

We noted that $38,000 has been approved for the city's 1964 recreation budget. Chipping off several hundred dollars of this for Golden Years Club activities is well within the realm of possibility. Let's do it.

Can Tecumseh Win Award?

Each spring, as a part of Michigan Week, our state's Product of the Year is selected.

One May it was the Hush Puppy shoe line, another time the Apache Camping Trailer. Metrecal took honors once.

We'd love to see something made in Tecumseh get the plaudits — certainly this city jumps with industrial genius in many fields.

Let's think hard on the subject and see if our town can't get in some entries. The Herald would be pleased to help push them through proper channels.

State Will Not Lower Ridgeway Speed Limit in Area of School

A letter from the Michigan State Highway Dept. was read at the Jan. 8 meeting of the Ridgeway-Macon PTA.

The department took a survey to determine the amount of traffic passing the school and decided that it did not warrant lowering the speed limit as the PTA had suggested.

Mrs. Mildred Bauer of the Lenawee County Health Department spoke on the subject, "Health of the School Child."

Members voted to discontinue the milk program for kindergarteners after an evaluation was made of the three-week experimental program conducted by the mothers.

Not one of the 20 mothers refused to help with the serving of milk, but because of the shortened school day and the bus schedule they felt pressed for time.

The conclusion was that with the extension of the school day the mid-morning lunch program should be re-instated in the curriculum.

MEMBERS decided to hold a Get-Acquainted Dance Feb. 15 with Mrs. William Osburn, Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. Franklin Schroeder and Mrs. John Escott on the committee.

The Get-Acquainted night is especially designed for all members of the family. There will be no charge for children with their parents.

A nominating committee was appointed. Members are Mrs. Wayne Blanchard, Mrs. Dean Hamilton and Mrs. Johnson.

Mrs. Robert Stone spoke briefly on the proposed addition to the high school and the coming election.

Why I'm Voting 'Yes' on Four Mills

BY KEEPING 4 GET ROOM FOR MORE

Art Eaton, 5695 E. Monroe Rd. — My feeling is that our investment of $120,000 (which is what the four mills will bring based on overall valuation of district) will give us a return of $500,000. That's hard to beat.

Marvin Nelson, 800 Occidental Rd. — The schools need this money to provide an adequate education for our children.

Bill Wright, 102 W. Chicago Blvd. — The city of Tecumseh and the public schools would definitely be the loser if we did not accept this generous offer.

Mrs. Herbert Bagby, 1201 Murray Dr. — We're appreciative for the new endowment toward the high school and I think the people should support it. Since the school board is not proposing higher millage, we'll definitely vote "Yes." Although our children attend St. Elizabeth School, we feel that they will be attending the high school and we want it to be well accredited. Education is so important today.

Clerk Blasts 'Unfair Story'

TO THE EDITORS:

This letter to The Tecumseh Herald refers to the unfair publicity on our fire department.

Raisin Township does not want fire protection from the Tecumseh Fire Department on the terms that were offered to us.

(Editor's note: $300 per call or a guarantee of $600 annually, retroactive to July 1963.)

We can make our fire runs for about one-half the amount that Tecumseh wants to make our fire runs.

We receive our calls by radio through Adrian and Tecumseh Police Departments. In the past, Tecumseh Police have not been notifying the Raisin Fire Dept. on all of our calls, but calling the Tecumseh Fire Dept. instead.

Thus the large bill Tecumseh Fire Department presented to Raisin Township. We could have handled all of these fire calls had our fire department been notified.

If this practice continues, it would not be advisable for Raisin Township to accept the contract that the Tecumseh City Council offered our township.

We would be willing to consider a contract, if we could be assured that this situation would be corrected. This agreement to start as of Feb. 1, 1964.

As per our agreement we have paid all bills to the Tecumseh Fire Department in full.

Raisin Township Board
Suzanne Simon, Clerk

(Editor's note — According to City Manager Cal Zorn, based on the retroactive $300-per-call rate, Raisin Twp. owes the city $2,400.)

Long and Short

BY TOM RIORDAN

What if old Henry Ford had been sitting in the Big Ten room of Kellogg Center about 8:30 Friday evening?

How would he have reacted?

Wonder if that motor magnate would have jumped a dozen feet into the air when he heard the announcement?

Here was the general manager of the Ford Division, personable Lee Iacocca, telling about 800 newspaper folks at the annual Michigan Press Association session, he'd like to give away 50 deluxe 1964 Fords.

Bet old Mr. Ford would have been bounding towards the guy. But, hold it, Henry, the fellow is adding "— for 10 days."

It's a modern sales gimmick, one with a unique twist that helps market Fords and gets the company name on front pages. Not such a bad idea after all, is it? Almost as good as offering customers any color car, as long as it's black.

Well, Mr. Iacocca went on, he was presenting Galaxies to the first 50 newspapers which registered for the convention. For once, The Herald had been on the ball. Our check went in way last year.

Sure enough, when the list was read, there was The Tecumseh Herald.

Jim Finch, genial Ford fellow, had the car last week — and that devil didn't tell us— and delivered it Saturday afternoon.

So don't get shook if you see editors Jim and Tom dashing about like some oil-rich shah, who on the side specializes in accepting foreign aid from a grateful United States.

Oh, yes, Mr. Iacocca said that should we wish to keep the test car, the price would be about dealer cost.

Following the seven-performance stint this weekend and next, the Tecumseh Players' musical comedy has been booked for showings at Coldwater's Tibbets Opera House Feb. 21 and 22.

The Players get a $600 guarantee to be salted into the playhouse building fund, which already has $1,000. If the two nights do over $1,500, the Players get 50% of the gate.

"Pajama Game" ticket lady, Mrs. Gene Earling, says there are still seats, both student and adult.

And, the final performance is not a sell-out, as was reported last week, owing to the switch in nights for a block of seats.

If folks would like tickets for the Coldwater performance, call 423-2227.

Three Accidents Here Involve Local Motorists

On Saturday, Fay Crane, 46, M-52, was charged with improper backing on Logan St. when he backed his car into an oncoming auto driven by Ronald Shaw Brown, 22, 9361 Tecumseh Rd.

A pickup truck belonging to Samuel L. Lawrence, 51, was slightly damaged when a trailer hitch on a car driven by Kenneth Kanous, 505 W. Cummins, broke and allowed a power rodder to hit Lawson's truck.

Clarence B. Brock, 60, 415 W. Logan, was charged Sunday with leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

Damages were inflicted on the right front section of Brock's auto, and the left rear and side of Tumey's car.

Mrs. Otto Baaske Congratulated

Mrs. Otto Baaske entertained the Sunday School staff of North Blissfield Lutheran Church last Thursday evening.

She is retiring after 30 years' service as a teacher.

Recreation Director Is Hired

Donald E. Moffat, 30, assistant director of recreation at Lansing, was hired by Council Monday night to succeed Don Montague as Community Director here.

Montague resigned last fall.

The new director is a graduate of Michigan State University and has been with the parks and recreation department of Lansing since 1957.

He holds a bachelor's degree in education with a major in recreation. While in college, he was a member of MSU's baseball team and numerous athletic groups and associations.

Before accepting the Lansing post, Mr. Moffat was previously employed by the Mackinac County Chamber of Commerce to handle the promotions and publicity for the county's communities.

Cal Zorn, city manager, has set a tentative starting date here as March 2. His salary will be $7,500 a year.

The Moffats and their one child were in Tecumseh Wednesday looking for a house to rent.

READY FOR OPENING NIGHT — These four gals and 25 others from the "Pajama Game" cast will be riding high Thursday evening when the Tecumseh Players' musical comedy holds the first of seven performances over two weekends at the Community Center 200-seat theatre. In addition, this show will go on the road, playing two nights in Coldwater. Shown in front is Marty Bagdon, star of the spoof on the pajama workers' efforts to get a seven and one-half cents raise. At right is comedienne Florine Purkey. In rear are Bea Martinez and Onalee Cote.

Tipton Jets Collect $73 for Charity

A skating party will be held Feb. 12. All members planning to attend will meet at the Skate Arena promptly at 7 p.m.

Admission price is 35c for members.

The next meeting will be held March 7. Ron Bolz and Duane Radant will give demonstrations on beef feeding.

Recreation committee members are Greg Hardy, David Whelan, Debbie Stockinger, Robert Platt and Connie Anderson.

Refreshments will be served by Mr. and Mrs. Raynor Hardy and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith.

Merchants Back Plan

An informal survey — contacting Tecumseh businesses for endorsing the Tecumseh schools' four mills on Feb. 17 — gives the millage an overwhelming big lead over any opposition.

Although not all merchants were asked, a big majority spoke enthusiastically for the millage.

In the past, merchants were generally split for and against.

Some school officials and others supporting the millage, are now urging the people to be sure to vote.

Greatest apparent obstacle to the four mills is complacency on the large those endorsing the millage.

Another possible obstacle, although minor in nature, is the wording which must be used in presenting the four-mill proposal on the ballot.

Legally, the proposal must read "additional four mills" since the four mills voted for in 1962 expired at the end of last year.

Passage of the millage, however, will not raise the school tax, and in reality is merely a renewal of the four mills previously approved.

Decision Hanging

The local site is one of five surviving out of 100 considered throughout the midwest.

A final decision will be made before the end of February.

Jaycees Grind Up the Clock

Around 1,000 people are expected to attend the banquet and dance.

The busy day is filled with activities from noon until midnight. There is still room for local folks to attend.

Mr. Miller said reservations are pouring in and it may be difficult to get a ticket. Price is $3 for the full day's events.

He added that people from all over the state will be in Tecumseh.

Hemophilia Victim Will Present Program on Rare Blood Malady

For the second consecutive year, Vincent Edwards, TV's "Ben Casey", is assisting in the National Hemophilia Foundation's Campaign Fund Drive as chairman in the February month-long effort.

Guy Boss of Tecumseh, himself a hemophiliac, has offered to present charts and a film showing the progress of research on the disease for interested area groups.

☆

MAYOR HAROLD EASTON has proclaimed the week of Feb. 9-15 as National Hemophilia Foundation Week in Tecumseh.

Guy, a junior at Tecumseh High School, understands the disease and capably tells of its continuance through generations in a family.

Her husband is chairman of the drive in the Tecumseh area. The Bosses have two sons afflicted with the disease.

☆

HEMOPHILIA is a disease in which the blood does not clot. It is not caused by a germ or an injury, but is an inherited disorder suffered primarily by the male and transmitted only by women.

Research in hemophilia is just beginning to make progress. Until a few years ago, a transfusion of fresh whole blood was the only known way to stop bleeding in a hemophiliac.

Here in Michigan at the State Health Department, a blood product is being made and is available to doctors in treating these sufferers.

☆

THE BLOOD derivative, Antihemophilic Globulin AHG), has been the life saving substance scores of times in the lives of these Michigan hemophiliacs.

The Michigan Chapter has a real interest in University Hospital's Blood Coagulation Research Dept. and has in the past three years issued annual grants to this work.

Many of these victims work closely with Dr. John Penner and his staff in the hope that one day soon a cure will be found for this dreaded disease.

70 Years of Service and 90th Birthday Call for Festivities

By CLARA WALDRON

Seventy years of service to a church is a record deserving of tribute.

At least that is the opinion of the members of the Woman's Association of the Presbyterian church, who are honoring Miss Edith Ingersoll next Sunday afternoon.

Assisted by some of her friends and neighbors, they are arranging an open house in the Fellowship Center from three to five p.m., the occasion marking her 90th birthday, which will occur two days later.

All her many friends are invited. It is requested that gifts be omitted.

All but five of Miss Ingersoll's 90 years have been spent in Tecumseh and her circle of friends includes nearly all its citizens.

Besides her church activities, she has given freely of her time and talents to such local organizations as the Tecumseh Monday Club, the Abi Evans Chapter of the DAR, the Music Club and, during its early years, the Business and Professional Woman's Club of which she was a charter member.

☆

BUT IT IS as a former librarian that she is most widely known. From 1918 to 1944 she presided at the desk of the Tecumseh Library, choosing its books, advising her readers, assisting students and club writers and carrying on the many other duties of that position.

There are many who remember with appreciation the influence of her keen mind on the formation of their literary tastes.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ingersoll, she was born in Adrian Feb. 11, 1874 and, when she was five years old, came to Tecumseh with her parents and an older brother, William, moving to the house on W. Kilbuck St. It has been her home for 85 years.

It is a source of pride to her that she can remember much that happened at that early age. Among those memories is the frustrating one of a brown-eyed little girl, who was as a matter of course dressed in red when her heart yearned for blue.

☆

OTHER EARLY memories include attending classes in the little, one-room brick building that was the West Branch School and later walking four times a day, between her home and the old high school, now the site of Junior High.

MISS EDITH INGERSOLL

After high school, she worked for a time as bookkeeper at the Tecumseh Creamery Co. and then attended the Bible Training College in Cleveland. There she received the training she has used to such good advantage in her Bible class work.

☆

DURING HER years at the library, she also kept the home for her father and took much pleasure in driving about the country in a Model T Ford, even making trips to Chicago, long before the days of hard surfaced roads, road maps and filling stations.

Summer courses in library science kept her abreast of developments in her profession.

Now a days she frequently walks downtown or to church and takes care of her own home.

Her avocations now are reading, music, club work and her big, black cat, "Jiffy Jet." Now 15-years-old, he is the latest of three black cats who have shared her home.

Most of all, however, she enjoys the association with her friends and — because her interests are wide — there are many of them.

Bloodmobile Comes Here

Next Red Cross bloodmobile visit to Tecumseh will be Tuesday, March 3 at the Community Center from 12 to 6 p.m.

There will be a meeting for volunteer workers at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, at the office of Drs. Laidlaw and Murray, 515 W. Chicago Blvd., Tecumseh.

Speaker will be Mrs. Doris Fishbeck of the American Red Cross, Lansing Regional Blood Center.

She will show a film describing the blood program and explaining effective methods of the recruitment of volunteer donors.

Any Tecumseh area residents Bloodmobile project are invited who would like to help with the to attend.

The program has operated for two years in Lenawee County, providing free blood whenever needed for any county resident in any hospital in the U. S. A.

Faye Crane Marries Carl Reaume

MRS. CARL REAUME

Faye Lynn Crane and Carl Edmund Reaume were united in marriage Feb. 1 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church by the Rev. Fr. Noel Peculis, CP.

White gladioli and chrysanthemums were used to decorate the altar. Small bouquets of the same flowers and satin bows marked the family pews.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Fay E. Crane, 9501 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Reaume of Dundee.

☆

A RECEPTION was held at the Products Union Hall for 500 guests attending from Los Angeles, Calif., St. Louis, Mo., Grosse Pointe, Mich., Wheat Ridge, Colo., Fort Wayne, Ind., Napoleon, O., Champaign, Ill., Denver, Colo., and Ann Arbor.

Following a wedding trip to New York City, the couple will make their home at 3905 Kaiser Rd., Tecumseh.

The bride is a graduate of Adrian Catholic Central High School and attended Siena Heights College for two years.

1,000 Teachers

Approximately 1,000 are expected to attend the Lenawee County Teachers' Institute Friday at Adrian High School.

The morning program will consist of musical selections from the Adrian High School Band and announcements by Wilson C. Porter, county superintendent of schools.

Guest speaker for the morning will be Dr. John Furbay, the "World's most traveled man," who'll speak on "Education for a World in Transition."

Dr. Furbay has been a syndicated newspaper columnist, a recipient of the Brewer Aviation Trophy, lecturer at the World Seminar in Switzerland, senior specialist for the United States Office of Education and is a staff lecturer for the Strategic Intelligence School in Washington.

He is also an educational consultant for the General Motors Corp.

Selected by Trans World Airlines to direct its cultural and educational program since 1945, his job covers 25 countries on four continents.

He flies a quarter of a million miles a year in the course of his duties, making Marco Polo look like a stay-at-home.

☆

THE TECUMSEH PLAYERS will present some skits and slides from the current production, "Pajama Game," in the afternoon.

Vern Neidlinger of Britton-Macon School will be chairman of a visual aids program and David Dick will be in charge of guidance and counseling testing in the Birch Room of the Big Boy Restaurant.

Mr. Neidlinger and Mr. Dick were on the planning committee for the institute.

Accident prediction. There's going to be one on Rogers Highway. Three times this month there have been near accidents when speeding autos fail to obey traffic laws in regard to school buses. They just don't stop when children are boarding or leaving the bus and the stop lights are on.

Goodwill can't take old newspapers. There is no place to store them in Adrian and they are considered a fire hazard. Goodwill is always on the lookout for usable items of clothing and furniture. In Tecumseh, call Sandra Burkhead, who'll arrange for pickups. Her number is 423-7216.

"The Tribune regrets an error in the issue of July 12 that stated that Herman Vizina of Afton died at the Onaway Death Center. Mr. Vizina died at the Onaway Health Center. The error was made by a new typesetter who moved to Cheboygan recently and was not familiar yet with names of some of the area institutions."

Under a new ruling by the Internal Revenue Service, a fellowship or scholarship grant to a doctoral candidate is tax free. If, however, he teaches or does other work to merit the grant, it becomes taxable. OK, OK, so we won't work then.

Lent begins next Wednesday.

At Sunday's second Mass, St. Elizabeth Catholic Church was jammed with standees, all over the rear and down the side aisles. Parishioners are counting the days to the dedication of the new addition, which will raise seating capacity from 400 to 600.

And did you see the Globe since last weekend? The Hayden Fuel power plant dam sluice, 100 yards northeast of the Community Center, was opened last week and all the water beneath the ice was run off. This meant the ice surface, about a foot thick, dropped six feet to the floor of the pond. To get to the ice, skaters now must slide down the banks.

We were short on our count of lapel pins in the "By Keeping 4 Get Rooms for Moore" campaign. There are 1,000 being passed out, not 500 as our story reported.

Anybody else looking for signs of spring? Al Tonnieberger saw a flock of ducks flying north Saturday. Within fifteen minutes, he viewed a crow eating from the bird feeder in the back yard. Maybe Mr. Groundhog saw his shadow, but the birds are optimistic.

Let's get an ice skating race going for kids on Globe Pond. They'd love it. An excellent project for the city recreation program — but they better hurry. The ground hog didn't see his shadow Sunday, meaning spring begins March 1. Right now the ice is perfect.

PTAs Hold Joint Session February 13

A special joint meeting for members of the Herrick Park and the Patterson PTAs will be held at the Herrick Park School Thursday, Feb. 13, at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Richard Dustin and two other members of the Tecumseh School Board will be present to discuss and give answers to questions regarding the millage vote, taxation and the school program.

Robert Hyde, president at Herrick Park, said that it is important for members to attend this meeting prior to the vote Feb. 17.

Merlyn Downing, president of Patterson PTA, is also urging members to attend.

Altar Society's Penny Supper Shows $200 Profit

About 300 St. Elizabeth Church parishioners and their guests were served at a Penny Supper last Wednesday.

A variety of salads, desserts and main dishes were offered cafeteria style by Rosary Altar Society members in the school auditorium.

The Society's next undertaking will be a spaghetti dinner in mid-March.

The spaghetti, a favorite of the public, will be highlighted by Mrs. Eugene Rebottaro's special sauce.

Emily Manwaring Scores 30 in GAA Victory

Tecumseh Girls Athletic Association opened its basketball season with two victories over Milan on Jan. 15.

The varsity team came through overwhelmingly, 77-9. High scorers for the game were Emily Manwaring tipping in 30 points and Mary Jo Mensing dropping in 24.

Jan. 30, the club's first away game proved to be their first defeat.

The varsity was struck down 30-28 in the fourth quarter by a hot Napoleon team.

The Jayvees also were defeated, 26-8.

Feb. 3, Tecumseh stopped St. Joseph's Academy in Adrian 29 to 22.

The Jayvees won their fight, 16-15.

The GAA's next game will be on the Dundee court Feb. 10.

World Day of Prayer February 14

World Day of Prayer on Feb. 14 will follow a worship service, "So shall ye be my disciples" written by Rosalind Rinker for the National Association of Evangelicals.

Miss Rinker is in demand all over the North American continent as a leader of prayer retreats and workshops in witnessing.

The local service will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Missionary Baptist Church. Women from seven other churches, Assembly of God, Church of God, Grace Bible Church, Tecumseh Nazarene, Raisin Center Friends, Ridgeway Nazarene, and Tecumseh Friends, will participate.

☆

A HIGHLIGHT of the service will be a message in chalk art by Mrs. Clark Pearson, featuring several musical selections.

Families are welcome to participate in this service of prayer.

"This is not an organized effort to get God's attention, but merely our bothering to stop long enough to allow Him to give as He longs to give to everyone in need. And everyone is always in need, every minute," said the committee in charge.

Dr. Dustin Moderates '4' Panel

TIPTON — Dr. R. C. Dustin was moderator for a panel discussion regarding the millage vote at the Tipton PTA meeting Monday.

The panel consisted of board members Orville Bishop, William Brown and Business Manager Norval Boyse.

Brochures showing the predicted income and expenditures for the years 1963 to 1966 and a comparison with the national median were distributed.

The millage vote was read as it appears on the ballot. The present four mills have expired. This millage will only bring the tax back to the present level.

☆

QUESTIONS WERE submitted in advance by members and answered by the board. The panel closed its discussion with a plea for each one to tell others the facts about the millage vote and to vote Feb. 17.

The PTA membership committee reported have received 83 memberships.

The fifth grade room won the prize of $3 for bringing in the most memberships. Coffee and rolls were served.

Moving to Home of Dr. Hardy

Dr. Walter C. Elwartowski, chiropractor, and Glenn Kohler, realtor, requested a change in zoning Monday night at Council meeting for property at the southwest corner of W. Chicago Blvd. and Pearl St., one-time home and office of the late Dr. P. B. Hardy.

The Tecumseh chiropractor intends to operate his office there.

The property is now zoned Residential A. New zoning would classify it Business and Professional.

Public hearing is March 2.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

We're well on our way in 1964, but over in Japan folks celebrated the Oriental New Year on Feb. 3, by the Western calendar.

It's called Setsubun and is the time when spring replaces winter —the parting of the two seasons.

Important is the centuries old practice of tossing beans. This is said to "keep out the devil and bring good luck."

Thousands flock to Japanese shrines and temples to take part in the bean-throwing parties. Lucky, lucky to be hit by a bean.

As for me, I'd rather have them Boston baked on my luncheon plate.

CLINTON WOOLEN CHATTER

By EL and FRIENDS

For several years there has been much conversation by the telephone companies about transmitting pictures on regular telephone circuits.

This would mean that, when you place a telephone call, you could see the person to whom you were speaking. It may be in effect in some places, but so far as we do not have such service in our area. Like everything else, it has advantages and disadvantages.

If and when it does come to pass and we have it in our homes, it will really change some things. There will be no more . . . slipping on a bar of soap, shivering in a wet towel, dripping all over the place while you answer the phone! That old excuse, "sitting up with a sick friend or detained at the office" will be OUT!

The old wrap-around, hair done up in curlers, early-morning look will have to go. You women will have to be neat as a pin from dawn to dark, just in case the phone rings!"

On the other hand, we at Clinton Woolen can see some advantages. We could call you, for instance, right today and show you all the beautiful cotton fabrics we have in stock for spring.

Rosewood's Fair Chance collection of solids and prints are outstanding this year. Satin cottons by Peter Pan in a wide variety of prints are as usual the leader in this field.

Homespun cottons and blends, for that casual town and country look, silk like prints for blouses that blend with all the Spring pastel colors are all in stock now.

Sportswear fabrics in Piques and Sail Cloth are coordinated with gay prints and solids. These fabrics have many uses, not only in all types of sportswear and children's wear but they make wonderful curtains, drapes and the like for the kids room, the family room or den. Practical too, as they are washable, car be dripped dry and the shrinkage is almost nil.

As we can not phone you and show these fabrics better drop over and browse. You are always most welcome at Clinton Woolen.

Words of Ballot May Confuse

The text of the schools' proposal for four mills on the Feb. 17 ballot may be confusing to some voters and may cause needless alarm.

The words — instead of reading "renewal" — will read "additional 4 mills" for the schools.

Legally, the schools must put the proposal on the ballot in this manner. However, in essence this is a renewal.

In 1962, voters approved four mills for two years. This millage was in effect for 1962 and 1963 taxes — expiring at the end of 1963.

To keep this income and to be able to take advantage of a $500,000 gift, school officials are asking that the four-mill be continued. A "yes" vote will not hike present school taxes.

As far as taxpayers are concerned, it is merely a renewal of the old four mills.

The schools need the millage — new or renewal — and we urge you to vote Feb. 17 and to vote yes.

Flint Commissioners Are Silent

Up in Flint, there's a mess.

A charge of fraud is being hurled at a leading contractor, who apparently played footsie with a number of city officials.

Involved, according to a one-man grand jury, is about $58,000 in tax money. The contractor is being accused of getting the cash, via deft manipulations in a proposed fresh water pipeline project between Lake Huron and Flint.

Compounding the situation is the way Flint City Commissioners have so far been dragging their feet since receiving the evidence.

Not once during their Monday night meeting did they mention the situation, which is one of the hottest to hit Flint in some years. However, they did gather for a 75-minute secret dinner session earlier in the evening. We'll bet the topic of conversation wasn't whether the ground hog had seen his shadow.

The investigation by Judge Donn D. Parker trailed a line of cash past taverns, homes on gift lots, a yacht that served for fun, but cost the city over $20,000 in tabs on test drilling.

Before it's all over, the lid will go sailing off. The details will eventually find the light of day and people will go about shaking their heads and saying, "How could this have happened?"

Unfortunately, incidents like this do pop up now and again.

Usually, they get their start with hush-hush gatherings, when conspirators spin their crafty ideas in darkness. Their actions could never live through the spotlight of full-scale newspaper reports.

Freedom of the press isn't something that belongs to the papers, it's the right of a free people. Through it, citizens are able to keep tab on their tax money, their school systems, their local, state and national government.

Will It Be a 'Yes' Answer?

There's going to be a formal question asked at a meeting in East Lansing next Tuesday.

Chairman George McIntyre of the State Soil Conservation Service will say, "What about the River Raisin Watershed project? Does it get our approval?"

We are prejudiced, of course, but the answer will probably be a chorus of "yes" votes.

This opinion is based not only on sentiment, but also the memory of the public hearing several weeks ago in our Community Center when folks from four counties — one in Ohio, too — gathered to say they wanted the Raisin program started as soon as possible.

Chairman McIntyre and several of his fellow committeemen were on hand and greatly impressed with the knowledge and enthusiasm for the project displayed by the area people.

If the response is "yes" Tuesday, then Mr. McIntyre's group will forward its recommendation to Washington. Reaction there should be a shoo-in for the Raisin.

Result: the government — that is a lot of you's and me's — will provide up to 80% of the money needed to transform the Raisin into a thing of beauty, with lakes and recreation areas, and flooding, straightening the flow of water.

Civil War Information Received

Some interest has been shown by Tecumseh residents in the Tri-Town Extension Club's project to obtain information of the Civil War Veterans.

Mrs. Richard Whelan, who chairs the project, will be out of town this week, but her assistants, Mrs. Thomas Kampmueller and Mrs. Duaine Murphy, are anxious to receive calls.

They appreciate the information they have already been given, since it saves much effort — as well as cold walks in the cemetery.

Anyone with rank, state regiment or company information will be welcomed by the study group's history seekers.

St. Peter's Hosts Day of Prayer

St. Peter's Episcopal Church will be the host for the World Day of Prayer Friday, Feb. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

To save time, they would like to have material at hand that evening.

A baby sitting service will be available. Room visitation will be at 7:30 p.m. with the meeting beginning at 8.

Indians Win, Lose; Meet Blissfield Here Friday

Although the Indians rallied Friday night to beat winless Flat Rock, 51-44, the long journey to Airport proved fatal as the Jets defeated Tecumseh, 85-80.

In victory and loss, Tecumseh did not look sharp, although a big second half rally against Airport nearly wiped out a 20-point lead the Jets once held.

There's little question that a disappointing loss to Dundee the previous week affected Coach Vic Lawson's team.

This Friday night, the Indians entertain the big Blissfield five and another loss could drop the Indians out of second place, a spot they now share with Airport.

In their lowest scoring to date, the Indians needed a second half spurt to beat Flat Rock. The Rams led by six points at the end of the first quarter and by one at the half.

Tecumseh outscored FR 25 to 17 in the final two periods for its victory.

Against Airport, the Jets were exceptionally hot and jumped off to a big and early lead.

Midway in the final quarter, Tecumseh pulled to within one point only to have the Jets capitalize on fouls to pull away. The last seven points by Airport were made from the free throw line.

JV Hoopsters Bounce Back with Wins

After two straight losses snapped the Jayvees seven-game winning streak, the young Indians bounced back last week with wins over Flat Rock and Airport.

Coach Jim Hoffman's team whipped FR in overtime, 47-41, and Airport, 68-47.

John Goodman and Tim Heflin paced the FR victory with 13 and 10 points respectively.

Goodman collected 14 more against Airport while teammate Ron Rentschler had 11, and Phil Barber, 10.

Too Many Tolls Starts Phone Drive

BRITTON — The Rev. Clarence Burkhard, pastor of the Maybee Congregational Church and a resident of rural Britton, has started a campaign to join this town's telephone system to that of Tecumseh and Adrian.

Mr. Burkhard has prepared copies of a letter, which can be signed and mailed to the General Telephone Co. by various subscribers.

☆

THE COMMUNICATION states:

"We have noted that within the past few years and within recent months, most small towns and villages have been connected with larger town and cities with direct telephone service.

"We wonder why Britton has been left standing alone, and has not been connected with some of the larger towns for this service.

"All of our calls outside of Britton are toll-calls, which makes our telephone bills very expensive. Since most of the Britton area folks have business dealings and shop extensively in Tecumseh and Adrian, we are asking that you may consider our request and make it possible to have direct calls to these towns.

"We sincerely hope that you will give this matter your immediate attention."

Ida Scares Tory Cagers in Close One

The goal is River Raisin League consecutive victory No. 39.

Sam's lads notched two more wins last weekend, but not before getting the life scared out of them from seemingly hapless Ida.

The Bluestreaks fell, 65-62, but with five minutes to play were holding a 51-44 lead.

Tory starters Ron Mastie and Verl Sanch were sidelined with five personal fouls apiece, to pitch the burden of play on a couple of fellows who rarely see their names in the paper, Walt Korican and Tom Smetka.

They responded gamely in the clutch. Walt contributed four key points and Tom two in the vital drive to nip the difference.

The Hamilton men soon were out front.

Korican's total for the night was 12, ranking him behind Phil Benedict, who poured through 27.

Pepper Griewahn contributed 11, Mastie six and Sanch five.

The following night — Saturday — Britton romped by Monroe Catholic Central, 82-64.

Big point getter was Mastie at 27. Griewahn canned 18, Benedict had 17, Korican and Sanch both nine.

Scouts Watch Phil Benedict

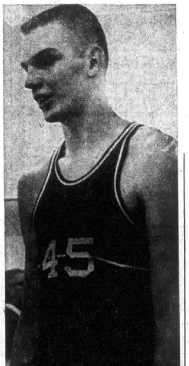
Bobby Nichols was busy taking notes during the Dundee-Tecumseh game last week on one of his scouting trips for Bowling Green State University.

"Have you been down the road yet to see the big boy perform?" the BG freshman cage coach was asked.

Reference was to Britton's 6-8 senior ace, Phil Benedict.

"I've seen him," Nichols confided. "He's a good prospect. Got some things to learn for college ball, but he has the hands and can move for a big man."

Benedict has been viewed personally by scouts from Duke, Vanderbilt, Michigan State, Toledo, Michigan, Northwestern, Detroit plus Bowling Green and a few others.



PHIL BENEDICT

"He's had letters from many other colleges as well," Britton coach Sam Hamilton said.

"They've all said they would take him," the coach added. "Dave Strack (Michigan coach) liked Phil and thought he could be fitted into the UM program."

Benedict was an all-state performer last year as he helped the Tories win the Michigan Class D basketball championship.

"Has he improved this season, Sam?" this reporter asked.

"He moves better, especially under the boards," Hamilton answered. "He's better on defense, too."

Naturally, rivals concentrate on the tall pivotman.

"They've been pinching in on him at times," Hamilton pointed out. "We've countered by periodically moving Phil to a forward. It gives him a pretty good shot and he also can drive from that spot."

Britton is among the top 10 in Class D state ratings this year on the strength of a 10-1 record. Only setback was to Class B Dundee, another state-ranked quintet.

Hamilton's immediate aim is for a third straight River Raisin Conference title which is almost in his grasp. With six games remaining, five against league foes, the Tories own a three-game bulge.

"I'd really like to go three straight years unbeaten in the River Raisin," he said. The Tories own a 37-game league consecutive string (14-0 each of the past two seasons and 9-0 in the current campaign).

Benedict, scoring at a 21-point clip per game and averaging about 20 rebounds each outing, has been receiving excellent support.

Ron Mastie, 5-10 senior guard and a regular last year, is averaging 13 points per game.

Another of last years regulars, 6-1 senior Pepper Griewahn is averaging 12. He's playing forward this season after two years at guard.

A seventh man on last year's champions, 6-3 senior Verl Sanch has a 10-point average and is valuable on the boards.

Hamilton isn't making any predictions about future tourney success, but emphasized that his starting five is "pretty tough."

His only lament is lack of a strong bench.

CONSUMERS' LOW ELECTRIC RATE FOR WATER HEATING SAVES YOU MONEY—GET THE FACTS!

National Electrical Week, February 9-15, is indeed worthy of note. Just 85 years ago the magic of electricity sprang forth to change the world with the invention of the first successful light bulb by Thomas Alva Edison.

National Electrical Week calls attention to the fact that without electricity and all the great services it performs, our present way of life would be virtually impossible! And, if you doubt that statement, you have simply to look around you . . . on your job, in your home, on farms and in communities throughout the country to see the growth and progress and better living promoted by that dependable, economical servant, Reddy Kilowatt.

National Electrical Week is a good time to enjoy electricity . . . to remember that its purpose is to serve you and industry. Remembering too, that in the future, as in the past, electricity's vital contributions will continue to increase America's strength and high standard of living . . . which at the present time is the best in the world.

ENJOY THE ULTIMATE IN COMFORT!
Electric Heating is not expensive to own or operate when properly installed!

TODAY THE MAJORITY OF NEW HOMES FEATURING ELECTRIC HEATING ARE MEDIUM-SIZED HOMES, BUT YOU WILL FIND ELECTRIC HEATING IN ALL KINDS OF HOMES FROM THE SMALLEST TO THE MOST LUXURIOUS.

Ned Rosacrans Enlists in Navy

U.S. Navy recruiter R. R. Dore, Lenawee County's navy recruiting officer, has issued a statement that Ned Bruce Rosacrans, 216 N. Oneida St., enlisted in the navy Jan. 28 in Adrian.

Seaman recruit Rosacrans is now undergoing boot training at Great Lakes, Ill., for 10 weeks.

Mr. Rosacrans attended Tecumseh High School prior to his enlistment.

Discovery

Man's discovery of the realities of "Spirit" will be the theme this Sunday at Christian Science churches.

X-Ray Unit Visits Plants in Tecumseh

The Michigan Department of Health X-ray Mobile Unit is visiting industries in Lenawee County during February.

The unit will return in June to be stationed at community sites.

The June visit will be the first time in many years the unit will be stationed in the county during the summer weather.

Doctor Eleanor Skufis, Director of the Lenawee County Health Department noted that the tuberculosis found now by mobile unit surveys, by skin testing and X-raying of foodhandlers and skin testing of school children, is not the far advanced, contagious disease that requires years of hospitalization.

Patients found this way usually have less far advanced stages of tuberculosis, are hospitalized only a few months and return to their old jobs soon after discharge from the sanatorium.

"Our aim now," Doctor Skufis stated, "is to prevent new diseases by identifying all people in the county with active, contagious disease, treating them until they become inactive and then carefully watching the group of people who have tuberculosis remaining inactive in their body and treating them as soon as the disease germs reactivate."

SCHEDULE OF MOBILE UNIT TO TECUMSEH PLANTS

Tecumseh Products Co., now through Friday. Bruce Foundry & Mfg. Co., Thursday, Feb. 20. H. W. Tuttle & Co., Thursday, Feb. 20. Tecumseh Corrugated Box Co., Thursday, Feb. 20. G. & J. Wood Products, Friday, Feb. 21. Faraday Division of Gray Mfg. Co., Friday, Feb. 21.

Where Is It?

There are plenty of old chimneys around town, but can you tell us where this one is located? First person to call 423-2174 after 1 p.m. Thursday with the right answer will receive $1 towards a year's subscription to The Herald. No hints, you're on your own. In the picture of last week, folks found identification tough and most kept insisting the section of bricks and glass blocks (shown below) was part of the back side of Baldwin's Hardware. It is a section of Moore Lumber's storage yard on the west side of N. Evans St. Gene Manwaring was the first to come up with the right answer. He parked most of the noon hour in The Herald to make sure when one o'clock came around, he'd be able to spout out the right answer.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

AWAY TOO LONG

It is my great pleasure to announce that here, at the west end of Logan Street, we have been playing host to a new bird. A tiny mite of a thing, a red-breasted nuthatch. Well, come on — blow the horns, ring the bells, sound the siren. This is the stuff of which bird watching hobbies are made.

Oh, I admit that the mainstay of any bird feeding program is the faithful contingent of regulars who show up day after day but, I also contend that at the back of every birder's mind lurks the thought that maybe this will be the day something new or different shows up.

Technically, of course, our little red-breasted nuthatch cannot be called a first.

We had one five or six years ago but, because one has not been back since then, it can certainly be classed as a different visitor. And an exciting one, too.

Appearance-wise, this is a cute little character — and I mean little in the true sense of the word. After all, four and one-half inches is not much bird, especially when part of that is a long needle-like bill. A true nuthatch-type bill.

As for coloration, it is not hard to guess that the bird's front is red; to be truthful though, it is not a clear bright red, but rather a dull dingy mixture of red, brown and white which comes out a drab rosy tan.

The back is plain and a pretty dark bluish gray. The only distinctive marking on the head is a white stripe running through the corner of the eye.

IN THIS LOCALITY the red-breasted nuthatch is quite rare — as witness this being only our second 'experience' in four or five years.

Actually although the bird's range is wide, they are found in season from as far north as Canada to as far south as the Gulf states, east to the New England States and west to California, I think nowhere are they very abundant.

They seem to prefer the deciduous forests of the far north, venturing south according to the availability of food.

Early in the winter, we had reports from the Snedecors on Brown Street that they had a red-breasted nuthatch in their yard and in mid-December, Clara Waldron called with the wonderful news that she had two red-breasteds.

Well, with this information in mind, I, of course, had been keeping an eagle eye out and finally, the other day, I spied.

Mom and I were having lunch when the little bird lit on the feeder — I shan't try to describe how excited we were. After waiting so long, we at last had the red-breated nuthatch.

I am happy to relate that he has been back several times since that first thrilling visit — our fingers are crossed that he continues.

☆

IN TRUE nuthatch fashion, our new little friend has an appetite for suet and sunflower seeds.

He crawls all over the feeder, poking his long needle-sharp bill into everything. Like his larger cousins, the suet-bell seems to present a challenge; he clings to it and expertly uses that long bill to chisel out tasty bites.

Although he seems as agile as the other nuthatches, I do not think he is quite as fond of hanging upside down as they are.

Probably I shouldn't say this, maybe it is just that when we have watched the red-breasted, he has not spent his time standing on his head.

In another food situation his position might be upside down. I do not know that he is a rather lonesome little guy, always by himself, never socializing even with the other nuthatches.

So it is that there has been great excitement around here — after much, much too great a wait, a little red-breasted is visiting us again; believe me, after so many years, we can truthfully say he has been away too long.

NEXT WEEK:
The Doves Have It.

1,000 See Wheelchair Hoop Tilt

Illini cheerleaders spelled Gizz Kids to chagrin of Gund er (50), Newton (44) Costigan and Karle (42) of Wheelers

Herald Photos by Ricky Duffin

Tecumseh High School gym was alive with action, fun and inspiration last Thursday.

The Gizz Kids, the wheelchair basketball team from the University of Illinois, and the Tecumseh Rotary Wheelers, put on a tremendous display.

About 1,000 persons reviewed not only the game, but other activities which, I am sure, many were surprised to see wheelchairers doing.

Cheerleading, fencing, football, square dancing — it was quite an evening for all.

My day, with the Illinois bunch, started in mid-afternoon after they had presented an assembly program at the school.

Four chairs and an occupational therapist, G. L. Fink, paid me a visit.

They were Gerry Kortness, captain of the basketball team; Judy Rieder, captain of the cheerleading squad; Cheryl Summers, a cheerleader; and Bill DeLoach of Blissfield, who did most of the planning and arranging for the trip.

For several hours, good talk flowed — they were interested in my window pictures (unfortunately no squirrels showed up and the only birds to entertain were several nuthatches) and I was anxious to hear about them.

The University of Illinois is a pioneer in the field of education for the physically handicapped.

Started in the mid-forties there are now well over 170 students on the college campus and each one is a testimony to their creed, "Ability, Not Disability, Counts."

But we must get on to the basketball game. First of all, congratulations are due the local team. They did a fine job and worked hard at it, too.

Maneuvering a wheelchair is no easy task and having to contend with a ball, plus game rules, only compounds the trouble.

Put a person who is not familiar with a wheelchair up against one who lives on wheels and the handicap is immediately transferred to the able-bodied man.

I just wonder if Friday morning there weren't many sore hands and stiff muscles in town.

Score-wise the game ended in a 48 to 46 win for the Gizz Kids. This, however, is no true indication of how the action went. The Illinois group play a fast moving, hard-blocking, accurate shooting game.

Often to keep the score reasonably close Tecumseh was given a little help — 10 points per basket and things like that. Gerry Kortness was their high scorer with 20 points, while Fig Newton was the Wheelers top man with 20 points, real or otherwise.

Actually, all things considered, Tecumseh did well.

Three platoons of Wheelers consisted of Bob Leathers, Roy Olson, Clyde Locker, Vern Manwaring, Stu Costigan, Fig Newton, Clyde Gunder, Dave Osterhout, Bob Karle, Harry Beland, Ambrose Clay, Bob French, Al Merz and Joe Fortunato.

But, just look who they were playing against:

► Pat Lavite, four years on team

► Bill Simmons, four years on team and champion archer

► Darwin May — first year on team, but record holder in javelin.

The rest of the team has similar credits.

The evening was full of high jinks and the audience loved it.

The Gizz Kids were lightning fast in their wheelchairs and could stop or turn around on a dime. The most laughs of the evening were afforded by the Mutt and Jeff act — Illinois's little man, Bill Simmons, and Tecumseh's big man, "Fig" Newton.

Mr. Newton was played to a standstill, time and time again he was completely blocked by the little Gizz Kid.

He was harassed and teased, but seemingly enjoyed every minute of it — the audience certainly did too.

At half-time, eight wheelchairers put on a square dancing demonstration. With none of the regular steps being changed or modified, they went through the most intricate maneuvers.

That they was not one momentous traffic jam testifies to their hours of practice.

The second part of the half-time program was equally amazing. Have you ever seen a person in a wheelchair take himself up three curb-size steps?

With good hands and strong shoulders it is possible — a member of the basketball team demonstrated and then, several of the cheerleaders duplicated the feat.

After the game, Mr. Kink made several short but pertinent comments. He explained that one of the reasons these full-time students give up their between semester vacations each year and go on tour is to demonstrate the absolute truth of those four words, "Ability, Not Disability, Counts."

So it is that last Thursday night was an object lesson for Tecumseh.

We were all reminded of what most of us already knew, and for this we must thank the Rotary Club and the Gizz Kids. I am sure each and everyone will agree that it was a wonderful evening.

Gross receipts amounted to about $450 for the game with 45% for the Illinois team and 55% going to the Rotary Club.

Transportation for Gizz Kids and two mealsc came to about $150, this to be deducted from the Rotary percentage of the gate.

Profits received by the sponsoring Rotary Club will be used for disabled students in the immediate vicinity of Tecumseh.

About the Writer

(Editor's note — Victim ot a car crasn Jan. 1, 1947, Tecumseh Herald staffer Marda Gene Duncan, is paralyzed from the shoulders down. She knows what it is like to get around in a wheelchair and can really appreciate the skills of the Gizz Kids, who were in Tecumseh last week. She was thrilled by the game and did a sparkling job in reporting it.)

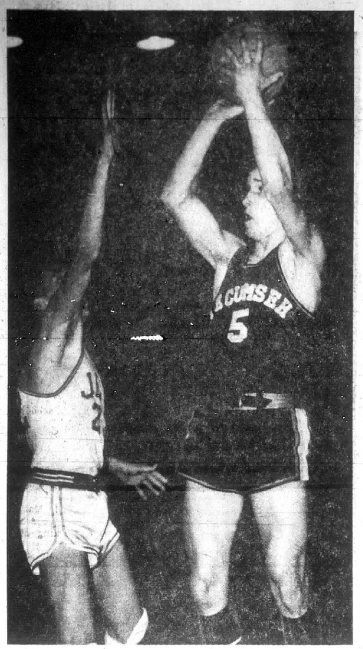
OK, men, let's roll, shouts ► Mr. Newton as he snags a backcourt pass and the Rotary Wheeler fast break is on with vengeance.



HITS GOAL — Dave Tilton hits for two points here against Airport, one of three goals he collected in Tecumseh's upset loss to the Jets. Defending is Bob Johnston, fine Airport guard and outstanding quarterback on the Jets' football team last fall.

TEEN TALK

BY JANICE WHELAN

The Spanish Club held its informal initiation Jan. 28 with Chuck Calhoun, Mike Valandra, Paul Stoner, Linda Brazee, Emily Manwaring and Jo Ann Bryan joining.

The incoming members played games, did stunts and in general performed at the commands of the older members.

After many strenuous trials, the weary initiates were finally approved. The formal initiation will be held next month.

The Science Club is still making plans for the Science Fair, March 14 and 15. In addition to the regular entries this year, the Sutton School will also have a display.

The club is also planning a trip for the student body to the Enrico Fermi Atomic Energy Plant in Monroe.

The Future Teachers Club held their formal initiation.

Plans were made to provide baby sitters at the February meeting of the Tecumseh Acres PTA.

A joint meeting with the Blissfield Chapter of the FTA is also being planned.

Cadet teaching notebooks were turned in so that the members could get credit for them. New cadet teaching positions at the junior high were also presented.

A Latin Club is being formed under the guidance of Mr. Gutowski. Any student who has had at least one semester of Latin during high school is eligible to join. The club will be given a probationary charter for the remainder of this year.

Mr. Ray Newton announced that the Varsity Club is making plans for their Athletic Hall of Fame. In this Hall of Fame the picture of the Athlete of the Year will be placed, starting with the first athlete of the year, Dan Greene.

The executive committee will soon begin electing the new members for the National Honors Society from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

Junior and senior members will be considered to be on regular member status and sophomores will be on probationary status.

Initiation will be held in March.

At the recent Student Council meeting it was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Russell Langham have requested an application to apply for a foreign exchange student to live with them next year.

The Council's medals have arrived, the members paid half the cost.

Fawn Choske headed a committee which prepared a letter that was mimeographed at the Council's expense and sent home with the students Monday.

The letter concerned the meeting to be held in the high school Feb. 3, urging the parents to attend in order to learn about the millage vote.

The bookcovers display an Indian head on one side and a comical-looking Tecumseh "fan" on the other side with the quote, "Go You Indians!"

Tom Elliot has assumed the school with his absurd and humorous sales pitch over the PA and after hearing some of his announcements one can't resist buying a book cover.

Airman David A. Grigg has completed five weeks of basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas and Tuesday was transferred to Greenville, Miss., for further training in the medical field.

Scout Leaders Asked To Attend

Wendel Disbrow, president, and Mrs. Don Creger, secretary, are especially eager for all Boy and Girl Scout leaders to attend the Scout Cabin Association meeting.

It will be held at the cabin Monday, Feb. 10, at 7:30 p.m.

Doctoral Degree Candidate Norbert O'Hara in Project

Michigan State University geologists will fly about 33,000 miles this spring and summer to attempt to solve the mystery of what's under the Great Lakes.

Doctoral degree candidate Norbert W. O'Hara, son of Thomas O'Hara, 207 W. Pottawatamie St., will carry out much of the analysis of Lakes Michigan, Superior and Huron as the geologists shuttle 3154 times at six-mile intervals.

The project, supported by a $44,100 grant from the National Science Foundation is under the direction of Dr. William Hinze and Dr. James Trow of the MSU geology department.

Their learnings will be valuable to anyone interested in tapping the oil and other valuable minerals believed to be hidden under Michigan, and possibly under the lakes.

Land based crews have taken magnetic and gravitational measure during the last three years.

After the survey, the geologists hope to draw geological maps showing some of these features extending across the lakes.

Who Was College Washer Woman?

(Editor's Note: — The following article was written by an Adrian College freshman male student who was a feature writer for the "College World," bi-weekly campus newspaper. The name which appeared on the article was Bill Thomas which through investigation, we discovered the reason for this anonymous article. He too was having his clothes laundered by an Adrian College washer woman and undoubtedly would have lost his girl friend and his laundry service.)

By BILL THOMAS

Lately I've been walking quietly around campus and listening to gripes others tell about. The worst gripe this week was about the hours of studying our classes require. One guy in the Union was bothered because his girl friend had so much studying she had no time to finish his ironing.

Man, what a racket! Why do so many girls get hooked into becoming ironing boards?

When I first noticed the grand parade of starched shirts leaving the women's dorms, I was more than a little surprised. Sure enough, out of the goodness of their hearts, coeds are using their precious time to perfect the crease in boy friend's drip drys.

Don't these girls know that the time to iron a man's clothing is when he is earning her bread and butter — not when he is wasting time in the fraternity house.

☆

IT WOULD be a different story if our fair girls received the buck-an-hour college rate, but apparently the most reward these self-styled laundromats can hope for is to have well-groomed dates.

Men aren't afraid of ironing; nor incapable of pushing wrinkles out of shirts. Girls, you have been hooked — with a capital H!

How about it girls? Are you really grateful for your chance to compete with the laundryman, or don't you have the starch to say "No?" (You say "No" at other pressing times.)

Now I have to go finish my laundry so a white shirt will be ready for the big dance tomorrow night. I must hurry! I have to iron my own shirts!— I'm just not the type to whom a young lady would whisper, "You're so sweet and helpless! Let me iron your shirts."

Scholarship Competition for Nursing

Michigan Blue Cross will sponsor 10 nursing scholarships of $300 each in a competition open to all Michigan high school seniors and graduates.

Wm. S. McNary, president of Blue Cross, said nursing shortage affects hospital care and is a matter of grave concern to Blue Cross members and the community as a whole.

Cost of the scholarships will be less than one-tenth of a cent per Blue Cross member, and the entire 14 year program has added up to only a fraction over a penny per member.

The contest will be conducted and 10 winners determined by Michigan League for Nursing. The League is the official recruitment and education agency for the nursing profession.

Application blanks together with rules and instructions are available through high school principals, Future Nurses Clubs, Michigan schools of nursing, all Blue Cross-Blue Shield offices or by writing the Michigan League for Nursing. The address is 1000 North Washington, Lansing, 6.

Competition opens February 1 and to qualify, entrants must return their applications to the Michigan League for Nursing no later than March 1.

In the first five years of the scholarship program, freshmen enrollment in Michigan nurses schools rose 30 per cent.

Class of '40 Has California Reunion

(Editor's note: The Herald will print interesting bits of information of former residents if readers would care to share it. It's pleasant to hear of the activities of friends.)

Rae Nita and Mary Lue, two of the Tecumseh High School Class of 1940, now make their homes in California.

A welcome newsletter from both families found its way to The Herald office this week.

Mrs. Don Sutton, nee Mary Lue Curtiss, and her husband and three children, Lynn, 19; Sandy, a high school junior and Miles, 9; live at 807 Sycamore Ave. in Modesto.

Mrs. Elmer Heintzelman, nee Rae Nita Larsen, with husband and little daughter, Heide, live at 2824 Durand Dr. in Hollywood.

It seems the two families got together for last July 4 at the Heintzelmans along with the Frank Barritts.

☆

RAE IS giving dancing lessons and teaching physical education full-time in a junior high school. Her husband plays with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra.

Little Heide will enter first grade in February and, like her Mommy, loves ballet and tap. She has also learned to swim and dive while breathing properly.

The Sutton's daughter, Lynn, received her high school diploma in June and toured 11 countries in Europe last summer with a study group from San Diego State College.

She is studying at Modesto Junior College to become an elementary art teacher.

☆

HER BROTHER, Sandy, is a typical high schooler, intensely interested in skiing. He works in a retail toy store to support his varied activities, including a 1957 Chevy.

Majoring in business, he hasn't yet decided on a life work.

Miles likes to read and shows a lot of interest in his school work. A Cub Scout, he likes to fish, sports, playing army and putting models together.

The Suttons included pictures of their three cats and dog in the letter. Certainly their's must be a happy home.

The letter mentioned Mary Lue playing golf and bridge and that she has been working at the church office, running a mimeograph, folding and addressing machines.

News From Boysville

By BARRY FLYNT

Boysville students received an invitation to attend the latest production of the Tecumseh Players, "Pajama Game".

The invitation was extended for the Feb. 4 dress rehearsal. Dr. Murray of Tecumseh was responsible for the invitation, greatly appreciated by the students.

Gene Bricault, a sophomore here, suffered a broken leg and severe facial cuts as a result of a riding accident. He was rushed to the Herrick Memorial Hospital where he is now recovering.

His fellow classmates have rented a television for his use during his stay at the hospital.

The second quarter of the school year ended this past week, and report cards have been passed out and sent home.

The following made the Honor Roll:

High Honors

Randal Jurczak, David Levites, Robert Schwanki, Richard Currie and William Koska.

Honors

Barry Flynt, Tom Stone, Bill Weitzel, Richard Mason, Bill Schwanki, Tom Blaney, Mike Frei, Jeff Gerney, Norris McFarland, Dan Maline, James Schwanki, Paul DeWalche, Dan Favreau, Mark Frei, Bernie McGrane and Vince Mikula.

Four students accompanied Brothers James Kinsella and Paul Clark to the Michigan Relays at the University of Michigan Friday evening. Brother James, track coach, plans on beginning conditioning practice for his prospective trackmen soon.

Boysville faculty basketball season opened this past Thursday with a 76 to 64 victory over Summerfield's faculty team. Coach Pat Connors took scoring honors with 20 points, but Brother Aloysius wasn't far behind with 19. The Knight's could put these two hotshots to good use.

The Fighting Knights lost a heart-breaker in non-league action Jan. 27, to the Blue Knights of St. Mary's of Wayne, 70-68.

It was a back and forth battle which had to be settled in overtime. The score was 61-61 at the end of regulation play. Mo Jacobs had his finest night of the season, scoring 27 points.

The Knights fell to the Bobcats of Whiteford before a packed house Friday evening, 81-67.

The Knights had a 36-32 halftime lead, but couldn't maintain it during the second half. The lack of rebounding prowess was in this as in most Boysville losses this year, responsible for the defeat.

Ron Klos, Pascal Brown and Mo Jacobs were the source of most of the Knights' markers with 19, 17 and 13 respectively.

This week the Knights get another shot at St. Mary's of Wayne, hoping that they will gain their first home victory in three seasons.

Brother Francis has found an unusual but seemingly profitable way to earn money for the missions. His missions club is raising PIGS! They are shooting for $200 from this project. The Mission Club annually sells Christmas Cards for mission funds and now has found a pert answer to "What do you do during the off season?"

Paul Scully and Pascal Brown also attempted to raise animals — not for the missions, but for a Biology project. They attempted to raise chickens, but they anticipated the day of hatching for 21 days only to be disappointed when they failed to hatch.

A new club will join these in operation as soon as there is a room available for it. This new club is a Music Club, which will be moderated by Brother James Reese.

It is being founded to put to best use the stereo record player donated to the school by the Voice of Music.

Classical, semi-classical and the best of modern jazz will be the music listened to in this club. Its purpose is to provide a place of study and relaxation.

ENGAGED — The engagement of Suzette Pauline Velandra to William D. Ross is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Velandra, 709 N. Union St. Mr. Ross is the son of Raynor Ross, 616 W. Kilbuck St. and the late Mrs. Ross. A 1962 graduate of Tecumseh High School, Miss Velandra is employed by Brockley Studio, Adrian. Her fiance, a 1961 graduate of Tecumseh High School, is employed by the Tecumseh Products Co. He also attended Stautzenberger Business College, Toledo. An April 25 wedding is planned.

Girl Scouts Adopt Gifts for Algeria

The program committee of the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council suggests "Gifts for Algerian Children" as a World Wide Friendship Theme this year.

Mrs. Donald Creger, program chairman for the Council, authorized the release of information concerning the project after about three months of committee work.

The Algerian children service project is an outcome of the Girl Scout National Convention held in Miami.

Some of the Pennies for Friendship will be used for blankets but otherwise the project is over and above the usual collection.

Thinking Day, Feb. 22, will be the kick-off time.

Items to be collected and made include: usable clothing, wool blankets, kits containing pencils, paper, crayons, erasers, chalk boards, towels, wash cloths, soap and handkerchiefs.

All items should be packed in boxes or cartons to be picked up at the Scout Cabin March 17.

They will then be taken to the Scout Office in Jackson to be prepared for shipping.

Leaders may obtain information on Algerian customs, foods, and way of life by sending 25c to American Friends Services, 916 Salem Avenue, Dayton 6, O.

4 Initiated into Eagles on Sunday

John McKenzie, Robert Thompson, Kenneth Lion and Clifton Wheeler were the four candidates initiated into the Fraternal Order of the Eagles Sunday afternoon.

Perry Heath, state trustee of Hazel Park, and Past President Don Black of Jackson, were the speakers.

They told of the contributions of the order to the March of Dimes, the Max Baer Heart Fund and Cancer.

The Eagles also have a substantial Michigan Disaster Fund of which a sum was given during the Flint tragedy some years ago.

Groups To Sponsor Party at Maple Lane

Raisin Green Bees and the Cement City Extension Groups will cooperate in sponsoring the March birthday party at Maple Lane Manor.

Entertainment and refreshments will be provided for the residents.

Mrs. Ormand Socks was the hostess for the January meeting of the Raisin Green Bees.

One guest, Mrs. Lawrence Cote, and nine members were present.

The roll call was answered by the members telling about the things they waste time on.

Chairman Mrs. George Downard led the group in repeating the Extension Women's Creed.

☆

COLOR problems in floor coverings, window treatment and walls were under discussion as the project lesson was presented by Mrs. Socks.

It was stressed that the colors in the home should be colors the family will enjoy, since one has to live with them a long time. It is an expensive process to redecorate often.

Mrs. Larry Cote, representative of Fabri-Care Dry Cleaning, showed colored film strips on the Poly-Clean Process used at the cleaning centers.

Many questions were answered about dry cleaning and Mrs. Cote told what should be done at home before articles are brought to the center for cleaning.

☆

SEVERAL CHANGES were made in future meetings. Mrs. Sydney Turner will be the hostess for the Feb. meeting with Mrs. Howard Mullins as co-hostess when a baked goods auction will be held.

The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Joseph Laslo and the April meeting at the home of Mrs. Wynne Matteson when a boxed dessert auction will be held.

The forgotten mystery gift, supposedly brought by Mrs. Turner, was awarded to Mrs. Socks. She will receive it before the next meeting.

A dessert salad was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Matteson.

Roll call for the February meeting is "Tell About Your Family's Favorite Activity."

Members were reminded to bring items for the baked goods auction.

Business Places Using ZIP Code, Metcalf Says

Business firms, which account for 80% of the nation's first class mail, are making good use of the nation-wide ZIP Code system, reports Tecumseh Postmaster Jack Metcalf.

The general public is showing increasing signs of accepting the five-digit coding system for addressing mail, indicating a smooth transition to the time, two years hence, when the mail will be sorted electronically by optical scanning machines in the country's larger post offices.

Meanwhile instructions will be mailed this week to the nation's postmasters on how to number their distribution cases so that the mail can be sorted manually, according to its ZIP Code.

Although distribution of the instructions was held up during the holidays, a few offices went ahead with the process on their own initiative.

The report from the Department's 15 regions pointed to extensive use of ZIP Code during the Christmas season by both the public and large volume mailers, although no effort was made to learn the ratio to total volume.

However, of 24,100 firms reached through December, the report said that 21,000 — 88% — agreed to participate in the program.

ZIP Code was first introduced last July 1. When fully operational, it is expected to eliminate as many as six of 10 handling procedures of mail in transit, thus reducing the chances of human error and cutting down as much as 24 hours between deposit and delivery of out-of-town mail.

Last November contracts were awarded to three research firms to design a practical and economic optical scanner for larger post offices and sectional centers.

'Pajama Game' Rates Raves from Reviewer

By GRETCHEN BROGAN
of The Toledo Blade

The "Pajama Game" is a lot of fun the way they're playing it in the Tecumseh Community Theatre.

The Tecumseh Players have taken on the musical comedy in high spirits and they turned in an opening night job that was a delight to the audience.

A good deal of the credit for the success of the current production — and it is a success — must go to a good choice of play and the direction of William J. McAnallen, who has his cast well in hand throughout.

"Pajama Game" is based on the Richard Bissell novel "Seven and a Half Cents" and deals with the efforts of employees in a sleepwear factory in Iowa to get a raise.

Their boss, Mr. Hassler, is a true conservative. Their efforts are complicated by the romantic entanglement between Sid, the new plant superintendent, and Babe, the chairman of the union's grievance committee.

☆

NOT TOO demanding musically, "Pajama Game" has some good production numbers and offers a wide range of roles for an amateur group and the Tecumseh Players make the most of both.

Top honors in the opening night production must go to two male members of the cast — Gene Earling, who plays "Prez," president of the local chapter of the garment workers union, and Dr. Richard Hammel, as Hines, the clock-watching company "time study man."

Mr. Earling has his finest moments at the company picnic when he leers diabolically, first at Gladys, the boss' beautiful secretary and then at Mae, one of the garment workers, through two different, but equally delightful versions of the song, "Her Is."

Dr. Hammel's rendition of "I Would Trust Her" as Mary Bowers, a company secretary, describes a number of compromising situations in which his girl friend might be found, is another of the high spots in the show.

Marty Bagdon, playing the female lead, contributes the most professional voice to the show and backed by most of the female members of the cast, turns out "I'm Not At All In Love" in a style that would be hard to beat on any stage.

Florine Purkey, who plays Gladys, and Virginia Snyder, as Mae, are good in their parts as is Mary Bowers as Mabel. Miss Purkey does a fine job with the difficult drunk scene in "Hernando's Hideaway."

Special mention for good performance in the smaller roles goes to Charles Parker, the personification of the choleric boss of the Sleep Tite factory; Ed Mengerink in a fine satire of an early Madison Avenue-type salesman and Dale Bowen, Babe's gentle stamp-collecting father.

Bruce King, who will enter Jackson Junior College next fall and whose only previous appearance with the Tecumseh Players was in the chorus last year's musical, looks the part of the romantic lead, but had some difficulty

Long and Short

BY TOM RIORDAN

Over the years, this scribbler has seen every Tecumseh Players' production, even slipped on stage to deliver a few lines in two of the comedies.

Without a doubt, "Pajama Game" proves to be the most entertaining and the biggest hit in Players' history. A person just doesn't want the fun to stop.

This opinion seems pretty wide-spread. Just ask Mrs. Gene Earling the ticket chairman. There isn't a ducat left for this week's four performances.

In case you're interested in the dollar side of this effort, get out your slide rule and start figuring.

Total sales: 1,265. Of these, 143 are season ticket holders, who get in for $1.50. About 100 students took advantage of the $1 rate for juniors. The balance went on the open market at $2.

According to my computations, this means a gross of $2,238.

This is an amateur theatre group?

Tag onto this, the $600 guarantee the group will get from its two Coldwater performances, Feb. 21 and 22, and you have big business.

Most of the money, after expenses, will be salted into the Players' building fund. The hope of the members is to have a theatre of their own some day. Many more shows like "Pajama Game" and they'll need one with 500 seats.

Now, for those who didn't get to see the show, or wish to watch it again, The Herald is arranging for a chartered bus to Coldwater.

It will be for the Saturday, Feb. 22 performance, leaving downtown Tecumseh about 5:30 p.m. and returning right after the show. Should be back by midnight.

The full deal will cost $5.50 a person, theatre ticket included.

We have a block of tickets reserved and the Short Way bus people are standing by.

Only one hooker: we must have 38 reservations by noon Saturday.

So if you'd like to go by deluxe coach — and leave the driving to us — get into The Herald with your $5.50 before Saturday noon.

Who knows what the weather will be Feb. 22? Piloting one's car could become a project. So join the party.

Ballot on Four Mills Monday

If Voters OK Issue, School District Gets $500,000 Gift

Several thousand area residents will go to the polls Monday to decide whether the Tecumseh schools will keep four mills for operation — and thereby receive a gift of $500,000.

This gift, contingent on voters passing the millage would build a large addition to the high school this year and expand the Junior High next year.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the high school cafeteria.

In 1962, voters approved four mills for two years. These expired at the end of 1963. The electorate, in effect, will be voting whether the four mills will be continued for another five years, despite wording on next Monday's ballot which will read "additional four mills."

The Board of Education has pointed out that passage will not raise the school tax over last year and the gift will save taxpayers the responsibility of assuming construction costs for additions to the high school and junior high in the near future.

The four mills is for operation. A portion is budgeted for continuing the first grade on a full-day basis, restoring the junior high to full days, and other services promised by the board two years ago.

About half of the millage is to adjust teachers' salaries. The base pay for teachers will be increased from $4,500 to $4,700 and annual increments will be raised from $120 to $200 per year.

The board has pointed out these salaries are comparable to other Class A and B school pay schedules and are not out of line. Teachers have not been given a hike in pay for six years, except for the annual increments.

The large Tecumseh school district, largely rural in nature with only the city comprising an urban area, has about 90-square-miles and will jump from Class B status to Class A next fall.

Wild Auto Chase Ends in Cornfield

Tecumseh police and the sheriff's department collaborated early Saturday morning in a wild chase south of Tecumseh to arrest Robert G. Smith, 33, 5652 Holloway Rd.

Officers Don Rodehaver and Bob Purkey first chased Smith south on Raisin Center Hwy then east on Holloway Rd.

After crossing Rogers Hwy, Smith lost control of his car, knocked down three mail boxes, smashed 30 feet of fence and extensively damaged his vehicle before stopping in a cornfield.

He fled from his car to his home where officers, on their second investigation at the residence, found him and placed him under arrest.

Justice Ernie Oliver fined him $100 and $4.90 costs for driving on a revoked license, $100 and $4.90 costs for reckless operation, and then sentenced him to 6 days in jail, plus six months' probation.

If the fines are not paid, an additional 30 days in jail are scheduled.

Missions of India Will Be Subject of Youth's School

Ruth Daniels of Onsted, a retired missionary after 44 years in the field in India, will be the featured speaker for the school.

Mrs. Tracy Lord, children's secretary, and Mrs. Carroll Sprague, secretary of Missionary education for the church, are chairing the project for students of the first through the sixth grades.

The three sessions on India missions will be held at the church from 4 to 5 p.m. each designated day.

$5000 Bond Not Posted

Paul Edward Underwood, 21, 301 E. Pottawatamie St., was arrested by the Tecumseh police Tuesday and charged with statutory rape.

The youth waived examination and was bound over to Circuit Court. He will probably appear in court next Tuesday.

Bond of $5,000 could not be posted and Underwood was held in the county jail.

'Miss Edith' Is Honored

Miss Edith Ingersoll was guest of honor at a tea on her 90th birthday Sunday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church.

Over 200 guests were present from Addison, Adrian, Tipton, Britton, Blissfield, Brooklyn, Monroe, Redford, Detroit and Tecumseh.

Greetings were read from friends in Port Huron, Denver, Colo. and Bridgeport, Calif.

Midway through the party, an informal program was presented with Mrs. Ray Shuyter as mistress of ceremonies.

The junior choir sang Miss Edith's favorite hymn, "Beneath the Cross of Jesus."

Two songs were dedicated to Miss Ingersoll by Fred C. Dickinson, "At Dawning" and "For You Alone."

A period of impromptu "I Remember" testimonials were sometimes hilarious and sometimes nostalgic.

Several amusing anecdotes were related about her cat, "Jiffy."

Surprise witness in a courtroom type testimony, Miss Bertha LaPointe, produced some interesting facts when she was sworn "to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

Wes Whelan Wins Award

A Tipton man was named Outstanding Young Farmer Thursday night by Tecumseh Jaycees.

Wesley Whelan, 32, was chosen from six finalists to receive the annual honors.

Mr. Whelan operates a 330-acre dairy farm with 110 cows, 60 milking, in a partnership with his father, Lyle Whelan.

After being presented with a plaque by local OYF chairman Jim Rundell, he added, "I think there should be an award for fathers, too, because if it hadn't been for my dad, I wouldn't be receiving this award tonight."

☆

CHOSEN ON the basis of economic progress and community service, Mr. Whelan, besides being a farmer, is a grange overseer, manager of a softball team, vice-president of the Lenawee-Tipton local of Michigan Artificial Breeders and Tipton constable.

He also is treasurer of the Tipton PTA and a former member of the board of directors of the Lenawee County Dairy Herd improvement association.

Since going into the business with his father nine years ago, he has tripled the dairy herd, added a milking parlor, silo, new pole barn and concrete barnyard.

He feels he has increased his worth 10 times since starting.

Phone Company Plans To Merge Exchanges

The General Telephone Co. will survey customers in Lenawee County to apprise them of plans for expanding local calling areas and eliminating long distance calls between certain exchanges.

Present plans call for offering extended area service between:

- Clinton, Tecumseh and Adrian
- Tecumseh, Britton, Clinton, Tipton and Adrian
- Britton, Tecumseh and Adrian
- Blissfield and Adrian

Countless studies have been made during the past several years to determine customer calling habits.

On the basis of these calling habits, it has been ackuowledged that a strong community of interest exists between various of the above mentioned exchanges.

☆

SUBSTANTIAL amounts have been spent to engineer and prepare for the coming project. One of the basic requisites was accomplished when all county exchanges were placed under one cover in the current telephone directory.

While it is the company's policy to absorb certain amounts of lost revenue due to discontinuance of toll fees, an adjustment of rates for all exchanges is contemplated.

Pertinent facts relative to rate adjustment and other prerogatives will be sent to each customer in the form of a survey letter.

After considering the contents of the letter, customers will be requested to vote in favor of, or against the plan.

It is vital to all concerned that a fair and representative number of opinions be secured. The survey letters are expected to be in the hands of the customer within the next 30 days.

Addressed postal cards will be included for the purpose of registering approval or disapproval.

Gets OK

Approval of the River Raisin Watershed project under Public Law 566 was granted Tuesday in East Lansing by the State Soil Conservation Service. The application now goes to Washington for an OK.

Hal Kelso, Products Service Chief, Dies

He and his wife, Helen, have been residents of the city for nearly 20 years.

Mr. Kelso was extremely active in the community. He was a former member of the City Council, past president of the Rotary Club and a member of the Tecumseh Country Club.

He was a member of the board of trustees of the First Baptist Church of Tecumseh, the Masonic Blue Lodge at Blissfield and the Commandery, Shrine and Masonic Council in Adrian.

Mr. Kelso was also a director of the Adrian Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Born Sept. 20, 1906 in Moline, Ill., he was the son of Lyman and Rachel Robinson Kelso.

He married Helen Rouse in 1931.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a brother, A. R. Kelso, of Mt. Pleasant.

Services were held Monday at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Blair Bashore officiating.

Burial was in the Brookside Cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Corkery Funeral Home.

Post Office Closes Feb. 22

All specials however, will be delivered.

There will be a collection of mail at 4 p.m. from the two boxes in the business district and in front of the post office for outgoing mail.

A few weeks ago, when Tecumseh's basketball team ranked second in state basketball ratings, we said it was the first time in the history of THS that we had ranked that high. Mrs. John Martinus called to tell us that she thought the football team had ranked second in 1962. Her son Dennis was on the team. We diligently dug through the files and finally came up with a squib under Gridiron Highlights just before the '62 game against Adrian:

"The Indians moved up a notch in the Detroit News state ranking of Class B football teams, moving up from the fourth rung to the third. It's the highest rating Coach Fagan's club has been given this year. The Free Press rating still lists the Indians in the ninth spot, a position they've held since early in the season."

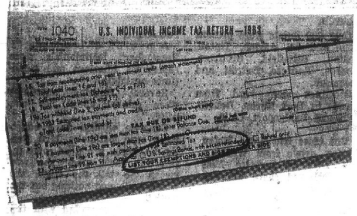
From the Michigan Act of 1929: "Selling or furnishing tobacco to minors — unlawfulness. That it shall be unlawful for any person by himself, his clerk or agent to sell, give or furnish any cigar, cigarette, cheroot, chewing or smoking tobacco or tobacco in any form whatsoever to any minor under 17 years of age unless upon the written order of the parent or guardian of said minor."

Just thought you'd like to know.

Thickness of ice on a lake or stream is not always a good measure of its strength. If cars are on the ice — and this is not encouraged — they should not be parked in one place any longer than necessary. Cars moving over ice cause "resonance waves" in the ice itself, and when one or several cars follow one another, these "waves" may crack ice that otherwise would normally be safe.

Just so folks won't get the idea that life is just one happy round of fun and laughter, take a look at this illustration:



Just 62 days until April 15. Ugh.

For some who have seen every Tecumseh Players' stage play, "Pajama Game" is being rated far and away the most entertaining of all the offerings. Enthusiasm, side-splitting gags and beautiful voices.

Put scene-stealers like Gene Earling, Dick Hammel and Mrs. Al Snyder on the stage at one time and there's the greatest session of mugging since Khrushchev did his bit at the UN General Assembly a few years back. These three are rewriting the definition of up-staging during "Pajama Game" appearances.

Someone poured the barbs to us, all over the fact we should have said people pore over The Herald. Makes us feel poor all over. Please, critic, identify yourself and we'll print your cute letter — needles and all. Who ever said your weekly manufacturers were perfect?

Mom Nature has shoved the whole deck at us so far in '64. Sun, snow, Florida climes, slush, spring evenings, ice. Coming up: well, you can ask for most anything and probably get it. Ah, Michigan.

The way Mark Vaillancourt can play hockey, it's a shame Tecumseh doesn't have a regular town team — with an artificial ice rink on which to play. There are other lads who, with some experience, could really be talented players.

Retail organizations, including the Michigan Retailers Association, have been working to convince Congress that the repeal of the Federal Excise Tax should be a part of the administration's tax reduction bill, H.R. 8363. The tax was instituted as a "temporary wartime tax" and has remained in force more than 20 years.

Interested persons can help repeal the burdensome, discriminating tax by writing:

It is in the group production numbers that the show reaches many of its peaks, however.

☆

THE WHOLE CAST dances, sings and lights matches with admirable precision in the "Hernando's Hideaway" sequence and they are engagingly enthusiastic in "Seven and a Half Cents" and "Pajama Game" which closes the show.

The job of staging a big musical on a small stage is handled well by Mr. McAnallen and Dr. Robert Murray, assistant director. The rolling stage is a good idea and provides an adequate background for most of the show.

Choreography was done by Lorayne Phil, who did the same job for "Girl Crazy" last year. She comes up with comfortable routines for most of the numbers of the show. Pat Mull was especially good as the Spanish dancer in "Hernando's Hideaway."

Costuming also was well done, particularly in the night club scene, at the company picnic and the closing number.

Joy Dalton was technical director. Miles Cowdrey was musical director. Onalee Cote, Debby Earling, Gregg King and Kirk Lucas were among the younger members of the cast, who do well.

The play will continue at the Community Theatre with performances at 8 p.m. nightly through Saturday and will be taken on the road for two performances at the Tibbits Theatre in Coldwater Feb. 21 and 22.

They Survived Earthquake

(Editor's note — The Rev. and Mrs. John Brantingham, missionaries in Taiwan, wrote a fascinating letter telling of a recent earthquake there — to his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Brantingham, who are sharing it with Herald readers. The missionaries left here in October, with their three children, after a visit with the Brantinghams and other Tecumseh Friends.

Today we are even more grateful than we have ever been in our lives. I imagine that by now you have heard that the "Dragon stirred in his sleep," Saturday night. This was the worst earthquake in 20 years.

We are all fine, just didn't want you to hold your breath to the end of the letter to see if we had been hurt.

Saturday evening, our little family was scattered in various parts of the house. John, Jeanne and Jon were in the study. Dave was in the living room coloring and I was in the den sewing.

Suddenly we began hearing a series of noises like a lot of fire crackers going off. Then the house began to sway back and forth and up and down, the lights went out, plaster began to fall.

For about five to six seconds, some say a minute, I think not, we were thrown all over the place. I was thrown across the room and hit the wall, plaster was falling and I had the funniest sensation, "Well, if you're going to cave in on us go ahead and do it and let's get this thing over with."

The children were not hurt, but badly shaken.

We managed to get to the door and out of the house before the next tremor. All around us the sky was red and then we knew it was an earth quake and many parts of town were on fire.

There was a wave of cries and noise all over the city as people were trying to get out of burning homes, theaters and stores. Between the tremors John ran back into the house and got blankets and coats, etc. and we laid the children down outside.

Then John went downtown and started helping families move their things out into the street.

He found a doctor trying to stitch up gashes by candlelight so he hopped on to his bike and peddled for two hours to generate light for them.

They seemed so very grateful. During this time we had a series of tremors. I sat beside the children rolled up in a blanket watching our house rock on its very foundation.

What a terrifying feeling.

With every tremor a wave of cry's arose all over the city. I could hear one woman as she wandered up and down "our street calling out her name, "Jo Taitai," or "Mrs. Jo," trying to find the rest of the family, how helpless I felt.

I didn't dare to even go to the gate without the children going completely to pieces. Yet there were so many around us in need.

When John [illegible] we, carried some chairs out and made a tent and slept outside the rest of the night.

Almost every home out here has a wall around it. I don't believe there were more than a dozen walls left intact. Ours was fine.

A Lutheran missionary lives just a few doors down from us and his wall completely went down all around. It was made of brick and then cement inside and out.

We had no real bad damage —a lot of plaster down, a couple of places the wall went clear through. To say it was a mess is to put it very mildly.

The refrigerator was tilted, the door flew open and most of the contents thrown out. The pump organ was knocked over.

It can be very funny if you are the kind to see the funny and light side of life.

The next morning we rode our bikes downtown to see if we could see anyone in need. Most of the stores downtown around the circle was burned out. Many were left homeless and eight killed and 100 injured.

We were amazed at the spirit of the Chinese. By 1 or 2 o'clock they had the fires under control and all the injured cared for and people settled for the night.

It was the most fantastically efficient operation we had ever seen or thought possible. By morning most people were back in business with whatever was left, they were smiling and there was a general attitude of "Well, it's over and so let's get back to normal."

My heart ached. Some were scraping around in the rubble looking for some little thing that possibly might have survived.

We are still getting some tremors, and it is a bit disconcerting to say the least.

We are prepared, however. We have a lantern and matches handy, the bomb shelter has tatami and a few things in it. We have the door off the bedroom fixed so we just have to kick it and we can get out. Needless to say we spend most of our evenings around that door.

While I was sitting outside Saturday night, my thoughts returned to Edward Escolme's message at my grandmothers funeral, the 23rd Psalm.

The shepherd does not follow his sheep, he goes before them preparing the way. What a blessed comfort to know my Lord had gone before me preparing my way in the earth quake.

If it is safe for Him to pass through then it is safe for me to pass through. God has wonderfully again showed us his power to keep and protect and we would still say, "Lead on Oh King Eternal."

Thanks be to God although most of the downtown burned it did not touch the Baptist church.

All the walls collapsed, but a little section behind the shack of one of our new converts. None of our fold were injured although many had damaged homes. All the heathen had to put their Gods back together, right side up.

So glad I didn't have to hunt through the rubble to find my God and see if He was still right side up and in one piece.

There is so much to be done, so much we can't do because of the old line, "There just isn't money." Pray for us.

Much love,
John and Barbara

VOICE OF THE HERALD

Get Out and Vote — YES

Next Monday is election day here and a date to be remembered for voters throughout the Tecumseh school district.

While most people are confident that the schools will receive a large, favorable vote from the district — and thereby benefit from a $500,000 gift — there are many concerned with complacency and the possibility that voters will stay home and not vote.

Will the people vote?

This fear that they will not may have some basis, since there's apparently an attitude of overconfidence, that the millage is sure to pass.

Failure to vote is about the only way the millage can be defeated. People throughout the district have spoken in favor of the four mills and the benefits of the gift.

Efforts are planned to remind people on Monday to vote. Any qualified voter not having transportation to the high school cafeteria for casting his or her vote, is urged to call R. S. Moore Lumber Co. — 423-2155 — and transportation will be provided.

We ask everyone to vote, and hope that they cast a "yes" ballot.

The millage is essential to the operation of the school and keeping a stable staff of teachers, the gift vital to the growth of our facilities.

Farmers Keep Free Enterprise

Most important issue going before Congress this year for the farmers is the wheat subsidy bill, S.1946. It's a rehash of the wheat referendum turn down in Michigan last May by an 80% vote.

Reworded with a near impossible "voluntary" clause added, this bill is being pushed through a non-farm Congress, even though the people affected vetoed it.

A majority of the farmers are strong-willed free enterprise men, who would rather take their knocks on the market and maintain the right to compete in the manner this country grew up on.

The only time they want to be paid for wearing out the seat of their pants is riding a tractor. And this is the way it should be!

M. M. Halley of the Lenawee County Farm Bureau legislative committee asks farmers and all people interested in seeing the farmer maintain his self-respect and freedom to write a letter to their congressmen demanding that this bill be turned down.

Farm Bureau in Michigan wants 70,000 letters from citizens — write to Senators Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara at the Senate Office Building and Congressmen George Meader and Neil Staebler at the House of Representatives Office Building, Washington D. C.

Let's show our representative we want to keep free enterprise.

6 Cited For Violations in Traffic Accidents

Six accidents and one practical joke — which backfired — were handled by the Tecumseh police during the past week.

Last Friday afternoon, a Consumers Power truck driven by Clifton M. Girdham, 51, Clayton, collided with an automobile driven by Bonita J. Turner, 31, Clinton.

Girdham, headed west on Logan, was charged with failing to yield the right of way when his truck hit the Turner car, going south on N. Evans. The left front of the automobile was damaged.

Phyllis Jean Faust, 17, of Clinton, was charged with violation of the basic speed law and with leaving a scene of an accident when she lost control of her car Friday night and rammed into the Methodist Church sign on W. Chicago Blvd.

Mrs. Faust backed off the church property and then drove away. The front end of her 1958 car sustained minor damages.

Stephen Toth Jr., 16, Milan, was charged with violation of the basic speed law Friday after he hit a car driven by Donald Spence, 31, 609 Stacy St., at W. Chicago Blvd. and Adrian St.

The entire left side of Spence's car was damaged, and the left headlight and fender of Toth's automobile.

Ronald Clark, 16, 409 W. Chicago, was cited on the basic speed law violation Saturday when he hit a car driven by Robert Brownell, 33, Adrian, in downtown Tecumseh on W. Chicago.

A charge of failing to yield the right of way was placed against Harold R. Socks, 58, Saline, Saturday in his accident with Arnold A. Partridge, 24, rural Tecumseh, on N. Union St.

An accident reported last week was in error. An automobile owned by Kenneth Kanous, 505 W. Cummins, was slightly damaged when a power rodder being pulled behind a pickup —— driven by Samuel Lawrence — came loose and struck the Kanous car which was parked.

A joke which backfired Saturday night involved some Blissfield youths who flashed a toy gun from their car at two Tecumseh teenagers on Rogers Hwy.

The youths followed the local teenagers to the police department and admitted their joke to officers there. They were scolded and warned of possible misgivings.

Employment Goes Up 1,765

Employment in Lenawee County increased by 1,765 workers between Jan. 15, 1963 and Jan. 15, 1964.

During the last half of the year the employment gain amounted to 1,522 as shown by the semi-annual surveys made by the Adrian Office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

In mid-January, the 262 Lenawee County establishments employing eight or more workers, had 16,438 wage and salary workers compared to 14,673 one year earlier.

The 89 manufacturing establishements report the bulk of the employment gain with 10,810 on payrolls compared to 9,516 one year ago. Adrian has 143 establishments employing eight or more workers totaling 9,173 persons of which 4,692 are employed in 38 manufacturing establishments.

Tecumseh has 31 establishments employing eight or more workers with payrolls totaling 4,434 while 3,979 are in its 13 manufacturing plants.

The improved employment climate is reflected in the decreased number of claims and indications are for continuing high employment into the summer months, states Clifford J. Rice, manager of the Adrian branch office.

It's nice to send them to the ones we think a whole lot of."

What a pleasant feeling it is to post a pretty red and white greeting to a friend who least anticipates receiving a Valentine.

Eye Study In Senior's Research

James Beech, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Beech, 210 Pine St., is conducting a study of the eye, perception and illusions as a senior research project at Kalamazoo College.

Two out of every three Kalamazoo College seniors who expect to graduate in June now either are working on research projects or are serving as teaching internes away from the campus.

Other features of the plan include foreign study, career and service opportunities and staggered vacation quarters for both students and faculty.

Memoriam

IN LOVING memory of my beloved mother, Mary P. Jones, whose birthday would have been February 17th.

Dear Mother you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us.
As you always were before.
Sadly missed by daughter, Lee Horton and family.

F.13p

IN DEAREST remembrance of Ricky Frank Horton, our beloved son and brother, whose 15th birthday would have been today, Feb. 13th.

He bid no one a last farewell
He said goodbye to none;
His loving heart had ceased to beat,
Before we knew it, he was gone.
Every day we sadly miss him,
Deeply we feel our loss;
Lonely we are without him;
Help us, God, to bear our cross.
Sadly missed by mother, dad and brother.

Allen Stars as Indian 5 Tops Royals

By JIM LINCOLN

Better days were realized Friday night when the Tecumseh Indians whipped a visiting Blissfield five for the second time this season, 70 - 57.

The 13-point spread failed to disclose the nip-and-tuck fray, which nearly got out of hand in the final minutes, when the Royals found everything going against them.

After two previous disappointing games, the Indians rebounded against a good Blissfield team, fell behind twice, then caught fire to win going away.

Highlight of the game for most fans — and undoubtedly Coach Vic Lawson — was Greg Allen's performance. The 6'4" center did not start because of a pulled leg muscle, but then entered the game early and played until four minutes when he fouled out.

Allen's failure to score in recent games was puzzling since he's been a top scorer in the past.

He tallied 18 points against the Royals, with several markers coming when Blissfield was closing an Indian lead, and rebounded well against the bigger Blissfield players.

JERRY HEBB, off his usual fine shooting form, still topped both teams with 22 points. An excellent shot from the foul line, the 6'4" forward hit for only two of five free throws.

Coach Al Schaffer's Royals started the game with all indications of routing Tecumseh. With three minutes of the first quarter gone, Blissfield held an eight-point lead with the Indians' far off line in their shooting.

Tecumseh caught the Royals midway in the second quarter, lost the lead briefly, then rolled up seven straight points to help build a 38-32 margin at halftime.

A third-quarter spurt gave Blissfield a short-lived two-point margin before Indians jumped out front with another string of seven points.

The Royals bounced back early in the final period, pulled to within two points and then practically collapsed — both in performance and poise.

☆

IN THE FINAL six minutes, Tecumseh outscored the visitors 16 to 5. Guard Jim Lawson chalked up the final point with a free throw — several minutes after the final whistle and with several hundred fans surrounding him at the free throw line.

Blissfield and Tecumseh undoubtedly will have another tilt this season in the tournament at Blissfield.

Monroe CC and probably Erie-Mason will be the other two teams scheduled. Neither is expected to give the Royals or Indians much competition.

Last March on the local floor, the Royals surprised Tecumseh to win the tournament after losing to the Indians twice during the season.

Jayvees Win, 63-49

Ron Rentschler paced the local five with 17 points on six fielders and five free throws. John Goodman and Tim Heflin each had 12 points.

A poor first half, particularly the second period, proved fatal for Blissfield. The Royals collected 10 points in the initial quarter and only three in the second.

School Board Reports

A generous $500,000 gift offer, made to Tecumseh Public Schools, tends by its magnitude to overshadow the fact that the school system desperately needs the additional operating millage above the 8.3 now allotted.

The 15-mill limitation of this state means, that any taxation above that amount must come by vote of the people.

If schools were to receive the full 15 mills the operation of the schools would present few problems. But county or township governments must also be run from the 15 mills.

Expansion of these latter two budgets over the years has whittled down the part allocated to the schools, until this share is now down to 8.3.

When our school budget was pinched by lower state aid, the board economized in every possible area. One was to shorten school days for first grades and Junior High.

The last two years we were able, through the four mills voted in 1962, to restore these services, at a cost of two mills, the other two to erase a $160,000 debt.

This then has already obligated two of the mills the board is now requesting for the services.

The crowding of the high school and the necessity, therefore, of split schedules, has resulted in discipline problems not heretofore present.

Clubs and outside activities were curtailed and sponsors were no longer paid from the school budget. We now see that these things are necessary to the total school picture and to the individual student.

Most important of all, however, is a stable staff of teachers and personnel who offer our children quality education. The Board feels strongly the need of keeping the teacher, who has several years experience in this system by offering salaries and increments comparable with schools of this type in this state and surrounding states.

By changing the starting salary to $4,700 and yearly increment for $120 to $200, it will be possible to attain, when needed, the new teachers with ability and better academic standings.

The change made in teacher salary schedules will adjust the salary schedule enough to encourage those who might have been looking for better opportunities to remain in the system.

Total operating budget of the Tecumseh School system looms large to the individual, unless it is realized that three-quarters of it is directly related to instruction itself. This is, after all, the basis of education and is the most important.

In order to have good instruction, the facilities must also be adequate. The shortage of classrooms has meant a great strain on good instruction.

We sincerely hope that the community will help us solve some of these present problems by voting for the four mills for operating and thereby allow the schools to be recipient of the $500,000 gift.

Why I'm Voting 'Yes' on Four Mills

BY KEEPING 4 GET ROOM FOR MORE

Jim Freckleton, 124 W. Brown St. — Nothing to consider one way or another. It's something we have to have.

Mrs. George Wittrup, 109 N. Pearl St. — Looking into the future, it's the only thing we can do.

Mrs. Edward R. Mengerink, 207 Pine St. — We're definitely going to vote yes, both of us. Even if it did increase the taxes, we would still vote yes. I hope people don't forget to vote. It's the ones opposing who will be sure to get out and vote, you know.

Mrs. Glenn Mumaw, 2930 Rogers Hwy. — They certainly need more room. I think voters would be foolish to turn it down.

Spiritual Unity within Marriage

In Michigan... after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your case in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In Michigan...beer goes with fun, with relaxation

State Police Is Seeking Candidates

An unusual opportunity for young men to enter upon a highly interesting professional career with security has been opened up with Governor Romney's recommendation that the Michigan State Police enlist 200 more Troopers, Sgt. Carl Anderson, commander of the Clinton post, states.

An intensive recruiting drive is now underway to obtain recruit candidates. Interested young men are invited to call at the Clinton post or write to the State Civil Service Commission at Lansing for details and application forms.

The additional officers are needed because of the shortened work week, rapidly mounting traffic toll, interstate expressway patrols and increasing volume of criminal activities, Sergeant Anderson said.

Right at the beginning of the training school the recruit goes on the payroll and in the trooper rank alone, with regular step increases, earns more than $7,200 annually. Promotions bring higher pay.

To be eligible young men must be between 21 and 29 years of age, single or married, not less than five feet 10 inches in height and have a high school education or its equivalent.

STATE OF MICHIGAN.

In The Circuit Court For The County of Lenawee

In the Matter of the Complaint of BILLIE S. FARNUM, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Lenawee:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this complaint under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 126 of the Public Acts of 1955, as amended.

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in each and every county upon which taxes, which were assessed six years next preceding, then, have remained unpaid for more than one year after the same should be levied as delinquent, the description of all lands in each county forfeited to and in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, and (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of the next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent and (d) the fees and expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for more than one year before the first day of January, as provided by the foregoing acts, and that all aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are described in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest and collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the several aforesaid parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the State of Michigan, the payment of which by this court may be enforced as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your plaintiff prays:

a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and adjudge that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitutes a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as thereof extended;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final judgment in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

That said judgment provide that in default of the payment and discharge of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount adjudged against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d. That your plaintiff may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your plaintiff will ever pray, etc.

BUY "SUPER-RIGHT" MEATS...

GET WHAT YOU PAY FOR

THE eat IN THE meat

You Can See It...You Can Taste It!

The EAT in the MEAT that makes "Super-Right" your best buy shows up in a way you can see. You see it in the grain-fed beef steaks and hearty rib roasts that have the wasteful fat and bone trimmed away. You see it in the bright color of the freshly ground beef that's not loaded with "shrink-away" fat. You'll see it where it counts — in the meat you serve your family — in your budget, too!

The EAT in the MEAT comes only from constant care. That's why A&P maintains its own staff of experts — and under their watchful eye passes every pound of meat destined for your family. This care of "Super-Right" meat continues right up to the minute your purchase is made. You can count on "the eat in Super-Right meat" — and on A&P's money saving prices — because we care about YOU.

The EAT in the MEAT that A&P promises, starts long before you see it, however. It begins with A&P selections from the nation's top packers. They know "Super-Right's" strict quality standards for beef, pork, lamb, veal and poultry. And our buyers know that if every pound can't be guaranteed — it's not "Super-Right" quality.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE OF SATISFACTION

The EAT in the MEAT is guaranteed at A&P. The meat we sell must satisfy your family completely or your money will be refunded. All persons in your A&P meat department know this — and they are as determined as we to offer the best meat selection in town.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

One of the strongest forces at work to undermine this nation's morality is the relentless growth of Centralism, with its corresponding decline in individual responsibility.

It is my conviction that we are facing today the opposite of what Lincoln faced at the outset of the civil war.

Lincoln was confronted by the question whether the excess sovereignty of the states was going to fragment and destroy the Union and the Constitution of the United States.

The question today is whether Centralism — the excess sovereignty of the federal government — is going to be so concentrated that it will destroy state, local and individual responsibilities.

In my lifetime, I have seen the amazing expansion of Federal power. I heard Franklin Delano Roosevelt in person, standing in front of the Capitol steps, lift this nation from its despondency to a spirit of renewed confidence with the words "the only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

☆

BUT I HAVE also witnessed the continuing and ceaseless expansion of federal power to the point where now, unless we first slow it, and then halt it, and reverse it, it will destroy what the Founders established.

Federal encroachment is developing rapidly along these routes:

► Increasing federal government take-over of the powers, functions and responsibilities of the states. If this growth continues, it will destroy our federal structure and nullify the Constitution of the United States.

► Putting individuals on the federal payroll as mercenaries to stimulate others to exercise voluntarily their citizenship responsibilities.

► Extending federal programs for local governments that completely bypass state governments and make local governments increasingly dependent on federal funds and subservient to federal officials.

All of these programs weaken and destroy self-government, individual responsibility and self-reliance. They are financed by what has become excessive federal taxation, rebated in part to state and local governments as subsidies.

☆

THE WAY TO reverse the momentum to Centralism is not easy, but must be stopped and reversed. The way to stop the drift toward Centralism is for states to step up to their responsibilities — and Michigan has led the way in this area.

It took Michigan five years of concerted effort, plus four statewide elections, to get its new constitutions. But we proved that states can move.

There are many people who believe that a central, remote government can do the job just as well or even better than local governments.

They are mistaken. The closer people are to government, the more familiar they are with its operations, the more interested they are in its efficiency, and the more effectively can they control its size and power.

IT MAKES ME FEEL BETTER — So says Forrest Abner as he lines up for his contribution to the Bloodmobile, when it last was in Tecumseh. Next visit will be March 3 at the Community Center from noon until 6 p.m. Many people from the community have needed several pints of blood recently and a call to the Red Cross in Adrian brought quick response. Blood needed was supplied without cost and the only fee was hospital charge for supplies and technical services involved with the transfusion. Goal for the March 3 visit is 150 pints. Any Tecumseh resident interested in helping to make the goal for this visit should call Dr. Robert Murray, 423-2135.

DAR To Entertain 3 Good Citizens

Valentine's Day has been selected as the date for the Abi-Evans Chapter, DAR, to entertain the Good Citizenship girls and their mothers.

A tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Louis S. Schneider.

Several members of Ronald Croll's speech class from the high school will present a program.

Worthy Matrons Guests at Eastern Star Gathering

Regular meeting of Tecumseh OES Chapter 51 was attended by 55 members and guests Thursday evening at the Temple.

Doris Townsley, worthy matron of Milan, Arlen Thoss, worthy matron of Saline, Orval Townsley, worthy patron of Milan, two officers of the Washtenaw County association and two officers of the Lenawee-Monroe County association were introduced and welcomed.

An invitation was read from Jonesville for a dinner honoring the Grand family Feb. 19. Reservations must be in by Feb. 15.

Clinton is hosting a dinner honoring Mrs. Delbert Tallman, chairman of the Villa Board, March 7 with reservations to be in by March 2.

FRIENDSHIP nights will be at Dundee Feb. 17, Milan Feb. 18, Addison Feb. 21, Clayton, March 3, Hudson, March 10 and smorgasbord dinner at Saline Feb. 24.

All past Marthas were honored with a ceremony "The Story of Martha" by the worthy matron, worthy patron, associate matron, associate patron, star points and associate conductress and a solo by Mrs. Robert Hunt "Faith Unlocks the Door".

Five past Marthas attended from Saline and Milan, one from Masontown, Pa., and 11 from Tecumseh. Each was presented a gift from the worthy matron.

Refreshments were served in the dining room by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Miller, Mrs. Gordon Garlick and Mrs. Julia Titley.

The next meeting will be March 5.

Musical Is a Ball for Cast

ABOVE — In the last moments of the show, the entire lineup rings three sides of the stage and belts out the show's big songs as they stand a few feet from the audience, some of whom join in the singing. Shown here, from left, are Mrs. John Hartley, Debby Earling, Duane Steele, Charlie Parker, Onalee Cote, Mrs. Ted Pihl, Dale Bowen and Mrs. Al Snyder. All through the evening, the entire group seems to be having the time of their lives — and apparently they are.

ABOVE — Even in labor disputes, love wins out. So it is in "Pajama Game" when Bruce King, the new plant superintendent, woos and wins Mrs. Bob Bagdon, the union's grievance committee, with song. When this was taken, they were doing the number, "There Once Was a Man."

BELOW — Mrs. Al Snyder steals this bit, during the pajama fashion parade. Announcer Ed Mengerink tells audience, "Sleep Tite pajamas offer style, grace and comfort." Out pops Onalee Cote, who says, "I'm Grace." Next on stage is Gene Earling, eyes rolling, who announces, "I'm style." With this, in bounds Mrs. Snyder, garbed in full red flannels to bellow, "And I'm comfort" as she elbows between Onalee and Gene. It brings down the house.

Book Mark

By JULE FOSBENDER

Allan Seager's new book "A Frieze of Girls," published by McGraw-Hill, is now available at the Public Library. The following review of the book comes from the Virginia Kirkus Service.

"A witty and thoroughly enchanting autobiographical saga of youth in the '20's and early '30's, illuminated by portraits of some lovely ladies, kind or unkind, but all fair, beautiful and beckoning.

"Here is the breezy youth of the '20's with his legacy of innocence in the days before the shadows fall on the hapless Holden Caulfields of the '40's.

"Seager's story has a generosity of impulse, a bravura born of high spirits rather than blight, an expansiveness, and a spirited testing of limitations rather than a self-imposed paralysis.

"Among the ladies—a Memphis belle to whom was dedicated a swimming medal and two dozen roses without petals; a hopelessly old Smith girl; girls at college (Michigan) round as Northern Spy apples; a Garbo-like intellectual who wanders to the Village, poverty and Russia; a Gide-reading, deadly calm sister of a ruling gangster family; and a middle-aged actress who choked on fraternity house gin.

"The corporeal ladies dissolve and the Muse takes over after a Rhodes scholarship to Oxford, but there are still some literally stunning drinking sessions.

"Finaally a bout with tuberculosis in America, a return to England and back home once more, and a savagely unhappy acquaintance who represents the 'first nasty little tendril of the Depression' and the new era to come.

"Although the tone is light there are somber moments (the death of a pioneering grandfather, a sordid Southern murder) and, in all, this is a telling portrait of the youth of a man and a generation."

... it's a breeze for this Chevy truck

G & J Woodworking of Tecumseh recently added this two-ton, long wheelbase, platform Chevy truck to its delivery fleet, which roams from Detroit to Chicago and into Indiana. The big 327 cubic inch V8 engine handles loads like the one pictured — eight tons of wooden pallets – with ease. The platform is 20 feet long, giving ample space for giant jobs. George Sackett, G & J owner, requested a five-speed direct Spicer-Dana transmission for this truck. It is built in Toledo by one of his firm's best customers.

G & J Gross Climbs Over $330,000 Mark

G and J Wood Products, a company with a 17-year history, built up from 10 employees to today's employment of 30 men and $330,000 in annual sales.

Yearly payroll nears $100,000.

On Jan. 2, 1947, George Sackett, a former 10-yearman at Tecumseh Products Co., started his business in a single car garage on S. Evans St. Within five months a partnership was formed with Jack Morehouse, another Products employee.

In June of 1947, they moved to Macon rd., where larger quarters were available to handle the increased business.

Incorporated under the name of G and J Wood Products Co., at the beginning, 85% of the business was for Tecumseh Products and Philco Corp. The firm now serves 32 customers in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Mrs. Sackett became the bookkeeper, secretary and treasurer when the couple purchased the outstanding shares from Mr. Morehouse in Feb. 1959. He remained an employee of the company.

Today they have expanded and doubled their floor space to 12,640 square feet and installed new equipment.

Mr. Sackett handles all sales and hopes to increase sales 30% during 1964. Sixty percent of the sales during 1963 went to Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Other larger companies customers are Clark Equipment of Chicago, Addison Products, Ervin Mfg. Co. of Adrian, Ford Motor Co., General Electric of Tiffin, O., Bingham Stamping of Toledo, Zeller Corp. of Defiance, O., Weatherhead Co. of Angola, Ind., Metalloy Foundry of Hudson and container companies, stamping companies and foundries.

The business has been built on the standards of quality plus service, says Mr. Sackett, who expresses his appreciation to his customers, suppliers and employees for their loyalty in making the business such a success.

THE DOVES HAVE IT

Not too long ago, I might have talked to you about mourning doves, but there are still so many around here that perhaps another discussion would not be out of line.

We always have a few doves who stay with us the year around, but this winter it is verging on the ridiculous.

The flock has grown to 17. And believe me, 17 doves congregating in one neighborhood is a lot of mourning doves.

Although not overly gregarious during the mating and family raising season, these birds do tend to flock together when cold weather comes. Indeed they do.

What do birds need to winter over in a particular area? Well, three important things are shelter, food and water.

☆

THE LOVELY, big evergreens in Marsh's yard afford ample shelter. While not the type of thing I can check on, I strongly suspect this is where the doves spend these long cold winter nights.

Certainly the thick boughs should offer much protection from the strong winds and low temperatures. During the day we often notice the birds darting for the trees at the slightest sign of danger.

They are not nearly as flighty as the sparrows, but a dog or a cat and, of course, a person who gets too close sends them flying. Sometimes they spook for no reason at all, at least no reason apparent to us.

Always, however, if they take off within ear-shot there is that characteristic and most distinctive, whiffing or whistling sound.

☆

FOOD IS NEVER much of a problem here at the west end of Logan St. There are many well maintained feeding stations around and if the doves tire of our handouts, a much too abundant supply of weed seeds is close at hand.

We have been rather amused at the "you help me and I'll help you" pact the mourning doves have with the squirrels. It is in force on the fence, under the corn tree and on the feeding tray.

The squirrels wrench the kernels of corn loose, nibble away at just the germ or heart, then drop what remains.

By the time a whole ear is stripped, a sizeable pile of half-eaten corn is left. Usually we are not anxous to put out fresh corn until this discarded pile is cleaned up — after all, the squirrels don't need quite so much catering to and they will, if pressed, "clean up their plates."

This is where the mourning doves help out. They gobble down the half-eaten corn and apparently relish left overs.

☆

Not so — most birds, yet, but, at our feeding station, the mourning doves and bluejays engage in constant feuding. The fighting is never bloody, in fact that is no actual combat, but by sheer bluff the dove forces the jay to leave.

Our beloved Evans Creek is the water source. Most of tte time, during this part of the year at least, it is frozen over, but usually there are a few open spots here and there. It is fun to watch the doves gather around for a drink — it is also quite a sight, anywhere from 10 to 17 birds circling a water hole. The slightest little thaw creates puddles on the creek or in the road and a thirsty bird quickly finds these, too.

So it is that because the flock is so large and has provided much good looking we would, if pressed to name a bird of the year, have to say the doves have it.

CLINTON WOOLEN CHATTER

By EL and FRIENDS

"What is so rare as a day in June" . . . unless it is a day in February? The weather may be one thing we cannot control, but at least we can enjoy it. And every time we have one of those lovely June days in February . . . we appreciate!

February is a wonderful month, although it is short. There are important birthdays and Valentine's Day and this year a decided touch of spring in the air.

We went North over the weekend and found little if any snow until we reached the Grayling area. However, from there on it was snowing and quite a bit on the ground.

The ski resorts were busy and lots of activity in the nearby towns. Sunday we spent some time at Thunder Mountain and watched the Region 3 Junior Ski Meet. The kids that participate in these meets are our hope for future Olympics. If you like to see a display of skill combined with a do or die spirit, take one of these ski meets in.

Which reminds me all our ski wear is on Sale. Prices have been reduced 1/3 or more.

Wool for Easter seems to be leading the field.

Here at Clinton Woolen we have just received a new shipment of Spring Woolens. It is not too early to start your Easter outfit. We are always ready to help you make your selection.

Do not forget Valentine Day! A special day to show your love for the very special ones in your life.

Senator Porter Just Won't Say If He'll Run

(Editor's note — Frances Jackson is a 22-year-old Canadian attending Michigan State University, who managed to get a five-minute interview with Senator Elmer Porter and then prepared this special story for The Herald.

By FRANCES JACKSON
Special to the Tecumseh Herald

LANSING — Sen. Elmer Porter (R-Blissfield) has spent 28 years in the State Senate, but he's not talking about trying for 30.

"I've never told before and I'm not going to say now whether I'll be running again," he said in a recent interview.

"Even my wife doesn't know."

There are some in the senator's own party who think it time for his retirement. Among them is Virgil E. Eisenmann, a high school mathematics teacher from Porter's own home town, Blissfield, who hopes to win the Republican senatorial nod in Lenawee and Monroe Counties.

Porter had no comment on Mr. Eisenmann's candidacy but he said that there'd probably be a half a dozen against him before it was all over.

☆

THE SENATOR, commenting on apportionment, said that he thought the Supreme Court would settle the conflict by declaring an at-large election.

If so, he may not have to decide to retire. The Democratic voters of Michigan might easily force an end of his career in November.

In an at-large election, every voter in the state would vote for a representative and senator in every district. Thus the highly-populated Democratic strongholds in Wayne and Macomb Counties voting could change the makeup of the Congress.

Illinois had such an election, but the incumbents protected their seats by agreeing that neither party would have a full slate of candidates.

☆

DESPITE THE disadvantages of an at-large election Sen. Porter opposed a proposed resolution to ask the voters to extend the present legislators terms two more years until 1966 when the apportionment mess might be cleared.

The resolution would have to pass both houses by a two-thirds majority before going to the people.

Sen. Porter was equally mum about the national political picture. He has his favorite presidential candidate — Barry Goldwater — but he said:

"I wouldn't bet a penny on anyone. I'm not making any predictions."

Not even about his own political future.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

As a graduate of Tecumseh High School and as an aspirant to the teaching profession, I feel called upon to comment on a situation which causes an individual to feel the necessity to bribe the citizens of Tecumseh into supporting their local school system.

It seems to me to be a problem of values and through the years the Tecumseh School System has been plagued by a similar misplacement of values by it's supporters.

It is, as a matter of fact, a problem faced by nearly every school across this beer-can and garbage-strewn land of ours. In an affluent society such as ours where affluence is both a cause and an effect of consumption and more consumption and where to consume has become almost a patriotic duty, our values have become warped.

It has become more important to acquire goods than to pay for an efficient police force to protect them. It has become more important to construct more and better roads than to make them safe to drive on.

And most tragic of all, it has become more important to own a new car or television set than to provide a decent education for our children.

I don't think it is necessary to comment on the importance of education in solving our national and world problems or in merely maintaining the American way of life that we all enjoy too fully and self-righteously.

The fact remains that we have an obligation to do our best for our children. We shouldn't be worrying about how to provide a mere four mills for our children, but how to provide more..

We may all live long enough to wish that we had.

Patrick D. Fero,
Michigan State University.

TO THE EDITORS:

We have in our possession a copy of The Tecumseh Herald dated June 29, 1893, which contains the essays given by the Graduation Class of the Tecumseh High School in that year.

One of the graduates was Miss Edith Ingersol, who wrote an essay on the University Extension, which was a comparatively new movement at that time.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Ralph Halladay
Rural Clinton

Raymond Sweet on 5-Month Cruise with Sixth Fleet

USS GRAHAM COUNTY — Raymond B. Sweet, fireman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raynor B. Sweet of rural Tecumseh, is serving aboard the tank landing ship USS Graham County, which departed Norfolk, Va., on Jan. 13 for a five-month tour of duty with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

As a unit of Amphibious Squadron Four, Graham County will participate in operational training while overseas. The squadron is made up of nearly 3,000 sailors and marines embarked in six ships.

The ships, which will visit ports in Spain, France, Italy, Greece and several Mediterranean islands, are scheduled to return early in July.

COME AND SEE HOW WE OPERATE — Dan Rodehaver (left) and Randy Disbrow, members of Boy Scout Troop 73, which staged an outdoor camp and demonstration at the Scout Cabin last Saturday in commemoration of Boy Scout Week, walked through the business district with sandwich boards. The boys set up an explorer tent and lean-tos for a winter camp. They each had a tin can dinner, consisting of an onion on the bottom, meat, potatoes and vegetables added with water. It was covered, then placed on the fire. Later in the afternoon, the Otter Patrol made rope with the troop's rope-making machine.

Mills and River Inseparable

(Editor's note — Another chapter in the history of the River Raisin is recounted in this article.)

By MRS. REGINALD ANGUS

A catalogue of other mills on the Raisin would take pages to list, so let us merely say that the river and the mill are inseparable in early history.

(In the last installment, Mrs. Angus mentioned the Red Mill and Globe Mills in Tecumseh.)

Whenever a town was founded, a mill was the first sign of civilization.

Such a catalogue would have to include a small town, Blissfield, founded by Harvey Bliss and his family in December 1824 who came up the river from Monroe where they had formerly settled.

Saline, a larger town, would also have to be mentioned with its founder, surveyor Orange Risdon who laid out U.S.-12.

Until recent times the mill there made soybean oil for the Ford Motor Company.

☆

IT WOULD also be necessary in writing of our river to mention all the famous people who knew it well.

Time does not permit full biographical information and a mere mention must suffice.

There were the missionaries and ministers:

The Rev. John Monteith, pioneer Presbyterian clergyman;

The Rev. William Narcissus Lyster, an Episcopal clergyman who established churches in this part of Michigan, and who named the Irish Hills;

Elder Tripp, the Baptist and pioneer abolitionist of Cambridge Township;

Father Gabriel Richard, territoral delegate to Congress who saw to it there were funds for our now famous US-12.

☆

THERE WERE other prominent men:

General Armstrong, Custer, Monroe's most famous citizen who met death beside another river at the hands of Indians;

General Fisk of Clinton, once a prominent politician and soldier;

Sterling Morton of Monroe who is the father of Arbor Day;

Musgrove Evans, Tecumseh's early miller, stage coach driver and pioneer, who had one son who died in the Alamo.

(To Be Continued)

Place for Teens

"This is a place for the teen-agers," said John Truesdale, Jr., during an interview at his new TEEN CAN TEEN.

"I've heard the kids say there was no place to go and nothing to do for years and finally decided to do something about it."

He was standing at the formica-covered soda bar, backed by white leather fountain stools. Drinks for the kids are the greatest, such as a Bloody Mary — an orange concoction with cherry syrup.

The modern two-room teen-age hangout is bright and clean with light rose lower walls and cream color above. The inverted V-shaped ceiling dulls the din with acoustical tile.

☆

Pennants of pro and college football teams line the walls. School patches are displayed in great number.

Discipline is strict — with parental cooperation — one boy has already been banned from the canteen and two others are on probation for being out of order.

☆

SMOKING IS NOT allowed in the dance area — neither are adults.

"Anyone fighting or promoting a fight will be barred from entering the Teen Can Teen," reads an important rule.

Live bands play on Saturday nights. Around 180 jam the spot to pay $1 for the fun, which lasts until 11 p.m.

Friday and Sunday nights are also exceptionally busy. Christmas and New Year's nights brought 220 kids jamming into the spot.

During the week the juke box is used for dancing and the place is open from 10 a.m. 'til 10 p.m.

Kristin Driscoll, Suzanne Dawes and Jane Beck, all 16 and juniors at Clinton High School, were sipping on Cokes and listening to Ricky Nelson's latest ballad, "For You".

☆

WHEN ASKED what they liked about the Teen Can Teen the girls all had different answers.

"I like Mr. and Mrs. Truesdale. They're nice. They let you do what you want to do — as long as you follow the rules. This is a place where you can relax," Kristin said.

Suzie added, "It's very clean."

The Clinton Youth Club now holds its meetings at the Can Teen — they formerly met at the Community Center.

License Tab Sales Moving Ahead of '63

Mrs. Ethel Hammack, manager of the Secretary of State Branch Office, 805 W. Chicago Blvd., states that auto license tab sales are moving well, in fact, ahead of last year.

The office is open daily from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4:30 p.m. except Saturday when the hours are 9 a.m. to noon.

There are no line-ups as yet, but Mrs. Hammack urges motorists not to wait until the last week. Last year, she sold 700 plates daily the last week of sales.

Trucks and pick-ups do not have to be re-weighed this year.

FFA Celebrates 'Week'

Vocational agriculture students in Tecumseh High School will join Future Farmers of America members throughout the nation in activities to focus attention on the importance of agriculture during National FFA Week, Feb. 15-22.

"AGRICULTURE-Dynamic . . . Challenging" is this year's FFA Week theme.

The FFA boys will undertake a campaign to inform the general public about the importance of the agricultural industry to America and the growing need for farming.

They'll also show the numerous and wide variety of opportunities that exist in the broad field of agriculture for young men who have a background of farm experience and training.

☆

"WE HAVE such an abundance of food in America that people are taking farmers for granted," said Paul Burns, vocational agriculture teacher and FFA advisor.

"Actually, farming is still our largest and most vital industry, and it is becoming increasingly important with our expanding population.

"In our area, particularly, most of the businesses and a lot of the jobs, are basicly dependent upon surrounding farms for their experience. Take away the farms, and for all practical purposes you would hurt the economy of the entire community."

☆

They raise 500 broilers a year, feed off as many as 17 hogs and about the same number of lambs. They also have a commercial sheep chain of 16 ewes and a pig chain.

The FFA boys farm 15 acres of land and have their own equipment.

Membership in the FFA is made up of boys who are students of vocational agriculture in high school. The organization's activities are designed to help develop rural leadership and good citizenship, and to stimulate the boys to better achievement in their study and work toward successful establishment in farming or some other agricultural occupation.

There are 49 members in the local chapter.

"A Wilde Evening with Shaw" will be presented at Dawson auditorium on Adrian College Campus Feb. 22 at 8:30 p.m.

Reserved tickets are $5 and $2.50, with students at $1 for balcony seats. These may be purchased at the door.

It is a review of the lives and works of Oscar Wilde and George Bernard Shaw, edited and adapted by Richard Gray and Mayo Loiseaux, also stars and sole performers.

Bixby Hospital Auxiliary will use the proceeds for hospital scholarships.

THS Enters Forensic Program

ANN ARBOR — A record 373 schools including Tecumseh, have enrolled in the spring program of the Michigan High School Forensic Association.

The Michigan program, one of the largest in the nation with 9,000 participants in some 2,400 individual speech contests last year, is headquartered at the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services.

First and second place winners at the local contest, in each of the 10 events, will proceed to district competition between March 23 and April 11.

Final regional contests between the various district winners will be held between April 20 and May 9.

Spring events include oratory, declamation, interpretative reading, narrative and humorous reading, extempore speaking, dramatic monologue and idalogue, lyric poetry, and radio news commentary.

First place district winners will receive engraved desk dictionaries from The Detroit News. Last year the News awarded 475 dictionaries. Certificates are awarded to regional winners, and the University gives wall plaques to regional-winning schools.

News From Boysville

By BARRY FLYNT

The Ida Bluestreaks proved too powerful for the Knights last Friday night as they were dumped, 76-63.

The Knights had high hopes of beating the Bluestreaks as they did in their first meeting, but couldn't overcome the fine shooting and consistent rebounding of the Bluestreaks.

Ron Klos hit for 22 points for scoring honors and Mo Jacobs dropped in 15 for the Knights.

√

Boysville's Glee Club will sing at the High Mass at St. Joseph's Shrine, Irish Hills, February 23. Under the direction of Brother Philip Armstrong, The Glee Club has sung at many different places, but this is their first engagement at Irish Hills.

√

Jim Cowan was high scorer in this contest with 22 points for the Junior Knights.

Boysville eighth grade basketball team took second place behind Summerfield in the eighth grade tournaments this past week.

The eighth grade team, sparked by Vince Mickula and coached by Tom Sallors, has done well all season despite its 2-3 record before the tournaments.

TO THE EDITORS:

We, the elected representatives of the students of Tecumseh High, feel that the essential facts of the impending millage election should be brought to the attention of every voting citizen of the Tecumseh school district. This election is of the utmost importance to you, for it is you, the voter, who has the responsibility of deciding the fate of your child's education.

Let us get down to facts.

On Monday, Feb. 17, you will be asked to decide upon the continuation of the four mill operating tax approved by the voters in the spring of 1962. Approval of the proposal would merely extend the present tax for five years not increase it.

It is important to remember that passing this measure would not enlarge your present tax rate, but it would benefit your children and the community.

Passage of the millage will obtain for the school a donation of $500,000. This gift will take the form of two additions, one to the high school this year and one to the junior high in two years.

The $400,000 high school addition will consist of four much needed science laboratories, five new classrooms, an addition to the shop facilities, enlargement of the boys locker room, and an up-to-date study hall-library combination.

This endowment would expand the student capacity of the now badly - crowded high school (whose recommended capacity is 600 with a present enrollment of nearly 900) to 1,200 or 1,300.

The new space would also permit the addition of new courses, impossible under present conditions.

This millage, these new facilities are needed to guarantee your children the education they need in the modern competitive world.

This letter represents the efforts of the representative body of the students of Tecumseh High School; independent of the faculty, administration, or board.

Thank you,
Tecumseh High School

HOG PRICES WILL IMPROVE during the next few weeks and will hold steady to slightly stronger during March and April. Expect to see prices reach $16 at Corn Belt markets sometime in March. Slaughter will generally hold below year ago from now into summer with last fall's pig crop down 4 percent. Hogs can safely be carried to 225 to 230 pounds but watch discounts on heavyweights. Light feeder pigs bought for $14 or less to finish on the early summer market look profitable — more so than heavier hogs that will finish sooner.

NITRATE POISONING has become a problem in some areas. Mild forms may cause abortion of calves or a drop in milk production. Better have your feed and water analyzed if you suspect this condition. If nitrates are excessive you'll need to dilute the toxic forage or grain with other low nitrate level feeds. Including adequate amounts of vitamin supplements in rations helps overcome this problem, too.

PROFITABLE OAT YIELDS depend heavily on a balanced fertilizer program. Use the table as a guide. If forage seedlings are made with oats, apply 10 to 20 pounds extra P (25 to 45 pounds P2O5) and 10 to 30 pounds additional K (15 to 40 pounds K2O). When oats follow soybeans rather than corn, reduce the suggested N rates by 20 pounds per acre.

Fertilizer suggestions for oats (seeding rates).
Normal Oat Crop Conditions	N	P*
Most of Mid-Indiana dark green color	8	10
Oats yellow-tinge - normal green color	35	10
Oats short, poor stooling - light green color	50	15

*Multiply by 2.29 to get pounds of P_2O_5.

DIESEL vs. GAS. A Michigan study shows that over 60 percent of all tractors 45 h. p. or larger are operated less than 800 hours per year. Regardless of tractor size, it isn't economical to go to diesel unless the tractor is used at least 500 to 600 hours per year.

Long and Short

BY TOM RIORDAN

Get with it, Big Daddy. You can learn to love that Beatle jazz if you'll just quit being so square.

Relax, man, don't fight it, live it.

And so we usher in another era.

The great army of American adults may be surprised to find that not all their numbers are anxious to see the Beatles stamped out.

As a public service, on the highest plane, The Herald conducted an opinion survey, with startling results.

"What do you think of the Beatles?" was the question asked of various community leaders.

Before allowing them to answer, we helped them into a custom-made Beatle wig, so that they might get into the proper frame of mind. The camera happened to be nearby.

On this page are three of the victims and a trio more appear on page two. We're not saying who is who.

To help you identify them, here are the names of the fellows and their quotes. You match them up.

Dentist Robert Murray — "I used to be the only one around town with this kind of long hair. Suddenly, it's popular again."

Jeweler Dick Eggleston — "Bring on those drums, I'm ready. This Ringo kills me." (Dick failed to add that he sells Beatle records at his shop.)

Insuranceman Bill Hanna—"I kind of like that crazy stuff. Being a goofball (Editor's note—after looking at Bill's handsome face draped with Beatle hairdo, who will disagree?), something like this relaxes me in my offtime."

Funeral Director Tom Corkery — "It just proves that this type of non-conformity appeals to the youth of the world. With the kind of gold they're lining their pockets with, I'd wear this beatle hairdo, too — all the way to the bank." (To prove his point, Tom donned the wig for the Tecumseh Players' cast party Saturday evening.)

Tecumseh Products executive Hugh Walter cast the lone dissenting vote — "They're a fad. Their music doesn't appeal to me. I'm glad my kids are out of that cycle."

When a call went out for a Beatle wig, none could be located in town.

But Mrs. William Kasno, owner of Maria Beauty Salon, stepped into the breach. Aided by her assistant, Audrey LeFevre, a hair-piece was fashioned, the girls spending nearly four hours to do the job. (Doesn't it show?)

All of which brings us to the moral of this offering.

There are always going to be fads in the field of entertainment. (I remember my mother huddling close to our old Atwater-Kent radio to hear the voice of Rudy Vallee 30 years ago.)

But more to the point. We Americans can always laugh at these zany trends — and ourselves.

Can you imagine half a dozen leading Russians allowing themselves to be photographed in Beatle wigs?

Still Chance for Bus Ride to Coldwater

There is still a chance to sign up for the bus ride to Coldwater for the Saturday performance of "Pajama Game" by the Tecumseh Players.

Bus and show ticket cost will total $5.50 a person. Thirty-eight must sign up by Friday noon or The Herald cannot charter the bus.

Sallows to Day and Back

Motto on the Michigan flag is, "If you wish to see a great peninsula, look about you."

Well, if Tecumseh residents wish to see the library's new state flag, they'll have to look in the City Council chambers.

In a neat bit of teamwork — rivaling the old Tinker to Evers to Chance routine — the city is displaying a free state flag.

It was debuted at Monday's Council session.

☆

CITY CLERK Mrs. Naomi Sallows explained how the flag came to Tecumseh. She learned recently that libraries may have a flag free, simply by asking for it. These are ones which the state has flown briefly, either inside or above the state capitol.

Mrs. Sallows querried Mrs. Murray Day, assistant librarian, who hadn't heard of the deal, but quickly checked and, sure enough, she dug up the state provision.

Mrs. Day wrote to Senator Porter, who promptly processed the request and the flag arrived last week.

Four-Mill Vote Carried by Nearly 7-to-1 Edge

School officials were happily stunned Monday by the overwhelming margin that the four-mill proposal was passed by voters.

Final tally:
Yes — 1,848.
No — 293.

Except for two bond issues, about nine years ago, the electors gave local schools the greatest backing ever recorded in Tecumseh.

Not only do the schools keep four mills for operation, but they will now receive a $500,000 gift, promised the Board of Education if the millage passed.

☆

PRACTICALLY all observers believe that the gift was instrumental in passing the millage, particularly by such a wide margin — almost seven to one.

The gift will relieve taxpayers the burden of financing a construction program at the high school. About $400,000 of the gift is to be used this year to enlarge the high school, raising its 600-student capacity to 1,200 and providing badly-needed facilities, especially in the science areas.

Present enrollment is 888. The 1964-'65 term is expected to have a THS student body of about 950.

In 1965, $100,000 of the gift will be utilized to expand the junior high building on N. Ottawa St.

☆

PART OF THE millage passed Monday will be used to hike the base pay of teachers from $4,500 to $4,700 and increase the annual increment from $120 to $200.

Except for 13 instructors now at maximum pay, all teachers will get a $200 raise for the 1964-'65 term, plus their regular yearly increment.

The new salary schedule offers teachers with bachelor degrees, $4,700 to $6,620; masters' degree salaries, $5,200 to $7,120; and those with professional advance degrees, $5,700 to $7,620.

Remainder of the millage will be allocated to continue services — major being first grades and junior high classes on full days; minor being art, supplies, clubs and other smaller items — as promised by the board two years ago.

Scarlet Fever Turning Up

Scarlet fever cases are popping up again this winter, reports Dr. Eleanor Skufis, Lenawee County Health Department Director.

Tecumseh area schools have had seven cases verified.

Although on the increase, Dr. Skufis thought the disease is no more dangerous than in previous years

A local physician said he felt that it is no more harmful than any other child's contagious disease, "It goes around every winter."

Water Production of City Wells Drops

"If these were summer months now, we'd be out of water," City Manager Cal Zorn told Council members Monday evening.

He presented a boxscore of production by present city wells, showing the low records of most.

Salvation will come when the new No. 8 well is put into use, with an anticipated 1,000-gallon-per-minute capacity.

Mr. Zorn's breakdown, on a gallon-per-minute basis, showed:

WELL	NEW	NOW
No. 1	500	162
No. 2	500	162
No. 3	1,000	500
No. 4	1,000	0
No. 5	250	0
No. 6	300	75
No. 7	750	450
No. 9	1,000	1,000
TOTALS	5,300	2,324

No. 8, ready to go except for a 140-foot connection of eight-inch line to the water main, is located on Patterson St., near the DT&I Railroad.

☆

MR. ZORN estimates that when No. 8 is tied into the system and Nos. 1 and 2 are repaired, total capacity will hit a daily rate of 4,800,000 gallons.

Peak demand record for one summer day was 3,400,000.

Well No. 7 will pump 750 gallons a minute, the manager says, but because of present inadequate lines, it is kept to 450 gallons.

Council OKed Mr. Zorn's request of $845 to construct the line from No. 8 to the network.

A bid from Dunbar Drilling Co. or Swanton, O. for $10,190 was accepted by Council, covering cost of pump, motor and well house for No. 8.

"At the present time, we have $4,154 in the water improvement fund," Mr. Zorn reported to Council, in addition, "the water and sewer special assessment fund owes the water department $11,965 for water taps in several special assessment districts."

☆

To counter this, Mr. Zorn has ordered more polyphosphate, especially into the water pumped at No. 7, the main offender. This well is located on Burt St., next to the Country Club property.

Mr. Zorn points out that this is a harmless chemical which can't be tasted and will keep the iron moving instead of settling in pipes and mains, thus eliminating rusty appearance of the water.

Mr. Zorn said that there have been fewer complaints from residents in Herrick Park and along Division St., from where the greatest cries emanated.

Annual polyphosphate budget appropriation has been running $4,000. In the first six months of the fiscal year, $2,800 has already been expended for the compound.

☆

IN ADDITION to the added chemical, Mr. Zorn has set up a weekly water-main flushing schedule in Herrick Park, River Acres and Indian Acres. This has helped to cut down on the rust coloring.

Councilman Bob Bonner stated that having a water softener also aids in removing the rust.

RAISIN BOARD BALKS

Still No Agreement

An agreement between Raisin Township and the Tecumseh Fire Department still has not been concluded.

City Council told City Manager Cal Zorn to notify the Raisin board that its proposed contract is unacceptable.

However, Council quickly agreed that even without a contract, the emergency vehicle will continue to answer all accident calls in Raisin Township.

The main difference between the city and Raisin has boiled down to the fact that the city has made the new contract retroactive to July 1963.

For Raisin, this takes in nine calls and the township has already been billed for these at $300 each.

Officials in Raisin have refused to pay and contend that the $262.50 they sent under a former arrangement, brings them up to date.

☆

THE RAISIN BOARD returned the proposed contract, inking out the July date and substituting Feb. 1, 1964. This suggestion was rejected Monday by Council.

Raisin's Clerk, Mrs. Elwood Simon, triggered Council indignation by blasting the city's proposed fire contract via a letter to The Herald, which was printed last week.

Mrs. Simon claimed that the township's department "could have handled all of these fire calls (nine which occured since Sept. 3) had our fire department been notified."

She said Raisin "does not want fire protection from Tecumseh on the terms offered to us."

Mayor Harold Easton and Councilman John Hamilton, both members of the Tecumseh Department took exception to the comments of Mrs. Simon.

Mr. Hamilton said that it would have been impossible for the Raisin department to service eight of the nine calls.

He pointed out that in one instance the charge for a blaze, the Oct. 18 grass fire at Tecumseh Gravel Pit behind the Oddfellows Hall, was cancelled when it was determined Raisin's department could have fully handled the trouble.

☆

MAYOR EASTON added, "We saved them more than that (the

WELLS RUNNING DRY

Farm Folks Worry

As a result of last summer's drought and lack of snow this winter, several shallow wells and dug wells in the Tecumseh area are now becoming dry.

Dr. Eleanor Skufis, director of the Lenawee County Health Department, says the lack of water has become a potentially serious problem to homeowners with wells that are drying up.

Without a safe and sufficient water supply, dysentery diseases start to smolder. Many people consider symptoms of nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, fever or abdominal cramps as "flu" and do not see a doctor.

Accidental contamination of water, which has been hauled to dry sites can result from transport, even from a safe water supply, or dirty hose.

☆

DR. SKUFIS said, "Water trucks are not registered by any state regulations or local codes, so we hope and pray that the water is being taken from a safe source, that the truck is not used for anything other than safe water and the hose is clear."

Water may be made reasonably safe by boiling 10 minutes before using or by adding chlorine, such as laundry bleach, in small amounts until the chlorine taste is just noted.

Chlorine, however, will not usually affect certain organism causing amoebic dysentry.

Anyone wishing to drill a new well should get a free-of-charge well permit from the Lenawee County Health Department, stating the size of lot, house, known sources of contamination, such as septic tanks, old dry wells, tile fields, old privy pits, etc.

☆

AFTER THE well is drilled, a water sample should be sent to the Michigan Department of

IN THE MACON area, several families have had water shortages, including those of Clayton Bigelow, Mills Swick, Carleton Stretch, Frederick Helms, Barney Kurowicki and Ralph Schafer.

Mr. Bigelow deepened three wells last fall, but they didn't hold out, so found it necessary to drill again. Some have their new wells while others are still transporting water to their farms.

Charles Ruesink, a well driller from Tipton, says "The water table in general, has dropped about two feet, about the same as the lakes and this can make quite a difference in some wells."

THROUGH MY WINDOW

A SQUIRRELY MORNING

February was ushered in by gentle, warm weather and ah, such foolhardy thoughts of spring. Temperatures of 45 and 50 degrees to twist our thoughts, but much as we wish it would happen, winter is not going to give up so easily.

This is no time of year to give in to spring fever. Fortunately for me, on the warmest, sunniest, nicest morning, when it would have been so hard not to think about tulips, daffodils, crocus and such wonderful things, the squirrels came to my rescue.

They were so busy we could do nothing but watch — there simply was no time for daydreaming.

It all started innocently enough when we noticed a big, fat, sleek looking squirrel in Marshes' large elm tree.

He was flipping his tail at nothing in particular, just saying good morning to a beautiful day.

He was in such obviously good spirits that we paused a moment to share his happiness.

☆

SUDDENLY another squirrel popped into view — he was more than tearing around the trunk of the tree further down the creek bank. Well, two furry friends, perhaps we had better look further.

A quick check out the front window showed nothing, but a little later we looked again and sure enough, there was the squirrel, who lives in one of Prettymans' maples.

True to habit he was scampering straight down the sidewalk, a very polite, well-mannered character, you know.

This particular squirrel is easily recognized because of his tail. It is long and flowing, bushy and extremely graceful. Sometimes he is vain about showing it off, but today he couldn't be bothered, he was in a hurry to join the gang.

We never did see where the fourth squirrel came from, but when Mr. Longtail reached the end of the sidewalk, crossed the road and hopped up to the top rail of the fence, we started counting and wow.

☆

THE NEWCOMER began eating from the ear of corn on the fence, one we had seen at Marshes was busy in the corn tree and the other was hunting for walnuts on the creek bank. Somehow we had not noticed when the other member of the quartet started nibbling from the feeding tray.

With this many squirrels around, there was bound to be action, plenty of it and soon. We knew this, but still when it happened we were surprised. The squirrel in the corn tree suddenly decided the feeding tray was more to his liking — I will not speculate as to whether he was interested in the food or the squirrel who was already dining there.

Anyway, he shinnied the post, poked his head up, peeked over the feeding tray and we expected fireworks. Usually squirrels just aren't about to share the banquet board, but much to our surprise, there was no fight nor explosion at all.

For one of the few times that I remember, two squirrels sat side by side and peacefully munched on corn and sunflower seeds. My, My, My!

WITH SO many squirrels around, it was not long before the yard was quite full of half-eaten kernels of corn. The army of mourning doves quickly moved in to start feasting on left-overs.

The last laugh of the morning came when Mr. Longtail decided 17 doves were too many. He stopped eating and started chasing — all over the yard at top speed he raced, mourning doves were flying every which way.

So it is that we were saved from a ridiculously early bout with spring fever by a fast-moving, good looking and very squirrely morning.

Zorn Will Check Waste Water from Car Washes

City Manager Cal Zorn was requested by Council Monday to make a complete study of commercial locations which have city permission to dump water directly into storm sewers.

Main attention is to be focused on car-wash spots.

The investigation was suggested as the result of a request by Al Bagshaw to use this procedure at the auto wash he owns on E. Pottawatamie and S. Ottawa Sts.

To do this, Mr. Bagshaw would have to purchase an additional water meter, at $22, which would record usage for washing cars. This amount then would not be subject to the regular sewage surcharge, 12c per 1,000 gallons.

Several service stations already are using this procedure.

Concern was voiced by Council that dumping the detergent-loaded wastes directly into the river might not be advisable, although it was brought up that most modern detergents cannot be broken down in sewage disposal treatment.

'Early Birds' Get the Rooms

Thinking ahead 10 months, the Shawnee Squares have asked for use of the Community Center's Glass Room and main room on New Year's eve.

Art Williams of the group was told by the City Parks and Recreation Board that tentatively the request would be granted, pending arrival of Don Moffatt, new recreation director.

Agriculture Offers Many Opportunities in Variety of Jobs

In past years, agriculture employed a majority of the population. Today only about 7% of the people are farmers. However, agriculture is still the largest industry in the United States.

It employs seven million workers, more than are employed in the steel industry, the automobile industry or the transportation and public utilities combined.

Investment in agriculture exceeds $203 billion, equal to three-fourths of the value of assets of all corporations in the United States.

☆

THIS REPRESENTS $21,300 for each farm employee, as compared with $16,000 for each worker in the manufacturing industry.

Today one hour of farm labor produces four times as much food and other crops as it did in 1919-21.

Today one farmer produces enough food for himself and 25 other people. He is the most efficient producer of food in the world.

Crop production is 65% higher and output per breeding animal is 88% greater than in 1921.

The situation in agriculture today demands more and better agricultural education at the high school and college levels.

Farmers and farm youth need systematic vocational education to keep up with the dynamic industry of today's agriculture.

Agriculture actively seeks recruits — both men and women — for jobs more often in the city than on the farm. There is an increasing need for agricultural scientists, sales management, distribution and processing workers.

In Michigan 600,000 people work in agricultural businesses and industries. Banks alone expect to employ 4,000 to 6,000 college graduates as farm agents in the next few years.

☆

MANY PARENTS do not realize these vast opportunities in agriculture and it is for this reason that during National Future Farmer Week that this message is brought them.

It is not uncommon for a parent to say, "I don't want my son to take agriculture, I don't want him to be a farmer."

Another common mistake is that most parents do not realize that their sons or daughters may take agriculture in high school and at the same time meet college entrance requirements.

College professors have said that many students have missed a good opportunity in agriculture by not facing these facts. Whatever a person wants to be, he can be it in agriculture.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization which has as one of its main objectives the training of boys to meet the agricultural needs of the United States.

Many of these FFA boys go on to college, after taking agriculture in high school, then go on to positions of great importance in the agricultural industries of the nation.

Sam Gets Gray Hairs in Victory

BRITTON — Two more games are left on the Britton Tory basketball schedule and then begins the spine-tingling days on the tournament trail.

The Tories are looking for victory No. 15 — against one loss, this to Dundee, now second-ranked Class B team in the state.

They should notch it at Sand Creek Friday evening. The regular card is closed when Boysville comes here Feb. 28.

☆

IN SKIPPING past Deerfield, 84-73, last Friday the Tories added a few gray hairs to the head of their mentor, Sam Hamilton.

Things were rolling nicely for the Britton quintet when Coach Hamilton looked up and discovered that starters Ron Mastie, Verl Sanch and Phil Benedict all had fouled out.

But the Tories hung on and cousted in.

Benedict popped through 26, Mastie had 19, Sanch 15, Pepper Griewahn 12, and Walt Korican 6.

Await AAA Report

Illegal parking along Patterson St. in the area of Tecumseh Products Co. and along Ottawa St. will soon be coming under fire.

Councilman Ray Puffer said that on Monday afternoon he counted 14 autos left in "no parking" zones on W. Patterson St., adding this to be a common situation.

Police Chief Murell Clark said that he was well aware of the situation and that he had been awaiting the Automobile Club survey report, due in March, before making recommendations.

Chief Clark pointed out that there are now a wide variety of signs in the area, causing confusion.

He feels the AAA report will provide answers.

When proper signs are put in place, the chief stated warning tickets would be issued for one week, then regular tickets from that time on.

He told Council that due to the burst of hiring at the Products there are now nearly 400 more cars on city streets during the day than a few months ago.

OUR READERS WRITE

TO THE EDITORS:

In last week's paper Behind Page One, it told of Bob Seitz, Jr. putting up and taking down the flag at the American Legion Home each day.

What about the flag at City Hall?

Sunday night as we drove thru the city of Tecumseh, the flag was still out, and it was past 7 p.m.

This flag has been left outside many times at night and even in inclement weather.

It is the universal custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flagstaffs in the open.

Sincerely,
Mrs. LaVern Seizert

Nursing Home Deficit Is Cut

In its first month of operation, Herrick Nursing Home had an operating deficit of $1,886.12.

This was sliced by almost $500 in January, the second month. A portion of this is building depreciation, Mayor Harold Easton, a hospital board member, told Council Monday.

The hospital board approved checks totaling $88,167.47 for December bills, including a payroll of $39,939.55.

Bad debts of $15,244.53, some dating back to 1959, were officially written off.

A check for $20,998.80 was issued to Krieghoff-Lenawee Construction Co., leaving a balance due on the $184,000 Nursing Home of $2,333.50.

This will be paid when Krieghoff has complied with recommendation of the State Fire Marshal and Architect Carl Marr has inspected the structure.

Passageway between the hospital and Nursing Home cost $7,000 and a final payment of $1,023.50 was OKed to Krieghoff.

Dunbar-Borton Co. of Adrian received a check for $1,605 towards its $3,000 repair job in the hospital boiler room. This leaves a balance due of $1,395.

DR. RICHARD HAMMEL and Administrator Orrie Gilbert were named a two-man committee by Board Chairman Kenneth Herrick to investigate having an outside organization make a study of present and future needs of the hospital, relative to space and equipment.

The board decided that only television sets on rental by the Hospital Auxiliary would be permitted in rooms. Radios with ear phones may be brought in and conventional radios for private rooms are OK.

The National Bank of Jackson was approved to handle the new Hospital Employee Pension Trust Fund.

Birthday Cake Made for Edith

Twelve members of the Tecumseh Music Club attended the rehearsal of "Pajama Game" Feb. 11 after a brief meeting at the home of Mrs. Maynard Mulvaney.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Leland Fogelsong, served dessert featuring a birthday cake made by Mrs. Fogelsong to honor the birthday anniversary of a member, Miss Edith Ingersoll.

Mrs. Charles O'Neill presented the life and work of Richard Adler, composer of the music for the recent Tecumseh Players production.

Plans are in progress for the group to attend the opera, "Faust" in Detroit in May.

Mrs. Arthur Schwartz will be the hostess for the March 10 meeting.

Jayvees Romp in Easy Victory Over Milan '5'

Coach Jim Hoffman, with seven players from the frosh squad, played his entire bench in with 14 of the 16 players getting in the scoring column.

John Goodman was high scorer with 10 points.

Final two points for Tecumseh came the hard way when freshman Kim Rosacrans cut loose from mid-floor as the buzzer sounded.

The Jayvees led, 32-18, at the half and 48-29 at the end of three periods.

The freshman players will play with the Jayvees in the final two games.

Indians Defeated by Milan, 72-68

A night to forget for Coach Vic Lawson was over about 10 p.m. last Friday when the Tecumseh-Milan tilt ended with the Big Reds winning in a tremendous upset, 72-68.

The Indians did little right, except for the final period when they tried to make up a 13-point deficit — and almost pulled it out.

Out-rebounded and outscraped, Tecumseh appeared almost lackadaisical on the floor compared to the shorter Milan players.

The fact that Milan controlled both bankboards probably hurt the Indians more than any other factor. The Big Reds repeatedly grabbed rebounds and often followed up with a two-pointer under their own basket.

During the final quarter, Tecumseh pulled to within two points only to falter. Finding it necessary to foul to get control of the ball, Milan was able to hit on the free throws and then stop Tecumseh from following up with a goal.

Clark Nichols was top scorer for the Indians with 14 points. High scoring Jerry Hebb made only 10, far below his 22 per game average.

The Indians should win this Friday night at Ypsilanti-Lincoln unless they repeat their Milan performance. Ypsi-Lincoln and Grosse Ile, here next week, are the only games left on the schedule.

Dessert was served to 14 present.

Four Traffic Accidents Investigated Here

Four accidents were investigated by Tecumseh police during the past week.

Mrs. Olive J. Skala, Adrian, was cited for not having her car under control Friday noon when she rammed into a stop sign on N. Pearl at W. Chicago Blvd. Although not seriously injured, she was taken to Bixby Hospital in Adrian.

Saturday morning, Larry Merx, 16, was charged with failing to yield the right of way when he pulled into the path of a vehicle driven by Sarah Ann McCarty, 21, Britton.

The Merx car sustained damages to the right side, and front, right fender and bumper of the McCarty car were damaged.

Jean Kathryn Miller, 45, 408 Outer Dr., was cited for improper backing when she backed into a parked car of James Curry, 20, Adrian.

Samuel A. Whitney, 53, 315 S. Union, attempted a left turn in downtown Tecumseh Tuesday afternoon and was cited for failing to yield the right of way when his car was struck by an auto driven by Maxine M. Bishop, 40, Jackson.

The right rear of Whitney's car and the front end of the Bishop auto were damaged. Both were towed away by wreckers.

Cindy's a beauty . . . and most important of all, she's a Chevy – rugged, dependable and durable from the ground up, ready to give low-cost operation and maintenance, mile after mile. This is what truckers want. This is the reason why so many choose Chevy over other trucks. Add up the features, you'll get:
Chevy Durability
Chevy Dependability
Chevy Ruggedness
Chevy Economy
Chevy Good Looks

Doug Aylesworth of Doug's Gas and Oil Service has named his new Chevrolet truck after Cindy, his 17-month-old daughter.
Pleased with the new equipment, Doug said Monday, "It's the Roadmaster of all trucks. I like everything about it. Nothing is better than something else, I like it all."
Doug, a 1952 graduate of Tecumseh High School, started his own business in June, 1963, and has enlarged it from 105 to 220 oil customers.
In August, 1962, he took over an established route of 400 bottle gas customers from Ed Furgason and is now servicing 660 people with Pyrofax. He also has a dealer working for him in Hudson.
Doug is happy about two special services he offers his customers: one is the new print-o-meter delivery which registers the number of gallons of oil to the tenth of a gallon; the other is his keep full service without notification after the first delivery.
Doug's Gas and Oil Service is located 2 miles north of Tecumseh on Tecumseh-Clinton Rd.

TEEN TALK

By JANICE WHELAN

The National Honor Society met Feb. 11.

Initiation is tentatively set up for the second Tuesday in March, providing the executive committee has selected new members by then.

The speaker for the evening was Lee Ann Minton, who spoke on the teaching profession. She teaches government and citizenship at Tecumseh High School.

√

The Art Club heard a report on Mrs. Jackie Kennedy's appreciation of art by Kathryn Southwell and Linda Greene Feb. 6. The club discussed the new point system which they plan to use. In order for a member to receive a pin he or she must complete a certain amount of points..

√

The Student Council discussed plans for Sponge Week which will be held April 8-10.

A variety show is being planned and will be incorporated into Sponge Week if the committee in charge agrees.

The idea of having the Castro Brothers for an assembly will not succeed unless some community group would be willing to help the Council out.

This group is sponsored by the National Council of Churches For Understanding Program. It includes three young men from Uruguay, who sing folk songs of South America.

Greg King and Anders Eden who both heard them, commented that they were "really terrific".

The problem is that in order to have them in April the Council must provide transportation for them from Ann Arbor to Tecumseh and back. While they are here, hospitality must also be provided for them.

The Council hopes that a Service Club might be interested in having them perform at their monthly meeting in April and would help the Council out as to transportation.

The Council also discussed raising money for sponsoring our foreign exchange student for next year.

As has been done in the past, the service clubs each donate an amount of money toward the expenses, the Council will be contacting the groups to see if they still wish to go along with this.

√

A "Clean Tecumseh High School" campaign is being planned by the Council in hopes to improve the appearance of halls by eliminating waste paper, which seems to end up there.

√

The Powder Puff Prance at the Community Center Saturday was a terrific success, as one attendant commented, "The best thing the Teen Club's had in a long time!"

Door favors consisted of red hearts with a puff of cotton. The decorations were red and white crepe paper streamers across the ceiling descending to an enormous powder puff in the center of the floor.

Surrounding that were tables and chairs, the tables covered with white paper and red hearts.

The teens danced to the music of "Bob and The Invaders," and free refreshments consisted of pop and chips. The dress was semi-formal.

Kits for Algerian Kids

"Gifts for Algerian Children," is an Irish Hills Girl Scout Council-wide project.

All troops in the three-county council are participating in this "Look Wider Still" service project.

The project will start on Girl Scout Thinking Day, Feb. 22, and carry through Girl Scout Week, March 8.

☆

THE KITS which the troops are busy assembling, are much-needed articles used by the Algerian children.

A pillow case of clothes, a do-it-yourself box of pencils, crayons and unruled paper, a chalk board in a gaily-colored bag and a health kit assembled in a bath towel.

Many troops are earning and saving nickels to purchase blankets. Forty-two nickels or $2.10 is enough money to buy one and deliver to Algeria.

The Algerian Revolution several years ago, killed 225,000 people and left the countryside a shamble. Church and scout groups through the American Friends Service are assisting in many ways.

☆

IRISH HILLS GIRL SCOUT Council, with 3,744 registered girls, are assembling one kit per troop and many troops are assembling one per girl.

The project was selected by the program committee, which consists of nine members throughout the three - county council.

Mrs. Donald C. Creger from Tecumseh is chairman.

"Do you serve families of our faith?" This is a question in the minds of many, for obvious reasons. It makes no difference what the family's religion is, our answer to this question is: yes . . . we can properly serve those of ANY faith.

BRITTON — Once again the Britton area women are planning card parties for the benefit of Herrick Memorial Hospital.

These parties under the sponsorship of the Hospital Auxiliary co-chairmen Mrs. J. J. Walper and Mrs. Thomas Rudd, may be afternoon or evening, all ladies or mixed groups, as small as one table or as many as your house will hold.

"The more we have the more we will make," said Mrs. Rudd.

Mrs. Rudd has asked Mrs. Elmer Eberhardt to contact the people in the Britton area, and she is looking for hostesses.

There will be many nice prizes again this year.

It is not necessary to be a member of the Auxiliary to have a party; only that they be held the first week in April to qualify for prizes.

Mrs. Eberhardt will have tickets.

Anyone wishing to be a hostess please contact her.

Pat Eberhardt Returning Home from Blue Hawaii

BRITTON — Elmer Eberhardt received a letter this week from Milton R. Bigham, president of Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co. saying that while visiting his old friend, Mr. Johnson of the 50th State Insurance Co. of Hawaii that he had met his daughter Pat.

She told him that her father had been an agent of Hartford for a great many years.

He was reporting this information and sending good wishes in the Hawaiian expression, "Aloha!"

☆

PAT HAS BEEN working for Mr. Johnson since July, where 28 solicitors represent the firm in the planning and handling of insurance for island individuals, firms and families.

Mr. Johnson represented Hawaii in the White House at the signing of the statehood proclamation for Hawaii helping former President Eisenhower unfurl the 50-star flag marking the occasion.

As much as Pat hates to leave these wonderful people and the island where you go swimming in February, she says she misses more the snow, crisp breezes and her family.

Pat will fly home by jet March 1.

A&P GUARANTEES THE eat AS WELL AS THE meat

A&P Super-Right MEAT

This Can Well Mean Getting The Most For Your Meat Dollar!

The EAT in the MEAT means plenty to you because nearly every week 25% of your food money is spent for meat. Unless your family gets the EAT in the MEAT, what you spend isn't delivering what it's supposed to. That's why A&P guarantees every chop, roast, steak or any other "Super-Right" meat you buy. Either your family agrees they're getting the EAT in the MEAT or you get your money back. Fair enough?

The EAT in the MEAT is further protected by A&P experts. They have an "eagle eye" for the slightest defect and when they pass beef to go to your A&P — we know it's meat with plenty of eat — and we guarantee it! The same goes for "Super-Right" pork . . . milk-fed veal . . . tender lamb and poultry. How about changing to "Super-Right" meats? You'll get the EAT in the MEAT your family wants — and good, sound value, too.

The EAT in the MEAT starts with A&P's selections from the nation's top packers. Let's take beef for example. "Super-Right" beef can't be anything but fully-matured, grain-fed meat. And we never deviate from these quality standards — that you can depend on.

TO SING — The Envoys Trio will be singing at the Assembly of God, 210 W. Bidwell, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 27. These three young men present a wide variety of gospel music with appeal to everyone. The Envoys are known throughout the Eastern States, since they have toured there for the past three years. Presently the trio is on a 12-month tour which takes them coast to coast. Two of the Envoys, Eddie Anderson and Lee Petrucci, are preparing for full-time ministry, while Rich Anderson, the third member, is studying for a medical profession. "Don't miss this opportunity to hear the Envoys sing," suggest members of Christ Ambassadors, a youth group of the local church.

Scout Cabin Is Too Small, Leaders Feel

Need for additional facilities was the highlight of a questionnaire completed by Boy and Girl Scout leaders for Tecumseh Scout Cabin Association.

A cabin study committee sent the questionnaires to adult leaders and compiled information as to present and future needs.

Due to the tremendous growth of both Boy and Girl Scout troops in the past five years, the cabin is considered much too small for the larger troops.

It is in constant use every day after 2:30 p.m. and most of Saturday. Many homes, churches and schools are also the meeting places for troops.

Banquets and other activities requiring kitchen facilities make it necessary to seek larger rooms when Scout people believe that the cabin, if enlarged, would provide the ideal setting for such Scouting programs.

☆

AN ADDITION of a building about 20 feet x 20 feet would enable two troops to hold meetings at the same time and provide space when inter-troops meet.

The present cabin is 24 feet x 42 feet with a beautiful fireplace, enjoyed by the smaller troops who use it.

Scouters would like to make it possible for more troops to have the benefit of this atmosphere which they feel lends much to the program.

Lack of storage and room size make it prohibitive for the larger troops to use the cabin.

☆

THE CABIN study committee is seeking estimates and ideas which will be presented at a special meeting Feb. 24, called by the executive board.

The sole purpose of the meeting will be to discuss these and also a fund-raising program for a proposed addition or expansion.

Wendell Disbrow presided at a cabin association meeting when revisions of the by-laws were presented.

New cabin policies will be posted at the Scout Cabin and the committee asks that all troops using the facility observe them.

Harold Black's bid for roof repairs was accepted.

Good Citizenship Girls Are Honored at DAR Meeting

A report on "National Defense" was given by Mrs. Neil Pearson.

Mrs. Fred Dickinson introduced DAR Good Citizenship girls, Fawn Choske, Lorena Fitzpatrick of Clinton and Judy Rohrback of Britton-Macon and their mothers.

The students will be entertained at a luncheon March 13 at the state convention in Grand Rapids.

Ronald Croll, Tecumseh High School English teacher, presented four of his pupils:

Terry Clark presented "The White Cliffs of Dover".

Laura Seager read the speech of Patrick Henry given at the Virginia Convention of Delegates.

Mrs. Leon Rosacrans, publicity chairman, said each of the presentations was very well done.

The meeting closed with a tea. Mrs. E. T. Armstrong and Mrs. Purnell Osburn poured.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Joe Rice and Mrs. Armstrong.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Rosacrans.

Will Purchase Play Equipment from Proceeds

Members of the Tecumseh Acres PTA voted to purchase out-of door play equipment for younger students and blackboards and basketball equipment from proceeds of fun night.

The meeting was held Feb. 13 with about 50 attending when Superintendent James McDowell, Mrs. Robert Stone, Robert H. Moore and Orville Bishop of the school board were in attendance.

A general discussion was held with board members answering questions.

Mr. Moore presented plans including size of the proposed additional building.

Those on the committee are Mrs. Howard Mullins, Mrs. Robert Reeves and Mrs. Hal Bates.

Members will hear the reading of an addition to the by-laws at the next meeting. The addition is from by-laws of the national PTA authorizing the executive board to make expenditures from the treasury.

Dean Kirkland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Kirkland, 10101 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd., was the only student from the Clinton High School taking Alumni Distinguished Scholarship exams at Michigan State University.

He, with Gene Manwaring, Mary Boynton, Fawn Choske, Marilyn Mumaw and John Oberlin of the Tecumseh High School, were among the 800 competing for 10 awards.

The scholarships are not based on financial need, but are awarded in recognition of the student's ability.

To be eligible for the scholarship exams, students must rank within the top 5% of their graduating class and must have scored at or above the ninth percentile on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying test.

The 10 awards are for $1,000 each and are renewable each year for a total of $4,000.

The students left Friday to take the three-hour test Saturday.

Results of the exams are not used for the Alumni Scholarships alone, but also are used to select winners of many other scholarships that are awarded.

If you're after a car with some life to it, there's only one thing to do. Be my guest.

I'm easy to find, you know. Just look for me at your Buick dealer's, during his Sports Car Rally. While you wait for me, you can drive one of his sport models—a Wildcat, maybe, or a Skylark. Or even a Riviera. In fact, you can drive all three. That's what the Buick Sports Car Rally is all about. (What a way to start a New Year!) If I don't show up, you can talk price. That's even more pleasant than conversation with me. You'll see. Once you get your hands on a Buick, you won't miss me a bit. Really.

Joe Maddy of Interlochen, by Norma Lee Browning is the lively story of one of America's best-known, best-loved and colorful pioneers in music. We cannot claim him as a native son since he was born in Kansas, but he seems one of our own, never-theless.

He came to Interlochen in 1928 to found the first national summer music camp. A professor of music at the U of M, he was short on financial support, but not on enthusiasm and skill.

By 1961 the music camp was reorganized as the year 'round Interlochen Arts Academy. Some of Tecumseh's young people have enjoyed its privileges.

North Africa by Ogrizek Dore is another superb travel book in the World in Color Series. It transports the reader to one of the most colorful and intriguing regions of the world. Hundreds of glowing water colors, drawings and decorative maps are included.

√

An illustrated epic of 70 crucial years of European history titled Fall Of The House Of Hapsburg written by Edward Crankshaw makes interesting reading. Built around the long reign of the unfortunate Franz Josef of Austria, it follows the fate of the Austrian Empire through all its involvements up to the calamities that led to World War I and a new Europe.

Farley Mowat, official biologist for the Canadian government and a marvelous story teller, describes an Arctic summer spent watching and tracking the activities of a wolf family.

He found that the wolf is an adept fisherman, loyal spouse, and impressive lover. Written with compassion and humor, Never Cry Wolf takes us out of ourselves and into the animal kingdom. It is a captivating story.

√

A timely report on the intricate organization of the Vatican and a lively biography of Pope John XXIII is World Of The Vatican. This book gives American readers background information on the Ecumenical Council and discusses some of the issues.

John F. Kennedy, President by Hugh Sidey was published just three months before President Kennedy's assassination. The author's narrative was to be the beginning of the story.

Now, tragically, it covers the entire span of the young President's career. Mr. Sidey is among the 20-odd elite, members of the Washington press corps privileged to have seen the President often and at close range, and sometimes alone.

Public Lecture on Scientific Prayer Is Free

How scientific prayer can be applied in a practical way to meet the problems of today's world will be brought out in a free public lecture on Feb. 29, 1964 at 8 p.m. by Gordon H. Smith of Milwaukee.

A Christian Science teacher and practitioner, Mr. Smith is on nationwide tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

He will speak under the auspices of Christian Science Society in its building at 111 N. Union St. on the subject "A Practical Religion in Today's World."

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

Until reading your last week's offering, (Ed's note—two week's ago), I hadn't realized that you insert (some of) your mistakes on purpose.

This is one thing that moves me, belatedly, to write and give you my permission to stop it. I have often wished I were free to apply for a job as proof-reader. The mistakes that has caused pain the oftenest is your "pouring" over the paper.

I just know you would thank no one to pour anything over your paper, at least before he had pored over it (which I assume is what you mean).

Now that this has been brought to your attention, you are at liberty to correct this mistake in the future.

One other thing: if I got the point of your story about the over-sized mug and the coffee pourer, it was that he was not nonplussed at all. Nonplussed means puzzled, baffled, undecided, etc. He wasn't was he? It seemed to me he had the situation very well in hand.

Thank you for reading this complaint. Writing it has made me less of A Frustrated Reader.

Blood Program Supported Entirely by Citizen Gifts

Michigan's State Health Department produced and the physicians in the state received an estimated 25,000 milliliters of the blood-based serum, gamma globulin, without charge from American Red Cross in the last fiscal year.

Voluntary donors to the Red Cross Blood Program make possible distribution of blood-derived vaccines to state health departments and in special cases to individual physicians.

Fifty-six strategically located regional blood centers serve donors in 42 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico the Virgin Islands.

Production of gamma globulin from outdated whole blood, is financed through contributions to Red Cross. The Tecumseh Community Fund gift to Red Cross last year totaled $3,000.

Gamma globulin is used to modify the effects of measles and hepatitis and fight other infections.

In the last fiscal year, 1,144,224 milliliters were produced for Red Cross by commercial laboratories from plasma, the liquid portion of blood outdated when not requisitioned for direct transfusion within 21 days of its collection.

☆

VACCINIA immune globulin, a little known drug, can only be produced from fresh whole blood donated by persons who have recently received smallpox vaccinations. The serum, known as VIG, is used to fight severe — although rare — infections some persons develop after smallpox vaccinations.

The blood fractionation program is one of the many important local, national and international Red Cross services, supported entirely through voluntary contributions.

Long and Short

BY TOM RIORDAN

How many of you real old-time area residents can recall Wes Willett and His Orchestra?

Don't shout too loudly, because admitting that you remember will date you slightly — all the way back to the early Twenties.

Born and educated in Adrian, Wes had a band which played all through these parts, performing at such hot spots as the Sand Lake Pavilion.

Those were the palmy days of the big band when a Saturday night dance would draw 1,000 people.

Now white-haired, but chipper as a teen-ager, Wes Willett is a highly-successful newspaper publisher, who with two other gentlemen owns half a dozen prime weekly properties in the Wayne, Belleville, Inkster area.

He got into newspapering by way of his music, department store work, furniture hustling, selling ads for a now-defunct daily and printing for a now-defunct plant, as well as running a mitt-full of bankrupt businesses.

Lest you get the idea his career touched only failures, let's hasten to add, these were other people's mis-steps. Wes was brought in to help pull the pieces together.

One of his Great Depression jobs was with a large Detroit trust company, which sent him to manage a variety of enterprises that had gone bust, after mortgaging themselves to Wes' bosses.

Remember the old Canners Warehouse on Second Ave. in Detroit? They sold by the cases at rock bottom prices, having bought from distressed manufacturers. Canners itself became distressed and Wes was moved in.

He did so well that when another company quietly bought the outfit, they hired Wes to come in every day and walk through the office to give the impression the trust company was still running things.

This quieted fears of creditors, who made regular calls just to see that Wes was in charge.

Another assignment was a chain of three clothing stores on Michigan Ave., owned by the same fellow, but run under different names. The boss worked a sweet double entry bit with the trust company, then headed south.

Wes, with no knowledge of clothing (other than how to dress sharply), especially in the "borax" type operation, rushed in where angels fear to tread.

For the uninitiated, "borax" selling was big years ago. The salesmen "innocently" roamed along the sidewalk near the store until they saw a prospect peer at a suit in the show window.

Up would sidle the clerk.

"Not a bad looking suit. Gosh, I wish I could get one just like that," he'd offer for openers.

Innocent victim: "Yup, me too. But all I got is three bucks."

Borax man: "Say I've got an idea. Maybe if we both went in and said we'd buy, they'd give us a good deal."

The sucker would rise to the bait and the pair would saunter into the shop.

Suits went for as little as $9.50 in those days and the two would end up making down payments of $3 each, promising to ante up a little each week or so. When the total was reached, they'd get the suits.

Of course, only one man was really buying. That wasn't the end, however. He'd come back and add a dollar or 50c to his credit, gradually building to the day when the cloth was his own.

At about the $8.50 mark, an inside salesman would comment, "We just got in some new stuff

Benefits Will Help Make His Dream Come True

By TOM RIORDAN

The January death of Henry Strand, age 37 and father of 10, will surely be recorded as one of Tecumseh's most tragic events of 1964.

But life must go on for the survivors.

Mrs. Betty Strand, 38, has accepted the grief of losing her husband. The myriad duties of caring for a family ranging in age from 18 months to 19 years has helped.

In addition, she expects her 11th child in mid-April.

Neighbors, friends and her fellow church members at St. Elizabeth have been kind and considerate, trying as best they can to lift the burden of worry and concern from her shoulders. But they can do only so much.

☆

FOR BETTY, Social Security is proving a key to the future for her brood. That's one silver lining in the dark cloud, which engulfed the Strand household the afternoon of Jan. 17.

With a minimum of complications, Betty Strand saw her husband's death benefit program mapped by Jackson office representatives of Social Security.

Her first monthly payment of $254 — this is the maximum allowable under law—arrived Feb. 21. The claim cleared Jackson on Feb. 7, went to Chicago for the regular regional audit and was quickly approved.

Betty will be getting this amount each month until she has only one child at home under 18, then the benefits scale down. When she reaches age 62, Betty becomes eligible for her own regular Social Security allotment, payable until death.

Raymond Backus, district director of SS at Jackson, and Jim Hushion, who handles this area, did some figuring. This is what they came up with.

If Betty Strand takes full advantage of this program, she will be paid, over the years, approximately $67,157 by Social Security.

This ranks as the largest claim ever filed in the three-county district of Jackson, Hillsdale and Lenawee. It may be the biggest in the state.

In 1964 the Strand family will collect more than Henry Strand contributed through payroll deductions to Social Security—less than $3,000—during his 20 years as a machine operator at Tecumseh Products.

The monthly check breaks down to a full share of $92.30 for the widow, plus the same for up to each of two children under 18, with a cutoff at $254.70.

☆

MOST WILL AGREE that feeding and clothing a family of 11 is going to be a tough job on this amount. That is why Mrs. Strand is glad insurance monies are making it possible to pay off the house mortgage and leave a small fund to educate the children.

Henry Strand always was firm that he wanted his children to garner plenty of formal education. He had quit Tecumseh High School as a junior and regretted the move.

To help make up for this error in judgment, he studied steadily, in addition to taking evening and Saturday jobs. At the time of his death he had just completed a correspondence course in television repair and was in the midst of a tractor training program.

Betty said she tried to get him to slow down, but he'd always reply, "You don't know how busy my mind is."

Henry was an army veteran, having been a technical sergeant during the World War II era. He was on his way to the Pacific fighting when the conflict ended.

The fact he was a veteran will make it possible for his survivors to be eligible for death benefits from the Veterans' Administration.

This aspect is being handled by Robert Gillespie, who has been Tecumseh American Legion service officer for 20 years.

He explains that the VA pension for the children begins as of their father's date of death—$7.56 per month for each child. These last through the 18th year. There is also a provision for helping those over 18 with special schooling.

Beginning in 1965, Mrs. Strand will also start getting a VA payment at the rate of $50.40 monthly.

☆

THE FULL Strand lineup includes:

Madonna, 19, a 1963 graduate of Tecumseh High School, now attending a beautician School in Jackson.

Carol, 16—a freshman at THS.

Henry, 14—eighth grader at St. Elizabeth.

Sonja, 12—sixth grader at St. Elizabeth.

Terrance, 9—third grader at St. Elizabeth.

Mark, 8—second grader at St. Elizabeth.

Joann, 6—first grader at St. Elizabeth.

Marcelle, 5—kindergartener at Tecumseh Acres.

Tina, 3.

Darlene, 1½.

The Social Security director points out that all records are strictly confidential and that stories of this nature can be presented only with the full approval of the survivors.

Educated Dog Finds Lost Wallet

By JOSEPHINE WRIGHT
Ridgeway Reporter

While seeding a field last Saturday Paul Hamilton of 7751 Dibble Rd. accidentally lost his wallet from his hip pocket.

Mr. Hamilton made several trips across the field but to no avail, the wallet could not be found.

Sunday Elmer Pocklington of 6359 Ridge Rd. took his dog Duchess, over there to see if she could find it, as she had been to training school for retrievers.

By taking the scent of another wallet Mr. Hamilton carried. Duchess started across the field.

After one full trip around the field and half way around the second time, she found the lost wallet.

Everyone went away from that field happy and proud, Mr. Hamilton was pleased to get his wallet back and Mr. Pocklington was especially proud of his dog.

Duchess proved, even for an animal it pays to go to school.

Science Club Plans Car Wash

Tecumseh High School Science Club will sponsor a car wash Saturday, Feb. 29, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Sebring's Standard Station, corner of N. Evans and Herrick Park Drive, will be the headquarters for the event.

According to the president, Peggy Johnson, the proceeds will be used for the Tecumseh Area Science Fair in March.

Plant Wastes Won't Cause Contamination

Any objections to Anderson Chemical Division disposing of industrial wastes into River Raisin appeared to have been answered.

Representatives from Dundee, Deerfield and Blissfield were told by State Health Department officials last week that the wastes would not be harmful.

The company plans to dispose of calcium chloride, which is only expected to make the water harder.

The Herald also received a communique from the Health Department stating its position was based on the advice of medical advisors.

A Mar. 6 public hearing by the Water Resources Commission at the Tecumseh Community Center is expected to be the final hurdle for Anderson Chemical, a subsidiary of Stauffer Chemical Company, to locate on Sutton Rd., just three miles south of Tecumseh.

Although reports on public hearings by the Water Resources Commission usually takes several weeks, local officials have been told findings will be made known within a week.

☆

OPTIONS FOR over 200 acres of property belonging to Richard Machan and Jesse Stretch have been renewed. The option on Machan's property, the Old Sutton Place, was extended last week to run past the March 6 hearing.

With the Health Department's statement and position, prospects of Anderson Chemical building here brightened considerably.

If the public hearing passes as expected, at least one new industrial plant in the area is an almost certainty.

A public meeting about two weeks ago in Dundee cast some doubts, when a representative of the Health Department issued statements that disposing of the wastes into the river would be harmful.

It turned out that the information on which he based his statements was in error. Purpose of last week's meeting clarified the Health Department's position and refuted information released at Dundee.

Economically, the entire area will benefit from Anderson Chemical, with employment expected to reach upwards of 700. Plant construction has been estimated in excess of $5 million.

Other farm land in the area also has been optioned, with prospects that supplying companies for the new Anderson plant may build plants here.

Scarlet Fever Danger Drops

Ridgeway School re-opened Wednesday after having been closed last week by Dr. Eleanor Skufis of the Lenawee County Health Department.

According to Superintendent James McDowell, there were five confirmed cases of scarlet fever among students at the school and four other pupils were sent home with sore throats.

Ten brothers and sisters of students with scarlet fever were also sent home.

Mrs. Mildred Bauer, R.N., was at the school Wednesday to make sure that those attending were in good health.

There were two other confirmed cases, one in the Tecumseh Acres School and one in Patterson.

Second and third grades of St. Elizabeth School were closed and brothers and sisters of those in the two classes were told to stay at home.

Absenteeism was high last week with 14 of 34 St. Elizabeth eighth grade students absent.

Mrs. Doris Whitney, supervising nurse of the Lenawee County Health Department, said Wednesday morning that she felt that the problem was subsiding.

☆

SCARLET FEVER is not as serious as it used to be if treatment is given. However, if neglected, it can result in rheumatic fever or kidney complications.

Isolating the child is recommended and brothers and sisters should not be allowed to attend classes unless they have been given preventative treatment.

Also Thursday afternoon, Bonnie S. McDonald, 16, of 901 Sunset Dr., was charged with failing to yield the right-of-way in an accident involving Melvin D. Still, 26, of Adrian.

☆

'PJ Game' Lauded

(Editor's note — Tecumseh Players were in Coldwater Friday and Saturday. This review of their performances appeared in Monday's Coldwater Daily Reporter.)

By KATHREEN TARR

The Tecumseh Players are to be congratulated on their production of "Pajama Game" presented Friday and Saturday evenings at the Tibbits Opera House.

A medium audience on Friday and a near-capacity audience on Saturday evening enjoyed the bouncy, light musical, and it was obvious that the company of players enjoyed doing it.

Individually there are many characters in the play whose performances might be singled out as exctptional.

However to deal with them all,

Future Nurses met Feb. 18, to hear Mrs. Wanda Cavin speak on premature babies and the nursery at Herrick Memorial Hospital.

The club discussed whether it wished to continue sponsering both the orphan and the scholarship next year, since both projects are costly and put the club in debt.

The girls decided that neither project should be given up, since both are worthwhile. A committee was established to think of new ideas in order to raise money for the projects.

Members signed up to work at the hospital desk for the months of March, April and May. They were urged to be sure and work if they signed their name or else find a substitute.

Crime Prevention Is Number 1 Job Says Police Sgt.

Crime Prevention was the topic discussed by Sergeant Carl Anderson of the Clinton State Police post at the Feb. 24 meeting of the Exchange Club.

He discussed the citizens role in protecting his own property by using locks and floodlighting critical areas.

He also pointed out the responsibility of parents in developing proper attitudes in their children toward the laws under which we all live.

He said, "One of the best things all citizens can do is to report the crimes they see being committed. This helps in the effective enforcement of laws and acts as a deterrent to crime."

The Clinton Post made over 2500 arrests during 1963, but their No. 1 job is still crime prevention.

"If more people knew and followed the Ten Commandments our job would be a lot easier," concluded Sgt. Anderson.

Long & Short

this week. No harm in looking. See, right over here."

Often the poor sap would decide on something from the new line, along about $15. The first choice would then be forgotten and his previous payments applied to the new one and he'd keep on doling out the cash.

Actually, confesses Wes, the first suit would seldom be set aside, because the store knew the sucker would probably never take it. The salesman often lost track of which one it was.

As Wes toiled this route by day — not as a borax man, but the guy who balanced out each night — he would pick up a week's pay in one evening by banging on the drums.

His income was surprisingly high for those days of the early 1930's, but apparently so was his living, because he never saved anything.

One day his boss at the bank gave him the address of a market in Grosse Pointe. "Get out there and put it on its feet," was his order.

The owner, in hock to his Adam's apple and with thousands of dollars on his books in credit to Pointers, showed Wes around. He was particularly proud of his meat department and Wes noted that customers were lined up, willing to wait 30 minutes to have just the right cut.

"One of our customers comes all the way from Highland Park to get his meat," the storeman told Wes.

From a tiny balcony in the rear of the store, Wes began to do a little sleuthing, especially watching the meat area.

The guy from Highland Park got his regular portions one afternoon, a giant armload. With a quick sprint, Wes caught the man and found his tab was a couple of bucks, his load worth about $20.

In quick order, it turned out the meat cutter was dealing with a select clientele which got meat for little or nothing, then paid off the butcher in clothing, booze and other assorted items.

Just about that time, a big cash and carry grocery opened up nearby and many regular customers, who had been on the market owner's cuff for years, deserted him to do all their purchasing there.

About this time, Wes felt glad all over that he didn't own a store, left the trust company and started selling printing.

A few years later, he and two others bought several weeklies and Wes has long forgotten running other people's problem children and the thump, thump, thump of his bass drums.

A funny thing happened to Wes on Friday night, which proved although he has been a long time from the band stand, the memories of those golden years in Lenawee County as a musician are still close at hand.

Following a press meeting in Lansing, Wes drove me from Lansing to Tecumseh.

We swung by Coldwater to see how the Tecumseh Players were doing as they ran through a late afternoon dress rehearsal for "Pajama Game."

All the background on Wes Willett recounted above was something about which this scribbler knew nothing, although I first met the gentleman about seven years ago.

As we strolled down the aisle of the Tibbets Opera House Wes took in the action on stage, pointed to Charlie Parker of Clinton and snapped, "I know that guy from 1920 around Sand Lake."

The upshot was that we had dinner, then stayed for the evening's performance, much to the delight of Wes. Afterwards, we asked to have Charlie come out and "sign an autograph for one of his fans."

The pair hadn't seen one another in years, but, oh, the memories. These vignette fascinated.

During the ride home, they prompted a barrage of questions, which helped piece together the young adult life of this fabulous fellow, Wes Willett.

Two Local Men at San Diego Camp

Two Tecumseh young men enlisted in the Navy Feb. 18 and are both undergoing "Boot Training" at San Diego, Calif.

Larry D. Harper is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Harper, 112 N. Oneida and David John Langham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Langham.

Harper was enlisted into the Navy's Nuclear Electronics Technician Program. After "Boot Training" he will undergo 36 months of study as a submarine man and attend the school in Nuclear Electronics.

Langham will also go to a Class "A" School after successful completion of Boot Training.

Both local men enlisted under the Navy's High School Program.

Information as to the many fields that the Navy has to offer any young man that can qualify, is available from Raymond R. Dare, local Navy recruiter.

His office is at 204 N. Broad Street, Red Cross Building, Adrian. Hours are from 8 to 5 p.m. Mon. through Saturday.

Recovery, Inc. Helps Maintain a Normal Life

Each Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. a group of adults meet on an informal basis at the First Methodist Church to help each other back to the kind of normal life taken for granted by most people.

They are members of the Tecumseh Chapter of Recovery Inc., a nationwide organization begun in 1937 by a Chicago psychiatrist to help people back to recovery.

A leader who has received training from an area Recovery office is in charge of demonstrating the method. She is also a former nervous patient.

There are no professionals on hand to guide the group, but it is not designed to supplant the physician. It neither diagnoses nor treats.

Although the Methodist Church is not responsible for nor directly associated with the group, the Rev. Donald Porteous feels it is a very worthy group and serving its purpose.

The tools the Recovery patient has at his disposal include Dr. Abraham Low's book, "Mental Health Through Will Training", a set of positive vocabulary words used in discussion and a simple method of "spotting" the reason behind a reaction and thereby overcoming the fear of nervous symptoms and strengthening self confidence.

By following Dr. Low's book, establishing panel procedures, analysis of problems and avoiding demoralizing phrases, Recovery members bring the problems into proper perspective.

The program is entirely self-help financially. A contribution at each meeting is used to pay rental and refreshments which are served during the "Mutual Aid" period following the panel discussion. A local physician stated he felt it was a good thing to be doing along with medical help, "Talking problems over with another human being seems to allay severe anxiety reaction."

After 5 Months Carlton Sheley Returns to School

Though still wearing a cast from the toes to above the knee on his left leg, Carlton was able to go to school on crutches for the first time since Sept. 20 of last year.

An auto accident in the Products Parking lot that day hospitalized Carlton for many weeks and he has been recuperating at home.

Physicians say that he is doing very well.

His sister, Sheila, suffered eye injuries when a pop bottle broke in a grocery store just a few days later.

Her physician, Dr. Carl Benz, told her mother that the little girl has no vision in her left eye and also that there is no hope of a cornea transplant.

Mrs. Sheley remarked Monday that she appreciates Tecumseh people so much. She said, "They are a lot friendlier than we thought at first."

NO FEBRUARY PRESENT THIS YEAR

It is beginning to look as if Mother Nature really has forgotten us this year. February has usually been her month, but so far — nothing. With so many birthdays and holidays, there is always a good reason for parties and presents.

Always before she has gone right along with the festive mood.

In the past, her February present to us has been all frilly white and flaming red, just the perfect thing for the Valentine Month.

To wake up and look out on a frosty world is a thrill. As if by magic, the trees are no longer black, naked skeletons, but have been transformed into lovely white lace.

On such a perfect morning it goes without saying that the sky is blue, blue, blue and the sun bright and shiny.

For the final bit of perfection Mother Nature whistles in a half dozen or so cardinals. Their flaming brilliance flashing through the frosty white lace makes an unforgettable Valentine.

☆

OF ALL THE birds, who are usually with us during the snowy months, none seem as lovely as the male cardinal. In the spring, when there is so much soft green, Mama Cardinal comes into her own, but, when the temperature tumbles and we live in a snow-bound world, it is the handsome male who takes the honors.

He knows how to turn the snow, the blue sky and the sunshine to his advantage. He poses against the showiest backgrounds and over and over again makes us exclaim "How lovely!"

They are certainly not making us exclaim much just lately, however. Sixty-four has been miserable so far. Off-hand, I don't remember a year we have had so few cardinals. In fact, so few birds. With the exception of the Faithful 17, the army of mourning doves, we are practically deserted.

Once in a great, great while so early in the morning that it is still more dark than light, we have heard that familiar little noise and sure enough, Papa C. is breakfasting at the feeding tray.

Rarer still are the occasions, late in the afternoon, when a female has visited the banquet board.

☆

IT IS frustrating to have so few diners. We keep the tray piled high with the tastiest of tid-bits, but no customers. To say business is poor is an understatement.

Last fall Mac called Dad out to his Newburg home and gave us the most beautiful station-wagon full of sun-flower heads you ever did see. They were big heads perfectly filled with plump seeds and we thought for sure the cardinals would have a regular bonanza of good-eating.

Actually, of course, I think Mother Nature has somehow allowed her timetable to get all haywire. Day after day of 35, 40, 45 and even 50-degree weather in February is ridiculous.

We have had a few snow-falls, but they have not lasted long enough to bring the birds in. Several mornings I even thought that perhaps we were going to get our February present.

☆

THE FROST was not heavy enough to make the trees fairy-like, but they were pretty. It didn't last, however; the weather has to be cold to hold frost all morning and we simply haven't had that kind of weather.

By nine o'clock the "frosting" had gone limp and started to fall. The cardinals didn't even bother to come around.

So it is that unless something drastic happens, and happens fast, there is going to be no February present this year.

NEXT WEEK:

Unwanted, Uninvited and Unliked.

$1 Billion Wasted in '63 on Fraudulent Food Stuffs

EAST LANSING — Americans wasted $1 billion on false and fraudulent products in 1963, a Farmers' Week audience learned at Michigan State University this month.

Discussing "Food Fads and Fallacies," Dr. Dena Cederquist, chairman of the MSU Department of Foods and Nutrition, said that Americans are expected to spend twice that much on frauds in 1964.

She warned Michigan families to be on the lookout for the modern "medicine man" and offered these tips to avoid buying fraudulent food products:

► Suspect anyone who says the American food supply is unsafe or lacking in nutritive value.

"We have the most active 'policemen' in the whole world guarding our food supply," she pointed out.

► Be suspicious of any food product not available in a regular store.

"If it's an acceptable, reputable food, it will be available on the open market," the nutritionist said.

► Suspect any person who makes any unusual claim for any food. All food can do, she pointed out, is nourish the body.

'64 Corvair Monza by Chevrolet

'64 Corvair Monza Club Coupe

It's got a frisky new engine

'that puts superior traction under you)

Ever see a Corvair wearing tire chains? Not likely.

And it's not often you'll find a Corvair owner bothering to switch over to snow tires either.

Why? Rear-engine traction. The engine weight over Corvair's rear wheels gives them remarkable gripping power without any assist from special winter driving paraphernalia.

Reassuring to know this time of year—and also in the months to come when all that tidy white countryside turns into a melting pot that's likely to add to the misery.

Another thing about Corvair's engine: It's bigger this year. Nearly 19 per cent more power in the standard version. Which is something you'll appreciate most any time of year, fair weather or foul.

You'll also appreciate not having to fool around with antifreeze. And not having to flush the radiator or fuss with hose connections. The engine's air cooled.

Matter of fact, we have a feeling that if more people knew what a cinch Corvair makes winter driving, there wouldn't be quite so many looking for excuses to duck South this time every year.

But then you never know. Corvair's a kick to drive in warm weather, too. Why not try one at your dealer's and decide for yourself?

at length, would be impossible here.

Mrs. Robert (Marty) Bagdon, as Babe, is a pretty, petite mother of three, and was the highlight of the play.

She presented by far the most professional voice in the company. Her acting left a little to be desired, but she overcame this with her vocal and dancing abilities.

The most memorable of Mrs. Bagdon's numbers was her duet with leading man, Bruce King, for "There Once Was A Man", in which she had tremendous opportunity to show both of the talents mentioned above.

No analysis of Mrs. Bagdon, however, would be complete without mention of her smile.

When she beamed that smile on stage, it was sufficient light to illuminate the stage and to warm the hearts of those in the audience.

Young, handsome King, in his first lead role for the Tecumseh group, did remarkably well in a very demanding role.

It is only to be desired that he might possess greater power to back his singing voice.

The numbers he sang occasionally lost a bit of effectiveness due to lack of volume and perhaps a little self-confidence.

Gene Earling as Prez, the union boss, and Dr. Richard Hammel as Hines, the efficiency expert, were both extremely effective in their roles, as were Mary Bowers as Mabel and Florine Purkey as Gladys.

Mrs. Purkey did a fine job in the drunk scene at "Hernando's Hideaway" — a difficult, though very funny bit of business.

All four performers acted with enthusiasm and showed great talent.

They were having fun, and because they wert, the audience had fun.

There are many more in the cast who deserve to be mentioned, but from the reaction of the audience and from personal observation, two stand out.

Virginia Snyder as Mae, the hefty man-chaser in the show, was hilarious.

Her performance kept the play moving.

Probably those who watched her will find it difficult to believe that she is, as she said Saturday, "no spring chicken" and a "grandma two times".

There was a pretty young lady in the chorus, who, regretfully shall have to remain nameless, for her name is lost in the list of chorus members.

The audience will remember her as the young lady in the yellow smock in the factory scenes and the red two-piece bathing suit in the picnic scene. (Editor's note — Debby Earling)

Her voice was clear and pretty and she was a memorable addition to a well-rounded cast.

The choreography was well done, under the direction of Loravne Pihl. It was bright and very similar to the original.

The way she handled the match-lighting sequence in the "Hernando's Hideaway" number was very good. The entire sequence was perfectly synchronized.

Whomever designed the sewing machine line for the factory scenes deserves much credit for originality and imagination.

The Tecumseh Players as a whole are a highly trained, closely-knit group with a great future.

Thanks are in order for their having come all this way to perform.

Friends Church Power Class Has George W. Party

On George Washington's birthday 29 members of the Power Class of the Tecumseh Friends Church met for the February meeting.

Trying to be "weight guessers" was the highlight of the evening of games.

Mrs. Lee Smith of Macon won a prize for guessing the total weight of the group within five pounds.

Several games featuring the George Washington theme were played.

As a part of their outreach to others for the year, the group collected $21 to be sent to the Rev. Wayne Root, pastor of the Lansing Friends Church.

The money is to be used to help purchase equipment for the Lansing church, newest of churches that comprise the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huber, co-hosts for the evening, assisted in the planning of the party, and in serving refreshments to the group.

Beatles Will Not Perform at Tecumseh World's Fair

"Sorry, the Beatles will not perform at the Tecumseh World's Fair," reports the entertainment committee.

Tecumseh Kiwanis club members decided not to invite the Beatles to perform at the event, which will be April 3, 4, and 5.

Two factors weighed heavily in the decision. First of all, the Tecumseh Community Center will not hold 10,000 persons at one time.

Secondly, the Kiwanis Club is only asking a 25c donation for admission to the Fair.

☆

DR. GEORGE BURKHARD, president of the club, has announced that the booths are about 80% sold out and the outdoor display space is going fast.

Arrangements are being made for the appearance of several television personalities. Various branches of the armed forces have promised displays.

Buying OK

Cooperative buying with other Lenawee County schools was given the green light again Monday night by the Tecumseh School Board.

The plan was originally adopted last year.

Carson House, income tax consultant, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis session Feb. 13. He spoke on problems in making out tax forms and conducted a question-and-answer period, giving the club extensive information on filling out returns.

The meeting last week was in observance of Brotherhood Week when club members attended en masse the Laymen's Banquet at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

School Board OK's Contracts

Contracts for teachers, administrators and non-professional personnel were approved Monday night by the Tecumseh School Board.

The board also placed salary limits on administrative positions and granted several small raises.

Bus drivers were not given a pay hike but were allowed to collect wages in the future when school is cancelled, such as when Ridgeway school was closed last week due to scarlet fever.

Board Approves Bond Payment

School Board Monday night authorized payment of $200,000 on bonds of the 1957 building program.

Half of the bonds were due and half were paid off early. School officials hope to retire the building bonds in 1969.

Of the $1,900,000 construction program, $1,055,000 remains to be paid.

The board also authorized purchase of the house and lot at the corner of N. Maumee and Shawnee. Cost was approximately $5,000.

Speech Students Tell Church Ladies of School Activities

On hand were Bob Will, Pamelt Dabe, Kathy Hodges, Barbara Colgrove and Karen Heberlien.

The group told of their extracurricular activities in the school, such as Future Farmers, Future Homemakers, and other clubs.

Next Project – Landscape Nursing Home

The new Herrick Nursing Home, only a few months old, already has 14 resident patients. Others are in the process of making application.

The hospital administrative staff with the aid of an interior decorator have created a residence for aged citizens which has both a comfortable, home-like atmosphere as well as providing modern and efficient equipment.

The Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and The Little Garden Club have plans to landscape and improve the grounds of the home and the area between the home and the hospital in keeping with the interior.

The only outside view the home residents will have for some time will be the grounds surrounding the home and it is the aim of the committee to make this as pleasing as possible.

☆

BIRD FEEDERS will be placed near the home and the committee is asking for service organizations and groups to take over the care of the feeders.

This would include buying the bird feed and keeping the feeders filled.

Exercise areas are included in the plans for both the home and the hospital.

All the southern and eastern exposure windows in the hospital have awnings. Shade trees of fair size will be planted in this area so that the trees will immediately supplement the awnings in giving shade to the hospital and in time replace them.

Financial aid can be given either by donation or as a memorial to a deceased friend or relative. No donation is too small and can be deposited by the donor in the United Savings Bank.

If one is giving a memorial, they may call Mrs. R. G. Marsh, 423-3350.

All contributions are acknowledged by mail and recorded in a leather bound book kept at the hospital.

A definite plan and design has been worked out by a landscape architect for this project and each plant and material used has a specific function.

The committee therefore asks that all contributions of plants or materials be made according to the plan.

The landscaping calls for many beautiful shrubs and trees such as red flowering peach, Chinese redbud, sugar maple, Japanese holly, Norway maple, white pine, azalea, red and silver maples, Austrian pine, flowering dogwood and many others. Should anyone desire to give one of these plants, they may contact anyone on the committee. For specific information see the ad on page 8.

☆

THE TOTAL approximate cost of landscaping this area is $9,000. This amount includes plant materials, labor, stone, finish grading, benches, concrete work and lighting.

Any group desiring to see colored slides of the landscape plans for this project, may call Mrs. Neville Hart for an appointment.

The Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and The Little Garden Club again wishes to thank the people of this area for their wonderful cooperation in completing this community project.

To date, over 40 memorials have been made to the landscape fund and many individuals, businesses and organizations have donated money.

A film, "Passion For Souls," will be shown Sunday, March 1, during the Sunday School hour at 10 a.m. by Dr. Oswald Smith.

The Hayduses, 18 years under appointment with the Assemblies of God Mission, have ministered in the Bahama Islands, Cuba, Costa Rica and for the past 12 years in Guatemala, Central America.

☆

EXPLODING volcanos, excellent schools and extensive evangelistic portrayals of their Bible tie endeavors are shown in color on the screen.

Mayan Indian costumes will be featured by the missionaries and audience participation in a costume parade. Curios will be shown.

Mr. and Mrs. Haydus will sing in Spanish with violin and piano accompaniment.

The Rev. Harold Speer extends a cordial invitation to the public to hear of the phenomenal growth of this work which sprang from 32 churches in 1952 to 230 in 1963.

Varsity Wins but JV's Lose Sudden Death

In competition with the only team who beat both Tecumseh teams in the past, the varsity whipped their opponents, 26-22.

After a slow start with Napoleon leading by six points at halftime, the Tecumseh girls tore back, scoring 15 points during the rest of the game.

Emily Manwaring tipped 13 for high score and Mary Jo Mensing followed with eight.

☆

THE JAYVEES lost a sudden death tourney in the third overtime with a final score of 32-30.

Although the first half was slow for Tecumseh with only 13 points, the second half was dominated by Mary Ann Allen who scored 15 points to tie the game at 28.

During the first overtime Mary Ann scored two points, but was matched by Napoleon.

No one scored in the second overtime, but during the third, Napoleon dropped the winning basket.

Mary Ann netted 19 points for the game's top score and Kathy Hall was second with six.

Beth O'Neil, Linda Brazee and Cindy Murphy were exceptional guards.

GAA advisor Theresa Pickens said the girls are to be given credit for playing an outstanding game.

Parents Night Planned Friday

Only Grosse Ile stands between Tecumseh and at least a share of second place in the Huron League.

The Flyers and Indians meet here Friday night in the final game of the regular season.

Coach Vic Lawson's team toyed with Ypsilanti-Lincoln last Friday night, before winning, 73-63. A strong second half by the Railsplitters cut a 15-point deficit at the half to 10 points.

Clark Nichols and Jerry Hebb placed the Tecumseh offense with 16 and 15 points. Jim Lawson tallied 11.

The Indians played far better than the previous week when they were upset by Milan. After a mediocre first period, Tecumseh dropped 24 points through the hoop in the second quarter and gained a lead that Ypsi-Lincoln was never able to close.

Friday's game will mark the end of varsity competition on the local floor for Hebb, Nichols and John Oberlin.

Hebb and Nichols have been regulars all season and are the top Tecumseh scorers.

Probably the greatest concern for Coach Lawson is the health of 6'4" Gregg Allen. The big junior center has been slowed with a hip injury for the past three weeks and unable to perform up to par.

Jeff Osburn had nine in the win last week and both Allen and Oberlin eight.

State Tourney Trail Opening

Tecumseh drew a bye in the first round of the district basketball tournament at Blissfield next week and will meet the winner of Erie-Mason and Blissfield game at 8:45 Thursday night.

In all probability, the Indians and the Royals will decide the tourney champion and the right to advance to the Dundee regionals.

Neither Monroe Catholic Central, Monroe Jefferson nor Erie-Mason are given much of a chance to win at Blissfield, although the two Monroe teams have the best chance since they meet in the upper bracket and one will automatically advance to the finals.

Erie-Mason and Blissfield will meet in the tourney opener, Tuesday evening at 7:30. The Monroe CC and Monroe-Jefferson game precedes the Tecumseh game at 7 p.m.

The championship game will be played Friday night, starting at 7:30.

Britton To Face Cement

ADRIAN — In the opening round of the Class D state tournament play, Britton meets Cement City at the Adrian High School gymnasium Wednesday, March 4, at 7 p.m.

Other teams in the bracket are Waldron and Deerfield.

Madison, Addison, Morenci, Sand Creek and Adrian Catholic Central compete here, too, in another pairing. Winners of the two brackets vie for the district title Saturday, March 7.

Water Situation Still Bad, Could Be Critical in July

"Conditions remain the same concerning water and wells in Lenawee County," states Farhang Alai, county sanitary engineer.

He reports that several wells have gone dry. These are mostly shallow wells, which usually have from two to three feet of water.

This would indicate that the water table has dropped and unless more snow and rain falls, conditions may become grave by mid-summer.

The water table usually rises this time of year and so far there hasn't been enough moisture to show a difference.

Mr. Alai cited one instance when the county nurses called at five homes on scarlet fever investigations and found four of them without water supplies.

The Health Department is working to establish a procedure for hauling water in a sanitary manner, Mr. Alai added.

Hughes Stars in Jaycee Win with 19 Points

A big fourth quarter by the Tecumseh Jaycees turned an otherwise close game with Ypsi-Lincoln into an easy 66-53 victory.

The Indians rolled up 18 points —Doug Hall pitching in six — to Ypsi-Lincoln's eight in the final stanza as the Jaycees' second half rally produced a total of 40 points.

Don Hughes, 6'6" center, had by far his best prep game with seven goals and five fouls for 19 points. Hall ended with 13.

Tim Heflin and Ron Rentschler each had 10 points.

Freshman Tournament in Clinton

A fresman basketball tournament, sponsored by the Clinton Varsity Club, started Wednesday night at Clinton with Tecumseh, coached by Fig Newton, meeting Manchester.

The Indians were to play Manchester at 6:15.

Starters for Tecumseh are Henry Mensing, Terry Bates, Lee Hannibal, David Kennel and Kim Rosacrans.

Others on the roster are Gerald Slick, Marty Korth, David Damon, Nick Hebert, Larry Fairbanks, Cecil Stanley, Steve Van Valkenberg, Bob Powell, Larry Rathbun, Fred Staup and Jim Goodman.

Richard Sweet is manager.

Four games are scheduled for this Thursday evening, starting at 5:15. Saturday night, three games will be on the card with the first tilt scheduled to start at 6:15.

Admission is 25c for students and 50c for adults.

80 VICTORIES IN 100 GAMES

Sweetest Day for Sam

By TOM RIORDAN

BRITTON—Sam Hamilton hit the century mark Friday evening.

No, genial Sam wasn't 100 years old, he had just coached his Britton Tories for the 100th time.

His record is fabulous — —80 wins and only 20 losses.

Sam seems to be getting more concerned about his age and dropped by to ask this writer not to refer to his gray hair.

Seems that Sam's dad, who is in charge of maintenance at Herrick Memorial Hospital, was asked by a patient the other day,

"Is that Britton coach your brother?"

Bouncy, youthful-feeling Tom Hamilton, who will celebrate his 71st birthday anniversary in April, was delighted by the comment.

☆

WHEN HE relayed the query to Sam, the Tory mentor wanted to know if the lady had said, "younger" or "older" brother.

In any event, Sam took the incident in good humor. Who wouldn't, in view of the way his current Tory five was cavorting about.

The 100th game was a Britton decision, 40-24 over Sand Creek, which had orders from Coach Dale Otto to stall.

It was tied 3-3 at the end of the first period, Britton drew away 18-10 by the intermission and that was it — although the Aggie's continued to hold onto the ball whenever Britton scored.

Both Pepper Griewahn and Phil Benedict had 14 points. Ron Mastie got seven and Verl Sanch six.

Britton closes its regular season Friday evening, entertaining Boysville. The Tories will be after win No. 16.

Back to Sam and his age. He's "just 42," having celebrated his last birthday anniversary Feb. 13.

His basketball career started in the late "thirties" when he played guard for Tecumseh High School teams, graduating in 1940, right into the arms of Uncle Sam. It was the navy until the end of World War 11.

☆

SAM WENT to Eastern Michigan University, being a member of the Class of 1949. Following were teaching and coaching stints at Mio and Saranac, then to Britton in 1951.

For the orange-juice swigging tutor, last season — his 13th at Britton — and it proved to be Lucky 13.

His talented club went all the way in Class D, copping the state championship. Sweetest day for Sam Hamilton is March 23, that's the date of the BIG victory.

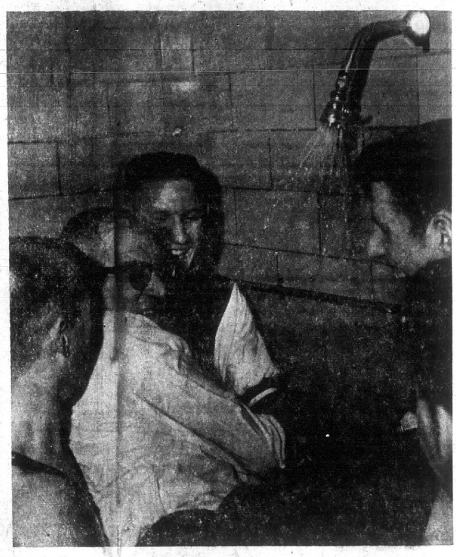
Now, no one can blame Sam for looking towards the twisting, turning, booby-trapped tournament trail of 1964.

How can Britton fare?

Sam is frank with his answer, which boils down to this: He has as good a first five as last year, but not the bench strength.

But his winter's crew makes fewer mistakes, gives away the ball less on bad passes, steps, etc.

So, the thing folks around these parts are wondering about most — will March 28, 1964, be another March 23, 1963?



Sam's Sweetest Day will just about have to be March 23 (and we're sure Mrs. Hamilton will go along on this). First the state championship trophy, then the clothes-on dunking. Oh, sweet victory.

Red Cross Nets 63 Pints Blood at Britton Visit

BRITTON — Sixty-three pints of blood were donated last Wednesday to the American Red Cross when the Bloodmobile Unit visited Britton.

Carl Luegge and Mrs. George Brablec co-chairmen for the drive extend their sincere thanks to everyone who helped in any way to make the day successful; to the donors, to Drs. Coak, Dustin and Hammel, to nurses and aides, to canteen workers and to those who signed cards but were unable to give.

They added, "also thanks to the 20 ladies in the community who canvassed the area for pledges, to the Congregational Christian Church for the use of the Fellowship Center and kitchen facilities and to the ladies who furnished orange juice and cookies for the donors and helpers.

Persons who were unable to donate in Britton because of illness or absence may do so when the Bloodmobile Unit visits Tecumseh, Tuesday, March 3.

Ivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ivan, has been elected to the Michigan Gamma Chapter of Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honor society, in recognition of his outstanding scholastic achievement, character and leadership. Larry is a senior at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Book Mark

News from the Tecumseh Library

Here are some new books to brighten the spirit these February days.

The incomparable beauties of Tiberias, the magnificence of Jerusalem, the unchanged paths along the cliffs above Nazareth, the haunting landscape around the Dead Sea are all depicted in Robert Payne's new book The Splendor of Israel. Some of that old Bible land is tawdry today; some of it is barren. But the country casts a spell on the visitor, or the reader.

√

Here is a column much in demand by foreign auto enthusiasts: Glenn's Foreign Car Repair Manual. This is an illustrated book of step-by-step repair instructions for all current imported models, including Borgward, Citroen, Fiat, Hillman, Opel, Renault, Saab, Simca, V. W. and many others.

√

If you're a bride, or about to become one, or if you're a home manager (and that includes husbands, too!) who needs information on equipment buying, management, care and repair, we have an up-to-date book to give you excellent help. It is Louise Peet's Young Homemakers' Equipment Guide.

√

Most of us enjoy reading about the celebrities of stage and screen. Clark Gable was no saint. But he was indisputably the king of Hollywood as this biography, aptly titled The King by author Charles Samuels, graphically points out in a candid, human portrait.

The Lonely Life proves conclusively that the legendary image of another of our great stars, Bette Davis, is not a fable, but all too true. She writes of her early life, her career, her marriages and children. Photographs illustrate both of these interesting books.

√

Goering is a definitive biography of another and much darker hue. Hermann Goering is a sinister, yet fascinating, man as the young war hero who became the corrupt despot, the ominous creator of the Gestapo, the chief of the Luftwaffe, the faithful servant of Hitler, and the chief figure in the dock at the Nuremburg trials.

√

Few explorers have combined scientific quest, technological innovation and personal adventure as notably as the great French diver, Jacques-Yves Cousteau. He has written another well-illustrated narrative of his exciting progress as a professional diver. In his book The Living Sea you, too, will encounter great adventure.

State Police Seek Recruits before Feb. 28

Only a few days remain for young men to apply to enter the next recruit training school of the State Police, Sgt. Carl Anderson, commanding officer of the Clinton post, reminds.

"All applications for the next school must be received by the state civil service commission in Lansing by 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 28," Sgt. Anderson said.

To be eligible young men must be between 21 and 29 years of age, married or single, not less than five feet 10 inches in height with weight in proportion and have a high school education or the equivalent general educational development test.

Recruits go on the payroll with the first day of training school and in the trooper rank alone, with regular step increases, earn more than $7,200 annually, with a four per cent increase recommended for next July.

Promotions bring further increases and the officer is eligible to retire on a pension of half pay after 25 years of service, with the same pension going to his wife if she survives him and does not remarry.

"There are many other benefits too," said Sgt. Anderson, "and young men should inquire about them — right now."

Consumer Diet Changes

Michigan farmers will have to shift agriculture production during the next 10 years to keep pace with the changing consumer diet.

"Consumers will eat increasing amounts of beef, processed vegetables and fruits, poultry and fresh vegetables," says Marie Ferree, Michigan State University consumer marketing specialist.

"Pork, cereals, animal fats and dairy product consumption per capita will decrease during the upcoming years."

☆

TOTAL POUNDS of food and calories consumed per capita during the coming 5 to 10 years will probably decline slightly following a pattern of the past several years. "But our choice of diet foods will continue to reflect our income, concerns about health, weight control, nutrition and demands for added services," she explained.

Today's consumer has a hearty appetite and eats some 2,800 pounds of food per year at an average rate of 3,200 calories per day.

Per capita consumption of processed foods ranging from canned goods to the newest meal ideas will continue to increase.

Added meat consumption will reflect both our preference and higher incomes, Miss Ferree said. Beef consumption will increase at the rate of about one pound per person per year while pork consumption will decrease at about the same rate during the next five years. Lamb consumption will remain about the same.

4-H To Hold Membership Campaign

Preliminary plans were made recently for a county-wide 4-H membership drive in Lenawee County this fall.

Spear-heading the drive here will be 4-H leader Mrs. Walter Burke of Addison.

Set to "Kick-Off" during National 4-H Club Week, Sept. 26 to Oct. 3, the "On Target 4-H Membership Drive" will concentrate on areas in the county where present 4-H membership is low or clubs are not already organized.

"If there is a need and interest to participate among boys and girls not already in 4-H, the opportunity should be provided. This will be the first job of the membership committee, to determine the need", says Mrs. Burke.

SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

QUESTION: I notice that my W-2 Form showed a typographical error in my social security number, but my name and address were correctly listed. Will I receive proper credit for my wages, or must I do anything else to assure it?

ANSWER: In order to make certain you receive the proper credit for all wages earned, you should get in touch with your social security district office as soon as possible and explain what has happened. In addition, it is a good idea to call the error to the attention of your employer as soon as you can, so he may make the necessary corrections on his records and not repeat the error later.

QUESTION: I went back to full time employment after being rehabilitated two years ago, and my disability benefits stopped. Last month I had a relapse, and now I can't work at all. Am I entitled to disability benefits again?

ANSWER: Yes, you are. The law saws that if you become disabled a second time within 5 years after your benefits stopped, disability insurance benefits can resume with the first month in which you are "re-disabled." There is no 6 months' waiting period if this occurs.

QUESTION: Can I receive social security disability benefits starting with the month in which I become permanently disabled?

ANSWER: No. There is a waiting period of six full consecutive months before any benefits are paid. The payments can start for the first month after this waiting period.

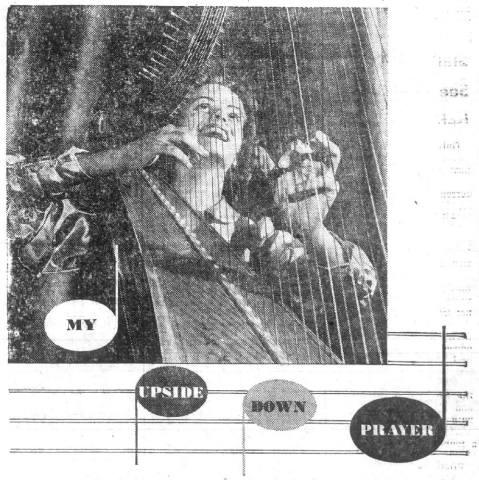
For All We Hold Sacred . . . Attend Church



I'll never forget the first time I saw a harp. I was walking by a music store with my mother and it was there in the window, tall and golden. I knew, then and there, that I wanted to be a harpist.

But, my heart sank, for I knew my parents could afford neither the instrument nor the lessons. I started to pray every night to God to send me a harp.

Nothing happened. My small spirit rebelled, and I blurted out to my Sunday School teacher that my prayer hadn't been answered. My teacher was a wonderful woman. She just said, "You've been going about this in the wrong way, Ann. You've been demanding something of God. Don't you think it would be better if you asked His?

Her quiet words made an impression. The tenor of my prayers changed. And the teachings of the Church meant more to me than ever.

Well — in time, I did become a harpist. Recently, I played my first concert. And as the great, golden instrument came to life beneath my fingers I hoped that the angels, too, were smiling.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By BARRY FLYNT

The Knights fell again at the hands of the Summerfield Bulldogs, 82-59. The Knights stayed within 4 points through the first quarter but all hopes of victory waned in the third quarter as the Knights fell behind, 61-42.

Moe Jacobs scored 31 big points for the Knights to take the high scorer of the year honors from Bill Moran, who posted 30 in the Knights first meeting with the Bulldogs. Bill hit for 10 in this meeting.

√

The Faculty continued its winning ways after sustaining a loss at the hands of Ida. Their last two victories, in home games against Sand Creek and Summerfield, saw them drop in 92 and 99 points respectively. Coaches Pat Conners and Tom Sailors have constantly hit above 20 points. Anyone in favor of allowing coaches to play with their teams?

√

The Drum and Bugle Corps of Boysville has been measured for new uniforms this past week. Mrs. Sage of Tecumseh donated the money for these flashy improvements to the attire of the Drum and Bugle Corps.

The corps marches for the first time this year March 8 at the Father Cotter Council of the Knights of Columbus in Detroit.

To the delight of the boys an extra weekend was announced. The weekend begins Friday, Feb. 28 and will conclude March 1. Without this weekend the boys would have remained on campus for the entire 3rd quarter.

√

A sky diving demonstration was given by Harold Lange and two of his friends here Sunday, Feb. 24. Their plane took off from Tecumseh airport and Boysville football field was the divers' target.

√

Tuesday, Feb. 18, Boysville was visited by two representatives of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Gordon Nesler and Roland Revelle presented various demonstrations aimed at giving an insight to the history of space flight and then put the students up to date on the projects of NASA.

The purpose of NASA talks is to instill in high school and college students a desire to major in mathematics.

Boysville Glee Club sang last Sunday evening at Mercywood Hospital in Ann Arbor. In addition the Club, under the direction of Brother Philip Armstrong, sang at the 11 a.m. mass at St. Joseph Shrine Sunday.

CORN PRICES won't move up much more than 10c from present levels during the spring-summer period. Continued loan movement at the pace of the first quarter would help tighten supplies by summer and add further strength to the market, though. If storage info-summer will cost less than 10c per bushel, you should at least break even by holding. Otherwise, sell on the current market. There's little to be gained from holding another 30 to 60 days.

KEEP BABY PIG LOSSES DOWN through accurate temperature control. The most critical period is the first three to five days — since some pigs are especially weak at birth. Temperature should be held between 80° and 90° F. according to Purdue studies. In closed buildings, three air changes per hour may be needed during winter.

PLANT ONLY HIGH-QUALITY SEED for most profitable yields. Buy certified seed for assurance. If home-grown, have it tested. In a Pennsylvania survey, 77% of the home-grown timothy germinated under 80%. Among red clover samples germination averaged only 48%. Minimum germination standards for certified timothy are 80%; 85% for red clover. An Illinois survey showed 20% of the farmers were using forage seed testing less than 80% germination.

LIGHTED FEEDLOTS produced faster and more economical gains in research at Kansas. Cattle gained almost 1/10 pound more per day than cattle in unlighted lots. Amount of feed consumed was no greater for cattle in lighted feedlots either.

Gift, Hard Work Spelled Success

With overwhelming approval, residents of Tecumseh School District went down the line on the four-mill request.

The nearly seven-to-one margin left no doubt in how the people feel.

Promise of a $500,000 gift, to build additions at both the badly-overcrowded high school and junior high, was a factor, however, not the whole story.

Thirty days ago, at first blush, when the proposed bonanza was announced, people opined that the four-mill question was a shoo-in.

Then, they thought more on the issue and began to wonder if the decision was so cut-and-dried. That's when proponents of the plan began to campaign in great earnest for the success of the effort.

These actions were definitely needed and played important parts in results of last week's vote. There were responsible for getting out the big "yes" army.

So often, on school millage or school bond issues, a majority favors the plan, but when it comes to visiting the polls, half forget the day or say, "Sure, I'm for it, but I'll leave the voting up to the others."

The hard core on the "no" side always ballots and often the number is legion. Who can forget two years ago when that four-mill deal won approval, 1,381 to 1,377?

Ease Out Camel's Snout

Our thinking just might be a little old-fashioned, but we don't care one bit for socialism.

Be it in the business of producing electricity, growing corn or wheat, or putting together newspapers, we aren't buying.

Without getting too dewey-eyed, our philosophy harks back a couple of hundred years to the founding of this nation and to the simple idea on which it was built — free enterprise.

Some Washington moguls keep coming up with odd ideas (Editor's note — please also see editorial below on Sukarno) about how things might be changed. These proposals always end up with more power going to the Federal government. The route is socialism, pure and simple.

Last week we editorially teed off on the McGovern wheat legislation, which turns out to be roughly the same as the plan that popped up a year ago. Growers kicked it aside in a national referendum.

Now the advocates of big subsidies for wheat growers aren't going to let the farmers render their opinion via the ballot. Rather they're trying to get it run through Congress as a bill.

☆

COPIES OF OUR EDITORIAL, sent to Michigan's Congressmen and Senators, brought prompt comments. Democratic Senators Staebler and Hart spoke the Administration's slant, basically on printed form letters. (see them at right).

Senator Staebler notes that 350 letters have arrived in the "last six days". He doesn't say if they favor or oppose the new wheat bill, but we'd guess a majority of the 350 writers are fed up with the government trend to socialize farming with welfare-type handouts.

Representative George Meader telephoned with the comment that he doesn't "go along with (Orville) Freeman's program of high, rigid control and high price supports, acreage and production control".

Congressman Meader is a Republican and voices an opinion from the other side of the aisle, as opposed to the Democratic line of Senators Hart and Staebler.

This farm subsidy business is a ticklish operation for the politicians. Secretary Freeman and others guess the way to play it is to pay the top dollar to growers. That should keep 'em happy and get their votes for President Johnson come November.

Of course, we note that Senator Hart takes the tired old boogyman approach with "net farm income in the United States will drop by some $600 million," if the McGovern bill fails.

Should we buy comments like this, the whole farming industry, not to mention automobile, steel and a wide variety of others would soon be trussed by governmental regulations, leaving them helpless to compete on the open market.

☆

SENATOR STAEBLER ASKS if we "prefer not to have any wheat legislation this year?"

No, senator. There is going to be need for something, but not of the McGovern type. Instead of pushing the Federal Government camel all the way into the wheat tent, let's start easing his snout back out.

When Congress can come up with this type of legislation, let's hold another referendum among grain growers, giving them some sensible alternatives.

A subsidy program should be constructed within the framework of assisting growers in times of emergency, not provide a welfare crutch to keep marginal farmers plodding along.

Eventually, agriculture should become primarily an industry of supply and demand.

Remember, this is still America, a free nation, built by free enterprise into the most successful country of the world.

'You're Out of There!'

Ever since the word got out that one of our nation's recent guests, a guy named Sukarno from Indonesia, got some unusual privileges, the press has been blasting.

More power to every paper joining the chorus.

It seems that Sukarno's advance man asked the State Department to make the arrangements. Simply stated, Sukarno wished to have three ladies join his traveling party, while the dictator was junketing about our nation.

They weren't invited on as cooks.

Well, as most newspaper readers by now know, Sukarno got his wish — with the aid of the State Department.

This incident should get an award for the most immoral and downright stupid move of the year in Washington.

But that isn't the end of the story. Sukarno, whose land is stuffed with oil, tin, coal, copper, nickel, manganese, silver and gold, has his hands out to Uncle Sam at all times.

During 1963, we crossed that palm with $140.9 million in foreign aid — your tax money and ours.

Why?

The answer is simple. Some of our State Department brains — maybe the guy who said "get the girls" among them — think that if we go high enough with our give-away program, we can buy off anyone.

How tragically, how cruelly wrong is this thinking.

We need Sukarno and his kind like a brand new and higher income tax.

As the square-jawed baseball umpire bellowed to an unruly player, who led with his temper, let us tell Sukarno, "You're out of there."

Theme Is 'Living'

Mrs. Floyd Bryan presented a challenging devotional period for members of the Women's Society of the First Baptist Church recently.

She emphasized the theme, "Living", by giving a meaning for each letter of the word:

L—love
I—interest
V—value
I—importance
N—name
G—give

Mrs. Bryan recited the words to the old familiar hymn, "Living For Jesus" and read the poem, "Let Me Give", as the love gift of $25 was received.

MRS. ROBERT GILLESPIE gave an inspiring message on the devotional theme of the month, "Heart."

Plans for the Father and Son and Mother and Daughter banquets in the spring were made.

Mrs. Orville Bishop, president, named a nominating committee to present a slate of officers for the coming year.

The committee, chaired by Mrs. John Westgate, includes Mrs. John Surratt, Mrs. Eddie Kirkland and Mrs. Gillespie.

Mrs. Clifford Curran, program chairman, spoke on tithing, explaining the different reasons for tithing, mentioning that it is not compulsory.

She said, "We should give as much as we are able to give according to our own individual income."

MRS. GEORGE VAN CAMP, Jr., unable to give her scheduled book review, asked Mrs. Blair Bashore to read a report on Judaism which Mrs. Van Camp had outlined.

The report compared Judaism with the Christian religion.

During the social hour, Mrs. Warren Puffer and committee served refreshments from a table in keeping with the valentine theme.

Mrs. C. O. Baily and Mrs. Claude Sebring assisted at the table.

Mister MSU Being Named on Saturday

By BOB SCHOENING
Special Herald Writer at Michigan State University

EAST LANSING — A Tecumseh student at Michigan State University could become Mr. MSU for 1964.

Jon I. Aho, 20, a junior pre-law major is one of the five finalists in the contest. Jon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Osburn of Matthews Highway, Tecumseh.

The five men, selected for scholarship, will vie for the title which will be awarded at the annual Spinster Srin, an all-university dance on Feb. 29. Judy Smith, Miss MSU, will crown the winner that night.

Originally, 50 men, representing all living units, competed for the finals. The contestants were then narrowed down to 15. The five finalists were chosen by a jury and will go to the final poll.

☆

JON HAS been active in campus activities in his three years at State. He has also been a hard worker and boasts a 3.3 grade point average out of a possible 4.0.

Jon is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. As a freshman he played football, having been a star gridder in high school.

Jon is also a member of the International Relations Club on campus and has been active in intramural sports.

He is the representative of Williams Hall, a woman's dorm, for the Mr. MSU contest.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

Thank you for sending me a copy of your editorial expressing your opposition to legislation to provide a voluntary marketing certificate program for the 1964 and 1965 wheat crops.

It is my understanding that further consideration of S. 1946 has been postponed until after the Senate takes up the Civil Rights bill. The House bill, H. R. 9780 which is similar but not identical to S. 1946, has been referred to the full House Agriculture Committee by a subcommittee for consideration. You may be sure that I shall follow closely the course of action taken on this legislation and discuss it with colleagues on the committee.

I appreciate having the views of Lenawee County farmers on this legislation and hope you will continue to advise me of your thinking on matters of concern to you.

Sincerely,
George Meader.

House of Representatives

Dear Friend:

Thank you for your recent letter on the wheat program.

If Congress takes no action on wheat this year, net farm income in the United States will drop by some $600 million. Income from wheat is not all that is involved. A serious drop in the price of wheat would have a very direct impact on the price of feed grains, and experts are in general agreement that the price to farmers for livestock would also take a serious plunge.

From past experiences, we know that these drops in farm prices are not usually reflected in similar drops in the retail cost of food to the consumer. The chart on the back makes this point all too well.

It is my hope that Congress will authorize a voluntary wheat program along the lines of the present voluntary feed grain program. Action must be taken soon to affect the 1964 crop.

Of course, I will continue my efforts to see that the soft white wheat producers in Michigan are adequately protected in any program. In the past, some notable successes have been achieved in having Congress recognize the importance of a wheat program balanced between different kinds and classes of wheat.

With best wishes,
Sincerely,
Philip A. Hart
United States Senate

TO THE EDITORS:

Thank you for your editorial and comment. Your appeal to your readers to write certainly has taken hold. We have had more than 350 letters in the last six days.

At the present time, the Senate is deliberating on the wheat program; and I expect we will have a chance at it before very long.

I am taking the liberty of enclosing a copy of the letter which I have been sending to interested citizens.

Do I understand your editorial correctly that you would prefer not to have any wheat legislation this year?

With every best wish, I am
Sincerely,

TO THE EDITORS:

TO THE EDITORS:

My husband is the village president, and therefore has received your paper the last two weeks as complimentary copies. (Editor's note — All government officials receive copies of The Herald during the five weeks the Tax Sale notices are run). I think you have a very fine paper. Perhaps the thing that impressed me most was its size.

I didn't realize that any paper put out weekly would have so many pages.

Long and Short

BY TOM RIORDAN

For many years, my favorite Biblical quotation has been, "No greater love hath a man than to lay down his life for his friend."

It came to mind Tuesday in conjunction with the semi-annual visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile in Tecumseh.

The 138 folks, who each donated a pint of blood, weren't actually "laying down their lives," but they were doing something along those lines.

In essence, they were providing vital fluid from their own bodies to aid a fellow man, as close to the "no greater love" quote as you can get.

These donors have no idea who they'll be helping — other than some other human being.

The experience of giving blood is exhilarating to the soul. A person can't help but feel a twinge of pride.

For 41 donors, Tuesday's visit to the mobile unit marked the first time they had given blood. To them, the thrill must have been tremendous.

Now that Lenawee County is officially a part of the Red Cross blood program, every resident has an unique privilege. Each can have whatever blood is needed in emergency—all free. The only charge connected is for administration by hospital personnel.

Imagine you were in a serious auto accident, have lost considerable blood. An ambulance rushes you to the nearest hospital and surgery begins. One of the first things doctors would do is start injecting whole blood, possibly five or six pints, maybe even more.

It would all be free.

Not only does whole blood replace what you lost, but it acts as a tremendous antidote to shock, which is always an aftermath of a painful mishap.

This was proved time and again during World War II when soldiers were seriously wounded.

John has been a constant blood donor and this week he gave his 33rd pint. That's three full gallons and the first leg on his fourth.

If you've never given blood and would like to start, watch The Herald in about six months when the mobile unit will be coming back this way again. Sign up.

This scribbler will wager you'll be happy you did.

HAIR STYLIST MRS. DON BLESING IS ONE OF CITY'S BUSIEST PEOPLE

A Busy French Beauty

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Anna Blesing, a native of Alsace-Lorraine, France, is an unusually exhuberant citizen of this city.

Though she observed her 70th birthday anniversary in October, Anna in formal terms, Mrs. Don Blesing — still operates her own beauty shop in the Blesing home at 307 E. Pottawatamie St.

She still has time for hobbies, keeping house and daily attendance of mass at St. Elizabeth.

She started her career in hairdressing in Toledo in 1924, was then in Adrian for a short time before buying a beauty shop from Mrs. Clark Goodacre in 1927.

☆

MRS. BLESING styled hair in a number of different shops before moving her business to the present location in 1946.

Once she had a shop in conjunction with Dan Hubbard's Barber Shop about where Chris Taylor's Shop is now. Then she moved to Andy Taylor's Shop, next to the old Lilley State Bank and now Kerby's.

Many will remember when she was in the old post office building now where Don Nixon is located. (I do, I had my first permanent there on my 12th birthday) and then in the old Kroger Building, now above the Watkins Shop.

Several well-known Tecumseh gals got started in the business in Anna's shops. Among them were Magdalena Gigy Saling, Isabelle McIntyre Moore, Ruth Rockwell Fisher and Betty Heidenrich Stevens.

An interesting coincidence: Vesta Wilson happened to be the first customer in every place that Anna has opened during a 30-year span.

☆

ANNA'S SON, Clarence Walter, is a television cameraman on WJBK in Detroit. His daughter and Anna's only granddaughter, Beverly Ann, a dental receptionist in Oak Park, is planning a big wedding in May.

Anna's husband, Don, is an active person himself. He still returns for duty at the linotype in The Herald office, although he retired in June of 1958, when the composition build-up demands.

Not the least of Anna's interests have been afghans. She has crocheted as many as 14 in one year.

"Straightforward, unassuming, unfailing in Christian service and charity and almost daily in divine worship," these are characteristics attributed to Anna by the Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins, her pastor.

☆

When asked about Anna's efforts for her church, Fr. Collins reviewed a life of devotion climaxing it by saying, "In every Catholic Church there are individuals who in an exemplary manner have fulfilled the vocation of the 'Faithful'. Mrs. Anna Blesing has been one of these."

He said that she often sings Daily Mass, with an uncanny accuracy and perfection in Gregorian Chant, the official music of the Roman Catholic Church.

Anna has always been active in the parish, president for three consecutive years of the Rosary and Altar Society.

☆

IN THE "first" days for Catholics in Tecumseh Fr. Fischer, sometimes called "the Builder" served this area, as well as communities in Jackson, Monroe, Washtenaw and Lenawee Counties.

Tecumseh's first Catholic Church, the small stone one on Chicago Blvd., and now belonging to the Church of Christ, was one of six built by Fr. Fischer.

Anna Blesing was a valued helper of Fr. Joseph Pfeffer, now Msgr. Pfeiffer who served as pastor in the Manchester-Clinton-Tecumseh area.

For 20 years, she answered the priest's prayers at Mass, most of the time alone and unaccompanied. She also kept immaculate the linens for the altar.

☆

AT PRESS TIME Wednesday, Anna is a patient at Bixby Hospital in Adrian, following the removal of a cataract from one eye on Monday.

She is recovering and it is certainly the wish of her many friends and customers that God will continue to strengthen this wonderful person, who has been His faithful and willing servant for so many years.

Business is carried on as usual at the shop by Anna's coworker, Mrs. Ned Lanning, who has been there for 15 years. It was she who suggested this article.

Of Mrs. Lanning, Anna said, "I couldn't get a better girl".

Another Plant May Be Built South of City

Would Employ 1,500 to 4,000 on 177-Acre Site Under Option

By JIM LINCOLN

A prospective industrial plant—with probable employment ranging between 1,500 and 4,000—has taken an option on 177 acres of farm land two miles south of Tecumseh.

It is at the northwest corner of Gady Rd. and Occidental Hwy.

Name of the corporation was not revealed here Monday when Consumer. Power officials from Kalamazoo discussed possible plant location in the Tecumseh area with local officials.

They first met Monday noon at Tecumseh Country Club and then at 5 p.m. in City Hall. Raisin Township officials, as well as representatives from Tecumseh and the Adrian Industrial Development Association attended the afternoon meeting.

A resolution involving Tecumseh and Raisin Township was passed by Council Monday night to assure the company that both governmental bodies would cooperate in assisting in locating the new plant here.

One problem discussed was the possibility of installing a city sewer to the plant site. Estimates for the cost run as high as $100,000.

Other sites also are being investigated by the company and a decision is expected in about 10 days.

The local possibility, authorities believe, comprise parts of farms belonging to Clarence Wagner, Merrill Grey and Harold Hassenzahl.

Fate of New Industry To Be Decided Friday

A public hearing, to discuss disposing of industrial wastes into River Raisin by Anderson Chemical Division at its proposed Sutton Rd. plant, will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 before the state's Water Resources Commission at Tecumseh Community Center.

The hearing is believed to be the last hurdle before the chemical company starts its new layout, three miles south of Tecumseh on Sutton Rd.

The State Health Department has cleared up many questions and recently announced that the wastes would not harm people, plant life or fish.

The Commisson is expected to announce its decision immediately after the hearing, if there are few complaints.

ON TO MIDNIGHT

2 Hearings Are Tabled by Council

Confusion, at least to some extent, prevailed at Monday night's Council meeting for two public hearings—both of which are to be continued at later dates.

The hearings were scheduled prior to passage of a new highway ordinance, affecting the business section at the extreme end of W. Chicago Blvd., and for changing the former Dr. Perrium B. Hardy residence at W. Chicago and Pearl to the Business and Professional catagory.

The new highway ordinance was originally proposed to relieve some restrictions in the west business section and place some businesses, now in nonconformity usages in conforming catagories.

Faye Whelan, local John Deere implement dealer, objected to the ordinance, implying that it will limit any expansion program there of his business.

Karl Schneider, manager of Tecumseh Finance, asked for a clarification of the term "setback."

Lester Handy, owner of the Jack-Pine Motel and Drive-In, first objected to the ordinance and then later supported it.

Murray Day and Dick Purkey also questioned the ordinance.

The hearing for the highway ordinance will be continued at the May 4 Council meeting.

☆

MANY RESIDENTS living on W. Chicago Blvd. were present to object to changing the late Dr. Hardy's property from Residential A to Business and Professional.

Those objecting included Gail Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. John Pobuda, Mrs. Richard Duffin, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Coak and Robert Lowe.

Mr. Pobuda presented a petition with signatures of nearly 90% of the people living within three blocks of the Hardy property, expressing opposition to the zoning change.

Mel Partridge, Allis-Chalmer implement dealer who resides next door to the Hardy property, asked Council to make the change.

He told city officials and residents that he was afraid of undesirable tenants and would like to see the home remodeled and used by Dr. Walter Elwartowski, local chiropractor, who plans to make it his home and office.

The house now is in need of repairs.

Due to zoning restrictions written since the Hardy home was built, another could not be constructed in its place. The small lot size doesn't provide enough setback space on either the Chicago Blvd. or Pearl St. sides.

The property along the west side of Pearl St. to Pottawatamie St. is zoned Business and Professional, except the Hardy home which faces onto Chicago Blvd.

The hearing will be continued at the March 16 Council meeting.

Local Scout To Receive Eagle Award

Wayne Ruhl, 302 W. Kilbuck St. will receive the Eagle Scout award, the highest rank in scouting.

He was examined and approved by the Lenapee District Board of Review, Boy Scouts of America.

A member of Post 87, Wayne started scouting as a cub and progressed through the three branches, covering eight years of the program.

He was appointed a patrol leader, serving two years and also served two years as quartermaster in the Explorer Post.

Wayne's biggest thrill was being selected a delegate from his post and the Council for the Explorer Conference held last year at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in Chicago, Ill.

A junior at Tecumseh High School, Wayne is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ruhl. He hopes to further his education and become a doctor.

JUBILANT INDIANS — Jerry Hebb became the center of wild jubilation Friday night when he poured in 41 points for a new school record. The 6'4" senior forward hit 14 of 23 field goal attempts for a 61% shooting average, and 13 of 13 free throws for a perfect night from the foul line. Couple Honored on 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rebottaro, 6901 Centennial Rd. were honored on their 40th wedding anniversary Saturday evening by their family and friends.

A surprise buffet dinner was served to 58 in the St. Elizabeth Auditorium. It was prepared and served by the children and their wives and husbands.

Ruby and white crepe paper streamers, wedding bells and balloons were used to decorate the room. Large red lettering proclaimed "Happy 40th" at the front of the auditorium.

Rose Sinelli and Eugene Rebottaro were married March 1, 1924 in Detroit.

They came to the Macon area to make their home in 1930 and moved to their present home in 1940.

They are the parents of Louis, Anthony and Charles Rebottaro and Mrs. Donald Bailey, all of Tecumseh and Mrs. William Frederick of Maybee, Mrs. Thomas Rice of Mason, O. and Mrs. Charles Jameson of Lima, O.

Mr. and Mrs. Rebottaro are members of St. Elizabeth Church.

Her efforts in the kitchen have made the spaghetti dinners at the church successful.

Another of the annual spaghetti meals is planned for Wednesday, March 11, when Mrs. Rebottaro's succulent sauce will again be served.

Titled "Portrait of a Man," the painting was completed about 1631-'32 by Van Dyck, a great European artist whose style became the accepted style for the elegant Baroque court portrait.

E. C. Heilman Resigns Position on County Board

E. C. Heilman, former village president and councilman, resigned by letter Monday from the County Board of Supervisors.

The former Tecumseh businessman had held the post for 10 years.

Council regretfully accepted the resignation and will probably appoint a new supervisor to the board at the next meeting.

Mr. Heilman has served the community in some public position since 1918, probably the longest time of public duty by any Tecumseh resident.

"Misinformation" Is Lesson Topic

"Guard Against Food Misinformation" was the lesson topic at the meeting of the Tecumseh Inquirers Extension Club Feb. 18.

Mrs. Carl Hale presented the topic telling of consumers being fooled by food fallacies such as the advertising of de-starched potato chips.

She also stated that differences in beet and cane sugar were due primarily to the refining processes.

Mrs. Clifford Knudson, hostess, served ice cream and cookies to six members present. She was assisted by Mrs. Wallace Rutherford.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Rutherford.

Science Fair To Feature Space, Electric Displays

March 14 and 15 the public is invited by the Tecumseh High School Science Club to attend the Tecumseh Area Science Fair at Tecumseh High School gymnasium.

The fair gives over 200 students from Tecumseh area public and parochial schools an opportunity to display projects demonstrating their knowledge of science and mathematics.

Projects vary from a kindergarten attempt to show "What Makes Seeds Grow" to a high school senior's "Analysis of the Ability of Fingers to Differentiate Colors".

Last year every grade level and nearly every area of science was represented in the student's efforts, which in their quality as well as their variety surprised not only their teachers and parents, but sometimes the students themselves.

This year, in addition to the student projects, the fair will feature three special displays.

First will be a demonstration of some of the high school's scientific equipment by members of the THS Science Club, including such items as a static electricity generator guaranteed to make your hair stand on end.

Second is a display by NASA explaining the workings and objectives of the government space program.

Finally, a special display on electricity and our modern world will be sponsored jointly by Detroit Edison and Consumer's Power Company.

The 33 members of the Science Club plan, organize, and supervise the fair.

They obtain judges from the University of Michigan, Adrian College, and Siena Heights College.

They write, type and distribute copies of rules, announcements, and registration forms to teachers all over the school district.

They visit classes to give "pep talks" on the fair and write countless letters to government agencies, business and industry to find displays.

Added to this is the arduous task of begging or borrowing tables to fill the high school gymnasium.

If help is ever needed, their advisor, Gerald Nelson, stands by for anything from an extra roll of tape to a joke to keep up their spirits when someone misplaces the main extension cord.

Lately, he has been heard to say that the students seem to need his car more than they need him.

The doors of the fair will open at 1 p.m. Saturday, March 14 and close at 8.

Sunday hours will be from 1 to 6 p.m. Admission is free.

Rebekahs Celebrating 65th Year

A card party will be held Saturday night at the Odd Fellow Hall. Those on the committee are Mrs. Stauffer, Mrs. Earnie Topps, Mrs. Roy Allshouse, Mrs. Jess Nichols, Mrs. Boldt Sarvey and Mrs. Roger Pawson.

Ads Help Thin Rush for Tabs

Sale of license tabls was brisk again this year, reports Mrs. Ethel Hammack, with the last-minute rush thinned at deadline time.

Manager of the local Secretary of State outlet at 805 W. Chicago stated, a total of 2,773 tabs and plates were sold during the last week of February.

Saturday's final day of sale saw 473 transactions, as compared to 700 last year on the same day. Advertising by Mrs. Hammack during February helped bring people in before the deadline, she says.

In total, 7,763 people got vehicle licenses from the time they went on sale last fall.

Tecumseh Water Helps

Fluoride Cuts Decay

Topical fluoride applications are being offered to children again this year, but with some restrictions.

This is because the teeth of many children in Tecumseh are now showing the benefits of fluoridated water.

Pre-schoolers, kindergarteners, second and fifth graders will receive no added protection from topical fluoride applications, since there is scant evidence of tooth decay.

☆

THE FOLLOWING children may enroll now:

► Eighth graders.

► Pre-schoolers (three years or over), kindergarten, second, and fifth graders, who do not drink water from the Tecumseh water supply.

► Kindergarten and second graders, who have lived in Tecumseh less than three years.

► Fifth graders, who have lived in Tecumseh less than five years.

Forty percent of new tooth decay can be prevented by giving topical applications of fluoride to the children in eligible groups.

☆

THE CLINIC will be held during the summer and the schedule will be announced in May.

A fee of $2 per child is payable before March 9. Forms have been sent through the school to parents.

If residents have not received the necessary forms to enroll their child in this program, they may contact Mrs. Robert Moore, 423-2808, who is the topical fluoride chairman in the Tecumseh Schools.

Clayton Man Is State's Top Young Farmer

By JUDY FIELDER

Michigan's Four Outstanding Young Farmers were named Saturday evening at Tecumseh High School gymnasium.

John Paul Jackson, 25, of Clayton was named top farmer. He operates a 202-acre dairy and grain farm. Married, with two children, he was entered by the Adrian Jaycees.

Runnerup was Stanley D. Fay, 28, who lives with his wife and two children near Frankenmuth. His operation includes dairy and grain on 345 acres. He was entered by the Saginaw Jaycees.

Third place went to James H. Boyne, 27, who was nominated by the Marlette Jaycees. He, his wife and five children live on a 240-acre dairy farm near Marlette.

Ronald Spitzley, 35, was fourth. He lives near Fowler with his wife and four children. He has a 160-acre dairy operation and was entered by the St. Johns Jaycees.

Awards were presented by Michigan Jaycee President Merritt Martin at the evening banquet attended by 500, culminating a full day's activities honoring the young farmers.

The winner will be sent to national competition in Madison, Wis. His wife will accompany him, courtesy of the Tecumseh Jaycee chapter.

DR. EARL BUTZ, dean of agriculture at Purdue University, used an excerpt from The Lord's Prayer, "Our Daily Bread" to demonstrate America's abundance of food.

He stated that seven percent of our population is furnishing more food for the entire nation than 45 percent does for Russia and 85 percent does for India.

He added that the real strength of America lies in farm production requiring so few to feed the multitude, therefor allowing the bulk to apply themselves to other goals.

Dr. Butz stated that America stands strong for three reasons:

► Mass education

► Economic and political freedom

► Profit system, where incentive to work is created by profit.

☆

The figures were painted by Jaycee Auxiliary members.

Earlier in the day, two tours of the Enrico Fermi Atomic plant were conducted, with sandwiches served.

Farm tours to the James Brown farm near Clinton and Kitty Kurtis farm near Ridgeway were moderated by John Comstock.

A buffet luncheon at the Country Club was held for the ladies.

☆

DURING THE afternoon Jamie McWilliams sang, Mrs. Alton Snyder and Gene Earling gave a skit from recent musical "Pajama Game". They were accompanied by Dexter Bailey.

Old-time harmony reigned when "The Dads", barbershop quartet, made up of Gene Earling, Dave Woods, Dr. Carlton Cook and Gordon Comfort, performed.

Style show presented by Clinton Woolen Mills was narrated by Mrs. Earl Nesbitt. Mrs. Ray Oliver, Mrs. Steve Kruger, Mrs. Don Stoner and Mrs. Marvin Stotler modeled new fashions.

Later in the evening, a dance and buffet were held for 300 at the Country Club. During the festivities, the Lennon Bodine family put on a floor show.

Readers Are 'On the Ball'

(Editor's note — When anything happens to or is written about a Tecumseh resident, no matter where, The Herald usually hears about the incident — thanks to an alert network of readers who live in distant cities. Last week, two "correspondents" from Cleveland rushed clips of a Cleveland Plain Dealer review of Allan Seager's latest book. Their notes and a copy of the review appears below.)

TO THE EDITORS:

Am enclosing a clipping from this past Sunday's Cleveland Plain Dealer concerning Mr. Allan Seager and his newest book to be published.

I thought it was very good and that you might like to read it.

We enjoy getting The Herald and keeping up on the news at home.

We do appreciate the special rates you give servicemen on the paper.

Mrs. Gayle D. Skinner

TO THE EDITORS:

I'm sending you this article I found in today's Cleveland Plain Dealer thinking you and possibly your Herald readers would be interested in Mr. Robertson's opinion of our Allan Seager.

I say "our" because I still think of Tecumseh as my home town.

I haven't kept up on all of Mr. Seager's latest works, but I'm sure this is Tecumseh's Mr. Seager.

Excuse me if I'm mistaken.

I found this write-up so good I plan on obtaining "A Frieze of Girls" as soon as I can.

Mrs. Alfred F. Hoffmann

Cleveland Writer Comments on Novel

By Don Robertson

Allan Seager is a difficult writer to define. His style is so muted, his effects are so delicate, that you have trouble consigning him to any of the convenient literary pigeonholes.

Of course this is all to the good. There are too many writers as it is who have curled up in pigeonholes.

Thus it is refreshing to discover an Allan Seager. He makes you think, and his books stay with you, and we all should treasure such a man.

Seager has been writing novels and short stories since the early 1940s.

Many have been published in the New Yorker, and they carry much of the New Yorker style, but they carry more of the Allan Seager style, which is also all to the good.

Especially when you stop to consider that the New Yorker-type story has become a pretty bland dish of peas in the past decade or so.

Seager's newest book, A Frieze of Girls (McGraw-Hill, $4.95), is described as "memoirs as fiction."

It comprises a series of episodes from Seager's youth and young manhood, and there is no way of telling where the memoirs leave off and the fiction begins.

Late in the introduction, Seager describes his youth this way:

It was a kind of frieze of girls and long aimless car rides at night.

Hence, the title of this book. And it is a good book. Seager's unrelentingly understated style emphasizes the comedy and pathos of his boyhood days, which were spent in Memphis and a small Michigan town.

Pay special attention to what he has to say about the wild Mississippi girls of his adolescence. They're quite a bunch.

It is unfailingly entertaining, rich on incident and peculiar characters, and it is beautifully, beautifully written.

And, if you're of the male gender and ever once were young, you'll feel a few gentle shocks of recognition. This is a fine book.

This guy Seager must be a fine man.

Two Wells To Replace Well No. 1

Two new wells were approved by Council Monday night to replace Well No. 1, adjacent to Nelson Field on S. Union St.

Total cost is expected to exceed $12,000.

Attempts to clean the present well have failed and acidizing was not recommended.

Council's authorization was for two 36-inch gravel pack wells with 12-inch castings. These wells will be adjacent to the present well and well building.

Cal Zorn, city manager, says gravel will be placed at the base of the new wells to prevent sand from clogging the screen.

The city is currently using all water facilities to meet the daily demand. The new wells will be in operation by May.

Council Drops Water Charge for Laundromat

A plan to charge for two services from two water meters in Al Bagshaw's laundromat and car wash at Ottawa and E. Pottawatamie was turned down by Council Monday night.

The former village engineer protested paying for two services, implying it was the principle instead of the small extra charge.

The double service charge was for disposing of water from both operations into a sanitary sewer.

Water from the car wash enters a storm sewer which bypasses the disposal plant.

We just SOLD this home — watch it change!

Jim Brown has purchased this house where I was born. Remodeling was well underway when the picture of my old homestead was taken. Originally there was just one front door. Several windows have been replaced. Formerly located next to the Hayden Mill office, the late Dale Tingley moved the house to 206 N. Pearl St. He planned to make a duplex of it, too. My mother told me that it was in this house that I was born Jan. 22, 1923. From there we moved to W. Kilbuck St., and then to 307 N. Maiden Lane when I was four years old. This was home until I got out of the Marine Corps. After Joyce and I were married in March of 1942, we rented one-half of Cliff Preston's house on W. Pottawatamie. Then we built the home on Iroquois St., where we lived for five years. The next year and one-half found us on W. Brown St., while we completed the new house on Park. We traded it for the present residence, which is more suitable as a business location. When Jim Brown completes the remodeling we will have another photo taken of the old birthplace.

MRS. ROBERT RIES

4-H Honors Mrs. Bob Ries for 24 Years

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Mrs. Robert Ries, 9246 Tonneberger Dr., received a state award at the Lenawee County 4-H Leader's recognition dinner Feb. 26 at the Sand Creek High School.

The alumni award was presented for her 24 years in 4-H leadership, following her membership, which started when she was a child.

Mrs. Ries teaches homemaking in Tecumseh Junior High School.

Four such alumni awards are presented each year to former 4-H members, who are still active in community leadership of the program.

Mrs. Glenn Forsythe of Ridgeway, accepted the award for outstanding service, presented to the 4-H Club Project Mothers by the Lenawee 4-H Council. The award was given by Diane Ries, a council member, to Mrs. Forsythe, the president.

☆

THE 325 LEADERS and guests were pleasantly entertained at intervals throughout the evening. Awards were presented by Arden Peterson, a specialist in the field of recreation from Michigan State University.

With songs and skits he emphasized "Beatitudes" in keeping with 4-H leadership, many adaptable for leaders to use in their own meetings.

He concluded the evening's program by saying, "What's learned in pleasure is learned full measure."

Mrs. William Osburn, an 11-year leader of the Raisin Cane 4-H Club, was one of two winners in Mr. Peterson's little contests entitled "Pop Sez", similar to "Simon Says Thumbs Up."

☆

FRED LONG was chairman of the tellers for the election of members to the 4-H Club Council.

Mrs. Glen Mumaw and Bob Wise of the Northeast District of the county were elected to the Council along with eight others.

Mrs. Iva G. Smith, a Deerfield leader for 35 years, was presented a sapphire pin. Ray Gillespie county extension agent of 4-H club work, made the presentation.

Sixty-eight leaders were given one-year awards. Mrs. Glen Mumaw, of Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Lewis of Tipton, Mrs. Fred Long and Don Whelan of Tecumseh, were among those receiving five-year awards.

☆

MRS. ROGER WILLIAMS of Tecumseh and two others received 10-year awards.

Many other Tecumseh area leaders have extensive service, but only first year and multiples of five-year presentations were made.

Tim Linehan of the Bank of Lenawee County served as toastmaster for the event, sponsored by the Lenawee County Bankers' Association.

He is a chemical equipment repairman in the group's 11th Chemical Company stationed near Hanau, Germany.

The 20-year-old soldier entered the Army in February, 1961, and arrived overseas the following November.

Community Calendar Plans Made by Boosters

Plans were completed for the community calendar at the meeting of the Tecumseh Band Booster Thurday evening.

Chairmen and helpers are in the process of scheduling meeting, birthday and wedding anniversary dates for the new issue.

Anyone who would like to have dates placed on the new calendar may do so by calling Mrs. Fred F. Dickinson, Mrs. Byron Goodman, Mrs. Donald Johnson and Mrs. Charles Haughn.

The annual banquet date was set for May 21 in the high school cafeteria. Tag day will also be held in May, it was announced.

Another meeting will be held March 26.

A MAN'S HOME IS HIS CASTLE and the cost of castles is going up these days

BUT THE COST OF INSURING THEM IS DOWN

Is your present Homeowners Insurance policy enough for your castle? Chances are, it isn't. INA — Insurance Company of North America — suggests you check your current policy very carefully to be sure it's enough for today's values. Real estate values are up and you've undoubtedly added appliances, hi-fi or some other expensive accessory to your home in the past few years.

Homeowners costs have gone down It will pay you to call us to discuss these new trends. For instance, you may qualify for Merit-Rating if you've had a claims-free record with INA.

Hebb Sets Scoring Mark in 94-58 Win; Indians-Royals Clash in Tourney Tonight

The finale of the 1963-64 cage season will be a memorable one, especially for Jerry Hebb.

In Tecumseh's easy 94-58 victory over visiting Grosse Ile, 6'4" Hebb scorched the nets with 41 points — an all-time high for a Tecumseh player.

The record-setting pace wasn't easy, and Coach Vic Lawson cooperated by not pulling the senior forward until just after midway through the final quarter.

Hebb hit for eight points in the first period, six in the second, and a whopping 17 in the third. With the game sewed up and reserves playing with him, Hebb, collected 10 in the final period to erase the 39-point mark made by Ken Miller in 1957.

Practically every Indian fan was aware that Hebb was on the verge of setting a record. When he tied the mark, the fans warmed up and kept humming till seconds later when he broke it.

Blessed with an exceptionally soft touch, Hebb hit over 60% from the field and 100% from the free throw line — 13 for 13.

It was probably the finest shooting exhibition ever witnessed on the local floor.

While Hebb kept rolling up points, so did the Indians, who completely outclassed their rivals. A 13-point bulge at the half increased to 27 at the end of the third quarter.

Bob Knoch, 6'5" junior Grosse Ile center, was Tecumseh's sole opposition in scoring 31 points, over half his team's total.

Two other seniors closed out their prep careers on the home floor. Clark Nichols and John Oberlin both played well against GI, with Nichols netting eight points and Oberlin six.

Coach Lawson used his entire squad in the rout with 13 of the 14 players ending in the scoring column. Only Steve Derby failed to score.

FAKES, DRIVES — On his way for two points and a new Tecumseh scoring record, Jerry Hebb here drives around his man for an easy goal. The 6'4" senior forward broke a seven-year record by netting 14 field goals out of 23 shots and hitting 13-for-13 from the free throw line.

Tourney Game Is Toss-Up

This Thursday evening, Tecumseh and Blissfield will decide the district tournament at Blissfield.

Game time is 8:45.

Three other teams in the tourney — Monroe Catholic Central, Monroe-Jefferson ,and Erie-Mason — are not given a chance although either Monroe CC or Monroe-Jefferson will be in the finale, since the winner of their game Thursday advances to the title fray.

If one of the three other teams muscles in on the championship, it would be a greater upset than Clay beating Liston.

The Indians, twice winners over the Royals during the regular season, will enter their game with Blissfield on a toss-up basis.

Tecumseh beat Blissfield in the ABHT tournament on the Royal's floor, 69-66. Here on the local floor, the Indians broke a close game wide open in the final two minutes to win by 13.

A year ago, Tecumseh had defeated the Royals twice during the season only to have Blissfield come back and trounce the Indians in the tourney.

If Tecumseh wins, it will play in the championship tilt Saturday night at 7:30. Winner will advance to the regionals in Dundee next week.

MSU Alumni Will Gather

Jack Breslin, secretary of the Michigan State University, will be in Adrian to speak to the MSU Alumni Club of Lenawee County Tuesday.

This meeting will be in Tobias Room of Ritchie Hall on the Adrian College campus at 8 p.m.

Hughes Paces Jaycees to 62-38 Win Over G.I.

Coach Jim Hoffman's Jayvees closed out a fine 12-3 season Friday night by outclassing rival Grosse Ile, 62-38.

Except for a big 16-point fourth quarter which helped close the gap, Grosse Ile trailed so badly that the Indians were leading 52-22 at the end of three periods.

Junior center Don Hughes continued his high scoring for the second straight week with 18 points. The 6'6" cager hit for eight field goals and two fouls.

John Goodman and Ron Rentschler each tallied 11 points. Goodman scored all his points in the first half, and Rentschler collected nine of his total in the first two periods.

TECUMSEH LAD IS SCORING CHAMP — Dave Dziachan, a Tecumseh youth who attends Adrian Catholic Central, is the new Lenawee County high school basketball scoring king, having topped a record set in 1956 by Lee Keller of Blissfield. Dave poured through 37 points Friday in CC's 109-71 victory over Summerfield. This gave him a 437 total for the regular season. A graduate of Tecumseh St. Elizabeth, Dave is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dziachan, 400 Seneca St. He is a senior at CC and hoop team captain, driving between Adrian and Tecumseh every day for classes. Dave scored at a 50% clip — hitting on every other shot he took. "I tell him to shoot more," his coach Joe Kennelly said, "and still he doesn't shoot enough." Says Dave of his achievement, "This is all like a dream." College scouts have been on young Dave's trail.

$500,000 Civil Rights Suit Is Filed

A $500,000 civil rights damage suit has been filed in Detroit Federal Court by five Tecumseh people.

Mrs. Russell Johnson, Mrs. Clarence Merillat, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bush, Jr. and Albert Cain are the complainants.

The defendants on the aftermath of an arrest made at Vineyard Lake June 17 are the Sheriff of Jackson County, Fred Hammer and his wife and deputies Leo Haligus, Leon Kimball, Donald King, Albert Waite, Richard Steele and George Bunker.

The combined lawsuit was filed by attorney Thomas E. Ackerman alleging that the civil rights of the complainants were violated by the treatment received after the arrest.

Mrs. Johnson was acquitted last August of drunk and disorderly charges by a Jackson Municipal Court jury.

The other four were acquitted in October of the same charge plus disturbing the peace.

The suit, filed under the new civil rights law which protects citizens against infringement of their rights, such as false arrest and abuse while in jail, will go before Federal Judge Stephen J. Roth.

Meader To Seek 8th Term

Representative George Meader (R. Mich.) announced that he is a candidate to succeed himself for an eighth term in the House of Representatives.

Meader is a member of the judiciary and government operations committee.

Congressman Meader represents the 2nd congressional district of Michigan, including the cities of Tecumseh, Ann Arbor, Adrian, Hillsdale, Monroe and Ypsilanti.

"The need for resistance to these efforts and the strengthening and rebuilding of the Congress to regain and exercise its policy-making authority is more urgent to the preservation and promotion of self-government through elected representatives than ever before in our history".

RONALD CHEEVER RECEIVES CERTIFICATE FROM REGIONAL OFFICIAL DONALD L. SWANSON

New Duties for Postmaster

Mr. Cheever spent three days at Chicago regional headquarters, learning first hand the further details of his assignment.

Counselor postmasters are chosen because of the efficient operation of their own post office and their ability to teach others.

They are assigned to conduct Phase II (visit to new postmasters' office), and Phase IV (visit to counselor postmaster's office by new postmaster), of the Five Phase Orientation Training Program for new postmasters.

This training program is a part of Postmaster General John A. Gronouski's new program to help all postal employees to get a better understanding of their positions.

Also attending the Chicago training program were 26 counselor postmasters from Illinois.

During the days in Chicago, the counselor postmasters met and discussed with regional staff members problems that they will help solve for the new postmasters.

'I just earned $1.96'

"Yes, that's right, $1.96. That's the interest on my own savings account, earned for me during the past four months," smiles LeeAnn Schneider, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Schneider, 515 Seminole St.

"I've had my account since I was a child. I make deposits as often as possible. Some are for 50c. Once in a while, they are for several dollars, like when daddy pays off for my report card A's.

"You'd be surprised how fast my account grows. And every three months the bank adds interest," Miss Schneider concludes.

Why don't you get LeeAnn's habit?

Interest is payable quarterly at 3½% annum.

They Do Matter

People who have never attended a funeral service may not think that flowers are really important. On the other hand, those who have been to a service realize how greatly flowers add to the family's comfort. We know this, too, and take loving care of each floral offering.

Chevelle 300 6-Passenger Station Wagon

Chevelle balanced performance is best!

Passing, cornering, threading through traffic, sudden stops—Chevelle excels all around! Chevrolet's new surprise package has what it takes to meet any driving challenge: Six or V8 engines, hefty brakes, Full Coil suspension—and a trim size that makes the most of them!

Chevelle means performance aplenty—standard 120-hp Six or 195-hp V8—and optional at extra cost, a 155-hp Six, a 220-hp V8, a new 327-cu.-in. V8! But Chevelle's performance means more. Chevelle's a foot shorter than the big cars. And the space Chevelle saves in size comes off the ends, not the middle. So it rides like you want a car to ride.

Chevelle lets you choose Powerglide*, 4-speed manual* or 3-speed manual transmission. Knowing how people like the custom touch, we wrote out a long list of extra-cost options.

Knowing all this, what's keeping you from a test drive? Certainly not your Chevrolet dealer!

CLINTON WOOLEN CHATTER

By EL and FRIENDS

The first colored Easter eggs were almost accidental. In Medieval England, a kind monk hid eggs in the bushes around his Chapel on Easter morning to surprise the hungry kids of his village. Fearing they might not find the eggs, he painted them in brilliant colors.

As the youngsters searched, rabbits hopped out of the bushes. The children immediately fell upon the idea that the rabbits were responsible for the colored eggs, thus establishing the legend of the egg-laying bunny.

This interesting information came to us through the Women's Wear Daily; and they, like us, are interested in Easter since it is only a few weeks away.

If you would honestly like us to tell you what our best selling Easter fabric is . . . we would have to say . . . WOOL. This is the first spring season when we have had to reorder woolens.

Our collections runs from flannels and other lightweight weaves to coatings. A quality fabric in every price range from $2.95 to $9.95.

Chindella, a wool-nylon, washable, fabric in pastels, has sold faster than the mill can make it. Here is an excellent value at $2.95.

Many of the fashion magazines are featuring suits made from souffle-type woolens. They are beautiful and make up in very distinctive suits.

While we have a number of fine coatings we particularly like one named Celistine. It is luxurious wool-mohair blend in pink or white and when made up one does not have to look the second time to know . . . here is style and quality.

Easter is only a short time away, so, as my boss used to say, "You had better get cracking".

We, at Clinton Woolen, are always most happy to help you.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,

In The Circuit Court For The County of Lenawee

In the Matter of the Complaint of BILLIE S. FARNUM, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Lenawee:

BILLIE S. FARNUM Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this complaint under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1932, as amended, and Act No. 314 of the Public Acts of 1933, as amended.

IT'S NATIONAL WEIGHTS AND MEASURES WEEK — A SERVICE OF GOVT. TO PROTECT THE INTERESTS OF BUYERS AND SELLERS OF COMMODITIES

Effective thru Saturday, March 7, 1964

LOCAL BUSINESS

It is a pity that retailers so often have to learn the same lesson over and over again through cost and hardship.

This observation was made by Edward F. Engle, official of the National Retail Merchants Association. Mr. Engle was referring to the importance of Newspaper advertising to retail trade.

Mr. Engle's conclusions were the result of a study made in New York City after a prolonged strike closed major newspapers.

☆

AMONG THE FINDINGS reported were:

► There is no substitute for the newspaper as a major medium for retail advertising.

► "Creeping disaster" to retail business gradually follows the absence of newspaper advertising.

► The downtown area of any city is a unified shopping center. When "big store" advertising is not present, the entire center — including small stores, services, restaurants — feels the effect.

► Advertising is essential to modern retailing. Without advertising, retail merchandising would be in a chaotic state. Turnover and stock needs would be impossible to predict.

The ultimate loser from inadequate advertising, then, is the consumer who pays for losses due to slow turnover, waste, and high per item selling costs.

LIVING MEMORIAL — Children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ivan, Sr., of Britton recently presented a blue spruce tree (shown at right with Hospital Auxiliary members Mrs. Bob Laidlaw and Mrs. Bill Adams) in memory of their parents for Herrick Memorial Hospital landscaping. This is a project of the Auxiliary. Mrs. Ivan died April 18, 1963 and her husband passed away Nov. 10, 1963. The entire family is pictured above when the Ivans celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. The children are, from left, Tony, Henry, Mrs. Lillian Denhard, Mrs. Mary Becker and Martin, Jr. Photo is through courtesy of Ed Pearson of Dearborn. News from the Tecumseh Library

Again let us say we are gratified that you are responding so generously with magazines for the library. We would like to mention the names of a few periodicals that might be of interest because of their unusual nature, or because we have not hitherto had access to them. Magazines such as Ebony, Farm (Quarterly), Hot Rod, Country Beautiful, Show, Archery, and AOPA Pilot.

√

Hubert Norcross recently brought in a sizable number of copies of the Okinawa Graphic, a well-illustrated magazine similar to Life and with some English captions; most interesting. Mrs. Norcross is a native of Okinawa, coming here as a bride in 1958.

√

1918; the Last Act by Barrie Pitt. Seldom have two major military powers fought with such a strong mixture of valor, stupidity and inflexible unwillingness to face facts. The result was a war of unprecedented and still unequaled human disaster. This is a vivid picture and well-balanced account of the dramatic year of World War I.

√

Harry and Bonaro Overstreet explore The Iron Curtain in their latest book. As long time students of Communism, these famous authors search out the answers to questions of great importance to the free world.

√

In The Terrible Swift Sword Bruce Catton tells the story of the Civil War, describing how the war got slowly but steadily out of hand. Then he reveals how the sweeping force of all-out conflict changed the war's purpose. A narrative of brilliant detail.

√

Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan and author of many notable books on our own region has collaborated with Erich Walter to produce a Pictorial History of the Great Lakes; a magnificent account composed of lively narrative and contemporary prints, engravings, documents, old maps and panoramic photographs. A good book to help acquaint us with our own "backyard", historically and otherwise.

√

Then we should go on to wider vistas. The Continent We Live On presents clearly and excitingly the whole of the American continent showing us the astonishing variety of the American landscape, the grandeur and loveliness of some of its least known regions, the vastness of its scrublands, the destruction wrought by exploitation, littering and pollution, and finally the heartwarming spectacle of the great national parks. There are 235 pictures in this big book, 109 of them in full color.
